PREFACE.

THE following Resolutions and Declaration sufficiently explain themselves. But in publishing the names of those who have signed the Declaration, the Secretaries feel that some explanation is necessary to enable the public to estimate the representative character of the list.

The number of signatures might have been almost indefinitely increased if it had been possible to solicit them generally, in the manner usually adopted with Parliamentary Petitions. Such a plan, however, would have required considerable time, and a more extensive organization than the Secretaries could command. It was thought better to send the Declaration to those persons only whose names were easily accessible through public lists. It was sent accordingly to all the Justices of the Peace, who were known to be members of the United Church of England and Ireland; to all the Clergy; and to many leading members of the Bar, of the Medical Profession, and of the Chambers of Commerce in Dublin, Belfast, and Cork.

To those classes the great majority of the following names belong. An analysis of the Signatures, made with as much care as the circumstances permitted, is annexed.

At a Preliminary Meeting held in the Provost's House, Trinity College, on Monday, February 26, the Lord Bishop of Derry in the Chair, it was "Resolved,—1°. That, inasmuch as it has been lately asserted that the members of the United Church of England and Ireland are generally agreed in desiring the introduction of a Denominational System of Education, it is of the utmost importance to give public expression at the present time to the opinions of those who are in favour of the maintenance in Ireland of the System of United Secular Instruction.

"2°. That the accompanying Declaration be adopted, and that copies of it be circulated throughout the country for signature."

DECLARATION.

"We, the undersigned members of the United Church of England and Ireland, desire to express our earnest hope that the principle of United Secular Education, as opposed to the Denominational System, may be maintained in Ireland.

"Without pledging ourselves to an approval of the National System in all respects, we entirely admit the justice and policy of the rule which protects scholars from interference with their religious principles, and thus enables the members of different denominations to receive together, in harmony and peace, the benefits of a good education."
