DISCOURS

AGAINST

Transubstantiation.

efeveral other Cates of the London Divines of 25 y a Reverend Divine of the Church of England.

F this finds Acceptance will be Frinced

DUBLIN;

Re-Printed By Andrew Crook, and Samuel Helfham, For Joseph Hones at the Kings-Arms, and I. Eliphal Dobson at the Stationers-Arms in Castlestreet, 1686.

DESCOURS.

Advertisement.

IF this finds Acceptance, there will be Printed Several other Cases of the London Divines of the Church of England against Popery.

DUBLIN

Caping da By sinder Crosk, and ipplied Dobble of the sentinger

Tranfubstantiations Against Transubstantiations of the set all Oncerning the Sacrament of the Lords Supper, one of the two great positive Institutions of the Christian Religion, there are two main points of difference between Us and the Church of Rome. One, about the Doctrine of Transubstantiation; in which they think, but are not certain, hat they have the Scripture and the words of our Saviour on their side. The other, about the administration of this Sacrament to the people in both inds; in which we are sure that we have the Scripture and our Saviour's institution on our side; and that so plainly, that our Adversaries themselves o not deny it.

Of the first of these I shall now treat, and endeavour to shew against the Church of Rome, That in this Sacrament there is no substantial change hade of the Blements of Bread and Wine into the natural Body and Bloud of brist; that Body which was born of the Virgin Mary, and suffered upon the ross; for so they explain that hard word Transubstantiation.

Before I engage in this Argument, I cannot but observe what an unreaonable task we are put upon, by the bold confidence of our Adversaries, to spute a matter of Sense; which is one of those things about which Ari-otle hath long fince pronounced there ought to be no dispute,

It might well feemstrange if any man should write a book, to prove at an Egg is not an Elephant, and that a Musket-Bullet is not a Pike: It every whit as hard a case, to be put to maintain by a long Discourse, at what we see and handle and taste to be Bread is Bread, and not the ody of a Man; and what we see and taste to be Wine is Wine, and not loud: And if this evidence may hot pass for sufficient without any farther coof, I do not see why any man, that hath considence enough to do so ay not deny any thing to be what all the World sees it is; or affirm any ling to be what all the World sees it is not; and this without all possibility being farther consuted. So that the business of Transubstantiation is not controverse of Scripture against Scripture, or of Reason against Reason, at of downright Impudence against the plain meaning of Scripture, and I the Sense and Reason of Mankind.

It is a most Self-evident False-hood; and there is no Doctrine or Proposition in the World that is of it self more evidently true, than Transubstantation is evidently salse: And yet if it were possible to be true, it would the most ill-natured and pernicious truth in the World, because it would

A 2

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. suffer nothing else to be true; it is like the Roman-Catholick Church, which will needs be the whole Christian Church, and will allow no other Societ of Christians to be any part of it: So Transubstantiation, if it be true at al it is all truth; for it cannot be true unles our senses and the finses of all mar kind be deceived about their proper objects; and if this be true and certain then nothing else can be so; for if we be not certain of what we see, w can be certain of nothing. To find out bus 20 noward consecution of

And yet notwithstanding all this, there is a company of men in the wor so abandon'd and given up by God to the efficacy of delusion as in god earnest to believe this gross and palpaple Errour, and to impose the beli of it upon the Christian World under no less penalties than of tempor death and Eternal damnation. And therefore to undeceive, if possible these deluded Souls, it will be necessary to examine the pretended groun of so false a Doctrine, and to lay open the monstrous absurdity of it.

And in the handling of this Argument, I shall proceed in this plain m thod.

I. I shall consider the pretended grounds and reasons of the Church Rome for this Doctrine adalment brow bred red nielaxe vedtol roll ale

II. I shall produce our Objections against it. And if I can shew that the is no tolerable ground for ir, and that there are invincible Objections gainst it, then every man is not onely in reason excused from believing the Doctrine, but hath great cause to believe the contrary of sond and han a

I. First, I will consider the pretended grounds and reasons of the Chur of Rome for this Doctrine. Which must be one or more of these five. Eith ist. The Authority of Scripture. Or 2ly. The perpetual belief of this I Efrine in the Christian Church, as an evidence that they always under sto and interpreted our Saviour's words, This is my Body, in this sense. 3ly. The authority of the prefent Church to make and declare new Artic of Faith. Or 4ly. The absolute necessity of such a change as this in the crament to the comfort and benefit of those who receive this Sacrame Or 5ly: To magnifie the power of the Priest in being able to work so gr eing farther confuted. So that the bufiness of Transablement of Sarih

1st. They precend for this Doctrine the Authority of Scripture in the words of our Saviour. This is my Body. Now to shew the insufficiency this pretence, I shall endeavour to make good these two things.

1. That there is no necessity of understanding those words of our Savid in the sense of Transubstantiations orom del tilo zi tent blow and at at

2. That there is a great deal of reason to understand them otherwise. First, That there is no necessity to understand those words of our Sa

a Discourse against Transubstantiation.

Sour in the sense of Transubstantiation. If there be any, it must be from one et these two reasons. Either because there are no figurative expressions in Scripture, which I think no man ever yet said : or else, because a Sacrament admits of no figures; which would be very abfurd for any man to fay, fince it is of the very nature of a Sacrament to represent and exhibit some invifible grace and benefit by an outward sign and figure: And especially since it cannot be denied, but that in the institution of this very Sacrament our Saviour useth figurative expressions and several words which cannot be taken strictly and literally. When he gave the Cup he said, This Cup is the new Testament in my bloud, which is shed for you and for many for the remission of Sins. Where first, the Cup is put for Wine contained in the Cup's or e'fe if the words be literally taken, to as to signific a substantial change, it is not of the Wine but of the Cup; and that, not into the Bloud of Christ but into the New Testament or new Covenant in his Bloud. Besides, that his Bloud is faid then to be shed, and his Body to be broken, which was not till his Passion, which followed the institution and first celebration of this Sacraneed not much contend that this Dockrine hath no certain foundationsim

- But that there is no necessity to understand our Saviour's words in the sense of Transubstantiation, I will take the plain concession of a great number of the most learned Writers of the Church of Rome in this Controversie. (a) Bellarmine, (b) Suarez and (c) Vasquez do acknowledge Scotus the great Schoolman to have faid that this Doctrine cannot be evidently proved from Scripture: And Bellarmine grants this not to be improbable; and Suarez and Vasquez acknowledge (d) Durandus to have said as much. (e) Ocham another famous Schoolman fays expresly, that the Do-Etrine which holds the Substance of the Bread and Wine to remain after Consecration, is neither repugnant to Reason nor to Scripcure. (f) Petrus ab Alliaco Cardinal of Cambray says plainly, that the Doctrine of the Substance of Bread and Wine remaining after Consecration, is more easy and free from absurdity, more rational, and no ways repugnant to the authority of Scripture; nay more, that for the other Doctrine, viz. of Transubstantiation, there is no evidence in Scripture. (g) Gabriel Biel, another great Schoolman and Divine of their Church, freely declares, that as to any thing expressed in the Canon of the Scriptures, as man may believe that the substance of Bread and Wine doth remain after Consecration: and therefore he resolves the belief of Transubstantiation into some other Revelation, besides Scripture, which he supposeth the Church

(a) de Euch: 1. 3. 6. 23. (b) in 3. dif. 49: Qu. 75. Sect: 2:

(c) in 3 part: disp. 180. Qu. 75: art. 2!

CODO CATA (d) in Sent.

1. 1. dift: 11: Qu. 1: n: 15:

(e) in 4: S. nt: 2:5:0

Quodl: 4: Q: 3: (f) in 4: Sent:

2.6: art 2:

(2) in canon. Mig. List 4

had

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. had about it. Cardinal (h) Cajetan confesseth that the Gospe (b) in Aquin. 3 part. Qu.75. doth no where express that the Bread is changed into the bod of Christ; that we have this from the authority of the Church may, he goes farther, that there is nothing in the Gospel which enforceth an man to understand these words of Christ, this is my body, in a proper, an not a metaphorical sense; but the Church having understood them in a pri The man per sense they are to be so explained; Which words in the Roma Edition of Cajetan are expunged by order of Pope (i) Pius V (i) Ægid. Comink.de Saeram Cardinal (k) Contarenus, and (1) Melchior Canus one of th 27.75. art: 1: best and most judicious Writers that Church ever had, recko 20. 13: (k) de Sacram l: this Doctrine among those which are not so expresty found Scripture. I will add but one more of great authority in th (1) Loc. Theolog: Church, and a reputed Martyr, (m) Fisher Bishop of Rocheste 1: 3: 6: 3. (m) contra capwho ingeniously confesseth that in the words of the Institu tiv. Babylonic: tion there is not one word from whence the true presence of to flesh and blood of Christ in our Mass can be proved: So that w need not much contend that this Doctrine hath no certain foundation Scripture, when this is so fully and frankly acknowledged by our Adve faries themselves not some will take the plain concession and the Take the state of Secondly, If there be no necessity of understanding our Saviour's wor in the sense of Transubstantiation, I am sure there is a great deal of reason to understand them otherwise. Whether we consider the like expression in Scripture; as where our Saviour fays he is the door, and the true Vi (which the Church of Rome would mightily have triumph'd in had been said, this is my true body.) And so likewise where the Church is sa to be Christs body; and the Rock which followed the Israelites to be Chris I Cor. 10. 4. They drank of that rock which followed them, and that ro was Christ: All which and innumerable more like expressions in Scriptu every man understands in a figurative, and not in a strictly literal and a furd sense. And it is very well known; that in the Hebrew Langua; things are commonly faid to be that which they do figuify and reprefer and there is not in that Language a more proper and usual way of expre fing a thing to fignify fo and fo, than to fay that it is fo and fo. Thus ? feph expounding Pharaoh's dream to him, Gen. 41. 26. Says, the feven go Kine are seven years, and the seven good ears of corn are seven years, that they fignified or represented seven years of plenty; and so Pharaoh u derstood him, and so would any man of sense understand the like expre fions; nor do I believe that any fensible man, who had never heard Transubstantiation being grounded upon these words of our Saviour, th is my Body, would upon reading the institution of the Sacrament in the Goipel ever have imagin'd any such thing to be meant by our Saviour in those words; but would have understood his meaning to have been, this Bread signifies my Body, this Cup signifies my Bloods and this which you see me now do, do ye hereaster for a Memorial of me But surely it would never have entred into any mans mind to have thought that our Saviour did literally hold himself in his hand, and give away himself from himself with his own hands.

Or whether we compare these words of our Saviour with the ancient

Form of the Passover used by the Jews from Ezra's time, as

(n) Justin Martyr tells us, vere of sugal energy man use in narragery image, (n) Dialog: cum this Possover is our Saviour and our refuge: not that they be Tryph. p. 297: believed the Paschal Lamb to be substantially changed either 1639.

into God their Saviour who delivered them out of the Land of Egypt, or into the Messias the Saviour whom they expected, and who was signified by it: But this Lamb which they did eat did represent to them, and put them in mind of that Salvation which God wrought for their Fathers in Egypt, when by the slaying of a Lamb, and sprinkling the blood of it upon their doors, their first-born were passed over and spared; and did likewise foreshow the Salvation of the Messias, the Lamb of God, that was to take away the sins of the World.

And nothing is more common in all Languages than to give the name of the thing fignified to the fign. As the delivery of a Deed or Writing under hand and Seal is call'd a conveyance or making over of such an E-state, and it is really so; not the delivery of mere wax and parchment, but the conveyance of a real Estate; as truly and really to all estects and purposes of Law, as if the very material houses and Lands themselves could be and were actually delivered into my hands: In like manner the names of the things themselves made over to us in the new Covenant of the Gospel

By Baptism Christians are said to be made partakers of the Holy Ghost, Heb.
6. 4. And by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper we are said to communicate or to be made partakers of the Body of Christ which was broken, and of his Bloud which was shed for us, that is, of the real benefits of his death and passion. And thus St. Paul speaks of this Sacrament, a Cor. 10. 16. The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the bload of Christ? the bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ? But still it is bread, and he still calls it so, v. 17. For we being many are one bread and one body; for we are partakers of that one bread. The Church of Rome might, if they pleased, as well argue from hence that all Christians are substantially changed first into Bread, and then into the natural body of Christ by their participation of the Sacrament, because they are said there by to be one bread, and one body. And the same Apostle in the next Chap ter, after he had tpoken of the confecration of the Elements, still calls then - the Bread and the Cup, in three verses together, As often as ye eat thi Bread, and drink this cup, v. 26. Whosoever shall eat this bread and drin this cup of the Lord unworthily, v. 27. But let a man examine himself, and let bim eat of this bread and drink of that cup, v. 28. And our Saviour him felf when he had said, this is my bloud of the new Testament, immediatel adds, but I say unto you, I will not henceforth drink of this fruit of the Vine untill I drink it new with you in my Father's Kingdom, Matth. 26. 29. Tha is, not till after his refurrection, which was the first step of his exaltation into the Kingdom given him by his Father, when the Scripture tells us h did eat and drink with his Disciples. But that which I observe from our Sa viour's words is, that after the confecration of the Cup and the deliverin of it to his Disciples to drink of it; he tells them that he would hencefort drink no more of the fruit of the Vine, which he had now drank with them till afrer his Resurrection. From whence it is plain that it was the fruit of the Vine, real wine, with our Saviour drank of and communicated to h Disciples in the Sacrament, have sales and our your other of sam toda, ho

Besides, if we consider that he celebrated this Sacrament before his Ta fion, it is impossible these words should be understood literally of th natural body and bloud of Christ; because it was his Body broken and hi bloud shed which he gave to his Disciples, which if we understand literally his natural body broken and his bloud shed, and these words, this is my boo which is broken, and this is my bloud which is shed, could not be true, becau his Body was then whole and unbroken, and his bloud not then thed; no could it be a propitiatory Sacrifice (as they affirm this Sacrament to be unless they will say that propitiation was made before Christ suffer'd: Ar it is likewise impossible that the Disciples should understand these words terally, because they not onely plainly saw that what he gave them w Bread and Wine, but they saw likewise as plainly that it was not his Boo which was given, but his Body which gave that which was given; not h body broken and his bloud shed, because they saw him alive at that very tin and beheld his body whole and unpierc'd; and therefore they could not u derstand these words literally: If they did, can we imagine that the Disciple who upon all other occasions were so full of questions and objections, shou make no difficulty of this matter? nor so much as ask our Saviour, how ca these things be? that they should not tell him, we see this to be Bread ar that to be Wine, and we see thy Body to be distinct from both; we see thy Body not broken, and thy Bloud not shed

From all which it must needs be very evident, to any man that will impartia'ly consider things, how little rea fon there is to understand those words of our Saviour, this is my body, and this is my bloud, in the sense of Transubflantiation; nay on the contrary, that there is very great reason and an evident necessity to understand them otherwise. I proceed to shew, 2'y. I hat this Doctrine is not grounded upon the perpetual beliefe of the Christian Church, which the Church of Rome vainly pretends as an evidence that the Church did always understand and interpret our Saviour's words

To manifest the groundlesness of this pretence, I shall, i shew by plain testimony of the Fathers in leveral Ages, that this Doctrine was not the belief of the ancient Christian Church. 2. I shall shew the time and occasion of its coming in, and by what degrees it grew up and was establish'd in the Roman Church. 3. I shall answer their great pretended Demonstration that this always was and must have been the constant belief of the Christian Church.

1. I shall shew by plain Testimonies of the Fathers in several Ages, for above five hundred years after Christ, that this Doctrine was not the belief of the ancient Christian Church. Ideny not but that the Fathers do, and that with great reason, very much magrifie the wonderfull mystery and efficacy of this Sacrament, and frequently speak of a great Supernatural change made by the divine benediction; which we also readily acknowledge. They say indeed, that the Elements of Bread and Wine do by the divine bleffing become to us the Body and Bloud of Christ: But they likewise say that the names of the things signified are given to the signs; that the Bread and Wine do still remain in their proper nature and substance, and that they are turn'd into the substance of our Bodies; that the Body of Christ in the Sacrament is not his natural Body, but the fign and figure of it; not that Body which was crucified, nor that Bloud which was thed upon the Cross; and that it is impious to understand the eating of the slesh of the Son of man and drinking his bloud literally : all which are directly opposite to the Do-Arine of Transubstantiation and utterly inconsistent with it. I will select but some few Testimonies of many which I might bring to this purpose.

I begin with Justin Martyr, who fays expresly, that "our bloud and Flesh are nourished by the conversion of that food which we receive in the Eucharist: But that cannot be the natural body and bloud of Christ, for no man will say that that is con-

* Apol. 2. p. 980

The Second is Irenaus, (Lib. 4. c. 34.) who speaking of this Sacramen favs, that the bread which is from the earth receiving the divine invocation is now no longer common bread, but the Eucharist (or Sacrament) confistir of two things, the one earthly, the other heavenly. he fays it is no longer com mon bread, but after invocation or confectation it becomes the Sacrament that is, bread lanct fied, confifting of two things an earthly and a heavenly the earthly thing is bread, and the heavenly is the divine bleffing which b the invocation or consecration is added to it. And elsewhere he hath the passige, (Lib. 5. c. 2.) when therefore the cup that is mix'd (that is, o Wine and Water) and the bread that is broken receives the word of God, i becomes the Eucharist of the bloud and body of Christ, of which the substance of our flesh is increased and consists: but if that which we receive in the Sa crament do nourish our bodies, it must be bread and wine, and not the na tural body and bloud of Christ. There is another remarkable Teslimon of Irenaus, which though it be not now extant in those work of his which remain, yet hath been preserv'd by * Oecumenius and it is this; when (fays he) the Greeks had taken some Ser vants, of the Christian Cathecumeni (that is, such as had not been admitted to the Sacrament) and afterwards urged them by violence to tell them some of the secrets of the Christians, these Servants having nothing to say that migh gratify those who offered violence to them, except onely that they had beare from their Masters that the divine Communion was the bloud and bedy o Christsthey thinking, that it was really bloud and flesh, declar'd as much to those that questioned them. The Greeks taking this as if it were really done by the Christians, discovered it to the others of the Greeks; who hereupon put San Aus and Blandina to the torture to make them confess it. To whom Blanding boldly answered, How would they endure to do this, who by way of exercise (or abstinence) do not eat that flesh which may lawfully be eaten? By which it appears that this which they would have charg'd upon Christians, as it they had literally eaten the flesh and bloud of Christ in the Sacrament, was a false accusation which these Martyrs denyed, saying they were so far from that that they for their parts did not eat any flesh at all. The next is Tertullian, who proves against Marchion the Heretique that the body of our Saviour was not a mere phantasm and appearance, but a real body, because the Sacrament is a figure and image of his Body; and if there be an image of his body he must have a real body, otherwise the Sacrament would be an image of an image. His words are these, * the bread which our Saviour took and distributed to his Disciples he made his one body, saying this is my body, that is, the image or figure of my body. But it could not have been the foure of his body, if there had not been a true and real body. And arguing against the Scepticks who denied the certainty of sense he usetheris Argument: That if we question our senses we may doubt whether our Bleff. ed Saviour were not deceived in what he heard, and faw and touched. (Lib. de Anima, p. 319.) He might (fays be) be deceived in the voice from heaven, in the smell of the dintment with which he was anointed against his burial; and in the taffe of the wine which baconferrated in remembrance of his bloud. So that it seems we are to trust our senses, even in the matter of he Sacrament, and if that be will the Doctrine of Transubstantiation is ertainly false rather inful upon his Testimony, because of his emallar ylniaris

* Adverf Marcionem. 1. 4. p. 57'. Edit. Rigalt. Paris

Origen in his Comment on Matth. 15, speaking of the Sacrament hath his passage, (Edit. Huetii.) That sood which is saultified by the word of God and prayer, as to that of it which is material, goeth into the belly and is cast ut into the draught, which none surely will say of the Body of Christ. And fterwards he adds by way of explication, links not the matter of the bread, but the word which is spoken over it, which sprofiteth him that worthily eatthe Lord, and this (he says) he bad spoken concerning the Typical and ymbolical body. So that the matter of bread remaineth in the Sacrament, nd this Origen calls the Typical and Symbolical body of Christ; and it is of the natural body of Christ which is there eaten, for the food eaten in he Sucrament, as to that of it which is material, goeth into the belly and is ist out into the draught. This testimony is so very plain in the Cause that extus Senensis suspects this place of Origen was depraved by the Heretiques. Cardinal Perron is contended to allow it to be Origen's, but rejects his tellinony because he was accused of Heresie by some of the Fathers, and says ie talks like a Heretique in this place. So that with much ado this tellimony s yielded to us. The same Father in his Homilies upon Leviticus (Cap. 10) peaks thus, There is also in the New Telament a letter which kills him who loth not Spiritually understand those things which are said; for if we take acording to the Letter that which is faid, EXCEPT TE EAT MY FLESH AND DRINK MI BLOUD, This Letter kills. And this also is a killing Testimony, and not to be answered but in Cardinal Perron's way, by aying he talks like a Heretique.

St. Cyprian hath a whole Epistle (Ep. 63.) to Cecibius against those who gave the Communion in Water onely without Wine mingled with it; and is main argument against them is this, that the bloud of Christ with which ve are redeemed and quickened cannot feem to be in the Cup when there is no Vine in the Cup by which the Blond of Christ is represented; and afterwards he says, that contrary to the Evangelical and Apostolical Dostrine water was in some places offer'd (or given) in the Lord's Cup, which (says he) alone cannot express (or represent) the bloud of Christ. And lastly he tells, us that by water the people is understood, by Wine the bloud of Christ is shown (or represented) but when in the Cup water is mingled with Wine the people is united to Christ. So that according to this Argument Wine in the Sacra cramental Cup is no otherwise changed into the bloud of Christ than the Water mixed with it is changed into the People, which are said to be united to Christ.

I omit many others, and pass to St. Austin in the fourth Age after Christ And I the rather insist upon his Testimony, because of his eminent esteem and authority in the Latin Church; and he also calls the Elements of the Sacrament the figure and fign of Christ's body and bloud. In his Book against Adimantius the Manichee we have this expression

PLIST, Edit.

Sign of his body. And in his explication of the third Psalm speaking of Judas whom our Lord admitted to his last supper tenarrant in in which (says he) the commended and delivered to his Discipled

p. 16. ples the figure of his body; Lauguage which would not be cen fur'd for Heresic in the Church of Rome. Indeed he was never accus'd of Heresie, as Cardinal Perron says Origen was, but he talks as like one as Origen himself. And in his Comment on the 98 Psalm speaking of the offence which the Disciples took at that saying of our Saviour, except yeat the slesh of the Son of man and drink his bloud, &c. he brings in our Saviour speaking thus to them, (Id Tim. 9. p. 1105.) ye must understand Spiritually what I have said unto you; ye are not to eat this body which ye see, and to drink that bloud which shall be shed by thoselthat crucisse me. I have commended a certain Sacrament to you, which being Spiritually understood wing give you life. What more opposite to the Doctrine of Transubstantiation, that that the Disciples were not to eat that Body of Christ which they saw, no to drink that bloud which was shed upon the Cross, but that all this was to be understood spritually and according to the nature of a Sacrament; Fo that body he tells us is not here but in heaven, in his Commentation of the presence of his body; ye shall have me according to my providence, according to Majesty and invisible grace; but according to the stell which the Word assumed, according to that which was born of the Vir gin Mary, ye shall not have me: therefore because he conversed with his Di sciples fourty days; he is ascended up into heaven and is not here.

In his 23d. Epistle; (Id. Tom. 2, p. 93.) if the Sacraments (says he) had not some resemblance of those things whereof they are Sacraments, they would not be Sacraments at all; but from this resemblance they take for the most part the names of the things which they represent. Therefore as the Sacrament of the body of Christ is in some manner or sense Christ's body, and the Sacrament of his bloud is the bloud of Christ; So the Sacrament of faith (meaning Baptism) is faith. Upon which words of St. Austin there is this remarkable Gloss in their own Canon Law; I the heavenly II De Consecr.

Sacrament which truly represents the flesh of Christ is called the dist. 2. Hoc est.

body of Christ; but improperly: whence it is said, that after a manner, but not according to the truth of the thing but the mystery of the thing fignified; So that the meaning is, it is called the body of Christ, that is, it signifies the body of Christ: And if this be St. Austin's meaning, I am sure no Protestant can speak more plainly against Transubstantiation. And in the ancient Canon of the Mass before it was chang'd in complyance with this new Doctrine, it is expressly call'd a Sacrament, a Sign an Image and a figure of Christ's body. To which I will add that remarkable passage of St. Austin cited by * Gracian, that as we receive the similitude of his death in Baptism, so we may also receive the likeness of his flesh and bloud; that so neither may truth be wanting in the Sacrament, nor Pagans have occasion to make us rediculous for drinking the bloud of one that was flain.

* De consecrat. dist. 2. Sect. Ucrum.

I will mention but one Testimony more of this Father, but so clear a one as it is impossible any man in his wits that had believed Transubstantiation could have utter'd. It is in his Treatise de Distrina Christiana; (Lib. 3. Tom. 3. p. 53.) where laying down several Rules for the right understanding of Scripture, he gives this for one. If, (says he) the speech be a precept forbiding some heinous wickedness or crime, or commanding us to do good, it is not figurative; but if it seem to command any heinoufs wickedness or crime, or to forbid that which is profitable and beneficial to others, it is figurative: For example, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his bloud, ye have no life in you: This feems to command a heinous wickedness and crime, therefore it is a figure; commanding us to communicate of the passion of our Lord, and with delight and advantage to lay up in our memory that his flesh was crus cified and wounded for us. So that according to St. Austin's best skill in interpreting Scripture, the literal eating of the flesh of Christ and drinking his bloud would have been a great impiety; and therefore the expression is to be understood figuratively; not as Cardinal Perron who would have it, onely in opposition to the eating of his flesh and bloud in the gross appearance

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. of flesh and bloud, but to the real eating of his natural body and bloud under any appearance what soever: For St. Austin doth not say, this is a Figurative speech wherein we are commanded really to feed upon the natural body and bloud of Christ under the species of bread and wine, as the Cardinal would understand him; for then the speech would be literal and not sigurative: But he says, that this is a figurative speech wherein we are commanded Spiritually to feed upon the remembrance of his Passion.

To these I will add but three or four Testimonies more in the two following Ages.

The first shall be of Theodoret, who speaking of that Prophecy of Jacob concerning our Saviour, (Gen. 49. 11.) he washed his garments in Wine and his cloths in the bloud of grapes, hath these words, (Dialog. 1.) as we call the mystical fruit of the Vine (that is, the Wine in the Sacrament) after consecration the bloud of the Lord, So he, (viz. Jacob) ealls the bloud of the true Vine (viz. of Christ) the bloud of the grape: but the bloud of Christ is not literally and properly but onely figuratively the bloud of the grape, in the fame sense as he is said to be the true Vine; and therefore the Wine in the Sacrament after consecration is in like manner not literally and properly but figuratively the bloud of Christ. And he explains this afterwards, saying that our Saviour changed the names, and gave to his Body the name of the Sym bol or Sign, and to the Symbol or Sign the name of his Bedy; thus when he had call'd himself the Vine, he call'd the Symbol or Sign his bloud; so that in the same sense that he call'd himself the Vine, he call'd the Wine, which is the Symbol of his bloud, his bloud : For, lays he, he would have those who partake of the divine mysteries not to attend to the nature of the things which are Seen, but by the change of names to believe the change which is made by grace; for he who call'd that which by nature is a body wheat and bread, and again likewise call'dhimself the Vine, he honour'd the Symbols with the name of his body and bloud: not changing nature but adding grace to nature. Where you fee he fays expresly, that when he call'd the Symbols or Elements of the Sacrament, viz. bread and Wine his Body and blond, he made no change in the nature of the things, onely added grace to nature, that is, by the Divine grace and bleffing he raited them to a Spiritual and Supernatural virtue and efficacy.

The Second is of the same Theodoret in his second Dialogue between Catholique, under the name Orthodoxus, and an Heretique under the name of Eranistes; who maintaining that the Humanity of Christ was chang'd into the substance of the Divinity (which was the Herisie of Eutyches) he illustrates the matter by this Similitude, As, says he, the Symbols of the Lord's

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. Lord's body and bloud are one thing before the invocation of the Priest, but after the invocation are changed and become another thing; So the body of our Lord after his ascention is changed into the divine substance. But what fays Catholique Orthodoxus to this? why, he talks just like one of Cardinal Perron's Heretiques, Thou art, lays he caught in thy own net: because the my-Aicat Symbols after consecration do not pass out of their own nature; for they remain in their former substance, figure and appearance and may be seen and handled even as before. He does not onely deny the outward figure and appearance of the Symbols to be chang'd but the nature and substance of them, even in the proper and strictest sense of the word substance; and it was necessiry so to do, otherwise he had not given a pertinent answer to the similitude urgidiagainst him. Co goals a salver (3) A sendence

The next is one of their own Popes, Gelasus, who brings the same Instance against the Eutychians * surely, says he, the Sa-* Biblio b craments which we receive of the body and bloud of our Lord are Patr. Tom: 4.

a divine thing so that by them we are made partakers of a divine citage eriant nature, and yet it ceaseth not to be the Substance or nature of bread and Wine; and certainly the image and resemblance of Christ's body and bloud are celebrated in the action of the mysteries, that is, in the Sacrament. To make this Inlance of any force against the Euryebians, who held that the body of Christ spon his ascension ceas'd and was chang'd into the substance of his Diviniy, it was necessary to deny that there was any substantial change in the acrament of the bread and wine into the body and bloud of Christ. So hat here is an infallible authority, one of their own Popes expresly against ransubstantiation.

The last Testimony Ishall produce is of Facundus an African Bishop, who who lived in the 6th. Century. Upon occasion of justilying an expression f one who had said that Christ also received the adoption of Son, e reasons thus. * Christ vouchsafed to receive the Sacrament * Facund. fadoption both when he was circumeised and baptized: And the P. 144 edit. acrament of Adoption may be called adoption, as the Sacrament f bis body and bloud, which is in the consecrated bread and cup, is by us called is body and bloud: not that the bread, says he, is properly his body and the up his bloud, but because they contain in them the mysteries of his body and loud, bence also our Lord himself called the blessed bread and cup which he we to his Disciples his body and bloud. Can any manafter his believe, hat it was then, and had ever been, the universal and received Doctrine of e Christian Church, that the bread and wine in the Sacramentare subantially changed into the proper and natural body and bloud of Christ?

By these plain Testimonies which I have produced, and I might have brought a great many more to the same purpose, it is I think evident be you'd all denial that Transubstantiation hath not been the perpetual belief of the Christian Church. And this likewise is acknowledged by ma

(2) In Sent. 1. 4. Dift. 11. 2. 3.

(b) in Sent. L. 4: dist. 11. Q. 1. n. 15.

(c) de Euchar. 1.1.9.146:

(d) In 1. Epift ad Corinth. c. 7.
citante etiam
Salmerone,
Jom. 9. Tract.
16. p. 108.
(e) De Hæref,
1. 8.

knowledgeth, that this Doctrine was not always thought ne cessary to be believed, but that the necessity of believing it was consequent to that Declaration of the Church made in the Council of Lateran under Pope Innocent the III. And (b) Du randus freely discovers his inclination to have believed the contrary, if the Church had not by that determination obliged mentalistics of the Church had not by that determination obliged mentalistics.

to believe it, (c) Tonstal Bishop of Durham also yields, that be fore the Lateran Council men were at liberty as to the manner of Christ's presence in the Sacrament. And (d) Erasmus, who lived and died in the communion of the Roman Church and that whom no man was better read in the ancient Fathers, doth con fels that it was late before the Church defined Transubstantiation unknown to the Ancients both name and thing. And (e) Alphon sus a Castro says plainly, that concerning the Transubstantiation e the bread into the body of Christ, there is seldom any mention is the ancient Writers. And who can imagin that these learned men would have granted the ancient Church and Fathers to have been for much Strangers to this Doctrine, had they thought it to have been the per petual belief of the Church? I shall now in the Second place, give an account of the particular time and occasion of the coming in of this Dockrine, and by what sleps and degrees it grew up and was accounted into an Article of Faith in the Romish Charch. The Dockrine of the corporal presence of Christ was first started upon occasion of the Disputational about the the Worship of Images, in opposition whereto the Synod of Constant inople about the year DCCL did argue thus, That our Lord having le us no other image of himself but the Sacrament, in which the substance of bread is the image of his body, we ought to make no other image of outled. In answer to this Argument the second Council of Nice in the year DCCLXXXVII did declare, that the Sacrament after Consecration is must be image and antitype of Christ's body and bloud, but is properly his bod and bloud. So that the corporal body of Christ in the Sacrament was fir brought in to support the supid worship of Images: And indeed it could not ver have come in upon a more proper occasion, nor have been applied to sitter purpose.

17

A Discourse against Transubstantiation.

And here I cannot but take notice how well this agrees with * Bellarmine's Observation, that none of the Ancients who wrote of Herefies, hath put this errour (viz. of denying Transubstantiation) in his Catalogue; nor did any of the ancients dispute against this errour for the first 600 years. Which is very true, because there could be no occasion then to dispute against those who denied Transubstantiation; since. as I have shewn, this Doctrine was not in being, unless amongst the Eutychian Heretiques for the first

* De Eucharift.l. 1.6 1.

600 years and more but & Bellarmine goes on and tells us, tibid. that the first who call d in question the truth of the body of the Lord in the Eucharist were the ICONOMACHI (the opposers of images) after the year DCC in the Council of Constantinople; for these said there was one image of Christ instituted by Christ himself, viz the bread & wine in the Eucharist, which represents the body & bloud of Ehrist. Wherefore from that time the GreekWriters often admonish us that the Eucharist is not the figure or image of the body of the Lord, but his true body, as appears from the VII. Synod which agrees most exactly with the account which I have given of the first rise of this Doctrine, which began with the corporal presence of Christ in the Sacrament and afterwards proceeded to Transubstantiations.

And as this was the first occasion of introducing this Dostrine among the Greeks, so in the Latin or Roman Church Paschasus Radbertus first a Monk and afterwards Abbot of Corbey, was the first broacher of it in the year DCCCXVIII.

And for this, besides the Evidence of History, we have the acknow. ledgment of two very Eminent Persons in the Church of Rome, Bellarmine and Sirmondus, who do in effect confess that this Paschasius vvas the first vvho wrote to purpose upon this Argument. * De Scriptor. *Bellormine in these words, This Author was the first who hath seriously and copiously writen concerning the truth of Christ's Eccles. body and bloud in the Eucharist: And & Sirmondus in these + Invita Pasbe so first explained the genuine sense of the Catholique Church, that he opened the way to the rest who asterwards in great numbers wrote upon the same argument: But though Sirmondus is p'eased to say that he onely first explain'd the sense of the Catholique Church in this point, yet it is very plain from the Records of that Age which are left to us, that this was the first time that this Doctrine was broached in the Latin Church; and it met with great opposition in that Age, as I shall have occasion hereafter to shew. For Rabanus Maurus Arch-Bishop of Mentz about the year DCCCXLVII reciting the very words of Paschasius wherein

he had deliver'd this Doctrine, hath his remarkal le passage concerning the novelty of it; || Some, says he, of late, not having a right opinion concerning the Sacrament of the body and bloud of our Lord, have said that this is the body and bloud of our Lord which was born of the Virgin Mary, and in which our Lord suffered upon the Cross and rose from the dead: which errour, says he, we have oppos'd with all our might. From whence it was plain, by the Testimony of one of the greatest and most learned Bishops of that Age, and of eminent reputation for Piety, that what is now the very Dostrine of the Chu ch of Rome concerning the Sacrament, was then esteem'd an Errour broach'd by some particular Persons, but was far from being the generally receiv'd Dostrine of that Age. Can any one think it possible, that so eminent a Person in the Church both for piety and learning, could have condemn'd this Dostrine as an Errour and a Novelty, had in teer the general Dostrine of the Christian Church, not onely inthat but in all former Ages; and no censure pass'd upon him for that which is now the great burning Article in the Church of Rome, and esteemed by them one of the greatest and most pernicious Heresies?

Afterwards in the year MLIX, when Berengarius in France and Germany, had rais'd a fresh opposition against this Doctrine, he was com-

Gratian. de confecrat. difinct. 2.
Lanfranc. de corp. & fang.
Demini. c. 5:
Guitmund:
de Sacram. l. 1.
Alger. de Sacram. l. 1.

† Gloss. Deeret. de conseerat. dist. 2. in cap. Ego Berengarius. peli'd to recant it by Pope Nicholas and the Council at Rome in these words, * that the bread and wine which are set upon the Altar, after the consecration are not onely the Sacrament but the true body and bloud of our Lord Jesus Christ; and ar sensibly, not onely in the Sacrament but in truth, handled and broken by the hands of the Priest, and ground or brused by the teeth of the faithfull. But it seems the Pope and his Council were not then skilfull enough to express themselves rightly in this matter; for the Gloss upon the Canon Law says expressly, † that unless we understand these words of BERENGARIUS (that is in truth of the Pope and his Council) in sound sense, we shall fall into a greater Here e than that the BERENGARIUS; for we do not make parts of the body the Christ. The meaning of which Gloss I cannot imagine, un less it be this, that the Body of Christ, though it be intruth broken, yet is not broken into parts (for we do not make parts of the body of Christ, but into wholes: Now this new way of breaking a Body, not into part but into wholes (which in good earnest is the Doctrine of the Church of Rome) though to them that are able to believe Transubstantiation it may for any thing I know appear to be found sense, yet to us that cannot be lieve so, it appears to be solid non-sense,

About XX years after, in the year MLXXIX Pope Gregory the VIII

Legan to be sensible of this absurdity; and therefore in another

Councilat Rome made Berengarius to recant in another Form, *Waldens. Viz, * that the bread and wine which are placed upon the Al. Tim 2.6.13 tar are subflantially changed into the true and proper and quickning flesh and bloud of our Lord Jesus Christ, and after consecration are the true body of Christ, which was born of the Virgin, and which being offered for the Salvation of the World did hang upon the Cross, and sits on the right hand of the Father.

So that from the first starting of this Doctrine in the second Council of Nice in the year DCCI XXXVII, till the Council under Pope Gregory the VIIth. in the year MLXXIX, it was almost three hundred years that this Doctrine was contested, and before this mishapen Monster of Transubstantiation could be lick'd into that Form in which it is now settled and establish'd in the Church of Rome. Here then is a plain account of the first life of this Doctrine, and of the several steps whereby it was advanced by he Church of Rome into an Article of Faith. I come now in the Third place, to answer the great pretended Demonstration of the imcossibility that this Dectrine, if it had been new, should ever have come in, in any Age, and been received in the Church; and consequently it must of excessive have been the perpetual belief of the Church in all Ages: For if it had not always been the Doctrine of the Church, whenever it had atcompted first to come in, there would have been a great stir and bussle aout it, and the whole Christian World would have rose up in opposition to it. But we can shew no such time when first it came in, and when my such opposition was made to it, and therefore it was always the Dotrine of the Church. This Demonstration Monsieur Arnauld, a very carned Man in France, pretends to be unanswerable: whether it be so r not, I shall briefly examine. And

First, we do assign a punctual and very likely time of the first rise of his Doctrine, about the begining of the ninth Age; though it did not ke root nor was fully setled and established till towards the end of the eventh. And this was the most likely time of all other, from the being of Christianity, for so gross an Errour to appear; it being, by the confession and consent of their own Historians, the most dark and small time that ever happened to the Christian Church, both for Ignomice, and Superstition, and Vice. It came in together with Idelatry, and was made use of to support it: A fit prop and companion for it. And it s doed what tares might not the Enemy have fewn in so dark and long a Night; when so considerable a part of the Christian World was luli'd a fleep in prosound Ignorance and Superstition? And this agrees very well with the account which our Saviour himself gives in the Parable of the Tares, of the springing up of Errours and Corruptions in the field of the Church. (Matth. 13. 24.) While the men flept the Enemy did his work in the Night, so that when they were awake they wondred how and whence the tares came; but being fure they were there, and that they were not foven at first, they consuded the Enemy had done it.

C 2

Secondly, I have shewn likewise that there was considerable opposition made to this Errour at its first coming in. The general Ignorance and groß Superstition of that Age rendred the generallity of people more quiet and secure, and disposed them to receive any thing that came unde a pretence of mystery in Religion and of greater reverence and devotion to the Sacrament, and that seemed any way to countenance the worshi of Images, for which at that time they were zealously concern'd. Bu notwithstanding the security and passive temper of the People, the me most eminent for piety and learning in that Time made great resistance against it. I have already named Rabanus Arch-Bishop of Mentz. wh oppos'd it as an Errour lately sprung up and which had then gained be upon some sew persons. To whom I may add Heribatdus Bishop Auxerrers in France, lo. Scotus Erigena, and Ratramus commonly know by the name of Bertram, who at the same time were imployed by the Emperour Charles the Bald to oppose this growing Errour, and wro learnedly against it. And these were the eminent men for learning that time. And because Monsieur Arnauld will not be satisfied unless the were some stir and bustle about it, Bertram in his Presace to his Boo tells us, that they who according to their several opinions talked differen ly about the mystery of Christ's body and bloud were divided by no sme not, I thall briefly examine. Schifm.

Thirdly, Though for a more clear and fatisfactory answer to this pr tented Demonstration I have been contended to untie this knot, yet could without all these pains have cut it. For suppose this Doctrine h si'ently come in and without opposition, so that we could not assign to particular time and occasion of its first Rise; yet if it be evident fro the Records of former Ages, for above D. years together, that this w not the ancient belief of the Church; and plain also, that this Doctri was afterwards received in the Roman Church, though we could not t now and when it came in, yet it would be the wildest and most extravaeant thing in the world to fet up a pretended Demonstration of Reason against plain Experience and matter of fact, This is just Zeno's Des nonfiration of the impossibility of motion against Diogenes walking beore his Eyes For this is to undertake to prove that impossible to have een, which most certainly was. Just thus the Servants in the Parable night have demonstrated that the tares were wheat, because they were ure none but good feed was fown at first, and no man could give any ccount of the punctual time when any tares were fown, or by whom; nd if an Enemy had come to do it, he must needs have met with great esistance and opposition; but no such resistance was made, and therefore here could be no tares in the field, but that which they call'd tares was ertainly good wheat. At the same rate a man might demonstrate that ur King, his Majesty of great Britain, is not return'd into England, nor flor'd to his Crown; because there being so great and powerfull an rmy posses'd of his Lands, and therefore obliged by interest to keep him it, it was impossible He should ever come in without a great deal of ghting and bloud-shed: but there was no such thing, therefore he is ot return' and restor'd to his Crown. And by the like kind of Demonration one might prove that the Turk did not invade Christendom last ear, and besiege Vienna; because if he had, the most Christian King, ho had the greatest Army in Christendom in a readiness, would certainhave employed it against him; but Monsieur Arnauld certainly knows, fuch thing was done. And therefore according to his way of Deonstration, the matter of fact, so commonly reported and believed, oncerning the Turks Invafion of Christendom and besieging Vienna last ear, was a perfect mistake. But a man may demonstrate till his head and eart ake, before he shall ever be able to prove that which certainly is, was, never to have been. For of a l forts of impossibles nothing is. ore evidently so, than to make that which hath been not to we been. All the reason in the world is too weak to cope with tough and obstinate a difficulty. And I have often wonder'd how a an of Monsieur Arnauld's great wit and sharp Judgment could prevail ith himself to engage in so bad and bassled a Cause; or could think to send it with so wooden a Dagger as his Demonstration of Reason against rtain Experience and matter of Fast: A thing, if it be possible of equal furdity with what he pretends to demonstrate, Transubstantiation it f. I proceed to the

to the thing received the grant of Third pretended ground of this Doctrine of Transubstantiation; and that is, The Infallible Authority of the present Church to make and declare new Articles of Faith. And this in truth is the ground into which the most of the learned men of their Church did heretofore, and many do still resolve their belief of this Doctrine: And, as I have already shewn, do plainly say that they see no sufficient reason, either from Scripture or Tradition, for the belief of it: And that they should have believed the contrary had not the determination of the Church obliged them otherwife,

But if this Doctrine be obtruded upon the world merely by vertue of the Authority of the Roman Church, and the Declaration of the Council under Pare Gregory the VIIth. or of the Lateran Council under Innocent the III then it is a plain Innovation in the Christian Dectrine, and a new Article of Faith impos'd upon the Christian World. And if any Church hath this power, the Christian Faith may be enlarged and changed as often as men please; and that which is no part of our Saviour's Doctrine, nay, any thing though never lo absurd and unreasonable, may become an Article of Faith obliging all Christians to the belief of it, whenever the Church of Rome shall think fit to stamp her Authority upon it : which would make Christianity a most uncertain and endless thing.

The Fourth pretended ground of this Doctrine is, the necessity of such a change as this in the Sacrament to the comfort and benefit of those who received it. But there is no colour for this, if the thing be rightly con sider'd: Because the comfort and benefit of the Sacrament depends upor the bleffing annexed to the Institution. And as Water in Baptism without any substantial change in that Element, may by the Divine bles fing accompanying the Institution be effectual to the washing away of Sin, and Spiritual Regeneration; So there can no reason in the work be given why the Elements of Bread and Wine in the Lord's Suppe may not, by the same Divine bleffing accompanying this Institution, make the worthy receivers partakers of all the Spiritual comfort and benefit designed to us thereby, without any substantial change made in those E de nents, fince our Lord hath told us, that verily the flesh profiteth nothing So that if we could do so odd and strange a thing as to eat the very natural flesh and drink the bloud of our Lord, I do not see of what great er advantage it would be to us than what we may have by partaking of the Symbols of his body and bloud as he hath appointed in remem brance of him. For the Spiritual efficacy of the Sacrament doth not de pend upon the nature of the thing received, supposing we receive wha our Lord appointed and receive it with a right preparation and diffofition of mind, but upon the supernatural blessing that goes along with, it, and makes it effectual to those Spiritual ends for which it was appointed,

The Fifth and last pretended ground of this Doctrine is to magnify the power of the Priest in being able to work so great a Miracle. And this with great pride and pomp is often urg'd by them as a transcendent inflance of the Divine wisedom, to find out so admirable a way to raise the power and reverence of the Priest; that he should be able every day, and as often as he pleases, by repeating a few words to work so miracuous a change, and (as they love most absurdly and blaphemously to speak) to make God himself.

But this is to pretend to a power above that of God himself, for he did for, nor cannot make himself, nor do any thing that implies a contraliction, as Transubstantiation, evidently does in their pretending to make fod. For to make that which already is, and to make that now which lways was, is not onely vain and trifling if it could be done, but imposble because it implies a contradiction.

And what if after all Transubstantiation if it were possible and actually rought by the Priest, wou'd yet Le no Miracle? For there are two nings necessary to a Miracle, that there be a supernatural effect wrought, nd that this effect be evident to sense. So that though a supernatural ffect be wrought, yet if it be not evident to sense it is to all the ends and urposes of a Miracle as if it were not; and can be no testimony or roof of any thing, because it self stands in need of another Miracle give testimony to it and to prove that it was wrought. And neither Scripture, nor in profane Authors, nor in common use of speech, is ny thing call'd a Miracle but what falls under the notice of our senses: Miraile being nothing else but a supernatural effect evident to sense, the reat end and design whereof is to be a sensible proof and conviction to s of something that we do not see.

And for want of this Condition, Transubstantiation, if it were true, ould be no Miracle. It would indeed be very supernatural, but for all nat it would not be a Sign or Miracle: For a Sign or Miracle is always thing sensible, other vvise it could be no Sign. Novv that such a change is pretended in Transubstantiation should really be vvrought, and yet tere should be no sign and appearance of it, is a thing very wonderful, it not to sense; for our senses perceive no change, the Bread and Wine in e Sacrament to all our senses remaining just as they vvere before: And

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. that a thing should remain to all appearance just as it was, hath nothing at all of wonder in it we vvonder indeed vvhen vve see a strange thing done, but no man vvonders when he sees nothing done. So that Tran substantiation, if they will needs have it a Miracle, is such a Miracle as an man may work that hath but the confidence to face men down that h works it and the fortune to be believed: And though the Church of Rom may magnify their Priests upon account of this Miracle, which they sa they can workevery day and every hour, yet I cannot understand th reason of it; for when this great work (as they call it) is done, ther is nothing more appears to be done than if there were no Miracle: Nov fuch a Miracle as to all appearance is no Miracle I see no reason why Protestant Minister, as well as a Popish Priest, may not vvork as often he pleases; or if he can but have the patience to let it alone, it vvill vvor it self. For surely nothing in the world is easier than to let a thing be a it is, and by speaking a few words over it to make it just what it was before. Every man, every day, may work ten thousand such Miracle

And thus I have dispatch'd the First part of my Discourse, which was to consider the pretended grounds and Reasons of the Church of Ron for this Doctrine, and to shew the weakness and insufficiency of then

II. SECOND place, to produce our Objections against it. Which w be of so much the greater force, because I have already shewn this D Arine to be destitute of all Divine warrant and authority, and of any ther fort of Ground sufficient in reason to justifie it. So that I do n now object against a Doctrine which bath a fair probability of Divi Revelation on its side, for that would vveigh down all objections whi did not plainly overthrow the probaility and credit of its Divine Rev lation: But I object against a Doctrine by the mere will and Tyran of men impos'd upon the belief of Christians, vvithout any evidence Scripture, and against all the evidence of Reason and Sense.

The Objections I shall reduce to these two Heads. First, the infini scandal of this Doctrine to the Christian Religion. And Secondly, the monstrous and insupportable absurdity of it.

First, The infinite scandal of this Doctrine to the Christian Religi And that upon these four accounts. 1. Of the stupidity of this Doctrin 2. The real barbarousness of this Sacrament and right of our Religi upon supposition of the truth of this Doctrine. 3. Of the cruel and blo dy consequences of it. 4. Of the danger of Idolatry; vvhich they are consequences tainly guilty of, if this Doctrine be not true. I would be managed

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. 1. Upon account of the stupidity of this Doctrine. I remember that fully, who was a man of very good sense, instanceth in the conceit of ating God as the extremity of madness, & so stupid an aprehension as he thought no man was ever guilty of. *When * De Nat. ve call, says he, the fruits of the earth Ceres, and wine Bacbus, we use but the common language; but do you think any an so mad as to believe that which he eats to be God? It seems he could or believe that so extravagant a folly had ever entred into the mind f man. It is a very severe saying of Averroes the Arabian Philosoher (who lived after this Doctrine was entertained among Christias) and ought to make the Church of Rome blush, if she an; * I have travell'd, says he, over the world, and have * Dionys und divers Sects; but fo sottish a Sect or Law I never found, Carthus in 4. is the Sect of the Christians; because with their own teeth ey devour their God whom they worshiped. It was great supidity in cople of Ifrael to fay, Come tet us make us Gods; but it was civilly id of them, Let us make us Gods that may go before us, in comparison the Church of Rome, who fay, Let us make a God that we may eat m. So that upon the whole matter I cannot but wonder that they ould chuse thus to expose Faith to the contempt of all that are enduwith Reason. And to speak the plain truth, the Christian Religion as never so horribly exposed to the scorn of Atheists and Infidels, as hath been by this most absurd and senseless Doctrine. But thus it as foretold that the Man of Sin should come with power and Signs d Lying Miracles, and with all deceiveableness of unrighteensness 2. Thest. 2. 10.) with all the Legerdemain and jugling tricks of falleood and imposture; amongst which this of Transabstantiation, which ey call a Miracle, and we a Cheat, is one of the chief: And in all obability those common jugling words of bocus pocus, are nothing se but a corruption of hocest corpus, by way of rediculous imitation the Priests of the Church of Rome in their trick of Translub antiati-

Into such contempt by this foolish Doctrine and pretended Micle of theirs have they brought the most sacred and venerable Myery of our Religion. The state of the state

2. It is very scandalous likewise upon account of the real barbausues of this Sacrament and Rite of our Religion, upon suspension the truth of this Doctrine. Litterally to eat the flesh of the Son of an and to drink his bland, St. Austin, as I have showed before, declares to be a great Impiety. And the impiety and barberousness of the thing is not in truth extenuated, but onely the appearance of it, by its being done under the Species of Bread and Wine: For the thing they acknow ledge is really done, and they believe that they verily eat and drink the natural flesh and bloud of Christ. And what can any man de more unworthily towards his Friend? How can he possibly use hin more barbarously, than to feast upon his living flesh and bloud? It is one of the greatest wonders in the world, that it should ever enter in to the minds of men to put upon our Saviour's words, so easily capabl of a more convenient fense and so necessarily requiring it, a meaning so plainly contrary to Reason, and sense, and even to Humanity it sell Had the ancient Christians owned any such Doctrine, we should hav heard of it from the Adversaries of our Religion in every page of their Writings; and they would have defired no greater advantage again the Christians than to have been able to hit them in the teeth wit their feasting upon the the natural flesh and bloud of their Lord, an their God, and their best Friend. What end'ess triumphs would the have made upon this Subject? And with that confidence would the have set the cruelty used by Christians in their Sacrament, against the God Saturn's eating his own Children, and all the cruel and bloud Rites of their Idolatry? But that no such thing was then objected b the Heathens to the Christians, is to a wise man instead of a thousan Demonstrations that no such Doctrine was then believed.

D

3. It is scandalous also upon account of the cruel and blondy consequences of this Doctrine; so contrary to the plain Laws of Christian ty, and to one great end and design of this Sacrament, which is to unite Christians in the most perfect love and charity to one another Whereas this Doctrine hath been the occasion of the most barbarou and bloody Tragedies that ever were acted in the World. For this hat been in the Church of Rome the great burning Article; and as absurand unreasonable as it is, more Christians have been murther'd so the denial of it than perhaps for all the other Articles of their Religion. And I think it may generally pass for a true observation that a Sects are commonly most hot and surious for those things for whice there is least Reason; for what men want of Reason for their opinions, they usually supply and make up in Rage. And it was no more than needed to use this severity upon this occasion; for nothing but the cruel fear of death could in probability have driven so great part of mankind into the acknowledgement of lounreasonable and lenseless a Doctrine.

O blessed Saviour! thou best Friend and greatest lover of mankind, who can imagin thou dist ever intend that men should kill one another for not being able to believe contrary to their senses; for being inwilling to think, that thou shouldst make one of the most horrid and parbarous things that can be imagin'd a main Duty and principal Mistery of thy Religion; for not flattering the pride and presumptin of the Priest who says he can make God, and for not complying with the folly and stupidity of the People who believe that they can at him?

4. Upon account of the danger of Idolatry; which they are cerainly guilty of if this Doctrine be not true, and such a change as they retend be not made in the Sacrament; for if it be not, then they woripa Creature instead of the Creator God blessed for ever. But such change I have shewn to be impossible; or if it could be, yet they can ever be certain that it is, and consequently are always in danger of lolatry: And that they can never be certain that such a change is ade, is evident; because, according to the express determination of e Council of Trent, that depends upon the mind and intention of the riest, which cannot certainly be known but by Revelation, which is ot pretended in this case. And if they be missaken about this change, brough the knavery or croffness of the Priest who will not make God ut when he thinks fit, they must not think to excuse themselves from lolatry because they intended to worship God and not a Creature; or so the Persians might be excus'd from Idolatry in worshipping the un, because they intend to worship God and not a Creature; and so deed we may excuse all the Idolatry that ever was in the world, hich is nothing else but a mistake of the Deity, and upon that miske a worshiping of something as God which is not God.

II. Besides the infinite scandal of this Doctrine upon the accounts have mentioned, the monstrous absurdities of it make it insupportale to any Religion. I am very well assur'd of the grounds of Reliion in general, and of the Christian Religion in particular; and yet cannot see that the foundations of any revealed Religion are strong nough to bear the weight of so many and so great absurdities as this octrine of Transubstantiation would load it withall. And to make is evident, I shall not insist upon those gross contradictions, of the only ask these few Questions.

1. Whether any man have, or ever had greater evidence of the truth any Divine Revelation than every man hath of the falshood of Tra Substantiation? Infidelity were hardly possible to men, if all men ha the same evidence for the Christian Religion which they have again Transubstantiation, that is, the clear and irrefishible evidence of sens He that can once be brought to contradict or deny his senses, is at a end of certainty; for what can a man be certain of if he be not ce tain of what he fees? In some circumstances our tenses may deceive us, but no Faculty deceives us so little and so seldom: And when o fenses do deceive us, even that errour is not to be corrected without the help of our senses.

z. Supposing this Doctrine had been delivered in Scripture in t very same words that it is decreed in the Council of Trent, by wh clearer evidence or fironger Argument could any man prove to r that fuch words were in the Bible than I can prove to him that bre and wine after consecration are bread and wine still? He could b appeal to my eyes to prove fuch words to be in the Bible, and wi the same reason and justice might I appeal to several of his senses prove to him that the bread and wine after confecration are bread and wine fill wine Mill.

3. Whether it be reasonable to imagine that God should make th a part of the Christian Religion which shakes the main external ev dence and confirmation of the whole? I mean the Miracles which were wrought by our Saviour and his Apost es, the assurance where did at first depend upon the certainty of sense. For if the senses those who say they saw them were deceived then there might be re-Miracles wrought; and consequently it may justly be doubted wheth that kind of confirmation which God hath given to the Christian R ligion would be strong enough to prove it, supposing Transabstanti tion to be a part of it: Because every man hath as great evidence the Transubstantiation is false, as he hath that the Christian Religion true. Suppose then Transubstantiation to be part of the Christian Doctrine, it must have the same confirmation with thewhole, an

that is Miracles : But of all Doctrines in the world it is peculiarly incapable of being proved by a Miracle. For if a Miracle were wrought for the proof of it, the very same assurance which any man hath of the truth of the Miracle he hath of the falsehood of the Doctrine, that is, the clear evidence of his Senses. For that there is a Miracle wrought to prove that what he sees in the Satrament is not bread but the body of Christ, there is onely the evidence of sense; and there is the very same evidence to prove that what he fres in the Sacrament is not the body of Christ but bread. So that here would arise a new Controversie, whether a man should rather believe his Senses giving testimony against the Doctrine of Transubstantiation, or bearing witness to a Mirac'e wrought to confirm that Doctrine; there being the veby same evidence against the truth of the Doctrine, which there is for the truth of the Miracle: And then the Argument for Transubstantiation and the Objection against it would just balance one another; and consequently Transubstantiation is not to be proved by a Miracle, because that would be, to prove to a man by some thing that he sees, that be doth not fee what he fees. And if there were no other evidence that Transubstantiation is no part of the Christian Doctrine, this would be sufficient, that what proves the one doth as much overthrow the other; and that Miracles which are certainly the best and highest external proof of Christianity are the worst proof in the world of Tannsubstantiation, unless a man can renounce his senses at the same time that he relies upon them. For a man cannot believe a Miracle without relying upon sense, nor Transubstantiation without renouncing it. So that never were any two things fo ill coupled together as the Doctrine of Christianity and that of Transubstantiation, because they draw several ways, and are ready to strangle one another; because the main evidence of the Christian Doctrine, which is Miracles, is resolved into the certainty of sense, but this eivdence is clear and point.blank against Transubstantiation.

And Lastly, I would ask what we are to think of the Argument which our Saviour used to convince his Disciples after his Resurrection that his Body was really risen, and that they were not deluded by a Ghost or Apparition; Is it a necessary and conclusive Argument or not? And he said unto them, why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I my self; for a Spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have. (Luke 24.38,39.)

But now if we suppose with the Church of Rome the Doctrine of Transubstantiation to be true, and that he had instructed his Disciples in it just before his death, strange thoughts might justly have risen in their hearts, and they might have faid to him; Lord, it is but a few days ago fince though didst teach us not to believe our senses, but directly contrary to what we faw, viz. that the bread which thou gavest us in the Sacrament, though we saw it and handled it and tasted it to be bread, yet was not bread, but thine own natural body; and now thou appealest to our senses to prove that this is thy body which we now fee. If feeing and handling be an unquestionable evidence that things are what they appear to our senses, then we were deceived before in the Sacrament; and if they be not, then we are not sure now that this is thy body which we now fee and handle, but it may be perhaps bread under the appearance of flesh and bones, just as in the Sacrament, that which we saw and handled and tasted to be bread was thy flesh and bones under the form and appearance of bread. Now upon this supposition, it would have been a hard matter to have quieted the thoughts of the Disciples: For if the Argumeut which our Saviour used did certainly prove to them that what they saw and handled was his body, his very natural flesh and bones, because they faw and handled them, (which it were impious to deny) it would as strongly prove that what they saw and received before in the Sacrament was not the natural body and bloud of Christ, but real bread and wine: And confequently, that according to our Saviour's arguing after his Resurrection they had no reason to believe Transubstantiation before. For that very Argument by which our Saviour proves the reality of his body after his Resurrection doth as strongly prove the realty of bread and wine after Confecration. But our Saviour's Argument was most infallibly good and true, and therefore the Do-Etrine of TrinsubHantiation is undoubtedly false. cles is relotved in

Upon the whole matter I shall onely say this, that some other Points between us and the Church of Rome are managed with some kind of witand subtility, but this of Transubstantiation is caried out by mere dint of impudence and facing down of Mankind.

And of this the more discerning persons of that Church are of late grown so sensible that they would now be glad to be rid of this odious and rediculous Doctrine. But the Council of Trent hath sasten'd it to their Religion, and made it a necessary and essential Point of their Belief.

A Discourse against Transubstantiation.

elief, and they cannot now part with it if they would; it is like a still-stone hung about the neck of Popery which will sink it at the last. And though some of their greatest Wits, as Cardinal Perron, and late Monsieur Arnaud, have undertaken the desence of it in great olumes; yet it is an absurdity of that monstrous and massy weight, at no humane authority or wit are able to support it; It will make be very Pillars of St. Peter's crack, and requires more Volumes to ake it good than would fill the Vatican.

And now I would apply my felf to the poor deluded People of that hurch if they were either permitted by their Priests, or durst venere without their leave to look into their Religion and to examine the Doctrines of it. Consider, and shew your selves men. Do not suffyour selves any longer to be led blindfold, and by an implicit Faith your Priests, into the be'ief of non-sense and contradiction. Think it enough and too much to let them rook you of your money for etended Pardons and counterfeit Reliques, but let not the Authorited any Priest or Church persuade you out of your Senses. Credulisis certainly a fault as well as Insidelity: and he who said, blessed are that have not seen and yet have believed, hath no where said, as a selfed are they that have seen and yet have not believed, much less

Hed are they that believe directly contrary to what they see

To conclude this Discourse. By what hath been said upon this Arment it will appear, with how little truth and reason, and regard the interest of our common Christianity, it is so often said by our lversaries, that there are as good arguments for the belief of Transtantiation as of the Doctrine of the Trinity: When they themves do acknowledge with us that the Doctrine of the Trinity is ounded upon the Scriptures, and that according to the interpretau of them by the consent of the ancient Fathers: but their Doctrine Transubstantiation I have plainly shewn to have no such ground, that this is aknowledged by very many learned men of their own urch. And this doctrine of theirs being first plainly proved by us be destitute of all Divine Warrant and Authority, our Objections anst it from the manifold contradictions of it to Reason and Sense so many Demonstrations of the falsehood of it. Against all which y have nothing to put in the opposite Scal but the Infallibility of ir Church, for which there is even less colour of proof from Scripe than for Transubstantiation it self. But so sond are they of their

A Discourse against Transubstantiation. own Innovations and Errours, that rather than the Dictates of their Church, how groundles and abfurd foever, should be call'd in question; rather than not have their will of us in imposing upon us what they please, they will overthrow any Article of the Christian Faith, and shake the very foundations of our common Religion, A c'ear evidence that the Church of Rame is not the true Mother, since she can be so well contented that Christianity should be destroyed rather than the Point in question should be decided against her. Andrew I well days and tell to the reconstitute have it they were permitted by their briefly or don't ver-me without their an lerd lead into their Religion and to examine to Doction & Clift. Confern and Doction of Relies are Do not his aver ideas and water to and distributed by the interest the econded Pardons and council for Philappes, but for markers a hours, or an expension of the council of the counc fold are river that have from and not derive not have better mouth from the date they that believe directly metract by what are built To conclude this Directific by white of Least addition of is continued that as well as Indiangues and by which we

The state of the state of the way the state the state of security in the fire and in friends to he with the secure

THE END.

Marriagion es at the Doctrine at elle Trikity; Williamith y alle its all white but the state of the land of the tiof them by the confeat of the ancient Pathers: tony of the archers. True abstantiation of have plainly them to have no find a receivery defait this is sknowledged by your many learned men as he is in n medi. And this doctors at their being first plainty to an to defligate of all Diville To are one and Acultorans, our Old Colors aindiction she manifold centradictions of icto Realon will held

Is many Demonstrations of the fallehood of it. Acainst Mary Land

what amounting to put in the opposite Sea but the Intalling of policy ir Charelt, for which there is even less estous of proof from to