TO HIS GRACE

L I O N E L

Duke of DORSET.

My LORD,

 THE late Mr PRIOR received so many Obligations from Your GRACE'S Family, that in Gratitude, he thought all the Productions of his Pen ought to be consecrated only to the Name of DORSET.

DEDICATION.

As I was desired to be the Editor of the REMAINS of this Inimitable Poet, I could not help thinking that I should be guilty of Injustice to his Memory, if they were adorned with any other than Your GRACE'S Illustrious Name.

SOME of the following Pieces were published by Mr PRIOR himself, after the Folio-Edition of his Works. The rest were communicated by his Executor and other Friends, to whom he had presented them.

As to the Productions which are Mr PRIOR'S, I am persuaded they will be received with Your GRACE'S peculiar Candour: But, I fear I have been guilty of too much Temerity in mixing any of my slight Performances with his Immortal Muse.

DEDICATION.

I can only say in my Defence, that I was tempted to perpetuate them by an Opportunity so very favourable; and the Event will be equal to my utmost Wishes, should Your GRACE do me the Honour to think them not altogether unworthy of the Situation in which I have presumed to place them.

THE other Pieces which compose this Miscellany, were kindly received at their first Publication, and it is the Opinion of good Judges, that they make no disagreeable Appearance in the Rank to which they are now assigned.

THE LIFE of Mr PRIOR is compiled out of the most authentic Particulars that could be obtained either from his Friends, or found among his Own Papers; but of all the various Circumstances that compose it, none can be so advantageous to his Memory as the Intimacy and Friendship with which he was honoured by Your GRACE'S most noble Father.

I WILL not presume to detain your GRACE any longer, than while I beg Your Permission to lay this Collection at your GRACE'S Feet with all the Humility and Veneration with which I have the Honour to be,

My LORD,

Your GRACE'S

Most Obedient.

Humble Servant.

S O M E

A C C O U N T of the A U T H O R.

 *M*ATTHEW PRIOR Esq; was the Son of Mr George Prior, Joiner and Citizen of London, where he was Born, 21st July, 1664. His Father, tho' very industrious in his Business, was far from being fortunate in his Circumstances; and dying when his Son was Young, he left him to the Care of an Uncle, who discharg'd the Trust reposed in him with a Tenderness truly paternal, as Mr PRIOR constantly acknowledged with all the Gratitude of a generous Mind.

He received part of his Education at Westminster School, where, as Bishop Sprat relates to Mr Cowley, he early obtained and increased the noble Genius peculiar to that Place. It was there that he began to disclose the amiable Talents he possess'd, and so bright was the Dawn in which they first appeared, that it was natural to foresee their Meridian would render him an Honour to his Country, and endear him to the greatest of his Coterporaries.

When he was very young he distinguished himself by several happy Flights in Poetry, which contributed not a little to his Reputation; particularly the fine Ode in his printed Poems which he was obliged to write in 1688, as an Exercise for neglecting to be present one Morning at the Chapel-Service; and he acquitted himself so well on this Occasion, that the World would hardly have been angry with him had he been guilty of more Transgressions of the same Nature, and atoned for them by so polite and amiable a Penance.

As

As he had an uncommon Propensity to Learning, and began to be intimate with the Ancients at an Age when few are acquainted with much more than their Names, it was with great Reluctance that he found himself obliged to leave a School, to whose Institutions he was hastening to give so much Reputation; but at the same time, he thought it his Duty to conform himself to the Inclinations of an Uncle who had treated him with so much Humanity, and who, as he was a Vintner imagined Mr PRIOR might be useful to him in his House and Trade. His Nephew accordingly consented to live with him, and by his Diligence, in a Calling very foreign to so extraordinary a Genius, indeavoured to make the best Returns he was then able to his kind Relation and Benefactor.

Mr PRIOR, tho' he found sufficient Employment in this Situation, did not neglect to improve every vacant Hour he could enjoy, in entertaining himself with his favourite Classicks, especially the Poets. Of these, Horace was his greatest Darling, and without doubt he was sensible of some Similitude of Genius between that admirable Writer and himself, which prompted him to form his Taste for the Muses by such a compleat Model; and so indefagably did he pursue his Studies in all Intermissions of his Uncle's Business, that the polite Part of the Company who resorted to the House where in a little time sensible that he deserved to shine in a better Sphere than that in which he appeared.

It happened, fortunately, for Mr PRIOR, that the late Earl of Dorset, that Prodigy of polite Wit and Generosity, frequently passed some agreeable Hours with his Friends at this Tavern; and being one Day there with several Gentlemen of Rank, the Discourse turned upon one of the Odes of Horace; and the Company being divided in their Sentiments of a Passage in that elegant Poet, one of the Gentlemen was pleased to say, I find we are not like to agree in our Criticisms; but if I am not mistaken there is a young Fellow in the House who is able to set us all right; upon which he named Mr PRIOR, who was immediately sent for and desired to give his Opinion of Horace's

Horace's Meaning in the Ode under Debate. Mr PRIOR very genteely intreated them to let his Incapacity be his Excuse for not presuming to offer any imperfect Thoughts on what they did him the Honour to propose to him; but that not availing, he at last, with an engaging Modesty, gave such an Explanation of the Passage in Dispute as was very agreeable to his polite Audiens; and the Earl of Dorset from that Moment determined Mr PRIOR should pass from the Station he was then in, to one more suitable to his promising abilities.

To accomplish such a generous Intention this Noble Lord sent him as a Gentleman-Commoner to St John's College in Cambridge, where he made such a Progress in his Studies, that he soon rose to a Fellowship, which he enjoyed till his Death, and gave his illustrious Benefactor the Pleasure of seeing his Generosity succeed to his Desire.

Mr PRIOR had enriched himself at the University with such a Variety of Learning, and improved his natural Accomplishments with so much Success, that at his Return to Town, his Intimacy was courted by Persons of the greatest Rank. It was a Happiness then, to have Merit: Great Talents were the best Introduction to Esteem and Popularity, and therefore, it was impossible for Mr PRIOR to be disregarded at a Time when the greatest Wits were the noblest Patrons.

In the Reign of King Charles the Second he was intimately honoured with the Friendship of Charles Montague, Esq; late Earl of Hallifax, who was a perfect Master of polite Literature himself, and delighted to make that Accomplishment fortunate to others who possessed it.

Soon after the Accession of King James the Second to the Throne he flung off the Veil, and not only professed Himself a Papist, but took Persons of the same Profession into the Ministry and Army; dispensing with the Penal Laws, contrary to the Foundation of the Government, vernment, and trying many Experiments invasive of the Rights of the Church of England, and the Privileges and Communities of such as were the true Sons of it.

And, in order to turn the Doctrines of our Established Church into Ridicule, Mr Dryden, who had turned Papist, to ingratiate himself at Court, was from thence directed to write, and did accordingly Publish, in 1686, a most virulent Satire, intitl'd, The HIND and the PANTHER, a POEM. The HIND was made a strong Advocate for the Church of Rome, and the PANTHER, a weak Defender of the Church of England. Mr Dryden thought his Casuistry unanswerable, by fixing the dernier Resort of Church Authority and the Rule of Faith in the Papal See. But the Honourable Charles Montague Esq; and Mr PRIOR, then Fellow of St John's College, Cambridge, soon turned the Poetical Casuist on his Back, and fairly shewed the Difference between smooth Numbers and sound Arguments. In short, to heighten the Ridicule, these Gentlemen turned Mr Dryden's two mighty Beasts of Prey into two diminutive voracious Vermin, and transversed the Hind and Panther, to the STORY of the Country-Mouse and the City-Mouse, under which Title they published their Critique, 1687.

The beautiful Parady, of turning Mr Dryden's Raillery upon himself, the just Reasoning and inimitable Turns of Wit which it contains, render it Standard: fully verifying the Earl of Roscommon's true Assertion. that,

The weighty Bullion of one Sterling Line,
Drawn to French-Wire, will thro' whole Pages shine.
Eff. on Tran. Verse.

Mr PRIOR's second Production, was, as before-mentioned, an Ode: Written the Year following, as an Exercise at St John's College, Cambridge, on these Words, I AM THAT I AM, Exod. iii. 14.

Upon the Revolution, Mr PRIOR was brought to Court by his great Patron, the Earl of Dorset. As that Noble Lord had entertained a very favourable Opinion of this Gentleman in his Infancy, so he continued to distinguish him by his Friendship and Recommendation; His Patronage

tronage introduced him into the Scene of public Employment, and by the generous Influence of this great Peer, Mr PRIOR was made Secretary to their Majesties King William and Queen Mary at the Congress at the Hague in 1690. the Earl of Berkely being Plenipotentiary at that Negotiation.

Mr PRIOR had the good Fortune to acquit himself so well in this Situation, that he was afterwards appointed Secretary of the Embassy to the Earls of Pembroke, Jersey, and Sir Joseph Williamson, who were appointed Embassadors at the Treaty of Peace at Reswick, 1693; during the Transactions of which, several Memorials relating to the Treaty were drawn up by him; he was likewise Secretary to the succeeding Embassies of the Earls of Portland, and Jersey, in France.

After this he was advanced to the Post of Secretary of State in Ireland. He was next constituted one of the Lords Commissioners of Trade and Plantations in the Year 1700, and by her Majesty Queen Anne made one of the Commissioners of the Customs in 1711: and her Majesty's Plenipotentiary-Minister in France the same Year.

As he was thus initiated into public Business very young, and continued to transact the same for seven and twenty Years; it must appear not a little surprizing that he should find sufficient Opportunities to cultivate his poetical Talents to the Height he raised them, and indeed to use his own Words, (in the Preface to his Poems); 'Poetry was only the Product of his leisure Hours, who had commonly Business enough upon his Hands;' and as he modestly adds, 'was only a Poet by Accident.' But we must take the Liberty of differing from him in the last Particular, in order to agree with all Mankind, that Mr PRIOR received from the Muses at his Nativity all the Graces they could well bestow on their greatest Favorite.

We must not omit one Particular in Mr PRIOR's Conduct, which will appear very remarkable. He was chosen a Member of that Parliament which impeached the Partition Treaty, to which he himself had been Secretary, and tho' he had such a considerable Share in that Transaction, faction, the Conviction he was under of the exceptionable Measures that attended it made him, join in the Impeachment. A rare Instance of a generous Mind, who scorned to persist in a Vindication of any Proceedings that his riper Judgment convinced him were unjustifiable.

The Lord BOLINBROKE, who, whatever Exceptions may have been made to his Sentiments in some other Instances, must be allowed an excellent Judge of fine Talents, entertained a particular Esteem for Mr PRIOR, on the account of his great abilities; and makes him an extraordinary Compliment in a Letter which he wrote to him, during the Time of his being Q ANNE's Minister and Plenipotentiary at the Court of France. This Letter is dated Sept. 10, 1712. O. S. * And among other Particulars has this remarkable Passage, — ‘ For GOD's Sake, Dear MATT, hide the Nakedness of thy Country, and give the best Turn thy fertile Brain will furnish thee with to the Blunders of thy Countrymen, who are not much better Politicians than the French are Poets.’ And thus the Peer concludes his Epistle: — ‘ It is now three o'Clock in the Morning, I have been hard at Work all Day, and am not yet enough recovered to bear much Fatigue; excuse therefore the Confusedness of this Scroll, which is only from HARRY to MATT, and not from the Secretary to the Minister. — — — Adieu, my Pen is ready to drop out of my Hand it being near three o'Clock in the Morning; believe that no Man loves you better, or is more faithfully yours,

BOLINBROKE.

And in another Letter from Lord BOLINBROKE, we find the following Advices were conveyed to Mr PRIOR, Sept. 25, 1713 † O. S. — ‘ There is a Person here, of whom we have never taken the least Notice, as a public Man, but who however is an Agent from the CATALANS. By what we observe in him, it is pretty plain, that a reasonable Accommodation might be made with that turbulent People. What is the Sense of the French Court on this Matter? How far will they concur With the

‘ the Queen in advising Philip to make an End of ‘ the War ? ’

Upon Mr PRIOR’s Representation of this Affair to the Court of France, he received the following Letter from Monsieur de Torcy, * dated Nov. 13, 1713, N. S. —

‘ You received, Sir, some Time since, Orders from the ‘ Queen of Great Brittain to use her good Offices with
‘ the King in Favour of the Catalans, who have rebelled
‘ against the King of Spain, and of the Inhabitants of ‘ Barcelona. You acquainted me, that her Britannic Ma-
‘ jefty was sure they would submit to the King their ‘ Master, if that Prince would grant them a general Am-
‘ nesty ; the Restitution and Enjoyment of all their Estates
‘ and in short the same Conditions which he had caused
‘ to be offered them, and which they did not accept,
‘ without mentioning their ancient Privileges any more.’

‘ The Answer which the King just now receives from
‘ the Catholic King upon this Article, is, That he is ‘ still willing to grant the same Conditions to the Rebelli-
‘ ous Catalans, notwithstanding they rendered themselves
‘ unworthy of his Favours, by slighting them, and altho’
‘ he is now in a Condition to reduce them by Force :
‘ He desires the King to impart his Answer to the Queen
‘ of Great Brittain, my Lord Lexington having had no
‘ Orders to speak about this Affair.’

T O R C Y.

Soon after the Accession of King GEORGE the First to the Throne, October 23, 1714. Mr PRIOR presented a Memorial at the Court of France, requiring that the Canal and the new Works at Mardyke should be demolished.

In the Year 1715 Mr PRIOR was recalled from France, and upon his Arrival, was taken up by a Warrant from the House of Commons; shortly after which he underwent a very strict Examination by a Committee of the Privy-Council.

His most loving, political Friend, the Viscount Bolynbroke, foreseeing a Storm, ran away to France, and secured HARRY, but left poor MATT in the Lurch.

* Vid, Report, Ibib. p. 87.

On the 10th of June, Robert Walpole, Esq; moved the House for an Impeachment against Him, and on the 17th Mr PRIOR was ordered into close Custody, and that no Person should be admitted to see him, without Leave from the Speaker.

The following Compliment was paid Mr PRIOR, when under Confinement, viz.

TO MATTHEW PRIOR, Esq;

*Cur pendet tacitâ Fistula cum Lyrâ,
Parcentes ego dexteras
Odi: sparge rosas, audiat invidus
Dementem stripitum Lycus,*

I.

COULD I, great Bard, O! could I share
Thy Genius, as thy Grief,
My healing Verse should sooth thy Care,
And timely give Relief.

II.

But vain are my Essays to sing,
And impotent my Strains,
The Cordials from yourself must spring,
That can allay your Pains.

III.

On your firm Heart and honest Breast,
Bend your reflecting Eyes;
FOR SOCRATES by Faction prest,
To conscious Virtue flies.

Nor

IV.

Nor could Philosophy divine,
 Such solid Joys impart,
 As each soft Strain, each magic Line,
 Of your diviner Art.

V.

Then string again your slackned Lyre,*
 To peaceful ANNA's Praise;
 What would not Innocence inspire,
 And ANNA's Glory raise?

VI.

Tho' Faction all its Rage oppose,
 The pleasing Theme pursue:
 They only, who were ANNA's Foes,
 Are Enemies to you.

An Act of Grace passed in 1717, and Mr PRIOR was one of the Persons, among others, who was excepted out of it. But, at the Close of this Year, he was discharged from his Confinement, and retired to spend the Residue of his Days at Down-Hall in Essex.

In the 1720, the Earl of Dorset being created a Duke; Mr PRIOR drew up the following Preamble to his Patent, viz.

“ Cum

In July 1721, within two Months of his Death Mr
 PRIOR printed that beautiful little Tale on the Falshood
of Mankind, intitled the Conversation, and applied it to the Truth, Honour, and Justice of his Grace the Duke of DORSET.

About this Time likewise Mr Dennis published, A Collection of Letters Familiar, Moral and Critical; wherein one, upon the Roman Satirists is addressed to Mr PRIOR, which we shall transcribe, as the Subject appears entertaining, and as it is likewise an instance of the great
 Deference paid to Mr PRIOR’s Judgment by Mr Dennis, who was seldom known to praise any Person, who did not well deserve his Commendations.

To MATTHEW PRIOR, Esq;

SIR,

WHEN you seem’d to approve of the Translation of the seventh Satire of the second Book of Horace, which was translated by one of my Friends, that Approbation was the more pleasing to me, because it con-

confirmed me in my own Opinion of it, and obliged me to acquiesce, in the Judgments which some of my Friends have given of it, whom I have always chiefly consulted in my Doubts about poetical Matters. And now, Sir, I come according to my Promise to consult you about the Preference which several Partizans of the Roman Satirists have given to their respective Favourite Authors, and to know from you which of them are in the right, or rather whether they are not all in the wrong. You know very well, Sir, that Rigaltius, Scaliger the Elder, Lipsius and Holiday, prefer Juvenal to Horace and Persius; that Dacier, Heinsius, Monfieur de la Bruyere, and several others, prefer Horace to Persius and Juvenal; that Mr Dryden endeavours to divide the Palm between Horace and Juvenal, and to prefer Horace for Instruction, and Juvenal for Delight; that he gives Horace the preference for Instruction, because, says he, He is the more general Instructor; but that he gives the Priority to Juvenal for Delight, because he is most delighted with him, and so makes his own Taste the Argument for preferring him. But tho' we should grant, Sir, that the Generality of Readers are more delighted with Juvenal, than they are with Horace, because Dryden is more delighted with him; yet it is not very much to be questioned, whether the Author who gives the most general Delight is the most delightful Author? Now, Sir, your old Friend Monfieur Desperaux, tho' it is evident that he was more pleased with Horace than he was with Juvenal, because he has imitated him more, yet he had more Judgment than expressly to prefer the one to the other, because he knew very well that there can be no true Preference where there can be no just Comparison, and that there can be no just Comparison between Authors whose Works are not ejusdem generis, and that the Works of those two Satirists are not ejusdem generis. For do not you believe, Sir, that Mr Dryden is in the Wrong, where he affirms that the Roman Satire had its Accomplishment in Juvenal? For is there not Reason to believe that the true Roman Satire is of the Comic Kind, and was an Imitation of the old Athenian Comedies, in which Lucilius first signalized himself.

self, and which was afterwards perfected by Horace, and that Juvenal afterwards started a new Satire which was of the Tragic Kind? Horace, who wrote as Lucillus had done before him, in Imitation of the old Comedy endeavours to correct the Follies and Errors, and epidemic Vices of his Readers, which is the Business of Comedy. Juvenal attacks the pernicious outrageous Passions, and the abominable monstrous Crimes of several of his Contemporaries, or of those who lived in the Age before him, which is the Business of Tragedy, at least of imperfect Tragedy. Horace argues, insinuates, engages, rallies, smiles; Juvenal exclaims, apostrophizes, exaggerates, lashes, stabs. There is in Horace, almost every where, an agreeable Mixture of good Sense, and of true Pleasantry, so that he has every where the principal Qualities, of an excellent Comic Poet. And there is almost every where in Juvenal, Anger, Indignation, Rage, Disdain, and the violent Emotions and vehement Style of Tragedy. Can there then be a just Comparison made between these two Satyrists, any more than there can be between a Tragic and a Comic Poet? If Mr Dryden were now living, would he compare Nat Lee with Etherege, the former of which never touched upon Comedy, and the other never attempted Tragedy? Would he prefer Nat Lee to Etherege, as he does Juvenal to Horace, because the Thoughts of Lee are more elevated than those of Etherege, his Expressions more noble and more sonorous, his Verse more numerous, and his Words more sublime and lofty? Would he not have believed, that if Etherege had written Sir Fopling in the same Style that Nat Lee wrote Alexander, he would have been as merry a Person as Penkethman was when he acted Alexander? Would he not in all probability have judged that Lee is more delightful to those who are more pleased with Tragedy than they are with Comedy, and that Etherege is more delightful to those who are better entertained with Comedy than they are with Tragedy? Now, Sir, ought not we to make the same Judgment of Horace and Juvenal, and to affirm Horace to be more delightful to those who are more pleased with Comedy than they are with Tragedy, and that Juvenal is more delightful to those who are better entertained with Tragedy, than they are with Comedy? And that perhaps for that very Reason he was more pleasing than Horace to Mr Dryden? Will not the Tragic Satire, which like Tragedy fetches its Notions from Philosophy and from common Sense, be in all probability more acceptable to Universities and Cloisters, and all those Recluse and Contemplative Men, who pass most of their Time in their Closets, all which Persons are supposed to have Philosophy from Study, and common Sense from Nature? And will not the Comic Satyrift, who owes no small Part of his Excellence to his Experience, that is, to the Knowledge of the Conversation and Manners of the Men of the World, be in all likelihood more agreeable to the discerning Part of a Court, and a great Capital, where they are qualified to taste and discern his Beauties, by the same Experience which enabled their Authors to produce Them? And above all Things, must it not be most agreeable to a Polite Court, where that dextrous Insinuation, that fine good Sense, and that true Pleasantry, which are united in the Horatian Satire, are the only shining Qualities which make the Courtiervaluable and agreeable? And will he not take more Delight in the Horatian Satire than in the Tragic Eloquence of Juvenal, not only because he is qualified by Nature and Experience to relish the Beauties of it, but because the Pleasure which he receives from it, is subservient to his Interest, which is always his main Design, and Improves and Cultivates those Talents which are chiefly to recommend him to those who are to advance him?

It will be needless, Sir, to detain you any longer, by enquiring into the Preference which Casaubon has to injudiciously given to Persius above Horace and Juvenal, or into the Preference which he particularly gives to the Fifth Satire of Persius before this of Horace, the Translation of which has occasioned the Trouble which I now give you, and which, you know, Sir, is writ upon the same Subject. Your Friend, Monsieur Dacier, tells us, that Casaubon by this Opinion prefers the University to the Court. I appeal to you, Sir, if the Satire of Ho- race,

race, the Translation of which comes after this Letter, does not speak for itself, and justify the Assertion of Monsieur Dacier.

I am, S I R,

Yours, &c.

DAVUS and HORACE.*

I'VE listen'd long, and now wou'd Silence break,
 If your pour tim'rous Slave had Leave to speak.
What, Davus, is it thou? The very same;
 And, if the truest Services may claim
 The just Return of a kind Master's Care,
 Methinks that I of yours deserve a Share.

*Why then, since ancient Custom has ordain'd
 The Tongue at this Time should be unrestrain'd,
 Of this Saturnian Feast th' Advantage take,
 And what thou would'st deliver, freely speak.*

D. Part of Mankind on Vice are truly bent,
 Their constant Pleasure and their sole Intent ;
 While a large Part are fluctuating still,
 And now inclin'd to Good, and now inclin'd to Ill.

For such Inconstancy was Priscus known,
 Twice in an Hour he chang'd his dangling Gown,
 To-day three Rings he wears, To-morrow none ;
 From his own pompous Palace oft he stole,
 And to some lurking Place so vile wou'd strole,
 Ev'n cleanly Slaves wou'd scorn the nasty Hole.
 One Day, he wishes it may be his Doom,
 To pass his Life in Lewdness and in Rome ;
 The next, that Athens, Virtue's learned Seat,
 May prove his Quiet and his last Retreat :
 From Object thus to Object, would he range,
 As if possess'd by all the Gods of Change.

Volnerius, justly lam'd in both his Hands,
 Keeps one in Play, that at his Elbow stands,
 Merely to throw the gouty Gamester's Dice ;
 So persevering is he in his Vice.
 Less wretched thus, in constantly pursuing
 An obvious, certain, but a pleasing Ruin,
 Than t'other struggling with strong Inclination,
 And sure to shock his Reason or his Passion.

H. Sirrab, What's all this Stuff ? to what Intent ?
 And what's by all these musty Morals meant ?

D. As musty Sir, as your are pleas'd to find 'em,
 Ev'n for your Worship's Service I design'd 'em.

L I F E of Mr P R I O R. xxix

H. How fo you Dog? D. Our Ancients, Sir, you praise,
 Their temperate Life, their plain, their frugal ways;
 When in an Instant, shou'd some Pow'r Divine
 Pronounce aloud, That Antique Life be thine,
 You wou'd refuse the Grant, nor have the Heart
 From your dear darling Vices e'er to part;
 Either because you feel not what you speak,
 Or else your Mind's inconstant still, and weak:
 Thus while one Foot you labour to retire,
 Your other plunges deeper in the Mire.

When you're in Rome, you're all on fire to prove
 The Solitary Pleasures of your Grove;
 But scarce you're to your Country Seat got down,
 When to the Skies Y'extol the absent Town.

If uninvited and at home you eat,
 How quiet is the Morfel, and how sweet!
 And you so pleas'd, that one wou'd surely think,
 Abroad unwillingly you eat or drink;
 But let Mæcenas fend for you next Day,
 How eager You the Summons to obey!
 Who's there? who waits? where are my Rascals all!
 What ho! my Effence: frantickly you bawl;
 When with light Bellies and with heavy Heart
 Your spunging Scoundrels cursing you depart.

I grant that I my Belly love full well;
 That each good Dish allures me by the Smell;
 That indolent and idle, and a Sot,
 I'm hardly driven to forsake my Pot;
 But yet that You who stil are worfe sometimes.
 Tho' specious Words may colour o'er your Crimes,

That You should reprimand me ev'ry Hour,
 Only because you have me in your Pow'r,
 When this poor Slave, whom for ten Pounds you bought
 Better and wiser too perhaps is thought —

Nay, against all Repentment I declare;
 Both Frowns and Blows and angry Words I bear;
 While what I learnt from my Converse of late
 With Crippin's Porter, I shall now relate.

No less, forsooth, than some fine marry'd Dame
 Can raise your Fancy and provoke your Flame?
 While honest Davus, humble as he's poor,
 Pretends no higher than his little Where.
 If then the Case stands thus between us two,
 Am I the greater Criminal or You?

When Nature keen, incites Love's fierce Desires,
 To some convenient Place to quench those Fires,
 Forthwith, defying Scandal, I repair,
 And some kind she, whom Lust has painted fair,
 I take, and in her loose commodious Dress,
 The willing, wanton Baggage I carefs;
 But after having well myself diverted,
 I'm in no Pain, for being soon deserted,
 Nor care if, when my present Pastime's over,
 Her next a finer be, or richer Lover.

When you aside your Marks of Honour fling,
 Your Roman Robe, and your Equestrian Ring;
 When you, whom Cæsar made a Judge so grave,
 Skulk, in the filthy Habit of a Slave,
 To blind some Cuckold, and his Wife t'obtain;
 Are you not really what you think you feign!

To

'Trembling you're introduc'd, tho' all on Fire,
 Fear in your Breast conflicting with Desire;
 What Gladiator, hack'd and hew'd all o'er
 For wretched Sustainance, can suffer more?
 Witness, when Neck and Heels together prest,
 You're cram'd for Refuge in some nasty Chest.

Is not Revenge the Injur'd Husband's Due,
 Both on the Wife and her Corrupter too?
 What Favour can the latter hope or claim,
 Industrious to offend—Not so the Dame
 She ne'er steals out to meet you in Disguise
 Nor to your active Ardor e'er replies,
 But dully passive in your Arms she lies.
 Not but she'd meet you with an equal Gust,
 If to your amorous Vows she dar'd to trust,
 Nor fear'd you'd scorn her for her rampant Lust.*
 Yet on to Bondage willingly you go,
 Round your own Neck the galling Yoke you throw,
 While to your Cuckold, in his raging Fit,
 Your Honour, Life and Fortune you commit.
 Have you escap'd? 'Tis hop'd, that Danger past,
 May teach you Caution and more Wit at last,
 No——still you long your former Risques to run,
 And fresh Occasions seek to be undone.
 O! Slave confirm'd! who can so often fall
 Into repeated Bonds, and willing Thrall
 What Beast's so stupid, when he breaks his Chain,
 As ever to return to it again?

You're no Adulterer—Right—No Thief am I,
 Your Plate I pass with vast Discretion by,
 But set the legal Penalties aside,
 And Nature breaks thro' all Restraints beside,

You I can justly then my Master call,
 You, whom so many Lufts and Men enthrall,
 Whom shou'd the Prætor's Wand strike thrice, or more,
 Your native Freedom it cou'd ne'er restore,
 And ne'er expel the Fear that tyranniz'd, before?

As one, who to Commands Obedience pays,
 Which some superior Slave upon him lays.
 (For such a Custom here I find you have)
 Calls that Superior still his Fellow Slave;
 So since you still unactive are alone,
 And move by Springs, like Puppets, not your own:
 Since your mad Passions rule both you and me,
 Pray what but wretched Fellow-Slaves are we?
At this Rate who is free? The wise Man's free?
 That Sovereign of his Mind, 'tis only he
 Who can be said t'enjoy true Liberty;
 Who spite of Death, of Poverty and Chains,
 And Pleasures, o'er himself serenely reigns;
 Who stands collected in himself, and whole,
 A Match for all the Tyrants of the Soul:
 Who scorning Titles, of himself is great,
 Of Fortune independant and of Fate.

This is the Picture of the Man that's free;
 Now here what Feature of your own d'ye see?
 Your costly Punk, who has your Weakness found,
 Presses and plagues you for a thousand Pound:
 Refus'd, in Rage she turns you out of Doors,
 And a salt Show'r upon your Head she pours.
 Yet when she calls again, you're at her beck——
 From this vile Yoke, for Shame, withdraw your Neck;
 Come, say I'm Free——Alas! you have no Pow'r
 To quit the Tyrant Passion, that each Hour

Subjects your Mind, and will no Mercy show,
But spurs you tir'd and jaded as you go.

Or when in foolish Rapture long you stand,
Admiring some fam'd Piece of Paufin's Hand,
How is your Conduct less a Fault than mine
When gaping at some brawny Fencer's Sign,
Bungled in Chalk or Coal, I think it fine?
And lag a while to view the painted Show,
And how they seem to give and ward the Blow.

Darius however is the loit'ring Afs,
While for a plaguy Judge of Art you pass.
If I'm provok'd by a hot smoking Pye
To Demolition, what a Rogue am I?
While you, the Man of Virtue and high Mind,
Disdain the Dishes of the nicest kind.

For my good Cheer you'll say I dearly pay,
Since with my Back my Belly I defray.
But can you draw a just Conclusion hence,
That you're luxurious at a less Expence?
When choicest Viands in Excesses cloy,
And endlessly debauching, you destroy,
That Strength, that should your faltring Limbs supply,
Which now to bear your pamper'd Corps deny,

If the young liquorish Rogue, who trucks for Trash
The Toys he stole, must justly feels the Lash,
Shall he escape the Scourge, who, to supply
His Luxury, makes Lands and Lordships fly.

Now add to what I've said, you want the Power
T'endure yourself alone one single Hour,

You want the Pow'r your Leisure to enjoy,
 But ev'ry precious Moment misemploy;
 Still from yourself a Fugitive you run,
 And seek by Wine and Sleep your Care to shun,
 Care on its dusky Wings pursues its Prey,
 Or lies in Ambuscade upon your way,
 Haunts you by Night and ruffles you by Day.

H. O! that a Stone — O! that a Dart I had;
 The Man is raving sure or rhiming mad.
Sirrah, this Moment vanish from my Sight,
For if thou dost not urge thy speedy Flight,
To my Plantation, wretch, thou goest once more,
T' increase the Number I've sent there before.

Mr PRIOR, after the Fatigues of Length of Years passed in various Scenes of Action, was desirous of spending the Remainder of his Days in a rural Tranquillity, which the greatest Men in all Ages have been fond of enjoying; he was so happy as to succeed in his Wish, living a very retired and contemplative Life at DOWN-HALL in Essex, and found a more solid and innocent Satisfaction among Woods and Meadows than he had enjoy'd in the Hurry and Tumults of the World, the Courts of Princes, or the conducting Foreign Negotiations. And where, as he most melodiously sings,

The Remnant of his Days He safely past;
 Nor found they lagg'd too slow, nor flew too fast.
 He made his Wish with his Estate comply,
 Joyful to Live, yet not afraid to *Die

This truly Great Man died on the 18th Day of September 1721, not at his own little Villa, but at Wimpole in Cambridgeshire, the Seat of the Right Honourable the Earl of Oxford, with whose generous Friendship, he had been honoured some Years.

The Death of so extraordinary a Person was justly esteemed an irreparable Loss to the polite World, and his Memory will be ever dear to those who have any Relish for the Muses in their softest Charms.

Some of the latter part of his Life was employed in collecting Materials for an History of the Transactions of his own Times; but his Death unfortunately deprived the World of a Performance which the Touches of so masterly a Hand would have made exceeding valuable.*

About five Weeks before his Decease, he drew up his last Will and Testament himself, in a Strain very different from the formal Jargon of Law-terms; and as an Air of Politeness and Humanity, peculiar to Mr. PRIOR, runs thro' the whole, we were of Opinion it would be no disagreeable Entertainment to the Reader. A true Copy thereof follows, viz.

IT has pleased Almighty God, for some Years past, to bless me, his most unworthy Creature, with a greater Share of Health than I could have expected from the Tenderness of my native Constitution, or the Fatigues and Troubles of Life, which I have undergone! for this and all other his Mercies, Hallowed be his Name, for ever and ever. Let Men and Angels repeat the Sound, Hallowed be his Name! Now before Sicknes of Body, or Infirmary of Age prevent, or diminish, the Force of my Understanding, or Memory, I make and declare this my last Will and Testament.

I MATTHEW PRIOR, of the Parish of St. Margaret Westminster, thanking the Right Honourable the Lord Harley for his eminent and continual Friendship to me, and trusting that he will have the same Concern for my Memory after Death, as he had for my Honour whilst Alive; and that he will take the same Care of my surviving Friends, hereafter mentioned in this my Will, as he did of my own proper Interest; and having for many Years experienced the Faith, Honesty, and Ability of Mr Adrian Drift, my Secretary whilst I was in Public Employments, and my Friend and Companion in Private Life; I intreat the said Lord Harley, and ordain the said Adrian Drift to be the Executors of this my Will. And I thus give and bequeath unto Edward Lord Harley, and Adrian Drift, all my Goods and Chattles, Plate, Jewels, Medals and Debts, and all other my Personal Estate; to them, I say, their Heirs, Executors and Assigns, in Trust only, and for the Uses hereafter specified, and the Benefit of the Persons hereafter mentioned.

It is my Will, that I be buried privately in Westminster Abbey, and that after my Debts and Funeral Charges are paid a Monument be erected to my Memory, whereon may be expressed the Public Employments I have born; the Inscription, I desire may be made by Dr Robert Friend, and the Busto expressed in Marble by Coriveaux, placed on the Monument: For this last Piece of human Vanity, I Will, that the Sum of five Hundred Pounds be set aside.

To the College of St John the Evangelist in Cambridge I leave such, and so many, of my Books, as shall be judged to amount to the Value of Two hundred Pounds: These Books, with my own Poems in the greatest Paper, to be kept in the Library, together with the Books, which I have already given. I likewise leave my own Picture, painted by Le Belle, and that of my Friend and Patron Edward Earl of Jersey, by Rigault.

I leave to my Lord Harley, the Busto of Flora, made by Girardon, and six Pictures out of my Collection, such as he shall chuse; the rest of my Pictures, Medals, Drawings, Stamps, and Maps, to be appraised by two Persons who may be thought to understand their Value, and my Lord Harley to have the Preference, in case he pleases to purchase any Part or Parcel thereof; and after his Pleasure therein specified, I Will, that the Residue be sold.

The Picture of Q. Elizabeth, by Portus, I leave to the Honourable and Excellent Lady Harriette Harley, and my own Picture in Enamel, to her dear Daughter Margarette.

All my Manuscripts, Negotiations, Commissions, and all Papers whetsoever, whother of my public Employments, or private

private Studies, I leave to my Lord Harley, and Mr Adrian Drift, my Executors, or either of them, having first burned such as may not be proper for any future Inspection.

Whereas, the Estate of Down-Hall, in Essex, of which I am, and stand at present possessed, is at my Death, to revert to my Lord Harley, and to his Heirs, according to the Purport and Intent of certain Writings drawn up by Mr Oliver Martin, of the Middle-Temple, I Declare, that the said Estate does, and ought accordingly to revert to my Lord Harley, and to his Heirs; lest from any Want of Words in those Writings, or from any Failure, or Expressions omitted in the Form of the Writings, the least Doubt or Inquietude may arise to my Lord Harley. I mention this, tho' at the same time I believe it to be superfluous.

I Will and Desire, that the Sum of One Thousand Pounds be set apart, in Favour, and to the Use of Mrs Elizabeth Cox, and that an Annuity, or Rent Charge be purchased with the said Sum, to be paid by half-yearly Payments to the said Elizabeth Cox, during her natural Life; but I would have the said Thousand Pounds, i. e. the Annuity to be purchased with that Sum, to be paid solely to her Order, in half yearly Payments as aforesaid, and not to be in the Disposal, or at the Power of any Husband which she may marry, And as my Lord Harley will be juster towards all with whom he deals, and kinder to my Friends, than any Man whom I leave behind me in the World, I beg, that he will be pleased to grant to the said Elizabeth Cox such Annuity leaving the Sum to be determined by his Appointment and Pleasure.

I leave to Mr Adrian Drift, the Sum of One Thousand Pounds, to be employed and disposed of at his Discretion, hoping that his Industry and Management will be such that he will not embezzle or decrease the same.

I leave to Mrs Anne Durham, the Sum of Three hundred Pounds, to be paid within one Year of my Decease, and, by her, to be employed for the Enlargement of her Stock, and the Support of that Trade and Calling where-
in

in I have already placed her, and in which I wish her Prosperity.

I remit to my dear Friend, and old Companion, Richard Shelton, Esq; all Bonds, Notes, or Obligations, by which he stands any way indebted to me. And I leave to his Son George Shelton, the sum of Three Hundred Pounds, in such Manner, as that he may receive Fifty Pounds per Ann. for Six Years, in order to maintain him during that Time at the University or to help him in any Trade, or Employment, as his Father may judge proper.

I leave to my well beloved and dear Cousin Catherine Harrison, the Sum of one hundred Pounds, with which she will be please to buy Mourning.

I leave to my Servants, each, one Years Wages and Mourning, and to John Oeman or Newman, the Sum of Fifty Pounds, over and above such Wages.

I likewise leave the Sum of Fifty Pounds, over and above such Wages, to Jane Ansley.

And in case this shall (as I reckon it will) amount to more than will pay and satisfy my Debts, and Legacies already given, I leavethe Rest and Residue to Mr Adrian Drift, and Mrs Elizabeth Cox, above mentioned, to be equally divided between them.

Thus wishing Health, Honour, and Happiness to dear Lord Harley, and his Family; and to all my Friends in general; Peace on Earth, and Good will towards Men; I recommend my Soul and Body to the Eternal and Everlasting God, who gave me my Being:

Deus es, instaura plasma tuum.

This Will, written with my own Hand, I sign and Seal the Ninth of August, An. Dom. 1721.

Whilst he Was Writing
The History of his Own Time,
A lingering Fever
Snapt the Thread of his Work and his Life together,
On the 7th Day of Sept. 1721.
In the 57th Year of his Age.
Here lies interred
That excellent Man.

He was Secretary to their most Serene Majesties
King WILLIAM and Queen MARY,
At the Congress of the Allies held at the Hague, 1690.
He was thence

Appointed Secretary
To those Ambassadors of Great Britain
Who concluded the Peace of Reswick, 1697.

He was likewise Secretary
To the Two succeeding Embassies in France.
And also in the Year 1697.
Secretary of State in the Kingdom of Ireland.

In the Year 1700,
He was appointed one of the Lords Commissioners
Of Trade and Plantations.

And in the Year 1711,
Made one of the Commissioners of the Customs ;
And lastly,
Sent by Her Majesty Queen ANNE,
(Of blessed Memory)

In the Year 1711.
Plenipotentiary-Minister to LEWIS XIV, King of France;
With the fullest Powers to establish the Peace.
(A Peace to this Day Lasting,
And which,
That it may long Last.
Is the Wish of all good Men.)

MATTHEW PRIOR. Esq;

Surpassed all the Characters
With which he was invested,
By the Force of his Genius,
And the Politeness of his Erudition;
At whose Birth the gentle Muses
Smiled propitious.

The Literature of this Royal Foundation
Trained up, and embellished him while a Boy;
St JOHN'S College in Cambridge
Endowed and furnish'd his ripening Years
With its brightest Sciences;
And at last,

A long and intimate Conversation
With the most illustrious Persons
Improved and finished the Man.

Thus Born, thus Educated,
He could never be withdrawn
From the Choir of the Muses;
But was often accustomed
To alleviate and sweeten

The Fatigue of his public Employments
By a Retreat of Studies

More inviting and delightful:

And after performing almost
Every Species of Poetry with Success:

In the agreeable and happy Manner
Of contriving and delivering his Tales,
This wonderful Artist found no Equal.

The unlaboured Delicacy,
With which he toyed in these Amusements,
Was easily observed by all
Whom he received into his Friendship:

In whose Company
 If any Subject of Humour casually occurred
 He would treat it,
 Being full of Wit and Pleasantry,
 With the most Copious, Suitable, Sprightly,
 And Beautiful Turns,
 Nothing appearing to be either studied or forced,
 But all freely rising from his Invention,
 And flowing, as from an inexhaustible Fountain :
 So, that among his Acquaintance,
 It is a Matter of Doubt,
 Whether in his Writings,
 He was the more elegant Poet :
 Or, in his Conversation,
 The more facetious Companion.

STANZAS on the Death of Mr PRIOR.

By ROBERT INGRAM, Esq;

I.

M A T P R I O R ! — (and we must submit)
 Is at his Journey End :
 In whom the World has lost a Wit ;
 And I. what's more, a Friend, *

II. Who

* Mr Ingram and Mr Prior were Chums at St. John's College Cambridge.

II.

Who vainly hopes long here to Stay,
 May see with weeping Eyes;
 Not only Nature parts away,
 But e'en Good-Nature dies!

III.

Shou'd grave Ones count these Praises light,
 To such it may be said;
 A Man in this lamented Wight,
 Of Business too is dead.

IV.

From Ancestors, as might a Fool!
 He trac'd no High-fetch'd Stem;
 But gloriously revers'd the Rule,
 By Dignifying them.

V.

O! gentle Cambridge! sadly say,
 Why Fates are so unkind?
 To snatch thy Giant-Sons away,
 Whilst Pygmies stay behind.

VI.

Horace and He were call'd in haste,
 From this vile Earth to Heaven;
 The cruel Year not fully past,
Ætatis, FIFTY-SEVEN.

VII.

So on the Tops of Lebanon,
 Tall Cedars felt the Sword,
 To grace by Care of Solomon,
 The Temple of the Lord.

VIII.

A Tomb, amidst the Learned, may
 The Western Abbey give !
 Like Theirs, his Ashes must decay ;
 Like Theirs, his Fame shall live.

IX.

Close, Carver, by some well-cut Books,
 Let a thin BUSTO tell ;
 In spite of plump and pamper'd Looks,
 How scantly Sense can dwell !

X.

No Epitaph, of tedious Length,
 Shou'd over-charge the Stone :
 Since loftiest Verse wou'd lose its Strength,
 In mentioning his Own.

XI.

At once! and not Verbofely tame,
 Some brave Laconic Pen
 Shou'd smartly touch his ample Name ;
 In form of ——— O R A R E B E N !

On the Publication of some Posthumous
 P I E C E S of Mr P R I O R.

L E T Tears no more lament the Dead in vain,
 For see ! Our easy P R I O R live again
 These genuine Lines the gentle Bard reveal,
 And paint that Nature he alone cou'd feel,

With

With tender Accents touch the softning Soul,
Or gaily Mock the Philosophic-Fool.

When TURTURELLA tells her piteous Moan,
Who does not make the Mourner's Grief his own?
How ravishingly sweet the Numbers move,
And breathe the dying Agonies of Love!
Such sympathizing Tendernefs impart,
They melt the Reader's to a Lower's Heart.

But while th' inimitable Bard displays
The wanton SPARROW in gallanter Lays,
The Marriage-State is Imag'd to the Life,
The Careless Husband and the Peevish Wife;
The Troubles of the Fetlock'd-Couple shew,
And either Sex is open'd to the View.

Next, in Down-Hall we find his Hum'rons Vein,
(Tho' Effex marshy Hundreds are the Scene)
A Place unheard of, 'till by PRIOR nam'd,
Now MORLEY and Down-Hall alike are fam'd.

Thus fung delightful MAT——but Signs no more,
Long Since lamented on the lonesome Shore;
Pensive for Him in vain my voice essays,
To court THALIA to her Poët's praise.
Like TURTURELLA she neglects her Charms,
Despairing of another PRIOR's Arms:
Alike their Tendernefs, alike their Woe,
For what COLUMBO was, is PRIOR now:
Time's Period past——He shall for Ever live,
And like these Labour by his Death revive.

VERSES to the AUTHOR.

ON

Mr PRIOR'S

COLLECTION OF POEMS, 1709.

LET Britain now at last no more complain
Of Muses flagging in an humble Strain,
Nor say the Soul of Poetry's retir'd,
And none since VIRGIL ought to be admir'd.
Critics may doubt, as Stoics do of Pain,
But let them read Thy Verse, and doubt again;
Nature and Sense will force th' unwilling Sound,
No Stoic doubted, when he felt the Wound.

In Thee old HORACE we again admire,
His easy Softness, and his rapid Fire,
His founding Trumpet, and complaining Lyre.

Thy

Thy CHLOE does more bright than his appear,
 Juster her Features, more divine her Air,
 And longer shall endure the matchless Fair. }
 HOWARD escap'd while he her Picture drew,
 But all are wounded as she's drawn by you ;
 E'en the cold Breasts, which no Impression take,
 Must love the Picture for the Painter's Sake.
 Others mere Poets, paint a distant Fight,
 Their Strokes are sometimes wrong, and sometimes right;
 You feel the War, and write with CUPID'S Dart
 What VENUS dictates to your swelling Heart.
 Who can thy HENRY, and thy EMMA read,
 Nor at the Lover's moving Conflict bleed ?
 Three hundred Yearsthe Story liv'd before, }
 Your noble Drefs shall still increase the Store,
 And make it live above three hundred more.
 Rough was the Language, and uncouth the Stile,
 You smooth the Numbers, and the Roughness file :
 Finish'd and touch'd by your refining Hands,
 The NUTBROWN MAID in double Lustre stands.
 So an old Piece o'erspread with eating Rust,
 Buried in Ashes and polluting Dust,
 In some dark Hole for many Ages lies
 Unseen, or seen contemn'd by vulgar Eyes,
 Till some great Artist wipes the Cloud away,
 Brightens the Piece with a diviner Ray,
 The Face and Form restor'd, improv'd the Lines,
 Admir'd in Courts and Palaces it shines.

O wond'rous Bard ! thou dost my Fancy raise,
 I love each Verse and I each Verse would praise ;
 Thou great VERTUMNUS, who dost Nature range,
 Changing thy Shape, still pleasing in the Change ;
 Her

Here, dress'd in shining Armour you appear,
 And there, a silken flowing Mantle wear ;
 Hear, thy own PHOEBUS on OLYMPUS crown'd,
 And there, a Shepherd in ADMETUS' Ground,
 So like, the Gods and Goddesses might make,
 As in thy CHLOE, so in THEE mistake.
 O wond'rous Bard! in whom collected shine
 The scatter'd Graces of the tuneful NINE,
 So oft we view in One diviner Face
 The diff'rent Beauties of a lovely Race.
 One Poet has One Subject handled well,
 But who before in All Things could excel ?
 Where did such Humour, Wit, and Mirth prevail
 In the smooth Tattle of a merry TALE ?
 HORACE this Fancy first in Numbers deckt,
 And made his MICE of EPICURUS' Sect,
 Not with the like Success in all He drew,
 But left Perfection to be reach'd by You.

But nobler Objects entertain my View,
 I see the Tracts where THEBAN-PINDAR flew,
 The LATIN Bard beholds th'ambitious Height,
 Changes his Form, and wings him for the Flight,
 Undamp'd by earthly Steam, or cloudy Show'r,
 To Heav'n the noble Pair sublimely tow'r,
 But who is He? What Third of BRITISH-Clime
 Before in Genius, as behind in Time.

Whose Pinion's stretch a more than equal Length,
 Of greater Swiftnefs, and of greater Strength ?
 The mighty PRIOR, He—But I offend—
 Swiftly my Muse the Precipice descend,
 Nor tell how WILLIAM's, and how MARLBRO's Name
 Excel or THERON's, or AUGUSTUS' Fame;

1 MEMOIRS of the

Dare not those Acts by thy low Verse profane,
Sacred alone to His immortal Strain.

Enough for Thee with Pardon to retire,
And Bard and Heroes equally admire.

G. SEWELL.*

* This ingenious Poet and Physician, was educated at Eton, and went from thence to St. PETER'S College in Cambridge. He was the Author of several excellent Pieces in Verse and Prose; and of the Tragedy of Sir WALTER RALEIGH. He practiced at Hampstead, where he died in the Year 1726, and lies there interred without any Memorial.

To Mr PRIOR

On His Carmen Sæculare.

By JAMES MARSHALL, Esq;

THE first great Man, who made the World his own,
Enjoy'd it's Treasures; mounted ev'ry Throne;
He for a HOMER would have giv'n it All:
And, without Him, contemn'd the Conquer'd Ball:
Envy'd ACHILLES, as the Happier Man,
Whose noble Praise in HOMER's Numbers ran.

The mighty Hero whom you Celebrate,
WILLIAM, the Wise, the Bold, the Fortunate,
Does old and modern Demi-Gods out-do,
He rules the World, and has a HOMER too.

Rules

Rules it, but not by Violence, nor Force;
 Chains, howsoever Gilded, are a Curse:
 His Pow'rful Empire on Mens Minds is lay'd
 By Force of Reason is his Scepter sway'd:
 All Nations have for their own Sakes obey'd.
 On his great Soul depended Mankind's Doom:
 He first Resolv'd, then knew what was to come.
 His rising Beams rejoic'd the trembling Sight:
 His Noon restor'd an Universal Light.
 Empires and States ador'd the Mounting Star,
 His Motion bold, but sure and regular;
 Directed still by an Ascendant Sense,
 Which, sure, comes nearest to Omniscience.
 E'en They who did His mighty Course oppose,
 Were Conscious that in vain they were His Foes:
 His Pow'rful Genius o'er their Counsels reign'd;
 And even the very hostile Gods were gain'd.

The World submits; He's Arbiter of All:
 The Universe is One States-General;
 Where He, the Guardian of their Liberties,
 The Soul of All, still governs the Decrees.
 From Pole to Pole his Counsels pass for Laws;
 And Mankind trust him with their Common Cause:
 Thus He, and He alone, has let Us see
 A real Universal Monarchy:
 Alone He moves all Sublunary Things;
 Is God's Vicegerent, as the King of Kings;
 A Theme Becoming your Immortal Strings.

In all you sung before, the Tuneful Strains
 Were eccho'd thro' the pleas'd admiring Plains:
 Sessions of Poets did approve your Lays;
 Contending Wits united in your Praise:

But here, Inspir'd with a more Noble Flame;
 Full of the God, and of your greater Theme;
 At once you give and get Immortal Fame. }
 Here, Floods of Sense from the whole Mountain run:
 Here you have PINDAR, here yourself out-done.
 To the nice Height the noble Work you raise;
 And, without Fiction, give the greatest Praise;
 Surprise, yet softly charm, by every part
 And give new Rules in HORACE's great Art,
 A Model, to adjust poetic Rage;
 Correct the former, teach the coming Age.
 Here's no rude Ore; no Fits of Heat and Cold:
 Here all is Nature, yet all's beaten Gold.
 No forc'd, mysterious Soarings in the Clouds:
 No Mud, no Foam, no Noise, in your deep Floods.
 With such true Spirit your great numbers run,
 As Light'ning Bold, but Equal as the Sun;
 Gentle, tho' strong; and high, yet still in Sight,
 Rapid, yet pure, and easy as the Light:
 Heav'n has reserv'd for You and WILLIAM's Time,
 The divine Secret of the true Sublime.

Go on great Herald of the greatest King:
 To Him, and to yourself, new Glories bring; }
 New with each Day of the new Age You sing.
 And as You serve the State and Him so well,
 With Spotless Honour, and with Wisest Zeal;
 Still show the World that those a Prince's Name
 Who best can serve, are fittest to proclaim;
 Thus Love like Your's, and Love so greatly plac'd,
 Is more than PHOEBUS in the swelling Breast;
 And that in some the bounteous Gods unite
 The greatest Merit, and the greatest Wit.

How

How I Rejoice to see Your swelling Name!
And that for ever you're secure of Fame;
So that hereafter even shou'd there be
Spots in your Numbers, the World wou'd not see.
Love and Esteem have laid th' Immortal Plan;
All Praise the Poet; where all love the Man.
And sure, as long as Faithful Virtue draws
The Public Voice, and Merit brings Applause,
While all that's kind or just deserves our Love
Your sacred Name will everlasting prove.

O Gods! that so refin'd a Soul as this
Dwells in so nice and thin a Shell as His!
If Heav'n to ardent Wishes wou'd be kind,
If Zeal, and Gratitude, and Love combin'd,
Cou'd move the FATES; and if my Sacrifice,
And Thousands more cou'd be a proper Price
For Health and Years to This beloved Man,
No Patriarch-Life so many Ages ran;
At least Mankind shou'd him possess so long
Till he had strung another Age's Song.

On the same OCCASION,

By Mr A. T. of St John's College, Cambridge.

I.

WHEN PRIOR's Muse prepares to sing
 Some God, or Godlike Hero's Praise,
 She soars aloft, and on her airy Wing,
 High as their High Deserts their Fame doth raise;

II.

Thus WILLIAM's Glory scales the Sky,
 Thro' rolling Ages to remain;
 Rais'd thus above the Reach of Vulgar Destiny,
 Which neither, Brass nor Marble can obtain,

III.

Whither would the Muse aspire?
 Unable thou to scar his Muses Flight.——
 Better on Earth sit Humble and Admire,
 Tho' high she keeps within the ken of Sight.

IV.

How justly due to WILLIAM's Name
 s all th e Glory of the Roman Pride!
 Greater than theirs how great his Fame,
 When his no fallen Spots can hide!

Forgetful

V.

Forgetful now of Humbler Themes she flies
 Above the Roman Eagle's tow'ring height,
 Pursuing WILLIAM's Glory thro' the Skies;
 And nought escapes her sharper Sight.

VI.

She sees what Godlike Pow'rs combine
 To make her Hero's Birth Divine
 Sees one unhappy of the STUART Race,
 Laments his Faults, and covers his Disgrace.

VII.

And when on England's Grief she casts her Eye
 The Pious Muse mourns Inwardly:
 Then WILLIAM sees in all his Turns and Cares,
 Happy in Peace, and Brave in WARS:

VIII.

Good to his own, to other Nations Just,
 Whom all Religions court, all Factions trust
 Sees him 'twixt different Nations hold the Scales,
 And as he wills the juster Side prevails,
 Whate'er she sees in lofty Strains doth sing,
 And leaves the Hero perfect in the King.

IX.

Much we commend the Poet's Skill,
 That so exalted sings a Theme sublime;
 But more his Art to cover fatal Ill—
 Such Shades make WILLIAM's Glory brighter shine.

X.

O! long as Breath inspires this fleeting Frame,
 Be my Example PRIOR's grateful Name:
 Tho' not a DORSET shed his Rays on me,
 Happy am I, if but inspir' by Thee.

On the Same OCCASION.

AS Bards of old in nobler Lays cou'd sing,
 Refreshed with Streams from Heliconia's Spring
 So my Ignobler Muse attempts to speak,
 But finds Her Fancy flag; Her Flights too weak :
 At length with longing Haste she doth repair,
 To bright Parnassus' Hill to breathe that Air.
 Whereev'ry Strain is sweet, and ev'ry Thought is clear.
 Lo! there APOLLO sits in awful State,
 Around His Throne the humble Muses wait,
 Attentive to receive his sage Command,
 Behind the God I saw another Band,
 The Looks of some bespoke their Eloquence.
 Of others, Penury, and Want of Sense,
 I chose the Middle-place, and blest my Fate,
 To be a Guest at such a grand Debate.
 After our Homage paid, APOLLO rose,
 And did in Godlike Terms his Mind disclose,
 Ye tuneful Nine, in pleasing Songs no more.
 Me as Your Master, nor Your God adore,
 For loftier Strains prepare the Golden Lyre,
 Prepare a greater Patron to admire,
 A Patron truly wise, and justly great,
 Friend to the Muses, and Support to State,

Thus spoke APOLLO; when the Trembling Nine
 In mournful Accents their sad loss repine,

The

The Poets sigh'd, the Poetafters griev'd,
 Thefe were with Gold, and thofe with Sense reliev'd.
 When the refigning Oracle withdrew,
 A brighter Object foon approach'd our View,
 APOLLO's Crown adorn'd His learned Head,
 Around His Brows the Graceful Bays were fpread, }
 His Mien confirm'd all that the God had faid.
 But as He fpeaks the Mufes all rejoice,
 To hear APOLLO's Sense in PRIOR's Voice;
 This glorious Change gave Life to ev'ry Bard,
 And only PRIOR's worthier Name was heard;
 While the Refigning God fhares equal Praise
 Who proves His Wifdom, when He yields the Bays.
 Go on, Bright PHOEBUS, let Thy nobler Mufe
 In ev'ry Bard more Glorious Thoughts infufe,
 Let Zephyr bear Thy Fame with winged Speed,
 Where'er MINERVA rears Her awful-Head.
 The Verdant Bays fhall flourish on Thy Brow
 And ev'ry Poet juftly ftoop to You,
 Envy fhall kneel at your refulgent Throne
 Review Your Actions, and Your Learning own,
 Like MARS You vanquifh, with poetic Arm,
 Your Wifdom, like APOLLO's, is a Charm.
 Great PRIOR's Thought each Subject ftill refines,
 And ANNA's Duft smells fweeter from his Lines,
 Lines which improve HORACE's noble Theme,
 The Poet lives in You, and You in Him.
 Your Mufe can melt the moft obdurate Hearts,
 And in the Lover's Breaft new Flames impart,
 You are a juft Exception to our Fate,
 A Poet wealthy, eminent, and great.
 And You great Sir, who far above the reft,
 With Riches, Wifdom, are fo amply bleft,

How can my Muse Her juster Tribute pay,
 Than where the Patron bears such mighty Sway?
 The Off'ring's double do not both refuse,
 Accept the Pauper, tho' you scorn the Muse,

Cecini humilmelique obtuli,

AN EPISTLE to Mr PRIOR, on the Folio Edition of his Poems, 1718.

WHILST HARLEY with more near Approaches blest,
 Enjoys Thy Genius as He shares Thy Breast,
 Can view Thy Soul when freely breaking forth,
 In all the Changes of its native Worth,
 Can hear Thy Wit, as from Thy self it flows,
 And see the Poet live whose Works He knows,
 So that when'er He reads Thy publick Song,
 His Thoughts with Pleasure dwell upon Thy Tongue.
 For as Thy Lines do Various Passions raise,
 Thy vital Image in his Fancy plays,
 He feels a Warmth peculiarly confin'd,
 To those who have access to read thy Mind,
 When gen'rous Friendship does With Mirth conspire
 To animate Thy Sense, and light Thy Fire.

I at a distance do Thy Labours scan,
 And only in the Muse conceive the Man;
 I trace the Author in His matchless Lays,
 Those Monuments of everlasting Praise.
 Lest His bright Image in a fainter Mold,
 And darkly in that Glass His Face behold,
 Pardon, great P R I O R, if my Artless Draught;
 Reach not Perfection, it is only Thought;
 A Painter oft attempts a Face unseen,
 And strikes the Canvas with a fancy'd Mien,
 The Fame of Beauty makes his Colours flow,
 And I wou'd fain describe That Worth, methinks, I know;

First then Thy easy flowing Measures prove
 A Temper smooth, and sweetly fram'd for Love;
 They shew a tender Heart, and gentle Mind,
 Fill'd with Good-nature, generous and kind:
 Soft as a Feather pluck'd from VENUS' Dove,
 Soft as the Wings that bear the God of Love,
 So well You write Your Wounds from CUPID'S Dart,
 In Eloquence of Love so void of Art,
 Your Lines beguile ME, and I lose MY Heart. }
 A silent Passion glides into my Breast,
 I make Your Case my own, and think I'm blest:
 O! wou'd the unkind Fair consent to read,
 Wou'd She submit to hear Her Lover plead,
 In Spight of all Her Pride and all her Charms,
 She'd bend Her stubborn Neck into Thy Arms.
 CHLOE wou'd soon relent, and tamely chuse,
 To be a Captive to Thy pow'ful Muse,
 Thy Verse a subtle Poison wou'd instill,
 By Art unseen, and unsuspected kill:
 Such soft Attacks Her Weakness wou'd betray,
 And force a Heart of Flint to melt away,

We read how ORPHEUS rouz'd the sleeping Stone,
 Did soften fulling Rocks, and melt them down:
 How wildest Woods did form a comely Train,
 Obey His Pipe, and dance along the Plain:
 How savage Beasts by magic Numbers charm'd
 Of all their native Fiercenefs were disarm'd:
 The Lion and the Bear at once became
 Forgetful of their Rage, and gentle as the Lamb.
 And what is Music but the Poet's Rhime.
 Wak'd into Tune, and manag'd into Time.
 Verfe is but Harmony in Silence bound,
 And Poetry is known to speak in Sound.

Next when I read what You inscribe a Tale,
 There I find pleasing Mirth and Wit prevail,
 The Story runs in such familiar Strains,
 With so much Humour, and so little Pains,
 That I'm inclin'd to think 'tis only Prose,
 And that in tuneful Rhime Thy Language flows:
 Poems, like these, disclose a chearful Mind,
 And mark out One whom Nature hath design'd }
 A fine Companion, and delightful Friend.
 The noblest Lord with Fortune's Smiles carest,
 Who shines in State, and is with Plenty blest.
 Wou'd He improve His Wit, His Taste refine,
 Sweeten His Life, with Pleasure drink His Wine,
 His vacant Hours agreeably beguile,
 And in the Misery of Grandeur smile.
 He'd take Thee to his Breast, and gladly join
 In closest Amity His Soul to thine.
 Thence by a kind Conveyance He'd receive
 What neither Pomp, nor Wealth, nor Pow'r can give:
 For what is Luxury, and what is Pow'r,
 What are the Blessings, of a Golden-show'r,

Without

Without those purer Blessings, which we find
 Rise from Discourse, and entertain the Mind.
 The great MÆCENAS, who had all the State
 That Rome and princely Favour cou'd create,
 Yet often to His HORACE wou'd retire,
 Quit CÆSAR's Court to hear the Poet's Lyre.
 And if the sage PYTHAGORAS spoke true.
 The Soul of FLACCUS transmigrates in you :
 HORACE and PRIOR distant Ages knew,
 Yet Both One Spirit and One Genius shew.
 The Muses sure did o'er Their Birth preside,
 And Nature's Hand in Their Production guide,
 Did Their first Rudiments of Life inspire,
 With equal Sweetness mixt with equal Fire. *

Now I shou'd rise to a more Lofty theme
 From Love and Mirth ascend to the Sublime,
 Did not Thy PAULO still retard my Flight,
 And make me hover there with fond Delight.
 PAULO! a Piece Inimitably fine,
 Just is the Thought, and easy is the Line,
 Humour and Wit in purest Form appear
 At once to mend the Heart and charm the Ear.
 Wives are there Taught what does a Wife become,
 Not to be chaste abroad and lewd at home,
 For Public Virtue is an empty Name,
 Unless the Private Conduct be the same.
 An outward Form is but a sham Disguise,
 To cover hidden Vice from mortal Eyes,
 True Modesty is that which is unseen.
 A secret Spring of Purity within.
 So a false Coiner when his Metal's base
 Does on it's Surface Stamp the Royal Face,

Borrows

* HORACE and PRIOR both died at the same Age 57.

Borrows the Image of the currant Coin,
 To cheat the World and cover his Design ;
 A gilded Outside makes the Forgery pass,
 And what we take for Gold is only Brass.

Well hast Thou sung Our wise Creator's Praise,
 And told His mighty Works in lofty Lays,
 There we are Taught to Tremble at His Name,
 And to approach with Awe so great a Theme.
 Surely Thy Muse has something of Divine
 That durst so soon set Bounds to Reason's Line :
 That does the proud Philosopher controul,
 And check the Scemes of his aspiring Soul :
 That cou'd describe with such a Master-skill,
 How All Things rose from the Almighty's Will :
 How various Worlds may fill the Boundless Space,
 Tho' Man cannot define their Form or Place,
 How all our Thoughts are impotent and lame,
 When we presume to guess at Nature's Frame ;
 And the same Youth with more consummate Art
 Is afterwards pursu'd in ev'ry Part.
 When SOLOMON from Holy-writ You bring,
 A great Philosopher and Potent King :
 One who had All that Nature cou'd bestow,
 And All that cou'd from Fortune's Bounty flow.
 Of Beauty, Knowledge, and of Empire too. }
 One who we Read was eminently wise,
 And saw beyond the reach of mortal Eyes ;
 Whose Wisdom did not from Instruction grow,
 Nor did it move as human Learning flow,
 But was at once Infus'd into His Soul,
 By Beams of heav'nly Light that fill'd the Whole,
 And yet when Nature's-Garden You display,
 And the vast compass of the World survey,

How

How short is all that Knowledge, and how blind
 The vain ambition of a Feeble Mind.
 Nor let the daring Libertine confide
 In what his boasted Pleasure can Provide,
 For SOLOMON can tell that This is Vain,
 And that the highest Pleasure's gilded Pain.

If ABRA, whom the strongest Passion warm'd,
 Who was with all the Pow'r of Beauty arm'd,
 Who knew to make Address with softest Art,
 And with most subtle Skill to touch the Heart
 If This fair Concubine, and Hundreds more
 Whom that great Monarch had laid up in Store,
 Cou'd not give Quiet to His restless Mind,
 Where can the Libertine then Quiet find,
 False is that Happiness which springs from Lust,
 Various as Wind, and Volatile as Dust.

Call on the Monarchs who divide the Globe,
 And are distinguish'd by the Purple Robe,
 Bid Them behold Thy SOLOMON, and own,
 That Happiness is not the Jewel of a Crown,
 Shew Them an Instance there of Sov'raign Sway,
 Whom great and mighty Nations did obey:
 Who cou'd the wildest Luxury supply,
 By pillaging the Earth, the Sea, the Sky.
 Who shone in all the glitt'ring Pomp and Pride
 Of those who o'er the Necks of Subjects ride,
 Saw Millions trembling with a servile Awe,
 And tamely from His Will receive the Law;
 He let them see how Impotent was Pow'r,
 To shed pure Blessing on a single Hour:
 How riches Crowns with a false Lustre glare,
 And do not yield us Glory but a Snare:

How

How for the Surface only tney're design'd
 To grace the Body, not compose the Mind.
 But I forbear, for why shou'd I abuse
 Thy noble Genius, and deform thy Muse:
 A partial Transcript is a public Fraud,
 It robs true Worth, and sends it poor abroad,
 It does Thy Sense imperfectly convey,
 And only Stammers what is means to Say.
 So a fine Face no Painter can design
 By the rude Traces of a naked Line,
 The colours only can Perfection give,
 Expres the Air, and make the Canvas live.

Go on, great PRIOR, the same Steps pursue,
 Much to Thy Self, and to the World is due,
 Resume thy Pen, and Hang not up Thy Lyre,
 Since Thou hast still the same Poetic Fire:
 For many Subjects still remain un Sung
 Among the Great, the Wise, the Fair, the Young
 Which to Thy Muse peculiarly belong.
 APOLLO freely will Thy Harp restore,
 Write while Love lasts, and we will ask no more.

To Mr P R I O R,

By Mr J. NEWCOMB,

Fellow of St John's College Cambridge,

Nov. 14th 1719. *

R E C E I V E, Great BARD, thanks from the the meanest Muse,

(As GODS accept the Virtues they infuse,)

For HARLEY's Favour, and for HARRIET's Grace,

By THEE become familiar to This Place;

For such just Honour's here to HARRIET giv'n,

As needs must please ev'n MARGARET in Heav'n.

What learned FISHER was to RICHMOND's Spouse,

Be THOU to HARRIET and Her happy House;

Direct the Streams of Charity immense,

That MARGARET's Plants may feel it's Influence.

* Five Days before the Date of These Verses, on the 9th of November 1719, Mr PRIOR had complimented Lady HARLEY in a beautiful COPY of VERSES spoken to HER in the LIBRARY of St JOHN's College, Cambridge; which he published singly that Year.

To Female-Virtue, and to Love-Divine,
 St JOHN'S stands sacred by the Royal Line.
 Thou, in obedience to the Statutes, bow ;
 And on so fair Foundations act thy pious Vow.

In Arts and Arms, MINERVA's equal Care,
 Thy Muse adorns the Heroes and the Fair.
 Once more resume Thy potent Lyre and end
 The Wond'rous Scene ! Religion's lasting Friend.
 So Thou the Wisest Man may'st imitate
 And build our Temple equal to our State.

Ramparts and Towns AMPHION's Verse could raise,
 To build the HOUSE of GOD be PRIOR's Praise.

To Mr P R I O R,

By FRANCIS PECK, M. A. 1720.

O FT have I Thought, Great Bard, in my poor Cell,
 (Where I, and Care, and Contemplation dwell)
 How vastly far all Preaching is outdone,
 (-Excepting That of GOD's Eternal SON)
 In this One Sermon of wise SOLOMON !
 For whether we His beauteous Method view,
 Or Reas'nings, to His Text so close and true ;
 Each Verse the Other makes more heav'nly strong,
 And gains fresh Wonder as we read along ;

So,

So, when I saw your Book — This is not PRIOR
 I ravish'd said, but He, whose Hebrew Lyre }
 Before so often set my Soul on Fire!
 Or if it must be His —————
 Among Old Rabbins hitherto conceal'd,
 To him some Friend this Treasure hath reveal'd;
 And he translating what the Preacher taught,
 His own would have the Lovely Matter thought,
 No — there I err — for sure that gentle Swain,
 To purchase Fame, wou'd such mean Arts disdain,
 Chusing His Theme then must the Reason be,
 Why thus he charms, and hence I find that He,
 Who wou'd above himself, like PRIOR sing,
 Must to a sacred Subject tune the String.
 Then o'er the Shell as His quick Finger flies, }
 New Graces shall at ev'ry touch surprize,
 And Judgment, grown maturer, greatly rise.

To Mr PRIOR,

On His SOLOMON.

HAIL honour'd BARD, the Wonder of our Isle,
 On the APOLLO and the Muses smile,
 Confest Their darling, and their Country's Pride,
 By Envy's Self This Truth is not deny'd.
 Thy happy Muse and sweet recording Strings
 Can best resound the Godlike Acts of Kings* :

In
 * CARMEN SECULARE, printed in 1700, in Praise of King WILLIAM.

IN PINDAR'S lofty Strains can best declare
 Their Battles, Conquests, Toils, and saving Care,
 In Peace how mild, how terrible in War!
 Thus WILLIAM, mighty WILLIAM, She began,
 Trac'd him from Active Youth, to finish'd Man;
 She only cou'd ascend the wond'rous Height,
 And set each Action in it's proper Light,
 The Boyne and Namur's haughty Towers recite:
 His Glorious Life She made Her swelling Theme,
 And in Immortal Verse preserv'd His endless Fame.

* Again She spreads Her Wings, and takes Her Way
 Tow'ring does ANNA'S Glories all display,
 Bright as the Beams which yield the Rising Day:
 In melting Accents does Her Wonders sing,
 How flowing Blessings from each Action spring.
 How just she governs, and how well she reigns,
 And as she dictates still kind Heav'n ordains:
 How great and good, how ready to oppose
 Her glorious Arms against tyrannic Foes,
 And shield the Lab'ring Empire from impending Woes.

Fearless of Earth, of Air, of Seas, or Skies,
 Thy Muse does like the famous Mantuan's † rise,
 Nor stops her Course, but still pursues Her Flight,
 To distant Regions thro' ætherial Light;
 Descends a while on Bleinheim's hostile Plain,
 Beholds the Battle, Trophies, Numbers slain,
 And upwards springs, describes the glittering Scene.
 How LEWIS lost what BOILEAU ne'er can tell,
 How MALBRO' conquer'd, and how TALLARD fell;
 So

* Letter to BOILEAU on the Victory at Blenheim,

† VIRGIL.

So grace the Triumphs of the Victor's Cause,
 Who wins our Hearts, and merits out Applause,
 And frees the joyful World from arbitrary Laws. }

Now SOLOMON the Wise your harp has strung,
 In sweeter Sound's sure none e'er better sung,
 Illustrious SOLOMON, great Israel's King,
 Inspires Your Muse in heavenly Notes to sing.
 In you the tuneful DRYDEN will survive,
 In you the Majesty of Verse shall live,
 And flourish green, nor never shall decay,
 Whilst PHOEBUS rules, and runs his destin'd way,
 Take then the Bays from DRYDEN's sacred Tomb,
 And bless the present Age, and that to come :
 With lasting Numbers, never dying Strains,
 Peculiar to Yourself without Extreame,
 Like DENHAM's Thames, deep, gentle, clear, and free
 Rolling in Silver Streams with constant Harmony.

Whate'er you sung before gain'd just Applause,
 And this New Work new Admiration draws,
 Contending Poets all approve Your Lays,
 And all unites in Your deserving Praise,
 Matchless Your Genius takes its Noble Flight,
 And soars sublime perceptible to Sight ;
 Each Word's a Sentence, and each polish'd Line, }
 Adorns and makes our English Language shine, }
 The WISE MAN's Wisdom's nearest to Divine. }

Here, noble Monarch, here your self's outdone,
 (He, holy DAVID's ; You APOLLO's Son)
 Here we behold Him seated on His Throne,
 With all His Lustre, all His Glory on,
 Admir'd, Rever'd, and mighty in renown. }

Master of all indulgent Heav'n cou'd give,
 Blest with whate'er He ask'd, or cou'd receive,
 To make His Glory last, his Name for ever live.

Amidst these Lines with Pleasure we may see
 The Western Queen with splended Majesty,
 Greater than SOLOMON if greater e'er cou'd be.

Here Knowledge shines in a poetic Dress,
 And boundless Pleasure amply You rehearse,
 Great POWER last You copiously define,
 In ev'ry subject Art and Nature join ; ———
 Concluding with the Preacher, All is Vain,
 This Life a Maze of anxious Woes and Pain,
 Where nought but Follies and Vexation reign.
 Unmix'd no Happiness can well be found,
 Altho' with Power, Knowledge, Pleasure crown'd,
 For Intervals of Grief and Joy alternately go round.

O still go on and let Your Muse aspire,
 Full of the God that does Your Breast inspire,
 New Themes explore, and touch the trembling Lyre.
 O charm again the pleas'd and list'ning Throng,
 Who dwell upon the Music of your Tongue,
 And let unrival'd Numbers still compleat the Song.

Thus passing on the fleeting Hours of Life,
 Secur'd from busy Ills and noisy Strife,
 Retir'd from flatt'ring Courts, and free at ease,
 In Books delighting, and in Friends that please,
 Enjoy the blessings of a Halcyon Peace.

Pardon, great Sir, the Muse that dare address
 Accept my honest Heart tho' mean my Verse,
 Commending is Her Aim, but She's too weak,
 Yet pleasing Raptures thus from Her will break.
 Thus She attempts Her humble Voice to raise,

To sing the man She loves the Man She'd praise :
 But O thy Merits are beyond Her Strain,
 Deserve a noble Muse, a loftier Pen.

Had She but Art and Skill to paint like Thee,
 Lasting, like Thine, Her Colours then shou'd be,
 Each Touch, each Line shou'd ev'ry Vice control,
 Delight the Mind and captivate the Soul.

Her Pencil shou'd with pleasing Truth impart
 Thy Floods of Fancy, thy transcending Art,
 Shou'd all around thy just Desarts proclaim,
 In golden Characters record thy Name,
 And place Thee foremost in the Rolls of Fame,
 Distinguish'd Lawrels shou'd Thy Temples crown,
 For ever flourishing as Thy Renown,

Thy innate Virtues She shou'd too display
 In all Their Lustre all Their bright Array.

All all Thy Acts of Friendship shou'd appear,
 The speaking Canvas shew them fair and clear,
 Thy gen'rous Goodness shou'd be still confess'd,
 By Men rever'd, and by kind Heaven blest :

Thus Her unerring Piece She shou'd compleat,
 And like Thy Self describe Thee truly Great.

But doom'd to grov'ling Earth She can no more,
 Nature is wanting, Artless is Her Pow'r :

Nor dare she rise, too piercing is the Light,
 Fearful to perish in a loftier Flight,

And sink like ICARUS in Shades of Night.

Each coming Day shall its New Pleasure bring,
 And yield New Matter for your Muse to sing :

Promulge then, Sir, the product of Your Mind,
 With solid Judgment blest and senserefin'd,

So shall Your sprightly Wit be ever unconfin'd.

So shall Your Works eternalize your Fame,
 And latest Ages own great PRIOR's Name.

Lady WINCHELSEA to Mr PRIOR.

THE NYMPH whose Virgin-heart thy Charms have taught
 To cherish LOVE, with secret Wishes fraught,
 Reserv'd at first, endeavours to conceal
 What She had rather die than not reveal
 No Fears the Love sick Maid can long restrain,
 None read Thy verse, or hear Thee speak in vain.
 Thy melting Numbers, and polite Address,
 In ev'ry FAIR raise Passion to excess.
 In either Sex You never fail we find,
 To cultivate the Heart, or charm the Mind,
 In Raptures lost I fear not your Disdain,
 But own I languish to possess your Vein.
 As a fond Bird, pleas'd with the Teacher's Note,
 Expend his Life to raise his mimic Throat,
 His little Art, exerting all he can,
 Charm'd with the tune, to imitate the Man:
 Rudely he chants, yet labours not in vain,
 By wild Essays just so much Song to gain,
 As tempts his Master to renew the Strain. }
 Such is my Verse, with equal zeal I burn,
 Too happy, shou'd I meet the same Return.

On seeing Mr PRIOR'S Monument.

MEAN Artifice! to gild precarious Fame!
 A PRIOR bears a STATUTE in his NAME.
 True Merit does to Heights unlabour'd climb,
 And mock the Rust of Age and Waste of Time.
 Thus did APOLLO'S Hand Death's Razure brave,
 And share the Immortality it gave:
 VENUS and AMMON in his Colour shown,
 Transmit the Painter's Glory with their Own.

 E H I N D an unfrequented Glade,
Where Yew and Myrtle mix their Shade,
A Widow Turtle pensive sat,
And wept her murder'd Lover's Fate.
The Sparrow chanc'd that Way to walk,
(A Bird that loves to chirp and talk)
Before he did the Turtle greet ;
She answer'd him as she thought meet.
Sparrows and Turtles, by the bye, —
Can Think as well as You or I:

* This Piece was written upon the sincere Affection shewn by her most sacred Majesty Queen ANNE for the Loss of her Royal Consort Prince GEORGE, 1708, who is figured under Columbo, the faithful Mate of Turturella.

But how they did their Thoughts express,
The Margin shews by T and S.

T. My Hopes are lost, my Joys are fled,
Alas! I weep Columbo dead:
Come, all ye winged Lovers, come,
Drop Pinks and Dasies on his Tomb:
Sing, Philomel, his Fun'ral Verse,
Ye pious Redbreasts, deck his Hearse:
Fair Swains, extend your Dying Throats,
Columbo's Death requires your Notes:
For Him, my Friend, for Him I moan,
My dear Columbo, dead and gone.

Stretch'd on the Bier Columbo lies,
Pale are his Cheeks, and clos'd his Eyes;
Those Cheeks, where Beauty smiling lay;
Those Eyes, where Love was us'd to play;
Ah cruel Fate, alas! how soon
That Beauty and those Joys are flown!

Columbo is no more ye Floods,
Bear the sad Sound to distant Woods;
The Sound let Echo's Voice restore,
And say, Columbo is no more.
Ye Floods, ye Woods, ye Echoes moan
My dear Columbo, dead and gone.

The Dryads all forfook the Wood,
And mournful Naiads round me stood,
The tripping Fawns and Fairies came,
All conscious of our mutual Flame,
To sigh for him, with me to moan
My dear Columbo, dead and gone.

VENUS disdain'd not to appear,
 To lend my Grief a Friendly Ear ;
 But what avails her Kindness now ?
 She ne'er shall hear my Second Vow :
 The Loves, that round their Mother flew,
 Did in her Face her Sorrows view ;
 Their drooping Wings they pensive hung,
 Their Arrows broke, their Bows unstrung ;
 They heard attentive what I said,
 And wept, with me, Columbo dead :
For Him I sigh, for Him I moan,
My dear Columbo, dead and gone.

'Tis our's to Weep, great VENUS said,
 'Tis JOVE's alone to be Obey'd :
 Nor Birds nor Goddeffes can move
 The just Behests of Fatal JOVE :
 I saw thy Mate with sad Regret,
 And curs'd the Fowler's cruel Net :
 Ah, dear Columbo, how he fell,
 Whom Turturella lov'd so well !
 I saw him bleeding on the Ground,
 The Sight tore up my ancient Wound ;
 And whilst you wept, alas, I cry'd,
 COLUMBO and ADONIS Dy'd.

Weep, all ye Streams, ye Mountains, groan ;
I mourn Columbo, dead and gone ;
 Still let my tender Grief complain,
 Nor Day nor Night that Grief restrain,
 I said, and VENUS still reply'd,
 COLUMBO and ADONIS Dy'd.

4 P O E M S on several Occasions.

S. Poor Turturella, hard thy Case,
And just thy Tears, alas, alas !

T. And hast thou lov'd, and can't thou hear
With piteous Heart a Lover's Care !
Come then, with Me thy Sorrows join,
And ease my Woes by telling Thine :
*For thou, poor Bird, perhaps may'st moan
Some Passerella dead and gone.*

S. Dame Turtle, this runs soft in Rhime,
But neither suits the Place nor Time ;
The Fowler's Hand, whose cruel Care
For dear Columbo set the Snare,
The Snare again for Thee may set ;
Two Birds may perish in one Net :
Thou should'st avoid this cruel Field.
And Sorrow should to Prudence yield.
'Tis sad to Die.——

T. —— It may be so ;
'Tis sadder yet, to Live in Woe.

S. When Widows use their canting Strain,
They seem resolv'd to wed again.

T. When Wid'wers wou'd this Truth disprove,
They never tasted real Love.

S. Love is soft Joy and gentle Strife,
His Efforts all depend on Life :
When he has thrown two Golden Darts,
And struck the Lovers mutual Hearts ;

Of his black Shafts let Death send One,
Alas ! the pleasing Game is done ;
Ill is the poor Survivor sped,
A Corps feels mighty cold in Bed.
VENUS said right, Nor Tears can move,
Nor Complaints revoke the Will of JOVE.

All must obey the gen'ral Doom,
Down from ALCIDES to Tom Thumb.
Grim PLUTO will not be withstood
By Force or Craft. Tall Robbinhood,
As well as Little John, is dead,
(You see how deeply I am read)
With Fate's lean Tipstaff none can dodge,
He'll find you out where'er you lodge.
AJAX to shun his gen'ral Pow'r
In vain absconded in a Flow'r.
An idle Scene TYTHONUS acted,
When to a Grasshopper contracted :
Death struck them in those Shapes again,
As once he did when they were Men.

For Reptiles perish, Plants decay ;
Flesh is but Grass, Grass turns to Hay ;
And Hay to Dung, and Dung to Clay.

Thus Heads extremely nice discover,
That Folks may die some Ten times over ;
But of by two refin'd a Touch,
To prove Things plain, they prove too much.
Whate'er PYTHAGORAS may say,
(For each, you know, will have his Way)
With great Submission I pronounce,
That People Die no more than Once :

6 P O E M S on several Occasions.

But once is sure, and Death is Common
 To Bird and Man, including Woman,
 From the Spread Eagle to the Wren,
 Alas ! no Mortal Fowl knows when ;
 All that were Feathers first or last
 Must one Day perch on CHARON'S Mast ;
 Must lie beneath the Cypress Shade,
 Where STRADA'S Nightingale was laid ;
 'Those Fowl who seem Alive to sit,
 Assembled by Dan CHAUCER'S Wit,
 In Prose have slept Three Hundred Years,
 Exempt from worldly Hopes and Fears,
 And, laid in State upon their Hearse,
 Are truly but embalm'd in Verse ;
 As sure as LESBIA'S Sparrow I,
 Thou, sure as PRIOR'S Dove, must Die :
 And ne'er again from Lethe's Streams
 Return to Adda, or to Thames.

T. I therefore weep Columbo dead,
 My hopes bereav'd, my Pleasures fled ;
I therefore must for ever moan
 My dear Columbo, dead and gone.

S. Columbo never sees your Tears,
 Your Cries Columbo never hears ;
 A Wall of Brass, and one of Lead,
 Divide the Living from the Dead.
 Repell'd by this, the gather'd Rain
 Of Tears beats back to Earth again ;
 In t'other the Collected Sound
 Of Groans, when once receiv'd, is drown'd.
 'Tis therefore vain one Hour to grieve
 What time itself can ne'er retrieve.

Can never live without her Love;
Then quit this Flame, and light another;
Dame, I advise you like a Brother.

T. What, I to make a second Choice!
In other Nuptials to rejoice!

S. Why not, my Bird?—

T. ——— No, Sparrow, no,
Let me indulge my pleasing Woe:
Thus sighing, cooing, ease my Pain,
But never wish, nor love, again:
Distress'd for ever, let me moan
My dear Columbo, dead and gone.

S. Our winged Friends thro' all the Grove
Contemn thy mad Excess of Love:
I tell thee, Dame, the other Day
I met a Parrot and a Jay,
Who mock'd thee in their mimick Tone,
And wept Columbo, dead and gone.

T. Whate'er the Jay or Parrot said,
My Hopes are lost, my Joys are fled;
And I for ever must deplore
Columbo dead and gone.——— S. Encore!
For Shame forsake this BION-stile,
We'll talk an Hour, and walk a Mile.
Does it with Sense or Health agree,
To sit thus moping on a 'Tree?
To throw away a Widow's Life,
When you again may be a Wife?

Come on, I'll tell you my Amours ;
Who knows but they may infl'ence yours ;
Example draws, when Precept fails,
And Sermons are less read than Tales.

T. Sparrow, I take thee for my Friend,
As such will hear thee : I descend ;
Hop on and talk ; but, honest Bird,
Take care that no immodest Word
May venture to offend my Ear.

S. Too Saint-like Turtle, never fear :
By Method Things are best discuss'd,
Begin we then with Wife the first :
A handsome, senseless, auk'ard Fool,
Who wou'd not Yield, and cou'd not Rule :
Her Actions did her Charms disgrace,
And still her Tongue talk'd of her Face :
Count me the Leaves on yonder Tree,
So many diff'rent Wills had she,
And like the Leaves, as Chance inclin'd,
Those Wills were chang'd with every Wind :
She courted the Beau-Monde To-night,
L'Assemblée, her supreme Delight ;
The next she sat immur'd, unseen,
And in full Health enjoy'd the Spleen ;
She censur'd that, she alter'd this,
And with great Care set all amiss ;
She now cou'd chide, now laugh, now cry,
Now sing, now pout, All God knows why :
Short was her Reign, she Cough'd and Dy'd.
Proceed we to my Second Bride ;
Well born she was, genteelly Bred,
And buxom both at Board and Bed

Glad

Glad to oblige, and pleas'd to please,
 And, as TOM SOUTHERN wisely says,
No other Fault had she in Life,
*But only that she was my WIFE.
 O Widow-Turtle! ev'ry She,
 (So Nature's Pleasure does decree)
 Appears a Goddess 'till enjoy'd;
 But Birds, and Men, and Gods are cloy'd.
 Was HERCULES One Woman's Man?
 Or JOVE for ever LÆDA's Swan?
 Ah! Madam, cease to be mistaken,
 Few marry'd Fowl peck Dunmow-Bacon.
 Variety alone gives Joy,
 The sweetest Meats the soonest cloy:
 What Sparrow, Dame? what Dove alive,
 Tho' VENUS shou'd the Char'ot drive,
 But wou'd accuse the Harness Weight,
 If always Coupled to One Mate;
 And often with the Fetter broke?
 'Tis Freedom but to Change the Yoke.

T. Impious, to wish to Wed again,
 Ere Death dissolv'd the former Chain!

S. Spare your Remark, and hear the rest;
 She brought me Sons, but, JOVE be blest,
 She dy'd in Child-bed on the Nest.
 Well, rest her Bones, quoth I, she's gone:
 But must I therefore lie alone?
 What, am I to her Mem'ry ty'd?
 Must I not Live, because she Dy'd?

* See The Wife's Excuse: A Comedy.

10 P O E M S on several Occasions.

And thus I Logically said,
('Tis good to have a Reas'ning Head)
Is this my WIFE ? Probatur not ;
For Death dissolv'd the Marriage-Knot :
She was, Concedo, during Life ;
But, is a Piece of Clay a WIFE ?
Again, if not Wife d'ye see,
Why then no Kin at all to me :
And he who gen'ral Tears can shed
For Folks that happen to be Dead,
May e'en w th equal Justice mourn
For those who never yet were Born.

T. Those Points indeed you quaintly prove,
But Logic is no Friend to Love.

S. My Children then were just pen-feather'd :
Some little Corn for them I gather'd,
And sent them to my Spouse's Mother,
So left that Brood to get another :
And, as old HARRY whilome said,
Reflecting on ANNE BOLEYN Dead,
Cockbones, I now again do stand
The jolly'st Batchelor i' th' Land.

T. Ah me ! my Joys, my Hopes are fled ;
My first, my only Love is Dead :
With endless Grief let me bemoan
Columbo's Loss :——

S. —— Let me go on,
As yet my Fortune was but narrow,
I woo'd my Cousin Philly Sparrow,
O'th' Elder House of Chirping-End,
From whence the younger Branch descend ;

Well

Well seated in a Field of Pease
 She liv'd, extremely at her Ease:
 But when the Honey-Moon was past,
 The foll'wing Nights were soon o'ercaſt;
 She kept her own, could plead the Law,
 And Quarrel for a Barly-Straw:
 Both, you may judge, became leſs kind,
 As more we knew each other's Mind:
 She ſoon grew fullen; I, hardhearted;
 We ſcolded, hated, fought, and parted.
 To LONDON, bleſſed Town, I went,
 She Boarded at a Farm in Kent:
 A Magpye from the Country fled,
 And kindly told me ſhe was Dead:
 I prun'd my Feathers, cock'd my Tail,
 And ſet my Heart again to Sale.

My Fourth, a mere Coquet, or ſuch
 I thought her, nor avails it much,
 If true or falſe; our Troubles ſpring
 More from the Fancy than the Thing.
 Two ſtaring Horns, I often ſaid,
 But ill become a Sparrow's Head;
 But then to ſet that Balance even,
 Your Cuckold Sparrow goes to Heaven.
 The Thing you fear, ſuppoſe it done,
 If you inquire, you make it known.
 Whilſt at the Root your Horns are fore,
 The more you ſcratch, they ach the more.
 But turn the Tables and reflect,
 All may not be, that you ſuſpect:
 By the Mind's Eye, the Horns we mean
 Are only in Ideas ſeen;

'Tis from the Inside o' the Head
 Their Branches shoot, their Antlers spread ;
 Fruitful Suspicions often bear 'em,
 You feel 'em from the Time you fear 'em.
Cuckoo ! Cuckoo ! that Echo'd Word,
 Offends the Ear of Vulgar Bird ;
 But those of finer Taste have found
 There's nothing in't beside the Sound
 Preferment always waits on Horns,
 And Household Peace the Gift adorns :
 This Way, or that, let Factions tend,
 The Spark is still the Cuckold's Friend ;
 This Way, or that, let Madam roam,
 Well pleas'd and quiet she comes home.
 Now weigh the Pleasure with the Pain,
 The plus and minus, Loss and Gain,
 And what La Fontain laughing says,
 Is serious Truth, in such a Case ;
Who slights the Evil, finds it least ;
And who does Nothing, does the best.
 I never strove to rule the Roast,
 She ne'er refus'd to pledge my Toast :
 In Visits if we chanc'd to meet,
 I seem'd obliging, she discreet ;
 We neither much carefs'd nor strove,
 But good Dissembling pass'd for Love.

T. Whate'er of Light our Eye may know,
 'Tis only Light itself can show :
 Whate'er of Love our Heart can feel,
 'Tis mutual Love alone can tell.

S. My pretty, am'rous, foolish Bird,
 A Moment's Patience ; in one Word,

The Three kind Sisters broke the Chain,
She Dy'd, I mourn'd, and woo'd again.

T. Let me with juster Grief deplore
My dear Columbo, now no more ;
Let me with constant Tears bewail ———

S. Your Sorrow does but spoil my Tale:
My Fifth, she prov'd a jealous Wife,
Lord sheild us all from such a Life !
'Twas Doubt, Complaint, Reply, Chit-Chat,
'Twas This, To day ; To-morrow, That.
Sometimes, forsooth, upon the Brook
I kept a Miss ; an honest Rook
Told it a Snipe, who told a Stear,
Who told it those, who told it her.

One day a Linnet and a Lark
Had met me strolling in the Dark ;
The next a Woodcock and an Owl,
Quick-sighted, grave, and sober Fowl,
Wou'd on their Corp'ral Oath alledge
I kiss'd a Hen behind the Hedge.
Well, Madam Turtle, to be brief,
(Repeating but renues our Grief)
As once she watch'd me from a Rail,
Poor Soul ! her Footing chanc'd to fail,
And down she fell, and broke her Hip,
The Fever came, and then the Pip :
Death did the only Cure apply ;
She was at quiet, so was I.

T. Cou'd Love unmov'd these Change-views?
His Sorrows, as his Joys, are true.

 Another full as wise as he,
 Adds ; that a Marry'd Man may see
Two happy Hours ; and which are they ?
 The First and Last, perhaps you'll say :
 'Tis true, when blythe she goes to Bed,
 And when she peaceably lies Dead ;
Women 'twixt Sheets are best, 'tis said,
Be they of Holland, or of Lead.

Now cur'd of HYMEN'S Hopes and Fears,
 And sliding down the Vale of Years,
 I hope'd to fix my future Rest,
 And took a Widow to my Nest.
 Ah Turtle! had she been like Thee,
 Sober, yet gentle ; wife, yet free ;
 - But she was peevish, noisy, bold,
 A Witch ingrafted on a Scold :
 JOVE in PANDORA'S Box confin'd
 A Hundred Ills to vex Mankind ;
 To vex one Bird, in her Bandore
 He hid at least a Hundred more.
 And soon as Time that Veil withdrew,
 The Plagues over all the Parish flew ;
 Her Stock of borrow'd Tears grew dry,
 And Native Tempests arm'd her Eye ;
 Black Clouds around her Forehead hung,
 And Thunder rattled on her Tongue.
 We, Young or Old, or Cock or Hen,
 All liv'd in ÆOLUS'S Den ;

The

The nearest her, the more accurst,
 Ill fare'd her Friends, her Husband worst.
 But JOVE amidst his Anger spares,
 Remarks our Faults, but hears our Pray'rs.
 In short, she die'd. Why then she's dead,
 Quoth I, and once again I'll wed.
 Wou'd Heav'n this Mourning Year were past,
 One may have better Luck at last.
 Matters at worst are sure to mend,
 The DEVIL's Wife was but a Fiend.

T. Thy Tale has rais'd a Turtle's Spleen,
 Uxorious Inmate, Bird obscene,
 Dare'st thou defile these sacred Groves,
 These silent Seats of faithful Loves;
 Be gone, with flagging Wings sit down
 On some old Pent-house near the Town;
 In Brewers Stables peck thy Grain,
 Then wash it down with puddled Rain;
 And hear thy dirty Offspring squall
 From Bottles on a Suburb-Wall.
 Where thou hast been, return again,
 Vile Bird! thou hast convers'd with Men;
 Notions like these from Men are given,
 Those vilest Creatures under Heaven.

To Cities and to Courts repair,
 Flatt'ry and Falshood flourish there;
 There, all thy wretched Arts employ,
 Where Riches triumph over Joy;
 Where Passions do with Int'rest barter,
 And HYMEN holds, by Mammon's Charter;
 Where Truth by Point of Law is parry'd,
 And Knaves and Prudes are Six times marry'd.

A P P L I C A T I O N .

O Dearest Daughter of two dearest Friends,*
 To thee my Muse this little Tale commends ;
 Loving and lov'd, regard thy future Mate,
 Long love his Person, tho' deplore his Fate ;
 Seem young when old in thy dear Husband's Arms,
 For constant Virtue has immortal Charms ;
 And when I lie low sepulchred in Earth,
 And the glad Year returns thy Day of Birth,
 Vouchsafe to say, 'Ere I could write or spell,
 The Bard, who from my Cradle wish'd me well,
 Told me I shou'd the prating SPARROW blame,
 And bid me imitate the TURTLE's Flame.

DOWN · HALL.

G. J. G. 1840. P. 100.

DOWN-HALL:

B A L L A D.

To the Tune of King JOHN and the Abbot of CANTERBURY.

Written in the Year MDCCXV.

I.

SING not Old JASON, who Travel'd thro'
Greece,
To kiss the fair Maids, and possess the rich Fleece;
Nor sing I ÆNEAS, who, led by his Mother,
Got rid of One WIFE and went far for Another,
Derry down, down, bey derry down,

Nor

II.

Nor him who through Asia and Europe did roam,
 ULYSSES by Name, who ne'er cry'd to go home ;
 But rather desir'd to see Cities and Men,
 Than return to his Farms, and converse with old PEN'.

III.

Hang HOMER and VIRGIL ; their Meaning to seek,
 A man must have poke'd in the Latin and Greek ;
 Those who love their own Tongue we have Reason to hope
 Have read them Translated by DRYDEN and POPE.

IV.

But I sing Exploits that have lately been done
 By Two British HEROES, call'd MATTHEW and JOHN :
 And how they rid friendly from fine London Town,
 Fair Essex to see, and a Place they call D O W N.

V.

Now 'e're they went out, you may rightly suppose
 How much they discours'd both in Prudence and Prose ;
 For, before this great Journey was throughly concerted,
 Full often they met ; and as often they parted.

VI.

And thus Matthew said, Look you here, my Friend John,
 I fairly have travel'd Years thirty and one ;
 And tho' I still carry'd my Sovereign's Warrants,
 I only have gone upon other Folk's Errands.

VII.

And now in this Journey of Life I wou'd have
 A Place where to Bait, 'twixt the Court and the Grave ;
 Where joyful to live, not unwilling to die —
Gadzooks, I have just such a Place in my Eye.

* Matthew Prior, Esq; and John Morley of Halstead in Essex, Esq; bred a Butcher (but was accounted one of the greatest Land-Jobbers in England) and in Honour of his Profession annually killed a Hog, in the Publick Market, and took a Groat for it. He died 1732.

There

VIII.

There are Gardens so stately, and Arbours so thick,
A Portal of Stone, and a Fabrick of Brick :
The Matter next Week shall be all in your Pow'r ;
But the Money, Gadzooks, must be paid in an Hour.

IX.

For Things in this World must by Law be made certain,
We both must repair unto OLIVER MARTIN ;
For he is a Lawyer of worthy Renown.
I'll bring You to see, he must fix you at D O W N.

X.

Quoth MATTHEW, I know, that from Berwick to Dover
You've Sold all our Premises over and over :
And now if your Buyers and Sellers agree,
You may throw all our Acres into the South-Sea.

XI.

But a Word to the Purpose ; To-morrow, dear Friend,
We'll see, what To-night you so highly commend.
And if with a Garden and House I am blest,
Let the Devil and *Coningsby go with the rest.

XII.

Then answer'd 'Squire MORLEY, pray get a Calash,
That in Summer may Burn, and in Winter may Splash ;
I love Dirt and Dust ; and 'tis always my Pleasure
To take with me much of the Soil that I measure.

XIII.

But Matthew thought better: For Matthew thought right,
And hired a Chariot so trim and so tight,
That Extremes both of Winter and Summer might pass ;
For one Window was Canvas, the other was Glass.

* Lord Coningsby, with whom he had differ'd.

XIV.

Draw up, quoth Friend Matthew; pull down quoth
Friend John,

We shall be both hotter, and colder anon.
Thus talking and scolding, they forward did speed;
And RALPHO pace'd by, under NEWMAN the Swede.

XV.

Into an Old Inn did this Equipage roll,
At a Town they call Hodsdon, the Sign of the Bull,
Near a Nymyb with an Urn, that divides the High-way,
And into a Puddle throws Mother of TEA.

XVI.

Come here, my sweet Landlady, pray how d'ye do?
Where is 'Sisley so cleanly, and Prudence, and Sue?
And where is the Widow that dwelt here below?
And the Hostler that sung about eight Years ago?

XVII.

And where is your Sister so mild and so dear?
Whose Voice to her Maids like a Trumpet was clear:
By my Troth, she replies, you grow Younger, I think:
And pray, Sir, what Wine does the Gentleman drink?

XVIII.

Why now let me die, Sir, or live upon Trust,
If I know to which Question to answer you first:
Why Things, since I saw you, most strangely have vary'd
The Hostler is Hang'd, and the Widow is Marry'd.

XIX.

And Prue left a Child for the Parish to Nurse;
And 'Sisley went off with a Gentlemans's Purse;
And as to my Sister so mild and so dear,
She has lain in the Church-yard full many a Year.

Well,

XX.

Well, Peace to her Ashes ; what signifies Grief?
 She Roasted red Veal, and she Powder'd lean Beef;
 Full nicely she knew to cook-up a fine Dish;
 For tough was her Pullets, and tender her Fish.

XXI.

For that Matter, Sir, be ye 'Squire, Knight, or Lord,
 I'll give whatev'r a good Inn can afford:
 I shou'd look on myself as unhappily sped,
 Did I yield to a Sister, or Living, or Dead.

XXII.

Of Mutton a delicate Neck and a Breast
 Shall swim in the Water in which they were drest:
 And because You great Folks are with Rarities taken,
 Addle-Eggs shall be next Course, tost up with rank Bacon.

XXIII.

Then Supper was serv'd, and the Sheets they were laid;
 And MORLEY most lovingly whisper'd the Maid.
 The Maid! was she handsome? why truly so, so:
 But what MORLEY whisper'd we never shall know.

XXIV.

Then up rose these Heroes as brisk as the Sun,
 And their Horses, like his, were prepared to run.
 Now when in the Morning MATT ask'd for the Score,
 JOHN kindly had paid it the Ev'ning before.

XXV.

Their Breakfast so warm to be sure they did eat,
 A Custom in Travellers, mighty discreet;
 And thus with great Friendship and Glee they went on,
 To find out the Place you shall hear of anon,
call'd DOWN, down, hey derry down.

XXVI.

But what did they talk of from Morning 'till Noon ?
 Why, of Spots in the Sun, and the Man in the Moon ;
 Of the CZAR's gentle Temper, the Stocks in the City,
 The wise Men of Greece, and the Secret-Committee.

XXVII.

So to HARLOW they came ; and Hey, where are You all ?
 Shew Us into the Parlour, and mind when I call :
 Why, your Maids have no Motion, your Men have no Life ;
 Well, Master, I hear you have bury'd your Wife.

XXVIII.

Come this very instant, take care to provide
Tea, Sugar and, Toast, and a Horse, and a Guide ;
 Are the Harrisons here, both the Old and the Young ?
 And where stands fair DOWN, the Delight of my Song ?

XXIX.

O 'Squire, to the Grief of my Heart I may say,
 I have bury'd Two Wives since you travel'd this Way ;
 And the Harrisons both may be presently here ;
 And DOWN stands, I think, where it stood the last Year.

XXX.

Then JOAN brought the Tea-pot, and CALEB the Toast ;
 And the Wine was froth'd out by the Hand of mine Host ;
 But we clear'd our Extempore Banquet so fast,
 That the Harrisons both were forgot in the Haste.

XXXI.

Now hey for Down-Hall ; for the Guide he was got ;
 The Chariot was mounted ; the Horses did trot ;
 The Guide he did bring us a dozen Mile round ;
 But Oh ! all in vain ; for no Down cou'd be found.

XXXII.

O thou Papist Guide, thou hast led us astray.
Says he, How the Devil shou'd I know the Way?
I never yet travel'd this Road in my Life:
But Down lies on the left, I was told by my Wife.

XXXIII.

Thy Wife, answer'd MATTHEW, when she went abroad
Ne'er told Thee of half the Bye-ways she had trod:
Perhaps She met Friends, and brought Pence to thy House,
But Thou shalt go home without ever a Souse.

XXXIV.

What is this Thing, MORLEY, and how can you mean it?
We have lost our Estate here, before we have seen it.
Have Patience, soft, MORLEY in Anger reply'd:
To find out our Way, let us send off our Guide.

XXXV.

O here I spy Down, cast your Eye to the West,
Where a Wind-mill so stately stands plainly confess.
On the West, reply'd MATTHEW, no Wind-Mill I find:
As well Thou may'st tell me, I see the West-Wind.

XXXVI.

Now pardon me, MORLEY, the Wind-mill I spy,
But faithful ACHATES, no House is there nigh.
Look again, says mild MORLEY, Gadzooks you are blind:
The Mill stands before; and the House lies behind.

XXXVII.

O now a low ruin'd white Shed I discern,
Untile'd and unglaze'd; I believe 'tis a Barn.
A Barn! why you rave: 'Tis a House for a 'Squire,
A Justice of Peace, or a Knight of our Shire.

XXXVIII.

A House shou'd be built, or with Brick, or with Stone.
 Why, 'tis Plaster and Lath; and, I think, that's all one.
 And such as it is, it has stood with great Fame.
 Been called a HALL, and has given its Name
 To DOWN, down, hey derry down.

XXXIX.

O MORLEY, O MORLEY, if that be a Hall;
 The Fame with the Building will suddenly fall——
 With your Friend JEMMY GIBBS about Buildings agree,
 My Businefs is Land; and it matters not me.

XI.

I wish you could tell what a Duce your Head ails :
 I shew'd you Down-Hall; did you look for Versailles ?
 Then take House and Farm as JOHN BALLETT will let you ;
 For Better for Worse, as I took my Dame BETTY.

XLI.

And now, Sir, a Word to the Wife is enough ;
 You'll make very little of all your Old Stuff :
 And to build at your Age, by my Troth you grow simple ;
 Are you Young and Rich, like the Master of Wimpole ? *

XLII.

If You have these Whims of Apartments and Gardens,
 From twice fifty Acres you'll ne'er see five Farthings :
 And in your's I shall find the true Gentleman's Fate ;
 'E're you finish your House you'll have spent your Estate

XLIII.

Now let us touch Thumbs, and be Friends 'e're we part.
 Here, JOHN, is my Thumb; and here, MAT, is my Heart :
 To Halfhead I speed; and You go back to Town.
 Thus ends the First Part of the Ballad of D O W N.

Derry down, down, hey derry down.

W H E N crouding Folk, with strange ill Faces,
Were making Legs and begging Places,
And some with Patents, some with Merit,
Tire'd out my good Lord Dorset's Spirit :
Sneaking I stood, amongst the Crew,
Desiring much to speak with you.
I waited while the Clock struck Thrice,
And Footman brought out fifty Lyes ;
'Till, Patience vext, and Legs grown weary,
I thought it was in vain to tarry :
But did opine, it might be better
By Penny-Post to send a Letter :
Now, if you miss of this Epistle
I'm balk'd again, and may go whistle.
My Business, Sir, you'll quickly guess,
Is to desire some little Place ;
And fair Pretensions I have for't,
Much Need, and very small Desert

26 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Whene'er I writ to you, I wanted ;
 I always beg'd, you always granted.
 Now, as you took me up when little,
 Gave me my Learning, and my Vittle :
 Ask'd for me, *from my Lord, things fitting,
 Kind as I'ad been your own begetting,
 Confirm what formerly you've given,
 Nor leave me now at Six and Sevens,
 As Sunderland has left Mun Stephens

No Family that takes a Whelp,
 When first he laps, and scarce can yelp
 Neglects, or turns him out of Gate,
 When he's grown up to Dog's Estate :
 Nor Parish, if they once adopt
 The spurious Brats by Strolers dropt,
 Leave 'em, when grown up lusty Fellows,
 To the wide World, that is, the Gallows :
 No, thank 'em for their Love, that's worfe,
 Than if they'ad throttled 'em at Nurse.

My Uncle, rest his Soul when living,
 Might have contriv'd me ways of Thriving ; †
 Taught me with Cider to replenish
 My Vats, or ebbing Tide of Rhenish.
 So when for Hock I drew prickt White-wine,
 Swear 't had the Flavour, and was right Wine .
 Or sent me with Ten Pounds to Furni-
val's Inn, to some good Rogue-Attorney ;
 Where now, by forging Deeds, and cheating,
 I'ad found some handsome ways of getting.

* Earl of Dorset.

† His Uncle was a Vintner.

All this You made me quit, to follow
 That sneaking Whey-face'd God Apollo;
 Sent me among a Fiddling Crew
 Of Folks, I'd never seen nor knew,
Calliope, and God knows who.
 To add no more Invectives to it,
 You spoil'd a Youth to make a Poet.
 In common Justice, Sir, there's no Man
 That Makes the Whore, but keeps the Woman.
 Amongst all honest Christian People,
 Whoe'er breaks Limbs, maintains the Cripple.

The Sum of all I have to say,
 Is, that you'd put me in some Way,
 And your Petitioner shall pray——

There's One thing more, I had almost slipt,
 But that may do as well in Postscript;
 My Friend Charles Montague's prefer'd,
 Nor wou'd I have it long observ'd,
 That One MOUSE eats, while t'OTHER's starv'd.*

* Mr. Montague, afterwards Earl of Halifax, gained so much Reputation by Transversing Mr. Dryden's HIND and PANTHER, to the Story of the City Mouse and Country Mouse, that he was called MOUSE Montague. But here Mr. Prior claims an equal Share in the Performance.

 In sure and certain Hopes———the Prelate cries :
 Of these Two learned Peers, I pr'ythee say, Man,
 Who is the lying Knave, the Priest or Layman ?

 He's our dear Brother quoth the lordly Priest.

In Imitation of the Second O D E of the Third BOOK of HORACE.

Written Anno 1692.

I.

H O W long, deluded Albion, wilt thou lie*
In the Lethargic Sleep, the sad Repose
By which thy close, thy constant Enemy
Has softly lull'd thee to thy Woes?
Or wake, degen'rate Isle, or cease to own
What thy old Kings in Gallic Camps have done;
The Spoils they brought thee back, the Crowns they won:
WILLIAM (so Fate requires) again is arm'd;
Thy Father to the Field is gone:
Again MARIA weeps her absent Lord
For thy Repose content to rule alone.
Are thy Enervate Sons not yet alarm'd?
When WILLIAM fights, dare they look tamely on,
So slow to get their Antient Fame restor'd,
As nor to melt at Beauty's Tears, nor follow Valour's Sword?

* Angustam, amici, Pauperiem pati
Robustus acri Militia Puer
Condiscat; & Parthos feroces
Vexet eques metuendus hasta.

See

II.

See the repenting Isle awakes,
 Her vicious Chains the gen'rous Goddess breaks :
 The Fogs around her Temples are dispell'd ;
 Abroad She looks, and sees arm'd Belgia stand
 Prepar'd to meet their common Lord's Command ;
 Her Lions roaring by her Side, her Arrows in her Hand ;
 And blushing to have been so long with-held ;
 Weeps off her Crime, and hastens to the Field :
 * Henceforth her Youth shall be inur'd to bear
 Hazardous Toil and active War :
 To march beneath the Dog-Star's raging Heat,
 Patient of Summer's Drought, and Martial Sweat,
 And only-grieve in Winter Camps to find
 Its Days too short for Labours they design'd :
 All Night beneath hard heavy Arms to watch ;
 All Day to mount the Trench, to storm the Breach,
 And all the rugged Paths to tread,
 Where WILLIAM and his Virtue lead.

III.

‡ Silence is the Soul of War ;
 Delib'rate Counsel must prepare
 The mighty Work, which Valour must complete :
 Thus WILLIAM rescues, thus preserves the State ;
 Thus teaches Us to think and dare ;
 As whilst his Cannon just prepar'd to breathe
 Avenging Anger, and swift Death ;

* *Vitamque sub dio, & trepidis agat
 In rebus.*

‡ *Est & fidei tuta silentio
 Merces ; &c.*

32 P O E M S on several Occasions.

In the try'd Metal the close Dangers glow,
 And now, too late, the dying Foe
 Perceives the Flame, yet cannot ward the Blow ;
 So whilst in WILLIAM's Breast ripe Counfels lie,
 Secret and fure as brooding Fate,
 No more of his Defign appears,
 Than what awakens Gallia's Fears ;
 And (through Guilt's Eye can sharply penetrate)
 Distracted Lewis can descry
 Only a long unmeasur'd Ruin nigh.

IV.

On Norman Coasts, and Banks of frighted Seins,
 Lo! the impending Storms begin :
Britannia safely through her Master's Sea
 Ploughs up her victorious Way.
 The French SALMONEUS throws his Bolts in vain,
 Whilst the true Thunderer asserts the Main :
 'Tis done ! to Shelves and Rocks his Fleets retire,
 Swift Victory in 'vengeful Flames
 Burns down the Pride of their presumptuous Names :
 They run to Shipwrack to avoid our Fire,
 And the torn Vessels that regain their Coast
 Are but sad Marks to shew the rest are lost :
 All this the mild, the beauteous Queen has done,
 And WILLIAM's softer-Half shakes Lewis' Throne.
MARIA does the Sea command,
 Whilst Gallia flies her Husband's Arm by Land.
 So, the Sun absent, with full Sway the Moon
 Governs the Isles and rules the Waves alone ;
 So Juno thunders when her Jove is gone.
 Io Britannia ! loose thy Ocean's Chains,
 Whilst Ruffel strikes the Blow thy Queen ordains :

Thus

Thus rescu'd, thus rever'd, for ever stand,
 And blest the Counsel, and reward the Hand,
Is Britannia! thy MARIA reigns.

V.

From MARY's Conquests, and the rescu'd Main,*
 Let France look forth to Sambre's armed Shore,
 And boast her Joy for WILLIAM's Death no more.
 He lives, let France confess, the Victor lives :
 Her Triumphs for his Death were vain,
 And spoke her Terror of his Life too plain.
 The mighty Years begin, the Day draws nigh,
 In which that ONE † of Lewis' MANY Wives,
 Who' by the baleful Force of guilty Charms,
 Has long enthral'd him in her wither'd Arms,
 Shall o'er the Plains from distant Tow'rs on high
 Cast around her mournful Eye,

And with prophetick Sorrow cry :
 Why does my ruin'd Lord retard his Flight ?
 Why does Despair provoke his Age to fight ?
 As well the Wolf may venture to engage
 The angry Lion's gen'rous Rage ?
 The rav'nous Vulture, and the Bird of Night,
 As safely tempt the stooping Eagle's Flight,

*——— Illum ex mœnibus hosticis.

Matrona bellantis tyranni
Prospiciens, & adulta virgo,
Suspiret : Eheu ! ne rudis agminum
Sponsus laceffat regius asperum
Tactu leonem, quem cruenta
Per medias rapit Ira Cœdes.

† Madam Maintenon.

As Lewis to unequal Arms defy
 Yon' Hero, crown'd with blooming Victory,
 Just triumphing o'er Rebel-Rage restrain'd,
 And yet unbreath'd from Battles gain'd.
 See! all yon' dusty Fields quite cover'd o'er
 With hostile Troops, and ORANGE, at their Head;
ORANGE, destin'd to complete
 The great Designs of labouring Fate;
ORANGE, the Name that Tyrants dread:
 He comes, our ruin'd Empire is no more;
 Down, like the Persian, goes the Gallic Throne,
Darius flies, Young Ammon urges on.

VI.

Now from the dubious Battle's mingled Heat,
 Let Fear look back, and stretch her hasty Wing,*
 Impatient to secure a base Retreat:
 Let the pale Coward leave his wounded King,
 For the vile Privilege to breathe,
 To live with Shame in Dread of glorious Death!
 In vain: for Fate has swifter Wings than Fear;
 She follows hard, and strikes him in the Rear;
 Dying and mad the Traitor bites the Ground,
 His Back transfix'd with a dishonest Wound;
 Whilst through the fiercest Troops, and thickest Press,
 Virtue carries on Success;
 Whilst equal Heav'n guards the distinguish'd Brave,
 And Armies cannot hurt whom Angels save.

* Dulce & decorum est pro patria mori.
Mors & fugacem persequiter Virum,
Nec parcat imbellis juventæ
Poplitibus, timidoque tergo.

VII.

Virtue to Verse immortal Lustre gives,
 Each by the other's mutual Friendship lives ;
Aeneas suffer'd, and Achilles fought,
 The Hero's Acts enlarg'd the Poet's Thought,
 Or Virgil's Majesty, and Homer's Rage
 Had ne'er like lasting Nature vanquish'd Age ;
 Whilst Lewis then his rising Terror drowns
 With Drums Alarms and Trumpets Sounds ;
 Whilst hid in arm'd Retreats and guarded Towns,
 From Danger as from Honour far,
 He bribes close Murder against open War.
 In vain you Gallic Muses strive
 With labour'd Verse to keep his Fame alive ;
 Your mould'ring Monuments in vain you raise
 On the weak Basis of the Tyrant's Praise :
 Your Songs are sold, your Numbers are profane,
 'Tis Incense to an Idol given,
 Meat offer'd to Prometheus' Man
 That had no Soul from Heav'n.
 Against his Will you chain your frightened King
 On rapid Rhine's divided Bed ;
 And mock your Hero, whilst ye sing
 The Wounds for which he never bled ;
 Falshood does Poison on your Praise diffuse,
 And Lewis' Fear gives Death to Baileau's Muse.

VIII.

On its own Worth true Majesty is rear'd,*
 And Virtue is her own Reward,
 With solid Beams and native Glory bright,
 She neither Darkneſs dreads, nor covets Light ;
 True to Herſelf, and fix'd to in-born Laws,
 Nor ſunk by Spite, nor lifted by Applauſe,
 She from her ſettled Orb looks calmly down
 On Life or Death, a Priſon or a Crown.
 When bound in double Chains poor Belgia lay,
 To foreign Arms and inward Strife a Prey.
 Whilſt one good Man buoy'd up her ſinking State,
 A Virtue labour'd againſt Fate ;
 When Fortune baſely with Ambition join'd,
 And all was conquer'd but the Patriot's Mind ;
 When Storms let looſe, and raging Seas,
 Juſt ready the torn Veſſel to o'erwhelm,
 Force'd not the faithful Pilot from his Helm,
 Nor all the Siren Songs of future Peace,
 And dazzling Proſpect of a promis'd Crown,
 Could lure his ſtubborn Virtue down ;
 But againſt Charms, and Threats, and Hell, he ſtood
 To that which was ſeverely good,
 Then, had no Trophies juſtify'd his Fame,
 No Poet bleſs'd his Song with NASSAU's Name,
 Virtue alone did all that Honour bring,
 And Heav'n as plainly pointed out The King,

* *Virtus, repulſæ neſcia ſordidæ,
 Intaminatis fulget honoribus ;
 Nec ſumit aut ponit ſecures
 Arbitrio popularis auræ.*

As when he at the Altar stood
 In all his Types and Robes of Pow'r,
 Whilst at his Feet religious Britain bow'd,
 And own'd him next to what we there adore.

IX.

Say, joyful Maeze,, and Boyne's victorious Flood,
 (For each has mix'd his Waves with Royal Blood)
 When WILLIAM's Armies past, did he retire,
 Or view from far the Battle's distant Fire?
 Cou'd he believe his Person was too dear?
 Or use his Greatness to conceal his Fear?
 Cou'd Pray'rs or Sighs the dauntless Hero move?
 Arm'd with Heav'n's Justice and his People's Love,
 Thro' the first Waves he wing'd his vent'rous Way,
 And on the adverse Shore arose,
 ('Ten thousand flying Deaths in vain oppose)
 Like the great Ruler of the Day,
 With Strength and Swiftnefs mounting from the Sea;
 Like Him all Day he toil'd but long in Night
 The God has eas'd his weary'd Light,
 'E're Vengeance left the stubborn Foes,
 Or WILLIAM's Labours found Repose;
 When his Troops falter'd, stept not He between?
 Restor'd the dubious Fight again;
 Mark'd out the Coward that durst fly,
 And led the fainting Brave to Victory?
 Still as she fled him, did he not o'ertake
 Her doubtful Course, and brought her bleeding back;
 By his keen Sword did not the Boldest fall?
 Was he not King, Commander, Soldier All——
 His Dangers such as with becoming Dread
 His Subjects yet unborn shall weep to read;

And

38 P O E M S on several Occasions.

And were not those the only Days that e'er
The Pious Prince refus'd to hear
His Friends Advices, or his Subjects Pray'r.

X.

Where'er old Rhine his fruitful Water turns,
Or fills his Vassals Tributary Urns ;
To Belgia's save'd Dominions, and the Sea,
Whose righted Waves rejoice in WILLIAM's Sway,
Is there a Town where Children are not Taught.
Here Holland Prosper'd, for Here ORANGE Fought ;
Through rapid Waters, and through flying Fire,
Here rush'd the Prince, Here made whole France retire---
By diff'rent Nations be his Valour blest,

In diff'rent Languages confest,

And then let Shannon speak the rest :

Let Shannon speak, how on her wond'ring Shore,
When Conquest hov'ring on his Arms did wait,
And only ask'd some Lives to bribe her o'er ;
The God-like Man, the more than Conqueror,
With high Contempt sent back the specious Bait :
And scorning Glory at a Price too great,
With so much Pow'r such Piety did join,
As made a perfect Virtue soar

A Pitch unknown to Man before,
And lifted Shannon's Waves o'er those of Boyne.

XI.

Nor do his Subjects only Share
The prosp'rous Fruits of his indulgent Reign ;
His Enemies approve the pious War,
Which, with their Weapon, takes away their Chain :
More,

More than his Sword his Goodness strikes his Foes ;
 They bless his Arms, and fight they must oppose.
 Justice and Freedom on his Conquests wait,
 And 'tis for Man's Delight that he is Great :
 Succeeding Times shall with long Joy contend,
 If he were more a Victor or a Friend :
 So much his Courage and his Mercy strive,
 He Wounds to Cure, and Conquers to Forgive.

XII.

Ye Heroes, who have fought your Country's Cause,
 Redress'd her Injuries, or form'd her Laws,
 To my advent'rous Song just Witness bear,
 Assist the pious Muse, and hear her swear,
 That 'tis no Poet's Thought, no Flight of Youth,
 But solid Story, and severest Truth,
 That WILLIAM treasures up a greater Name,
 Than any Country, any Age can boast :
 * And all that Ancient Stock of Fame
 He did from his Fore-fathers take,
 He has improv'd, and gives with Int'rest back ;
 And in his Constellation does unite
 Their scatter'd Rays of fainter Light :
 Above or Envy's Lash or Fortune's Wheel,
 That settled Glory shall for ever dwell
 Above the rolling Orbs and common Sky,
 Where nothing comes that e'er shall die.

* *Virtus, recludens immeritis mori
 Cælum, negata tentat iter via ;
 Cætusque vulgares & udam
 Spernit humum, fugiente penna.*

Where

XIII.

Where roves the Muse? where, thoughtless to return,
 Is her short-life'd Vessel borne,
 By potent Winds too subject to be tost,
 And in the Sea of WILLIAM's Praises lost?
 Not let her tempt that Deep, nor make the Shore
 Where our abandon'd Youth she sees
 Shipwreck'd in Luxury, and lost in Ease;
 Whom nor Britannia's Danger can alarm,
 Nor WILLIAM's exemplary Virtue warm:
 Tell 'em, howe'er, the King can yet forgive
 Their guilty Sloth, their Homage yet receive,
 And let their wounded Honour live:
 But sure and sudden be their just Remorse;
 Swift be their Virtue's Rise, and strong its Course: *
 For though for certain Years and destin'd Times
 Merit has lain confus'd with Crimes;
 Though Jove seem'd negligent of human Cares,
 Nor scourg'd our Follies, nor return'd our Pray'rs,
 His Justice now demands the equal Scales,
 Sedition is suppress'd, and Truth prevails:
 Fate its great End by slow Degrees attains,
 And Europe is redeem'd, and WILLIAM Reigns.

VERSES Spoke to the LADY
Henrietta-Cavendish-Holles Harley,

COUNTESS of OXFORD,

In the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge
November IX, 1719.

MADAM,

SINCE ANNA visited the Muses-Seat,
(Around her Tomb let weeping Angels wait)
Hail THOU, the Brightest of thy Sex, and Best,
Most gracious Neighbour,* and most welcome Guest.
Not HARLEY's Self, to Cam and Isis dear,
In Virtues and in Arts great OXFORD's Heir,
Not HE such present Honour, shall receive,
As to his CONSORT We aspire to give.

Writings of Men our Thoughts to-day neglects,
To pay due Homage to the Softer-Sex :
Plato and Tully we forbear to read,
Aud their great Foll'wers whom this House has bred,
To study Lessons from Thy Morals given,
And shining Characters, impress'd by Heaven.
Science in Books no longer we pursue,
Minerva's Self in HARRIET's Face we view ;
For when with Beauty we can Virtue join,
We paint the Semblance of a Form Divine.

Their pious Incense let our Neighbours bring,
To the kind Mem'ry of some bounteous King.

* The Seat of this noble Family was then at Wimpole in Cambridgeshire.

With

With grateful Hand, due Altars let them raise,
 To some good Knights's or holy Prelate's Praise; *
 We tune our Voices to a nobler Theme,
 Your Eyes we bless, your Praises we proclaim,
 Saint John's was founded in a WOMAN'S Name.
 Enjoin'd by Statute, to the Fair We bow;
 In Spite of Time, We keep our ancient Vow;
 What Margaret Tudor was, is Harriet Harley now,

PROLOGUE to the ORPHAN,

Represented by some of the Westminster
 Scholars, at Hickford's Dancing-Room in Panton-Street, near Leicester-Fields, the Second of February, 1720.

Spoken by the Lord DUPLIN, who acted
CORDELIO.†

WHAT! wou'd my humble Comrades have me say,
 Gentle Spectators, pray excuse the Play?
 Such Work by Hireling Actors shou'd be done,
 Whom you may Clap or Hiss for half a Crown:
 Our gen'rous Scenes for Friendship We repeat;
 And if we don't Delight; at least we Treat.
 Our's is the Damage; if We chance to blunder,
 We may be ask'd whose PATENT We act under?

* Sir Thomas White was the Founder of St. John's College, Oxon; and their greatest Benefactor, next to Him, was Archbishop Laud.

How shall we gain you Alomode de France ?
 We hire'd this Room ; but none of Us can dance ;
 In cutting Capers We shall never please :
 Our Learning does not lie below our Knees.

Shall We procure You Symphony and Sound ?
 Then You must each subscribe Two hundred Pound ;
 There We shou'd fail too, as to Point of Voice :
 Mistake Us not ; We're no ITALIAN Boys :
 True BRITONS born ; from Westminster We come ;
 And only speak the Style of ancient ROME.
 We wou'd deserve, not poorly beg Applause ;
 And stand or fall by Friend's and Busby's Laws.

For the Distress'd Your Pity We implore :
 If once refus'd, We'll trouble You no more,
 But leave our Orphan squalling at your Door. }

The CONVERSATION.

A T A L E.

I T always has been thought discreet,
 To know the Company You meet ;
 And sure there may be secret Danger,
 In talking much before a Stranger.

Agreed: What then? Then drink your Ale.
 I'll pledge You, and repeat my Tale.

No Matter where the Scene is fixt :
 The Persons were but odly mixt ;
 When Sober DAMON thus began :
 (And DAMON is a clever Man)
 I now grow Old ; but still, from Youth,
 Have held for Modesty and Truth.
 The Men, who by these Sea-marks steer,
 In Life's great Voyage never err :
 Upon this Point I dare defy
 The World : I pause for a Reply.

Sir, Either is a good Assistant,
 Said One who sat a little distant ;
Truth decks our Speeches and our Books ;
 And Modesty adorns our Looks :
 But farther Progress we must take ;
 Not only born to Look and Speak,
 The Man must Act. The STAGYRITE
 Says thus, and says extremely right :
 Strict Justice is the Sov'reign Guide,
 That o'er our Actions shou'd preside :
 This Queen of Virtues is confest
 To regulate and bind the rest.
 Thrice happy, if you can but find
 Her equal Balance poise your Mind :
 All diff'rent Graces soon will enter,
 Like Lines concurrent to their Centre.

'Twas thus, in short, these Two went on,
 With Yea and Nay, and Pro and Con,
 Thro' many Points divinely dark,
 And WATERLAND assaulting CLARKE ;

'Till

'Till, in Theology half lost,
 DAMON took up The Evening-Post ;
 Confounded SPAIN, compose'd the NORTH,
 And deep in Politicks held forth.

Methinks we're in the like Condition,
 As at the TREATY of PARTITION :
 That Stroke, for all King WILLIAM's Care,
 Begat another tedious War.

MATTHEW, who knew the whole Intrigue,
 Ne'er much approve'd that Mystic League :
 In the vile UTRECHT TREATY too,
 Poor Man he found enough to do.
 Sometimes to me he did apply ;
 But down-right Dunstable was I,
 And told him where they were mistaken,
 And counsel'd him to save his Bacon :
 But (pass his Politicks and Prose)
 I never herded with his Foes ;
 Nay, in his Verses, as a Friend,
 I still found Something to commend :
 Sir, I excus'd his NUT-BROWN-MAID ;
 Whate'er severer Criticks said :
 Too far, I own, the Girl was try'd :
 The Women All were on my Side.
 For ALMA I return'd him Thanks ;
 I like'd her with her little Pranks :
 Indeed, poor SOLOMON in Rhime
 Was much too Grave to be Sublime.

PINDAR and DAMON scorn Transition,
 So on he ran a new Division ;
 Till out of Breath he turn'd to spit :
 (Chance often helps us more than Wit)

T'other that lucky Moment took,
Just nick'd the Time broke in, and spoke.

Of all the Gifts the Gods afford,
(If we may take old TULLY's Word)
The greatest is a Friend; whose Love
Knows how to Praise, and when Reprove:
From such a Treasure never part,
But hang the Jewel on your Heart:
And, pray, Sir (it delights me) tell;
You know this Author mighty well——
Know him! d'ye question it? Ods fish!
Sir, does a Beggar know his Dish?
I love'd him, as I told you, I
*Advise'd him——*Here a Stander-by
Twitch'd DAMON gently by the Cloke,
And thus, unwilling, Silence broke;
DAMON, 'tis time we shou'd retire:
The Man you talk with is MAT. PRIOR.

PATRON thro' Life, and from thy Birth my Friend,
DORSET, to Thee, this Fable let me send:
With DAMON's Lightness weigh thy solid Worth:
The Foil is known to set the Diamond forth:
Let the feign'd Tale this real Moral give,
How many DAMONS, how few DORSETS live.

COLIN's Mistakes.

Written in Imitation of SPENSER's Style.

Me ludit Amabilis

Insania.

HOR.

I.

FAST by the Banks of Cam was Colin bred :
(Ye Nymphs for ever guard that sacred Stream ;)
To Wimpole's woody Shade his Way he sped :
(Flourish those Woods, the Muses endless Theme.)
As whilom Colin antient Books had read.

Lays Greek and Roman wou'd he oft rehearse ;
And much he love'd, and much by Heart he said,
What Father Spenser sung in British Verse.

Who reads that Bard, desires like him to write ;
Still fearful of Success, still tempted by Delight.

II.

Soon as Aurora had unbarr'd the Morn,
And Light discover'd Nature's chearful Face,
The sounding Clarion and the sprightly Horn
Call'd the blythe Huntsman to the distant Chace.
Eftsoons they issue forth, a goodly Band ;
The deep-mouth'd Hounds with Thunder rend the Air,
The fiery Courses strike the rising Sand ;

Far thro' the Thicket flies the frightened Deer ;
Harley the Honour of the Day supports ;
His Presence glads the Woods, his Orders guide the Sports.

III.

On a fair Palfrey well equip'd did sit
 An Amazonian Dame ; a scarlet Vest,
 For active Horsemanship adaptly fit,
 Inclos'd her dainty Limbs , a plumed Crest
 Wave'd o'er her Head ; obedient by her Side
 Her Friends and Servants rode ; with artful Hand
 Full well knew she the Steed to turn and guide :
 The willing Steed receiv'd her soft Command :
 Courage and Sweetness on her Face were seated ;
 On her all Eyes were bent, and all good Wishes waited.

IV.

This seeing, Colin thus his Muse bespake :
 For alltydes was the Muse to Colin nigh,
 Ah me to nigh ! Or, Clio, I mistake,
 Or that bright Form that pleaseth so mine Eye,
 Is Jove's fair Daughter Pallas, gracious Queen
 Of lib'ral Arts ; with Wonder and Delight
 In Homer's Verse we read her ; well I ween,
 That em'lous of his Grecian Master's Flight,
 Dan Spenser makes the fav'rite Goddess known,
 When in her graceful Look fair Britomart is shown.

V.

At Noon as Colin to the Castle came,
 Ope'd were the Gates, and right prepare'd the Feast ;
 Appears at Table rich yclad a Dame,
 The Lord's Delight, the Wonder of the Guest ;
 With Pearl and Jewels was she sumptuous deck,
 As well became her Dignity and Place ;
 But the Beholders mought her Gems neglect,
 To fix their Eyes on her more lovely Face,
 Serene with Glory, and with Softness bright :
 O Beauty sent from Heav'n, to cheer the mortal Sight !
 Lib'ral

VI.

Lib'ral Munificense behind her stood ;
 And decent State obey'd her high Command ;
 And Charity diffuse of native Good
 At once portrays her Mind, and guides her Hand,
 As to each Guest some Fruits she deign'd to list
 And Silence with obliging Parley broke,
 How gracious seem'd to each th' imparted Gift !
 But how more gracious what the Giver spoke !
 Such Ease, such Freedom did her Deed attend,
 That ev'ry Guest rejoic'd, exalted to a Friend.

VII.

Quoth Colin ; Clio, if my feeble Sense
 Can well distinguish yon illustrious Dame,
 Who nobly doth such gentle Gifts dispense,
 In Latian Numbers Juno is her Name ;
 Great Goddess, who, with Peace and Plenty crown'd,
 To all that under Sky breath vital Air
 Diffuseth Bliss and through the World around
 Pours wealthy Ease, and scatters joyous Cheer ;
 Certes of her in semblant Guise I read,
 Where Spenser decks his Lays with Gloriana's Deed.

VIII.

As Colin muse'd at Ev'ning near the Wood,
 A Nymph undress'd, besee meth, by him past ;
 Down to her Feet her silken Garment flow'd,
 A Ribbon bound and shape'd her slender Waist ;
 A Veil, dependent from her comely Head,
 And beauteous Plenty of ambrosial Hair,
 O'er her fair Brest and lovely Shoulders spread,
 Behind fell loose, and wanton'd with the Air.
 The smiling Zephyrs call'd their am'rous Brothers :
 They kiss's the waving Lawn, and wafted it to other.

IX.

Daifies and Violets rose where'er she trod,
 As Flora kind her Roots and Buds had forted:
 And led by Hymen, Wedlock's mystic God,
 Ten Thousand Loves around the Nymph disported:
 Quoth Colin; Now I ken the Goddess bright,
 Whom Poets sing: All human Hearts enthral'd
 Obey her Pow'r; her Kindness the Delight
 Of Gods and men; great Venus she is call'd,
 When Mantuan VIRGIL doth her Charms rehearse;
Belphebe is her Name, in gentle Edmund's Verse.

X.

Heard this the Muse, and with a Smile reply'd,
 Which shew'd soft Anger mix'd with friendly Love:
 Twin Sisters still were Ignorance and Pride;
 Can we know Right, 'till Error we remove?
 But, Colin, well I wist, will never learn;
 Who flights his Guide shall deviate from his Way:
 Me to have ask'd what thou cou'dst not discern,
 To Thee pertain'd; to Me the Thing to say.
 What Heav'nly Will from Human Eye conceals,
 How can the Bard aread, unless the Muse reveals?

XI.

Nor Pallas Thou, nor Britomart hast seen;
 When soon at Morn the flying Dear was chace'd:
 Nor Jove's great Wife, nor Spenser's Fairy Queen,
 At Noontide dealt the Honours of the Feast:
 Nor Venus, nor Belphebe didst thou spy,
 The Evenings Glory, and the Grove's Delight,
 Henceforth, if ask'd, instructed right, reply,
 That all the Day to knowing Mortals Sight
 Bright Ca'ndish-Holles-Harley stood confest,
 As various Hour advis'd, in various Habit drest.

W IESSEN and Nature held a long Contest,
 If She created, or He painted best ;
 With pleasing Thought the wond'rous Combat grew
She, still-form'd fairer ; He, still liker drew.

In these Sev'n Brethren, they contended last,
 With Art increas'd, their utmost Skill they try'd,
 And Both well pleas'd, they had Themselves surpass'd,
 The Goddess triumph'd, and the Painter dy'd.
 That Both, their Skill to this vast Height did raise,
 Be Our's the Wonder, and be Your's the Praise :
 For here, as in some Glas, is well descry'd
 Only your self thus often multiply'd.
 When Heav'n had You and Gracious *Anna made,
 What more exalted Beauty cou'd it add ?
 Having no nobler Images in Store,
 It but kept up to these, nor cou'd do more
 Than copy well what it had fram'd before.

DAPHNE.

Then leaving me, whom sure you wou'd n't kill,
In yonder Thicket exercise your Skill,
Shoot there at Beasts; but for the human Heart
Your Cousin Cupid has the only Dart.

APOLLO.

Yet turn, O beauteous Maid, yet deign to hear
A love-sick Deity's impetuous Pray'r ;
O let me woo thee as thou wou'd'it be woo'd

DAPHNE.

First, therefore, don't be so extremely rude ;
Don't tear the Hedges down, and tread the Clover,
Like an Hobgoblin rather than a Lover :
Next to My Father's Grotto sometimes come,
At Ebbing-tide he always is at home.
Read the Courant with him, and let him know
A little Politicks, how Matters go
Upon his Brothers-Rivers Rhine or Po.

As

As any Maid or Footman comes or goes,
 Pull off your Hat, and ask how Daphne does :
 These sort of Folks will to each other tell
 That you respect me ; That, you know, looks well :
 Then if you are, as you pretend, the God
 That rules the Day, and much upon the Road,
 You'll find a hundred Triflies in your Way,
 That you may bring one home from Africa ;
 Some little Rarity, some Bird, or Beast,
 And now and then a Jewel from the East ;
 A lacquer'd Cabinet, some China-ware,
 You have 'em might cheap at Pekin Fair.
 Next, nota bene, you shall never rove,
 Nor take Example by your Father Jove.
 Last, for the Ease and Comfort of my Life,
 Make me your (lord ! what startles you ?) your Wife :
 I'm now (they say) sixteen, or something more
 We Mortals seldom live above fourscore :
 Fourscore ; you're good at Numbers, let us see,
 Seventeen suppose, remaining sixty-three ;
 Aye, in that Span of Time, you'll bury me. }
 Mean time if you have Tumult, Noise, and Strife,
 ('Things not abhorrent to a marry'd Life)
 They'll quickly end you see ; what signify
 A few odd Years to you that never die ?
 And after all you're half your Time away,
 You know your Bus'ness takes you up all Day ;
 And coming late to Bed you need not fear,
 Whatever Noise I make, you'll sleep, my Dear :
 Or if a Winter-Evening shou'd be long,
 E'en read your Physic Book, or make a Song.
 Your Steeds, your Wife, Diachalon, and Rime,
 May take up any honest Godhead's Time.

Thus

62 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Thus, as you like it, you may love again,
And let another Daphne have her Reign.

Now love, or leave, my Dear ; retreat, or follow :
I Daphne (this premis'd) take thee Apollo ;
And may I split into ten thousand Trees,
If I give up, on other Terms then these.

She said ; but what the am'rous God reply'd,
So Fate ordain'd, is to our Search deny'd ;
By Rats, alas ! the Manuscript is eat,
O cruel Banquet which we all regret :
Bavius, thy Labours must this Work restore ;
May thy Good-will be equal to thy Pow'r.

On Part of the LXXXVIIIth Psalm.

A COLLEGE EXERCISE, 1690.

L

H Eavy, O Lord, on me thy Judgments lie ;
Accurst I am, while God rejects my Cry.
O'erwhelm'd in Darkness and Despair I groan,
And ev'ry Place is Hell, for God is gone.
O Lord, arise, and let thy Beams controul
Those horrid Clouds that press my frighted Soul :
Save the poor Wand'rer from eternal Night,
Thou that art the God of Light.

Downward

II

Downward I hasten to my destin'd Place ;
 There none obtain thy Aid, or sing thy Praise.
 Soon shall I lie in Death's deep Ocean drown'd :
 Is Mercy there, or sweet Forgiveness found ?
 O save me yet, whilst on the Brink I stand ;
 Rebuke the Storm, and waft my Soul to Land.
 O let her rest beneath thy Wing secure,
 Thou that art the God of Pow'r.

III.

Behold the Prodigal ! to thee I come,
 To hail my Father, and to seek my Home.
 Nor Refuge cou'd I find, nor Friend abroad,
 Straying in Vice, and destitute of God.
 O let thy Terrors and my Anguish end !
 Be thou my Refuge, and be thou my Friend :
 Receive the Son thou did'st so long reprove,
 Thou that art the God of Love.

Taking of NAMUR, 1695.

THE Town which LEWIS bought, NASSAU reclaims,
 And brings instead of Bribes avenging Flames,
 Now LEWIS take thy Titles from ABOVE
 BOILEAU shall sing, and we'll believe thee JOVE.
 JOVE gain'd his Mistress with alluring Gold,
 But JOVE like THEE, was impotent and old.
 Active and young he did like WILLIAM stand,
 And stun'd the DAME, his THUNDER in his HAND.

PROLOGUE Spoken by Lord
Buckhurst, in Westminster-School, at Christmas, 1695, in the Character of CLEONIDAS, in Mr.
Dryden's CLEOMENES.

PISH, Lord, I wish this PROLOGUE was but Greek,
 Then young Cleonidas wou'd boldly speak :
 But can Lord Buckhurst in poor English say,
 " Gentle Spectators pray excuse the Play? " *
 No, witness all ye Gods of ancient Greece,
 Rather than condescend to Terms like these,
 I'd go to School six Hours on CHRISTMAS-DAY,
 Or construe Persius while my Comrades play.
 Such Work by hireling Actors shou'd be done,
 Who tremble when they see a Critick frown.
 Poor Rogues, that smart like Fencers for their Bread,
 And if they are not wounded, are not fed.
 But, Sirs, our Labour has more noble Ends,
 We act our TRAGEDY to see our FRIENDS :
 Our gen'rous Scenes are for pure Love repeated,
 And if you are not pleas'd, at least you're treated.
 The Candles and the Cloath ourselves we bought,
 Our TOPS neglected, and our BALLS forgot.

* Mr. Prior made use of a few Lines in this Prologue, in One made for Lord Duplin, who acted the Page in the ORPHAN, 1720.

To learn our Parts we left our Midnight Bed,
 Most of you snor'd whilst CLEOMENES read :
 Not that from this Confession we would sue
 Praise undeserv'd ; we know ourselves and you :
 Resolv'd to stand or perish by our Cause,
 We neither Censure fear, or beg Applause, }
 For these are WESTMINSTER and SPARTA'S LAWS. }
 Yet if we see some Judgment well inclin'd,
 To young Desert and growing Virtue kind,
 That Critick by ten Thousand Marks should know,
 That greatest Souls to Goodness only bow ;
 And that your little HERO does inherit
 Not CLEOMENES more than DORSET'S Spirit.

The SECRETARY.

Written at the HAGUE, 1696.

WHILE with Labour affid'ous due Pleasure I mix,
 And in one Day atone for the Bus'ness of Six
 In a little Dutch Chaise on a Saturday Night,
 On my Left-hand my Horace, a *W on my Right ;
 No Memoirs to compose, and no Post-Boy to move,
 That on Sunday may hinder the Softness of Love ;
 For her, neither Visits, nor Parties at Tea,
 Nor the long-winded Cant of a dull Refugée.
 This Night and the next shall be her's, shall be mine,
 To good or ill Fortune the third we resign :
 Thus scorning the World, and superior to Fate,
 I drive on my Car in processional State ;

So with PHIA thro' Athens PYSISTRATUS rode,
 Men thought her MINERVA, and him a new GOD.
 But why shou'd I Stories of Athens rehearse,
 Where People knew Love, and were partial to Verse;
 Since none can with Justice my Pleasures oppose,
 In Holland half drown'd in Inter'ft and Prose?
 By Greece and past Ages, what need I be try'd,
 When the Hague and the present are both on my Side?
 And is it enough for the Joys of the Day,
 To think what ANACREON or SAPPHO wou'd say?
 When good Vandergoes, and his provident Vrow,
 As they gaze on my Triumph, do freely allow,
 That search all the province, you'll find no Man dar is,
 So blest as the Englisben Heer Secretar' is.

My Pen amongst the rest I took,
Left those bright Eyes that cannot read
Shou'd dart their kindling Fires, and look,
The Power they have to be obey'd.

Nor Quality, nor Reputation,
Forbid me yet my Flame to tell,
Dear Five Years old befriends my Passion,
And I may write till she can spell.

IV.

For while she makes her Silk-Worms Beds,
With all the tender Things I swear,
Whilst all the House my Passion reads,
In Papers round her Baby's Hair.

V.

She may receive and own my Flame,
For tho' the strickest Prudes shou'd know it,
She'll pass for a most virtuous Dame,
And I for an unhappy Poet.

Then too, alas! when she shall tear
The Lines some younger Rival sends,
She'll give me Leave to write, I fear,
And we shall still continue Friends.

For as our diff'rent Ages move,
 'Tis so ordain'd, wou'd Fate but mend it,
 That I shall be past making Love
 When she begins to comprehend it.

The M I C E.

To Mr. ADRIAN DRIFT,

TWO MICE (dear Boy) of genteel Fashion,
 And (what is more) good Education,
 Frolick and gay, in Infant Years,
 Equally share'd their Parents Cares.
 The Sire of these two Babes (poor Creature)
 Paid his last Debt to human Nature ;
 A wealthy Widow left behind,
 Four Babes, three Male, one Female kind.
 The Sire being under ground, and bury'd,
 'Twas thought his Spouse wou'd soon have marry'd ;
 Matches propose'd, and num'rous Suitors,
 Most tender Husbands, careful Tutors,
 She modestly refuse'd ; and show'd
 She'd be a Mother to her Brood.

Mother, dear Mother, that endearing Thought,
 Has thousand, and ten Thousand, Fancies brought ;
 Tell me, Oh ! tell me (thou art now above)
 How to describe thy true maternal Love,
 Thy early Pangs, thy growing anxious Cares,
 Thy flatt'ring Hopes, thy fervent pious Pray'rs,
 Thy doleful Days, and melancholy Nights,
 Cloyster'd from common Joys and just Delights :
 How didst thou constantly in private mourn,
 And wash with daily Tears thy Spouse's Urn !

70 P O E M S on several Occasions

How it employ'd your Thoughts, and lucid Time,
 That your young Offspring might to Honour climb ;
 How your first Care, by num'rous Griefs oppress'd,
 Under the Burden sunk, and went to rest ;
 How your dear Darling, by Consumption's Waste,
 Breathe'd her last Piety into your Breast ;
 How you, alas ! tir'd with your Pilgrimage,
 Bow'd down your Head, and dy'd in good old Age.
 Tho' not inspir'd, Oh ! may I never be
 Forgetful of my Pedigree, or thee ;
 Ungrateful howsoe'er, mayn't I forget
 To pay this small yet tributary Debt ;
 And when we meet at God's Tribunal Throne,
 Own me, I pray thee for a pious Son.

But why all this ? is this your Fable ?
 Beleive me MATT, it seems a Babble ;
 If you will let me know th' Intent on't.
 Go to your MICE, and make an End on't.

Well then, dear Brother,——
 As sure as HUDI's* Sword cou'd swaddle,
 Two MICE were brought up in one Cradle ;
 Well bred, I think, of equal Port,
 One for the Gown, one for the Court :
 They parted, (did they so an't please you)
 Yes, that they did (dear Sir) to ease you ;
 One went to Holland, where they huff folk,
 T'other to vent his Wares in Suffolk.
 (That MICE have travel'd in old Times,
 HORACE and PRIOR tell in Rimes,
 Those two great Wonders of their Ages,
 Superior far to all the Sages.)

* HUDIBRAS.

Many

Many Days past, and many a Night,
 'E're they cou'd gain each other's Sight;
 At last in Weather cold, nor sultry,
 They met at the Three-Cranes in Poultry.
 After much Buss, and great Grimace,
 (Usual you know in such a Case)
 Much Chat arose, what had been done,
 What might before next Summer's Sun;
 Much said of France, of Suffolk's Goodness,
 The Gentry's Loyalty, Mob's Rudeness.
 That ended; o'er a charming Bottle
 They enter'd on this Tittle Tattle.

Quoth Suffolk, by Preheminance
 In Years, tho' (God knows) not in Sense;
 All's gone, dear Brother, only we Remain to raise Posterity;
 Marry you, Brother; I'll go down,
 Sell Nouns and Verbs, and lie alone,
 May you ne'er meet with Feuds or Babble,
 May Olive-Branches crown your Table:
 Somewhat I'll save, and for this End,
 To prove a Brother and a Friend.
 What I propose is just, I swear it,
 Or may I perish by this Claret.
 The Dice are thrown, chuse this or that,
 ('Tis all alike to honest MATT)
 I'll take then the contrary Part,
 And propagate with all my Heart.
 After some Thought, some Portuguese,*
 Some Wine, the younger thus replies:

Fair are your Words, as fair your Carriage,
 Let me be free, drudge you in Marriage;

* Snuff.

72 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Get me a Boy call'd ADRIAN,
 Trust me, I'll do for't what I can.
 Home went well pleas'd the Suffolk Tony,
 Heart free from Care, as Purse from Money ;
 Resolving full to please his Taudy,
 He got a Spouse and jerk'd her Body ;
 At last when teeming Time was come,
 Out came her Burthen from her Womb ;
 It prov'd a lusty squalling Boy,
 (Doubtless the Dad's and Mammy's Joy)
 In short, to make Things square and even,
 ADRIAN he name'd was by DICK STEPHENS.
 MATT'S Debt thus paid, he now enlarges,
 And sends you in a Bill of Charges,
 A Cradle, Brother, and a Basket,
 (Granted as soon as e'er I ask'd it)
 A Coat not of the smallest Scantling,
 Frocks, Stockings, Shoes, to grace the Bantling,
 These too were sent, (or I'm no Drubber)
 Nay, add to these the fine Gum-rubber ;
 Yet these wo'nt do, send t'other Coat,
 For Faith, the first is n't worth a Groat,
 Dismally shrunk, as Herrings shotten,
 Suppos'd originally rotten.
 Pray let the next be each Way longer,
 Of Stuff more durable, and stronger ;
 Send it next Week, if you are able,
 By this Time, Sir, you know the Fable ;
 From this, and Letters of the same Make,
 You'll find what 'tis to have a Name-Sake.

Cold and hard Times, Sir, here, (believe it)
 I've lost my Curate too, and grieve it ;

At

At Easter, for what I can see,
 (A Time of Ease and Vacancy)
 If Things but alter, and not undone,
 I'll kiss your Hands and visit London :
 MOLLY sends greeting, so do I, Sir,
 Send a good Coat, that's all, good b'ye, Sir.

TWO RIDDLES, 1710.

SPHINX was a Monster that wou'd eat-
 Whatever Stranger she could get ;
 Unless his ready Wit disclos'd
 The subtle Riddle she propos'd.

OEDIPUS was resolv'd to go,
 And try what Strength of Parts wou'd do :
 Says Sphinx, on this depends your Fate ;
 Tell me what Animal is that
 Which has four Feet at Morning bright,
 Has two at Noon, and three at Night.
 'Tis MAN, said he, who, weak by Nature,
 At first creeps, like his Fellow-Creature,
 Upon all four ; as Years accrue,
 With sturdy Steps he walks on two ;
 In Age, at length, grows weak and sick,
 For his third Leg adops the Stick.

Now in your Turn, 'tis just methinks,
 You should resolve me, Madam Sphinx,
 What greater Stranger yet is he,
 Who has four Legs, then two then three;
 Then loses one, then gets two more,
 And runs away at last on four.

II.

He hated was by Rich and Poor,
For Reasons you shall hear ;
So ill he exercis'd his Pow'r,
That he himself did fear.

III.

Full proud and arrogant was he,
And covetous withall ;
The Guilty he would still set free,
But guiltless Men enthrall.

IV.

He with a haughty impious Nod
Would curse and dogmatize,
Not fearing either Man or God,
Gold he did idolize.

Which I'll unfold to you anon,
In low but faithful Rimes.

Against this peerless Peer,

You'll find them written there.

VIII.

Attend, and justly I'll recite
His Treasons to you all,
The Heads set in their native Light,
(And sigh poor Gabhny's Fall.)

IX.

That trait'rously he did abuse
The Pow'r in him repos'd,
And wickedly the same did use,
On all Mankind impos'd,

X.

That he, contrary to all Law,
An Oath did' frame and make,
Compelling the Militia
The illegal Oath to take.

XI.

Free-quarters for the Army too
He did exact and force,
On Protestants, his Love to show,
Than Papist us'd them worse.

* Sabbati 16 Die Decembris, 5 Gulielmi & Mariæ. 1693.

XII.

On all Provisions destin'd for
 The Camp at Limerich,
 He laid a Tax full hard and fore,
 Tho' many Men were sick.

XIII.

The Suttlers too he did ordain
 For Licenses should pay,
 Which they refus'd with just Disdain,
 And fled the Camp away.

XIV.

By which Provisions were so scant.
 That hundreds there did die,
 The Soldiers Food and Drink did want,
 Nor Famine cou'd they fly.

XV.

He so much lov'd his private Gain,
 He could not hear or see ;
 They might, or die, or might complain,
 Without Relief pardie.

XVI.

That above and against all Right,
 By Word of Mouth did he,
 In Council sitting, hellish Spite,
 The Farmer's Fate decree.

That

XVII.

That he, O! Ciel, without Trial,
Straitway shou'd hanged be ;
Tho' then the Courts were open all,
Yet NERO Judge would be.

XVIII.

No sooner said, but it was done,
The Borreau did his worst ;
Gaphny, alas! is dead and gone,
And left his Judge accurst.

XIX.

In this concise, despotic Way
Unhappy Gaphny fell,
Which did all honest Men affray,
As truly it might well.

XX.

Full two good hundred Pounds a Year,
This poor Man's real Estate,
He settled on his Fav'rite dear,
And Culliford can say't.

XXI.

Besides, he gave five hundred Pound
To Fielding his own Scribe,
Who was his Bail, one Friend he found,
He ow'd him to the Bribe.

XXII.

But for this horrid Murder vile
None did him prosecute ;
His old Friend helpt him o'er the Stile,
With Satan who dispute ?

XXIII.

With France, fair England's mortal Foe,
A Trade he carry'd on ;
Had any other done 't, I trow
To Tripes he had gone.

XXIV.

That he did likewise trait'rossly,
To bring his Ends to bear,
Enrich himself most knavishly ;
O Thief without compare !

XXV.

Vast Quantities of Stores did he
Embezzel and purlain ;
Of the King's Stores he kept a Key,
Converting them to coin.

XXVI.

The forfeited Estates also,
Both real and personal,
Did with the Stores together go,
Fierce Cerb'rus swallow'd all.

XXVII.

Mean while the Soldiers figh'd and fob'd,
For not one Soufe had they ;
His EXCELLENCE' had each Man fob'd,
For he had funk their Pay.

XXVIII.

Nero, without the leaft Disguife,
The Papifts at all times
Still favour'd, and their Robberies
Look'd on as trivial Crimes.

XXIX.

The Proteftants whom they did rob
During his Government,
Were forc'd with Patience, like good Job,
To rest themselves content.

XXX.

For he did basely them refuse
All legal Remedy ;
The Romans still well did use,
Still screen'd their Roguery.

XXXI.

Succinctly thus to you I've told
How this VICEROY did reign ;
And other Truths I shall unfold,
For Truth is always plain.

XXXII.

The best of Queens he hath revile'd,
Before and since her Death,
He, cruel and ungrateful, smile'd
When she resign'd her Breath.

XXXIII.

Forgetful of the Favours kind
She had on him bestow'd,
Like Lucifer, his ranc'rous Mind,
He lov'd nor Her nor God.

XXXIV.

But listen, Nero, lend thy Ears,
As still thou hast them on ;
Hear what Britannia says with Tears
Of Anna dead and gone.

 Her Mass and Toilet; Vespers, and the Play;
 Thus GOD and ASHTAROTH divide the Day:
 Constant she keeps her Ember-week and Lent,
 At Easter calls all Isr'el to her Tent:
 Loose without Baud, and pious without Zeal,
 She still repeats the Sins she wou'd conceal.
 Envy herself from SILVIA's Life must grant,
 An artful Woman makes a MODERN SAINT.

A SAILOR'S WIFE.

QUOTH RICHARD in Jest, looking wistly at NELLY, Methinks, Child, you seem something round in the Belly ;

NELL answer'd him snapishly, How can that be,
When my Husband has been more than two Years at Sea ?
Thy Husband ! quoth DICK, why that Matter was carry'd
Most secretly, NELL ; I ne'er thought thou wer't marry'd.

FATAL LOVE.

POOOR HALL caught his Death, standing under a
Spout,
Expecting till Mignight, when NAN wou'd come out ;
But fatal his Patience, as cruel the Dame,
And curst was the Weather that quench'd the Man's Flame.

Who e'er thou art, that reads these moral Lines,
Make Love at home, and go to Bed betimes.

The P A R A L L E L.

PROMETHEUS forming Mr. DAY,
 Carv'd something like a Man in Clay.
 The Mortal's Work might well miscarry ;
 He that does Heav'n and Earth controul,
 Has only Pow'r to form a Soul,
 His Hand is evident in HARRY.
 Since one is but a moving Clod,
 T'other the lively Form of God,
 'Squire WALLIS, you will scarce be able,
 To prove all Poetry but Fable.

A GREEK EPIGRAM Imitated.

WHEN hungry Wolves had trespass'd on the Fold,
 And the rob'd Shepherd his sad Story told ;
 " Call in ALCIDES, said a Crafty Priest,
 " Give him one Half, and he'll secure the rest."
 No, said the Shepherd, if the Fates decree,
 By ravaging my Flock to ruin me ;
 To their Commands I willingly resign,
 Pow't is their Character, and Patience mine ;
 Tho' troth, to me, there seems but little odds,
 Who prove the greatest Robbers, Wolves or Gods.

O N A

FART, let in the House of Commons.

R E A D E R, I was born, and cry'd ;
 I crack'd, I smelt, and so I dy'd.
 Like JYLIUS CÆSAR's was MY Death,
 Who in the Senate lost his Breath.
 Much alike entom'd does lie
 The noble ROMULUS and I:
 And when I dy'd, like FLORA fair,
 I left the Common-Wealth my Heir.

To a FRIEND on his NUPTIALS.

W H E N J O V E lay blest in his ALCMÆNA's Charms,
 Three Nights, in One, he prest her in his Arms;
 The Sun lay set, and conscious Nature strove
 To shade her GOD, and to prolong his Love.

From that auspicious Night ALCIDES came,
 What less cou'd rise from JOVE, and such a DAME ?

May this auspicious Night with that compare
 Nor less the Joys, nor less the rising Heir,
 He strong as JOVE, She like ALCMÆNA fair.

Husband and Wife.

H. O H! with what Woes am I opprest!

W. Be still you senseless Calf:

What if the Gods should make you blest?

H. Why then I'd sing and laugh;

But if they won't, I'll wail and cry.

W. You'll hardly laugh, before you die.

T O A

Y O U N G L A D Y,

Who was fond of FORTUNE-TELLING.

Y O U, MADAM, may with Safety go,

Decrees of Destiny to know;

For at your Birth kind Planets reign'd,

And certain Happiness ordain'd:

Such Charms as your's are only given

To chosen Favourites of Heaven.

But such is my uncertain State,

'Tis dangerous to try my Fate.

For I wou'd only know from Art,

The future Motions of your Heart,

And

And what predestinated Doom
 Attends my Love for Years to come ;
 No Secrets else, that Mortals learn,
 My Cares deserve, or Life concern ;
 But this will so important be,
 I dread to search the dark Decree :
 For while the smallest Hope remains,
 Faint Joys are mingled with my Pains.
 Vain distant Views my Fancy please,
 And give some intermitting Ease :
 But shou'd the Stars too plainly show
 That you have doom'd my endless Woe,
 No human Force, or Art, could bear
 The Torment of my wild Despair.

This Secret then I dare not know,
 And other Truths are uselefs now.
 What matters, if unblest in Love,
 How long or short my Life will prove ?
 To gratify what low Desire,
 Shou'd I with needless Haste inquire,
 How great, how wealthy, I shall be ?
 Oh ! what is Wealth or Pow'r to me !
 If I am happy, or undone,
 It must proceed from You alone.

CUPID in AMBUSH.

IT oft' to many has successful been
 Upon his Arm to let his Mistress lean,
 Or with her airy Fan to cool her Heat,
 Or gently squeeze her Knees, or press her Feet.
 All public Sports, to favour young Desire,
 With Opportunities like this conspire.
 Ev'n where his Skill the Gladiator shows,
 With human Blood where the Arena flows;
 There oftentimes Love's Quiver-bearing Boy
 Prepares his Bow, and Arrows to destroy:
 While the Spectator gazes on the Fight,
 And sees 'em wound each other with Delight;
 While he his pretty Mistress entertains,
 And wagers with her who the Conquest gains;
 Slily the GOD takes Aim and hits his Heart,
 And in the Wounds he sees he bears his Part.

Wandering Pilgrim.

Humbly address'd to Sir THOMAS FRANKLAND,
Bart. Post-Master, and Pay-Master-General to Queen ANNE.

I.

W ILL PIGGOT * must to Coxwold † go,
To live, alas! in Want,
Unless Sir THOMAS say No, no,
Th' Allowance is too scant.

II.

The gracious Knight full well does weet,
Ten Farthings ne'er will do
To keep a man each Day in meat,
Some bread to Meat is due.

III.

A Rechabite poor WILL must live,
And drink of ADAM'S Ale,
Pure Element, no life can give,
Or mortal Soul regale.

* This merry Petition was written by Mr. Prior, for Will Piggot to obtain the Porter's Place.

† Twelve Miles, North, beyond the City of York.

IV.

Spare Diet, and Spring-water clear,
 Physicians hold are good ;
 Who diets thus need never fear
 A Fever in the Blood.

V.

Gra'mercy, Sirs y' are in the right
 Prescriptions All can sell,
 But he that does not eat can't sh
 Or pifs, if good Drink fail.

VI.

But pass—The Æsculapian Crew,
 Who eat and quaff the best,
 They seldom miss to bake and brew,
 Or lin to break their Fast,

VII.

Cou'd Yorkshire-Tyke but do the same,
 Then He like Them might thrive;
 But FORTUNE, FORTUNE, cruel DAME,
 To starve Thou do'st Him drive.

VIII.

In WILL'S Old Master's plenteous Days,
 His Mem'ry e'er be blest ;
 What need of speaking in his Praise ?
 His Goodness stands confest.

At

IX.

At his fame'd Gate stood Charity,
In lovely sweet Array ;
CERES, and Hospitality,
Dwelt there both Night and Day.

X.

But to conclude, and be concise,
Truth must WILL's Voucher be ?
Truth never yet went in Disguise,
For naked still is She.

XI.

There is but One, but One alone,
Can set the PILGRIM free,
And make him cease to pine and moan ;
O FRANKLAND it is THEE.

XII.

Oh ! save him from a dreary Way,
To Coxwould he must hye,
Bereft of thee he wends astray,
At Coxwould he must die.

XIII.

Oh ! let him in thy Hall but stand,
And wear a Porter's Gown,
Duteous to what thou may'ft command,
Thus WILLIAM's Wishes crown.

VENUS'S Advice to the MUSES.

THUS to the MUSES spoke the Cyprian-Dame ;
 Adorn my Altars, and revere my Name.
 My SON shall else assume his potent Darts,
 Twang goes the Bow, my Girls, have at your Hearts.
 The MUSES answer'd Venus, We deride
 The Vagrant's Malice, and his Mother's Pride :
 Send him to Nymphs who sleep on Ida's Shade,
 To the loose Dance, and wanton Masquerade ;
 Our Thoughts are settled, and intent our Look,
 On the instructive Verse, and moral Book ;
 On Female-Idleness his Pow'r relies,
 But when he finds us studying-hard he flies.

CUPID turned PLOWMAN.

From MOSCHUS.

HIS Lamp, his Bow, and Quiver, laid aside,
 A rustic Wallet o'er his Shoulders ty'd :
 Sly Cupid, always on new Mischief bent,
 To the rich Field and furrow'd Tillage went
 Like any Plowman toil'd the little God,
 His Tune he whistled, and his Wheat he sow'd :
 Then sat and laugh'd, and to the Skies above
 Raising his Eye he thus insulted Jove.

Lay

Lay by your Hail, your hurtful Storms restrain,
 And, as I bid you, let it shine or rain.
 Else you again beneath my Yoke shall bow,
 Feel the sharp Goad, and draw the servile Plow ;
 What once EUROPA was, NANNETTE is now.

T O F O R T U N E.

W Hilst I in Prison or in Court look down,
 Nor beg thy Favour, nor deserve thy Frown,
 In vain, malicious Fortune, hast thou try'd,
 By taking from my State, to quell my Pride :
 Insulting Girl, thy present Rage abate ;
 And, would'st thou have me humbled, make me Great.

Chaste F L O R I M E L.

 Oh ! Sir, no Man on Earth that breathes
 Had ever yet his Hand so high.

 Oh ! will you act a Tarquin's Part ?
 A second Lucrece you have found.

Thus to the pressing Corydon,
Poor Florimel, unhappy Maid,
Fearing by Love to be undone,
In broken, dying, Accents said.

IV.

Delia, who held the conscious Door,
Inspire'd by Truth and Brandy smile'd,
Knowing that, sixteen Months before,
Our Lucrece had her second Child.

V.

And, hark ye, Madam, cry'd the Baud,
None of your Flights, your high-rope Dodging ;
Be civil here, or march abroad ;
Oblige the 'Squire, or quit the Lodging.

VI.

Oh ! have I, Florimel went on,
Have I then lost my Delia's Aid ?
Where shall forsaken Virtue run,
If by her Friend she is betray'd ?

Oh ! curse on empty Friendship's ; Name:
Lord, what is all our future Vicw ?
Then, dear Destroyer of my Fame,

From Delia's Rage, and Fortune's Frown,
A wretched love-sick Maid deliver ;
Oh ! tip me but another Crown,
Dear Sir, and make me Your's for ever.

NON PAREIL.

I.

LET others from the Town retire,
And in the Fields seek new Delight ;
My Phyllis does such Joys inspire,
No other Objects please my Sight.

II.

In her alone I find whate'er
Beauties a Country Landscape grace :
No Shade so lovely as her Hair,
Nor Plain so sweet as is her Face.

III.

Lillies and Roses there combine,
More beauteous than in flow'ry Field ;
Transparent is her Skin so fine,
To this each crystal Stream must lead.

IV.

Her Voice more sweet than warbling Sound,
Tho' sung by Nightingale or Lark ;
Her Eyes such Lustre dart around,
Compare'd to them the Sun is dark.

V.

Both Light and vital Heat they give,
• Cherish'd by them my Love takes Root
From her kind Looks does Life receive,
Grows a fair Plant, bears Flow'rs and Fruits.

VI.

Such Fruit, I ween, did once deceive
The common Parent of Mankind ;
And made transgress our Mother Eve :
Poison it's Core, tho' fair its Rind.

VII.

Yet so delicious is its Taste,
I cannot from the Bait abstain,
But to the enchanting Pleasure haste,
Tho' I were sure 't would end in Pain.

I mean the Substance, not the Name ;
(Not that light Heap of taudry Wares,
Of Ermine, Coronets, and Stars,
Which often is by Merit sought,
By Gold and Flatt'ry oftner bought ,
The Shade, for which Ambition looks
In SELDEN's* or in ASHMOLE's † Books :)
But the true Glory which proceeds,
Reflected bright from honest Deeds,
Which we in our own Breast perceive,

The INCURABLE.

PHILLIS, you boast of perfect Health in vain,
 And laugh at those who of their Ills complain :
 That with a frequent Fever CHLOE burns;
 And STELLA's Plumpness into Dropsy turns.
 O PHILLIS, while the Patients are Nineteen,
 Little, alas ! are their Destempers seen.
 But Thou for all Thy seeming Health art ill,
 Beyond thy Lover's Hopes, or BLACKMORE's Skill;
 No Lenitives can thy Disease assuage,
 I tell Thee, 'Tis incurable——'tis AGE,

The Infatiable Priest.

I.

LUKE Preach-ill admires what we Laymen can mean,
 That thus by our Profit and Pleasure are sway'd :
 He has but three Livings, and wou'd be a DEAN ;
 His Wife dy'd this Year, He has marry'd his Maid.

II.

To suppress all his carnal Desires in their Birth,
 At all Hours a lusty young Hussy is near ;
 And to take off His Thoughts from the Things of this Earth,
 He can be content with Two Thousand a Year.

DOCTORS Differ.

WHEN WILLIS† of Ephraim heard ROCHESTER* preach.

Thus BENTLEY said to him, I pry'thee, dear Brother,
How like'st Thou this Sermon? 'tis out of my Reach.

His is One Way, said WILLIS, and Our's is Another.
I care not for carping, but this I can tell,
We preach very sadly, if he preaches well.

Pontius and Pontia.

PONTIUS (who loves you know a Joke
Much better than he loves his Life)
Chance'd t'other Morning to provoke
The Patience of a well-bred Wife.

Her own, most certain, t'other said;
For NAN, who knows the Thing, will tell ye,
The Hair was bought, the Money paid,
And the Receipt was sign'd DUCAILLY.

Who values Wit much less than Sense,
And never darts a Rapartee,
But purely in her own Defence)

V.

Reply'd, these Friends of your's, my Dear,
Are given extremely much to Satire,
But pr'ythee, Husband, let one hear
Sometimes less Wit, and more Good-nature.

VI.

Now I have one unlucky Thought,
That wou'd have spoil'd your Friend's Conceit;
Some Hair I have, I'm sure, unbought,
Pray bring your Brother-Wits to see't.

BY Birth I'm a Slave, yet can give you a Crown,
 I dispose of all Honours, myself having none
 I'm oblig'd by just Maxims to govern my Life,
 Yet I hang my own Master, and lie with his Wife.
 When Men are a gaming, I cunningly sneak,
 And their Cudgels and Shovels away from them take:
 Fair Maidens and Ladies I by the Hand get,
 And pick off their Diamonds, tho' ne'er so well set.
 For when I have Comrades we rob in whole Bands,
 Then presently take off your Lands from your Hands.
 But this Fury once over, I've such winning Arts,
 That you love me much more than you do your own Hearts.

CUPID turn'd STROLER.

From ANACREON.

AT dead of Night when Stars appear,
 And strong Bootes turns the Beer ;
 When Mortals sleep their Cares away,
 Fatigu'd with Labours of the Day,
CUPID was knocking at my Gate ;
 Who's there, says I, who knocks so late ?

Disturbs

110 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Disturbs my Dreams, and breaks my Rest?
O fear not me, a harmless Guest,
He said, but open, open pray;
A foolish Child, I've lost my Way,
And wander here this Moon-light Night,
All wet and cold, and wanting Light.
With due Regard his Voice I heard,
Then rose, a ready Lamp prepar'd,
And saw a naked Boy below,
With Wings, a Quiver, and a Bow;
In Haste I ran, unlockt my Gate,
Secure and thoughtless of my fate;
I set the Child an easy Chair
Against the Fire, and dry'd his Hair?
Brought friendly Cups of chearful Wine,
And warm'd his little Hands with mine;
All this did I with kind Intent;
But he, on wanton Mischief bent,
Said, dearest Friend, this Bow you see,
This pretty Bow belongs to me:
Observe, I pray, if all be right,
I fear the Rain has spoil'd it quite;
He drew it then, and strait I found
Within my Breast a secret Wound.
This done the Rogue no longer staid,
But leapt away, and laughing said,
Kind Host adieu, we now must part,
Safe is my Bow, but sick thy Heart.

TRUTH told at last.

SAYS PONTIUS in Rage contradicting his Wife,
" You never yet told me one Truth in your Life."
Next PONTIA no Way could this Thesis allow,
" You're a Cuckold, says she, do I tell you Truth now?"

Sink when it rains, and when it freezes swim.

And ask to celebrate my Birth:

 Then let me hear Thee smiling say,

Truth and Falshood.

A T A L E.

O NCE on a Time, in Sun-shine Weather,
 FALSHOOD and TRUTH walk'd out together,
 The neighb'ring Woods and Lawns to view,
 As Opposites will sometimes do.
 Thro' many a blooming Mead They pass,
 And at a Brook arriv'd at last.
 The purling Stream, the Margin green,
 With Flow'rs bedeck'd, a vernal Scene,
 Invited each itin'rant Maid
 To rest a while beneath the Shade;
 Under a spreading Beach they sat,
 And pass'd the Time with Female Chat;
 Whilst each her Character maintain'd;
 ONE spoke her Thoughts, the OTHER feign'd.

At length quoth FALSHOOD, Sister TRUTH,
 For so She call'd her from her Youth,
 What if, to shun yon sultry Beam,
 We bathe in this delightful Stream ;
 The Bottom smooth, the Water clear,
 And there's no prying Shepherd near ?——
 With all my Heart, the Nymph reply'd,
 And threw her snowy Robes aside,
 Stript herself naked to the Skin,
 And a with Spring leapt headlong in.
 FALSHOOD more leisurely undrest,
 And laying by her taudry Vest.
 Trick'd herself out in TRUTH's Array,
 And cross the Meadows tript away.

From this curst Hour, the FRAUDFUL Dame
 Of sacred TRUTH usurps the Name,
 And with a vile, perfidious Mind,
 Roams far and near to cheat Mankind ;
 False Sighs suborns, and artful Tears,
 And starts with vain, pretended Fears ;
 In Visits, still appears most wise,
 And rolls at Church her Saint-like Eyes ;
 Talks very much, plays idle Tricks,
 While rising Stock*her Conscience pricks ;
 When being, poor Thing, extremely gravel'd,
 She Secrets ope'd, and all unravel'd.
 But on She will, and Secrets tell
 Of John and Joan, and Ned and Nell,
 Reviling ev'ry one She knows,
 As Fancy leads, beneath the Rose.

 It always runs before Her Mind ;
 As 'Times do serve She flily pleads,

 With Promises as thick as Weeds. ———

Poor TRUTH she stript, as has been said,
 And naked left the lovely Maid,
 Who scorning from her Cause to wince,
 Has gone stark-naked ever since ;
 And ever Naked will appear,

Set to Musick by the most eminent MASTERS.

I. Set by Mr. ABEL.

READING ends in Melancholy,
Wine breeds Vices and Diseases,
Wealth is but Care, and Love but Folly,
Only Friendship truly pleases:
My Wealth, my Books, my Flask, my Molly,
Farewel all, if Friendship ceases.

II. Set by Mr. PURCEL.

I.

WHITHER would my Passion run,
Shall I fly Her, or pursue Her?
Losing her I am undone,
Yet would not gain Her to undo Her.

Ye

II.

Ye Tyrants of the human Breast,
Love and Reason! cease your War,
And order Death to give me rest;
So each will equal Triumph share.

III. Set by Mr. D E F E S C H.

I.

STREPHONETTA, why d'ye flie me,
With such Rigour in your Eyes?
Oh! 'tis cruel to deny me,
Since your Charms I so much prize.

II.

But I plainly see the Reason,
Why in vain I you pursue'd,
Her to gain 'twas out of Season,
Who before the Chaplain woo'd.

IV. Set by Mr. S M I T H.

I.

COME weep no more, for 'tis in vain;
Torment not thus your pretty Heart;
Think, Flavia, we may meet again,
As well as that we now must part,

II.

You sigh and weep, the Gods neglect
That precious Dew your Eyes let fall ;
Our Joy and Grief, with like Respect
They mind, and that is, not at all.

III.

We pray, in hopes they will be kind,
As if they did regard our State ;
They hear, and the Return we find
Is that no Prayers can alter Fate.

IV.

Then clear your Brow and look more gay,
Do not yourself to Grief resign ;
Who knows but that those Powers may
The Pair they now have parted join ?

V.

But since they have thus cruel been,
And could such constant Lovers sever ;
I dare not trust, lest, now they're in,
They should divide us two for ever.

VI.

Then Flavia come, and let us grieve,
Remembring tho' upon what Score ;
This our last parting Look believe,
Believe we must embrace no more.

Yet

VII.

Yet should our Sun shine out at last,
And Fortune without more Deceit
Throw but one reconciling Cast,
'To make two wandering Lovers meet.

VIII.

How great then would our Pleasure be,
To find Heav'n kinder than believ'd,
And we, who had no Hopes to see
Each other, to be thus deceiv'd!

IX.

But say, Heav'n should bring no Relief,
Suppose our Sun should never rise;
Why then what's due to such a Grief,
We've paid already with our Eyes.

V. Set by Mr. DE FESCH.

I.

LET perjur'd, fair Aminta know
What for her Sake I undergo;
Tell her, for her, how I sustain
A ling'ring Fever's wasting Pain;
Tell her the Torments I endure,
Which only, only, She can cure.

II.

But, Oh! She scorns to hear, or see,
The Wretch that lies so low as me;
Her sudden Greatness turns her Brain,
And Strephon hopes, alas! in vain:
For, ne'er 'twas found (tho' often try'd)
That Pity ever dwelt with Pride.

VI. Set by Mr. SMITH.

I.

PHILLIS, since we have both been kind,
And of each other had our Fill,
Tell me what Pleasure you can find,
In forcing Nature 'gainst her Will.

II.

'Tis true, you may with Art and Pain
Keep in some Glowings of Desire;
But still, those Glowings which remain
Are only Ashes of the Fire,

Then

III.

Then let us free each other's Soul,
And laugh at the dull constant Fool,
Who would Love's Liberty controul,
And teach us how to whine by Rule.

IV.

Let us no Impositions set,
Or Clogs upon each other's Heart;
But as for Pleasure first we met,
So now for Pleasure let us part.

V.

We both have spent our Stock of Love,
So consequently should be free;
Thirsis expects you in yon Grove,
And pretty Chloris stays for me

VII. Set by Mr. DE FESCH.

I.

*P*HILLIS this pious talk give o'er,
And modestly pretend no more,
It is too plain an Art:
Surely you take me for a Fool,
And would by this prove me so dull
As not to no know your Heart.

II.

In vain you fancy to deceive,
For truly I can ne'er believe
But this is all a Sham :
Since any one may plainly see,
You'd only save yourself with me,
And with another damn.

VIII. Set by Mr. SMITH.

I.

S T I L L, Dorinda, I adore ;
Think, I mean not to deceive ye ;
For I lov'd you much before,
And alas ! now love you more,
Tho' I force myself to leave you.

II.

Staying I my Vows shall fail,
Virtue yields, as Love grows stronger ;
Fierce Desires will prevail,
You are fair, and I am frail,
And dare trust myself no longer.

III.

You, may Love, too nicely coy,
Left I should have gain'd the Treasure,
Made my Vows and Oaths destroy
The pleasing Hopes I did enjoy
Of all my future Peace and Pleasure.

To

IV.

To my Vows I have been true,
And in Silence hid my Anguish,
But I cannot promise too,
What my Love may make me do,
While with her, for whom I languish.

V

For in thee strange Magic lies,
And my Heart is too, too tender ;
Nothing's Proof again those Eyes,
Best Resolves and strictest Ties
To their Force must soon surrender.

VI.

But, Dorinda, you're severe,
I must doating thus to sever ;
Since from all I hold most dear
That you may no longer fear,
I divorce myself for ever.

IX. Set by Mr. D E F E S C H.

I.

IS it, O Love, thy Want of Eyes,
Or by the Fates decreed ;
That Hearts so seldom sympathize,
Or for each other bleed ?

II.

If thou wouldst make two youthful Hearts
One am'rous Shaft obey ;
'Twould save thee the Expence of Darts,
And more extend thy Sway.

III.

Forbear, alas! thus to destroy
Thy self, thy growing Pow'r ;
For that which would be stretch'd by Joy,
Despair will soon devour.

IV.

Ah ! wound then my relentless Fair,
For thy own Sake and mine ;
That boundless Bliss may be my Share,
And double Glory thine.

X. Set by Mr. SMITH.

WHY Harry?, what ails you? why look you so sad?
To think and ne'er drink, will make you stark mad.

'Tis the Mistress, the Friend, and the Bottle, old Boy,
Which create all the Pleasure poor Mortals enjoy :
But Wine of the three's the most cordial Brother,
For one it relieves, and it strengthens the other.

XI. Set by Mr. D E F E S C H.

I.

*M*ORELLA, charming without Art,
And kind without Design,
Can never lose the smallest Part
Of such a Heart as mine.

II.

Oblige'd a thousand several ways,
It ne'er can break her Chains ;
While Passion, which her Beauties raise,
My Gratitude maintains.

XII. Set by Mr. S M I T H.

I.

*S*INCE my Words, tho' ne'er so tender,
With sincerest Truth exprest.
Cannot make your Heart surrender,
Nor so much as warm your Breast :

II.

What will move the Springs of Nature ?
What will make you think me true ?
Tell me, thou mysterious Creature,
Tell poor Strephon what will do.

Do

III.

Do not, Charmion, rack your Lover
Thus, by seeming not to know
What so plainly all discover,
What his Eyes so plainly show.

IV.

Fair one, tis yourself deceiving,
'Tis against your Reason's Laws :
Atheist-like (th'Effect preceiving)
Still to disbelieve the Cause.

XIII. Set by Mr DE FESCH.

I.

LOVE ! inform thy faithful Creature
How to keep his Fair one's Heart ;
Must it be by Truth of Nature ?
Or by poor dissembling Art ?

II.

Tell the Secret, shew the Wonder,
How we both may gain our Ends ;
I am lost if we're asunder,
Ever torture'd if we're Friends.

XIV. Set by Mr. S M I T H.

I.

O NCE I was unconfin'd and free,
Would I had been so still !
Enjoying sweetest Liberty,
And roving at my Will.

II.

But now, not Master of my Heart,
Cupid does so decide,
That two She-Tyrants shall it part,
And so poor Me divide.

III.

Victoria's Will I must obey,
She acts without Controul :
Phillis has such a taking Way,
She charms my very Soul.

IV.

Deceiv'd by Phillis' Looks and Smiles,
Into her Snares I run :
Victoria shews me all her Wiles,
Which yet I dare not shun.

From

V.

From one I fancy ev'ry Kiss
Has something in't Divine ;
And, awful, taste the balmy Blifs,
That joins her Lips with mine.

VI.

But, when with t'other I embrace,
Tho' she be not a Queen,
Methinks 'tis sweet with such a Lass
To tumble on the Green.

VII.

Thus here you see a shared Heart,
But I, mean while, the Fool :
Each in it has an equal Part,
But neither yet the whole.

VIII.

Nor will it, if I right forecast,
To either wholly yield :
I find the Time approaches fast,
When both must quit the Field.

XV. Set by Mr. D E F E S C H.

I.

F Arewell, Amynta, we must part
The Charm has lost its Pow'r,
Which held so fast my captiv'd Heart
Until this fatal Hour.

II.

Hadst thou not thus my Love abus'd,
And us'd me ne'er so ill,
Thy Cruelty I had excuse'd,
And I had love'd thee still.

III.

But know, my Soul disdain'd thy Sway,
And scorns thy Charms and Thee,
To which each flutt'ring Coxcomb may
As welcome be as me.

IV.

Think in what perfect Bliss you reign'd,
How love'd before thy Fall;
And how, alas! how much disdain'd
By me, and scorn'd by all.

V.

Yet thinking of each happy Hour
Which I with Thee have spent,
So robs my Rage of all its Pow'r,
That I almost relent.

VI.

But Pride will never let me bow,
No more thy Charms can move:
Yet thou art worth my Pity now,
Because thou hadst my Love.

XVI. Set by Mr. SMITH.

I.

A Ccept my Love, as true a Heart
As ever Lover gave:
'Tis free (it vows) from any Art,
And proud to be your Slave.

II.

Then take it kindly, as 'twas meant,
And let the Giver live:
Who, with it, would the World have sent,
Had it been his to give.

III.

And that Dorinda may not fear
I e'er will prove untrue;
My Vows shall, ending with the Year,
With it begin anew.

XVII. Set by Mr. D E F E S C H.

I.

NANNY blushes when I woo her,
And with kindly chiding Eyes
Faintly says, I shall undo her,
Faintly, O forbear! she cries.

II.

But her Breasts while I am pressing
While to her's my Lips I join,
Warm'd she seems to taste the Blessing,
And her Kisses answer mine.

III.

Undebauch'd by Rules of Honour,
Innocence with Nature charms ;
One bids, gently push me from her,
T'other, take me in her Arms.

XVIII. Set by Mr. S M I T H.

I.

SINCE we your Husband daily see
So jealous out of Season,
Phillis, let you and I agree
To make him so with Reason.

I'm

138 P O E M S on several Occasions.

II.

I'm vext to think, that ev'ry Night
A Sot within thy Arms,
Tasting the most divine Delight,
Should fully all your Charms.

III.

While fretting I must lie alone,
Curfing the Pow'rs Divine,
That undeservedly have thrown
A Pearl unto a Swine.

IV.

Then, Phillis, heal my wounded Heart,
My burning Passion cool ;
Let me at least in thee have Part
With thy insipid Fool.

V.

Let him, by Night, his Joys persue,
And blunder in the Dark ;
While I, by Day, enjoying you,
Can see to hit the Mark.

XIX. Set by C. R.

I.

*P*HILLIS, give this Humour over,
We too long have Time abuse'd ;
I shall turn an errant Rover,
If the Favour's still refuse'd.

Faith,

II.

Faith, 'tis Nonfense out of Measure,
Without ending thus to see,
Women force'd to taste a Pleasure
Which they love as well as we.

III.

Let not Pride and Folly share you,
We were made but to enjoy ;
Ne'er will Age or Censure spare you
E'er the more for being coy.

IV.

Never fancy Time's before you,
Youth, believe me, will away ;
Then, alas ! who will adore you,
Or to Wrinkles Tribute pay ?

V.

All the Swains on you attending,
Show how much your Charms deserve ;
But Miser-like, for fear of spending,
You amidst your Plenty starve.

VI.

While a thousand freer Lasses,
Who their Youth and Charms employ,
Tho' your Beauty their's surpasse,
Live in far more perfect Joy.

XX. Set by Mr. DE FESCH.

I.

S I N C E by ill Fate I'm forc'd away,
And snatch'd so soon from those dear Arms
Against my Will I must obey,
And leave those sweet endearing Charms.

II.

Yet still love on, and never fear,
But you and Constancy will prove
Enough my present Flame to bear,
And make me, tho' in Absence, love.

III.

For tho' your Prefence Fate denies,
I feel, alas! the killing Smart;
And can, with undiscerned Eyes,
Behold your Picture in my Heart.

XXI. Set by Mr. DE FESCH

I.

T O U C H the Lyre, every String,
Touch it, Orpheus, I will sing,
A Song which shall immortal be;
Since she I sing's a Deity.
A Leonora, whose blest Birth
Has no Relation to this Earth.

XXII. Set by Mr. DE FESCH.

I.

I N vain, alas ! poor Strepbon tries
To ease his tortur'd Breast ;
Since Amoret the Cure denies,
And makes his Pain a jest.

II.

Ah ! Fair one, why to me so coy
And why to him so true ?
Who with more Coldness slights the Joy,
Than I with Love pursue.

III.

Die then, unhappy Lover, die ;
For since she gives the Death,
The World has nothing that can buy
A Minute more of Breath.

IV.

Yet tho' I could your Scorn outlive,
'Twere Folly ; since to me
Not Love itself a Joy can give,
But, Amoret, in thee.

XXIII. Set by Mr. D E F E S C H.

I.

WELL, I will never more complain,
Or call the fates unkind ;
Alas ! how fond it is, how vain !
But Self-Conceitedness does reign
In every mortal Mind.

II.

'Tis true they long did me deny,
Nor would permit a Sight ;
I rage'd, for I could not espy,
Or think that any Harm could lie
Disguise'd in that Delight.

III.

At last, my Wishes to fulfill,
They did their Pow'r resign ;
I saw her, but I wish I still
Had been obedient to their Will,
And they not unto mine.

IV.

Yet I by this have learn't the Wit,
Never to grieve or fret :
Contentedly I will submit,
And think that best which they think fit,
Without the least Regret.

XXIV. Set by Mr. C. R.

I.

CHLOE Beauty has and Wit,
And an Air that is not common ;
Ev'ry Charm in her does meet,
Fit to make a handsome Woman.

II.

But we do not only find
Here a lovely Face or Feature,
For she's merciful and kind,
Beauty's answer'd by Good-nature.

III.

She is always doing good,
Of her Favours never sparing,
And, as all good Christians shou'd,
Keeps poor Mortals from despairing.

IV.

JOVE the Pow'r knew of her Charms
And that no Man cou'd endure 'em.
So providing 'gainst all Harms,
Gave to her the Pow'r to cure 'em.

V.

And 'twou'd be a cruel Thing,
When her black Eyes have rais'd Desire,
Shou'd She not her Bucket bring,
And kindly help to quench the Fire.

XXV.

I.

SINCE, Moggy, I mun bid Adieu,
 How can I help despairing?
 Let Fate us still persue,
 There's nought more worth my Caring.

II.

'Twas she alone could calm my Soul,
 When racking Thoughts did grieve me;
 Her Eyes my Trouble could controul,
 And into Joys deceive me.

III.

Farewell, ye Brooks, no more along
 Your Banks mun I be walking:
 No more you'll hear my Pipe or Song,
 Or pretty Moggy's Talking.

IV.

But I by Death an End will give
 To Grief, since we mun never:
 For who can after parting live,
 Ought to be wretched ever.

XXVI.

I.

SOME kind Angel, gently flying,
Mov'd with Pity at my Pain,
Tell Corinna, I am dying,
'Till with Joy we meet again,

II.

Tell Corinna, since we parted,
I have never known Delight :
And shall soon be broken-hearted,
If I longer want her Sight.

III.

Tell her how her Lover, mourning,
Thinks each lazy Day a Year ;
Curfing ev'ry Morn returning,
Since Corinna is not here.

IV.

Tell her two, not distant Places,
Will she be but true and kind,
Join'd with Time and Change of Faces,
E'er shall shake my constant Mind.

XXVII.

I.

HA S T E, my NANNETTE,
My lovely Maid,
Haste to the Bower
Thy Swain has made.

II.

For thee alone
I made the Bower,
And strew'd the Couch
With many a Flower.

III.

None but my Sheep
Shall near us come,
VENUS be prais'd,
My Sheep are dumb.

IV.

Great God of Love,
Take thou my Crook,
To keep the Wolf
From NANNETTE'S Flock.

V.

Guard thou the Sheep,
To her so dear ;
My own, alas !
Are less my Care.

VI.

But of the Wolf
If thou'rt afraid,
Come not to us
To call for Aid.

VII.

For with her Swain
My Love shall stay,
Tho' the Wolf strole,
And the Sheep stray.

XXVIII. NELLY.

I.

WHILST others proclaim
This Nymph, or that Swain,
Dearest Nelly the lovely I'll sing ;
She shall grace ev'ry Verse,
I'll her Beauties rehearse,
Which Lovers can't think an ill Thing.

II.

Her Eyes shine as bright
 As Stars in the Night,
 Her Complexion's divinely fair;
 Her Lips red as a Cherry,
 Wou'd a Hermit make merry,
 And black as a Coal is her Hair.

III.

Her Breath like a Rose,
 It's Sweets does disclose,
 Whenever you ravish a Kiss;
 Like Iv'ry in chase'd.
 Her Teeth are well place'd,
 An exquisite Beauty she is.

IV.

Her plump Breasts are white,
 Delighting the Sight,
 There CUPID discovers her Charms;
 Oh! spare then the rest,
 And think of the best:
 'Tis Heaven to die in her Arms.

V.

She's blooming as May,
 Brisk, lively, and gay,
 The Graces play all round about her;
 She's prudent and witty,
 Sings wond'rously pretty,
 And there is no living without her.

 Cur hoc planitie, sylva Genus illud oberrat:
 Cur Tellus proprium sortita est singula foetum.
 Ardua Grus, sinuanque fugam quò cedit Hirundo,
 Ut fugiant Boreæ fera bella, nivesque ruentes:
 An sese in latebris saxorum altisque recondant
 Arboribus, somno per tempora certa sepultæ;
 An propiore Malo trepidantes, præpete penna
 Mollius ad Cælum, placidasque ferantur ad oras.

Discemus Pecorumque Insectorumque vagantùm
 Mirandum ingenium, variasque ex ordine Gentes;
 Seu fera, seu tractanda, Homini vel iniqua vel æqua:
 Quantum Illa aut Nobis, aut Nos cognoscimur Illis?

Vos

Vos docti narrate Senes, quicumque studeatis:
 Naturæ arcanos intus penetrare recessus,
 Unde docetur Apes se ferre audacibus alis
 Per mille ancipitesquæ vias, cœlumque profundum:
 Unde fugit lentam visco stagnante paludem,
 Eœcundos visens Colles, ubi dulcior Herba,
 Melliferique expansa recludunt germina Flores.
 Unde indensatis tenebris & Solè cadenti
 Scire potest operæ finem adventare diurnæ?
 Quis docuit ventis pluviisque opponere pectus,
 Ferre donum fragrans ad certa Alvearia pondus;
 Et pennis iterum Campos tranare liquentes,
 Morigeras resonis dantem tinnitibus aures?

Tuque aperi, Cessator iners, æstate ferena
 Cur opibus Formica fluens cavet aspera brumæ:
 Ire redire viam repetito sedula cursu,
 Exstruat ut cumulos; plenamque ubi carpsit aristam,
 Unde levi granum prærodit provida morfu,
 Nè, dum terra tegit, rursus radicibus actis,
 Deceptos ploret conatus irrita Cura?
 Conspiciendo patent Insecti utriusque Labore
 Signa Animi manifesta, Ars provida, Spesq; Timorq;.

Jamque age, flecte oculos, animumque advorte, recenti
 Ex Utero tenerum ad Culicem, Muscamque renatam;
 Vermiculumque humilem, hesternis qui repere cœpit
 Vix sub Sole; tuos, Homo Res vilissima, Fratres.
 More Tui motusque cient; spirantque videntque,
 Atque animi Affectus externa per acta loquuntur:
 Spicula torquentes tanquam præludia, narrant
 Collectam rabiem & venturi fulmina belli.
 Ovaque dum pariunt, fœtus promissa futuri,
 Eœcundosque ignes, viresque fatentur Amoris.

 Quid nostra exilis Ratio concedere possit
 Plus Cete immenso, turrato plus Elephanti,
 Immodicis. Nili undarum terroribus Hydræ
Christatæ, caudamque flagellanti Crocodilo,
 Quam titulo & forma solum discrimen haberi,
 Ut sua cuique datur major structura minorve?

Namque Opifex vario gaudet Nature labore,
 Nunc amat effusum Spatium, nunc arctius optat:
 Jamque minuta nimis, nimium jam grandia fingit,
 Humani Sensus modulo indignata teneri.
 Latius Objectum, seu se sublimius effert.
 Effigiem veram nescit comprehendere Vifus:
 Sin minus evadat, perstrictum ludit ocellum
 Confusæ tænebræ, aut lux indivisa videtur.
 Disperdunt variatam Æther atque Unda figuram,
 Recta gerit curvæ faciem, quadrata rotundæ.

Dum sic delusa spe, protractoque labore
 Naturæ frustra sequimur venerabile numen,
 Illa sub obtecto sedet impercepta recessu;
 Circiter agglomerans se plurima fundit Imago,
 Formarumque immensa cohors, quas mystica Diva
 Ocyus induit, exuit, immutatque tenetve,
 Cum volet abstrusis Decretis fallere Mentem
 Ambiguam, frænisque Hominis compefcere Fastum.

Sævit adhuc mores immitis & effera Tigris,
 Carceris impatiens, dentesque in vincla fatigat:

Oblato

Oblato lymphæque & amico munere victûs.
 Grata parum, & crudelis opem feritate repensans,
 Frangere corpus avet, venasque haurire Magistri.
 Dum fervor generosus Equi, viresque Cameli,
 Imparibus faciles se sub juga mittere dextris,
 Dant Equiti flectenda minacia fulmine colla,
 Respondent stimulis, & fræni jussa capeffunt;
 Expandunt avidas præbenti pabula fauces,
 Pondus amant Domini, & sumptis lætantur habenis.

Quinetiam Vulpes latè incomitata vagatur,

 Nunc circum clivos fertur, nunc vallibus errat,
 Suspecta humani Generis vestigia vitans:
 At Canis interea, Gens blanda Hominique fidelis,
 Quanquam illi & species & forma simillima Vulpis;
 Horrentes vitat clivos vallesque reductas,
 Calle pedes iterat trito, & sua tecta requirit;
 Vultibus arridens notis, testatur amorem
 Blanditiis, manditque satur quod projicit Infans,
 Et lambit charum lingua moriente Magistrum.

Cujusnam impulsu causæ propiore cientur,
 Ardua res, fateor, multis disquirere factis.
 Sunt alia interea, queis perspexisse videmur
 Principia Illorum nihilo discordia nostris;
 Nobiscum fugienda timent, optanda sequuntur;
 Toxicæ dum renuunt, alimenta innoxia libant,
 Oderunt & amant ad nostra exempla, sciuntque

 Quicquid agunt, animo prius instituisse videntur,
 Propositumque apto vestigant tramite finem.
 Scilicet ista errat latè Doctrina, moveri

 Cum simul Effectus ex omni parte cohærent?
 Quo Ratio Instinctu fecerni limite possit?

 Dum quæ scire nequit, metuit nescire fateri.

Haud minus insipiens Homo jactat Seque suumque

 Dic age, multa minans cum voce exclamat inani
 Se latè in terris Dominum, & regere omnia nutu;
 Nonne metu horrescit, ne fortior ira Leonis
 Fictitiæ legi sublatum opponeret unguem?
 Annon è Rostro trepidans Orator abiret,
 Porticibus subitò irrumpat si fortè reclusis
 Aut immanis Hyæna, aut spumans faucibus Urfus?

Pœnitet incepti Pugnacem serò duelli,

 Huncce Globum circa curvato tramite fertur;
 De multis dubito terris utrumne patentem
 Effusæ pecudes campos, hominesve frequentent:
 Anne aliquis populus fatalia tempora ducat

Sub nimium ardenti propioris lumine solis:
 An gens ulla ferat, septem subjecta Trioni,

Prudentis sed nonne Dei suprema voluntas,

Fœta salute quies, fomni nec innitile donum ;
 Ante resurgenti cum lumine cura resurgat
 Tædia relliquiasque hesterni ferre laboris
 Cùm, simul ipsorum Phœbus se pandat ocellis,
 Intrepidis animis semestri luce fruentes,
 Ad nemora inde procul secreta, lacusque rem remotos
 Non interruptos audent intendere cursus ;
 Et piscaturam venatusque impete longo
 Indomiti exercent, indefessoque vigore.
 Et fugiente Dies ubi deserit æthera curru,
 Collectaque moment hyemem nigrescere nubes,
 Frugibus instanti pro tempestate coactis
 Undique, sex totos ducunt ex ordine menses,
 Discursu atque opera, strepitu & mœrore soluti,
 Quis nostra assidui vexatur Scena laboris :
 Instaurant lautas, multa cum lampade, mensas,
 Et facili hospitio lætis gratantur Amicis ;
 Aut dulces narrant Veneres (ea cura quietis
 Unica) dum pendent faciles circum ora puellæ ;
 Deliciis aut elati, requievere supini,

 Diffusam celebrant longa caligine noctem
 Plena super poc'la & lecti genialis honores.

Plurima qua nautis audacibus Infula longè
 Panditur, hanc latam procul ultra diffusa terram,
 Urfa rigens, maculisque aspersæ corpora Lynces
 Prædantur valles, sylvamque horroribus implent :
 Esuriens Crocodilus & Hydræ sibila colla
 Flumine turbato latitant, dumisque sub udis :
 Nec rudis ipse minùs brutis Homo, nec minùs asper
 Vallesque & sylvam, vepresque & flumina vexat
 Hisne Viris atque his animalibus exit origo
 Ilicis à stirpe, aut fœta telluris ab alvo ?

Unde

Unde igitur vetus illa fides venit, omnia nasci
 Frondifera in Paradiso, ortuque unius ADAMI?
 Vel ratibus primas, concede, legentibus oras
 Hanc istuc sobolem propiori à littore vectam:
 An populus, quorum à patria fluxisse putemus,
 Gentibus innocuis cædemque venenaque ferrent?
 An secum veherent Urfas Lynceasque carinis?
 Fœcundamne alerent Hydram, gravidamque Colubram?
 Nempe fore, ut fœtam Crocodilen hospita tellus
 Acciperet, lætoque sinu nova monstra foveret.

Et quando agrestis penitus ducenda propago
 Servato à Noë, clarisque nepotibus exit;
 Unde patrum poterant labi de mente suorum
 Quas artes Noë vel quæ præcepta docebat,
 Condere semen humo, generosas ponere vites,
 Thuriferique pias fanis advolvere flammæ?
 Dum vivit magni proles infauſta Parentis,
 Inſcia vel Bacchum premere aut invertere glebam,
 Per valles clivosque famis ſolatia quærens
 Arte carens omni, virtutem indocta DEUMQUE.

Deinde ſuper maria ac terras quo more ſequemur
 Mirificis renovata modis quæcunque videmus?
 Omnia permutata, eadem licet omnia durant;
 Particulæ rerum fluitant, ſtat ſumma manetque.
 Nempe ea, quæ fontes rerum atq; elementa fatemur,
 Materies primas, quibus omnia corpora conſtant,
 Quæque novas ſumunt formas. Herbam Unda laborans
 Et plantas parit, in terramque coacta regeſcit;
 Diffuſa, aſſurgit Sphæræ ulterioris in orbem,
 Et guttis ſenſim expansis fluit humidus aer.
 Particulæ hæ tenues rursus tolluntur in altum;
 Ardeſcunt motu, clarumque agitantur in ignem:

Mox

Mox iterum iste ignis, crasso magis aere victus,
 Impulsusque deorsum, utero telluris in amplo,
 Permutat partes, neque cernitur amplius ignis;
 Sed pulvis rutilus jacet incoctumque metallum:
 Aut penetrans venans per magnæ corpora matris
 Reliquias veteres alia sub imagine ponit;
 Infusa vires resolutas temperat unda
 Mollior, & facili jam flumine lenior exit.

Divisa à notis rapiuntur flumina ripis,
 Immensumque ferent cumulatæ pondus arenæ,
 Merfa nigro in tumulo. Pluvia corrosus edaci,
 Ventorumque minis, descendet ad usque jacentem
 Planitiem, mons qui caput inter nubila condit:
 Planities gradibus surget sublimior æquis,
 Quàm steterant olim suprema cacumina montis:
 Sic Natura jubet; peraget, quod jusserit, Ætas.

Omnia sic fato lapsos mutante per annos
 Aut levia aut onerosa, minuta aut grandia fiunt:
 In nebulas ibit Jordani lympha futuras,
Pyramidum que fluet diffusa per aera moles:
Pisonis fluctus ætas ventura requiret,
 Et nulla inveniet Babeli signa Viator,

Hæ cum sæpe vices repetantur, mente tuemur
 Immota, tanquam naturæ jusserit ordo;
 Ast ubi plus solito fors una vel altera surgat,
 Magnificum incipiunt portenti ducere nomen.
 Implicitos flexus mens indefessa sequatur,
 Et ponat dubios operosa Scientia fines:
 An nusquam mirac'la extant, an ubique locorum?
 Alterutrum sumas; par forsitan error utrinque est,
 Avulsum

Avulsam trunco ramum, effœtumque flagellum
 Voce statim missa redivivas trudere frondes
 An mirere magis, quàm summi culmina clivi
 Vi brumæ spoliata altisque immerfa pruinis,
 Millia vere novo diffundere millia florum,
 Et reduces jactare comas, aliumque virorem?
 Æthere diviso, noctis reduuntibus umbris,
 Ambrosios hominum gentem decerpere fructus,
 An mirere magis, solito quàm pane recentes
 Ducere perpetuò languentia corpora vires;
 Et semen granumque, solo commissa fideli,
 Addere opès cumulis, & multiplicata renasci;
 Quæque manu parca fulcis modo sparcit arator,
 Mox onerare solum, lætasque effundere messes?

Quæ se cunque igitur dant sensibus obvia nostris,
 Seu vulgata palàm seu mira recondita rerum,
 Legibus à fixis naturæ sive solutis
 Proveniant, his perspectis id vincitur, omnem
 Effectum propriæ deduci ab origine Causæ
 Hinc certis gradibus se paulatim altius effert,
 Et longæ ascendens per nexum quemque catenæ,
 Surgit adhuc, donec cernat quandoque necesse est
 Principium & Fontem vitæ, Numenque supremum,
 Quod stetit à primis, & in ultima sæcula stabit.

Hunc magnum monstare DEUM Ratione magistra,
 Æternum, omnipotentem, atque omni ex parte beatum;
 Illius an vires animo metimur, & arctis
 Limitibus nostri audemus comprehendere sensûs?
 Ergone congestis vulvuntur cuncta sub undis
 Ultra explorati confinia diffita mundi?
 An DEUS, è tenebris nostrum qui sustulit orbem,
 Hos fluctus aliam jussit secernere terram;

Venturis

Venturis olim scindenda laboribus arva,
 Et nondum natis condendas gentibus urbes ?
 Ante revolventis quàm cursus lubricus ævi
 Exactis stadiis ter mille peregeit orbis ;
 Fortè ruent nostri imperium doctrinaque Mundi,
 Occiduasque artes fascesque ferentur ad oras.

Quà feror ingenti percussus imagine ? quæ Lux
 Tanta ferit sensus ? quò sacro rapta furore.
 Quò te, anima, attollis ? quid magnum albescere cerno
 Æquora per longè subjecta ? En ! Insula, sedes
 Imperli ; gens dives opum, intractabilis armis ;
 Justitia, & blando Clementia mollior ore
 Hic sedes posuere suas ; hæc maxima amatæ
 Plenius OMNIPOTENS indulsit munera terræ.
 Ad Zephyros etiam ulterius magnam Insula famam
 Occidua effundit ; classes victricibus armis
 Instruças, nondum exploratas mittit ad oras,
 Et terras, quas nos fluctus cœlumque putamus.
 Inter utroque polos audit resonantia facta,
 Imperiumque regit, nullum quod terminat æquor ;
 Intrepidas ducit naves, & carbasa pandit
 Intra alios secura Indos Orbemque secundum.

ALBION ante omnes (illo se nomine quondam
 Jactabit) belloque diù famaue vigebit ;
 Magna diù, fatis dilecta Monarchia franget
 Invidiæ dentes, & iniquas temporis iras :
 Extensos felix venerandaque stabit in annos,
 Incertasque vices rerum immutata videbit.
 Cedent cuncta tamen communi subruta fato ;
 Ipsa augusta, ingens, morti, licèt ultima, cedet.

Jamque oculos humili nimium in tellure morantes
 Cœrulei Cœli magna in convexa levemus :

En ! quale aulæ fluitantis more patescit,
 Nunc matutino pictum variumque rubore ;
 Luce super media flavo velamine fulgens,
 Nigro indutum horrore per alta silentia noctis,
 Unde umbra & lumen certo discrimine surgunt
 Alternis ? unde hos varios trahit Æthra colores ?
 Quid dux illa animi Ratio plus reddere possit,
 Quam Solem rutilo diffundere lumina Cælo,
 Et radiis inde amotis assurgere noctem,
 Splendoremque novum reduces accendere flammæ ?

Sed frustra Auroræ roseum speramus amictum ;
 Velârunt imbres, aut incubuere vapores ;
 Speramus frustra solita flavedine spargi
 Lucis iter medium ; aut tempestas ingruit atra,
 Aut subitum emicuit fulgur. Nunc horrida densis
 Nox cælo incumbit tenebris, fœcunda timorum ;
 Gaudia nunc eadem parit, attonitique videmus
 Innumeras Stellas, æternaque lumina Mundi,
 Maturate, fenes, totasque intendite vires
 Ingeniï, & multo tandem sudore repertas
 Narrate aeras resolutas usque columnas,
 Circuitusque undarum, & torta volumina fumi.
 Dat Responsum alias voces, frustra que refartum
 Quassa novis fulcit compagibus Argumenta :
 Dissimili sub veste latens Ænigma recurrit ;
 Quærentemque eludit inixtricabilis Error.

En ! Sol indomitus robusti more Gigantis
 Immenso varios rotat orbe volubilis orbes,
 Dum duplici vehitur cursu ; tamen ordine certo
 Mutaturque dies, finisque imponitur Anno.
 Mox ubi decurso pronus redit æthere, blandum
 Tempus agens fessis ; placidaque involvitur umbra

Terra filens; tacitum dat Luna alterna nitorem,
 Languidulumque diem radiis diffundit amicis:
 Ipsa tamen certis, mutabilis ora, recurrit
 Legibus, & jussos observat menstrua cursus.
 Quisque Planetarum proprio revolutus in orbe
 Libratis fertur splendenti tramite pennis:
 Quisque sua varium jactat pro forte nitorem,
 Et regit inclusos diviso in limite currus;
 Dumque volans aditum super arva liquentia scindit,
 Alterius neque vim confert neque detrahit alis.
 Anne hi splendescunt vero fulgore Planetæ?
 An sua quemque dies illustrat & insitus ardor?
 An verum est, quod jam vestri explicuere labores,
 Observare omnes Solem, atque hoc ducere fonte
 Furtivos radios, & non sua mittere tela?

Millia quinetiam Stellarum millia cerno,
 Quas neque lineolæ cohibent, neque quadra, nec orbes;
 (Heu! normæ tenues, finitæ copia mentis,
 Cum feritur, vel aratur humus, cum condimus ædes.)
 Luce tamen diffusa adeo variaque refulgent,
 Quanta manum loquitur, quæ finxerat, Infinitam.
 Quam forma exilis, quam gloria parva videtur
 Humani ingenii summo quæsitâ labore,
 Si juxtâ spectetur amabile consonus ordo,
 Quem Natura jubet, statuit quem Spiritus orbis!

Si verò in nostras descendat mitius oras
 Vivida vis Solis, nimio neque torreat igne;
 Ardoris sese extendit pars quantula sphaeris
 Divisis longo spatio, cœloque remoto?
 Stellarumque, acies nostri quas languida visus
 Eterno fixas cœli sub fornice cernit,
 Quæque suis opibus, nativo & dives honore,

Fortè vibrat validos propriis de fontibus ignes,
 Sol Ipsa; atque alios orbes, oculisque negatas
 Humanis, lustrat diffuso lumine Terras.
 Forsitan & fuso circum æthere cornua Lunæ
 Diminuunt reparantque novæ, surguntque caduntquæ;
 Atque alia hos circum volvuntur Sydera Soles,
 Quæ nostræ in morem Telluris femina certis
 Fœtibus apta ferunt, regionesque ordine certo
 Divisas, terrasque suas, suaque æquora nôrunt.
 Hi tamen ardentès adeò radicitus Orbes,
 Clara receptac'la, & fœcundi lumine fontes,
 Inter se alternis possunt (ut quisque profundo
 Ætheris in gremio propiusve aut longius absit)
 Igne minore Astrum vel nobiliore videri;
 Altoque in Spatiò, cui cœlum nomen & aer,
 Mille simul Terræ, Lunæ, Solesque latere
 Immensi, quos nostra incassum lumina quærunt!

Necquicquam effusum spatiis crescentibus orbem
 Metiri, aut certum meditamur ponere centrum;
 Sphæra ingens se expandit adhuc, nescitque teneri
 Limite vel ficto, mentemque irridet inanem.

Quò tot diffugere igitur radiantia Monstra,
 Quêis vestri attonitum conceptus æthera complent?
 Effigies vanæ qua mundi in parte manebunt?
 Chaldæi nempe in cerebro, piëtisque tabellis.

Hoc Problema tamen, quod Opinio parturit æq.
 Progeniem Veri fas fit concedere; Stellas
 Has cœli nitidas, quæ sic terrentque juvantque
 Mirantes oculos, trepidos lætosque tuendo,
 Esse orbes modulo numeroque & sine carentes.
 An verò hi pandunt radios, sphærasque revolvunt,

Nempè

Nempè tibi ut placeant, tibi lucis munera præsent,
 Nil nisi pulvis, Homo; conclusus corporis arcto
 Limite, curriculoque ævi brevior coactus?
 Jure pari minima in terris Formicula jactet
 In sua Caucaseum vestigia surgere Clivum:
 Sic Limax, magnos Lebani se extendere saltus,
 Quèis ipse incedat latè, & sibi colligat escam:
 Sic tenuissima Concha, inhians in littoris ora
 Latè exporrecti circum vasta æquora, dicat,
 Eminùs incultum pendere per aëra saxum,
 Ipsa equidem fundo ut lateat securior imo;
 Oceanique omnes pariter concurrere vires,
 Ut levet ipsa sitim, testamque agitata nitescat.

Intrepidis Dea se rapiens sublimius alis
 Corporeos orbis, Cælumque locale relinquit:
 Quèis formata animis Superùm gens pristina, quærit,
 Aut ubi sint campi quos incoluere creati.
 Impavido MICHAELI audacia LUCIFER arma

 Tela adversa tulere & scuta minantia scutis:
 Plauserit ovans Cælum, tremuitque doloribus Orcus.
 Hæ quænam formæ, quas vestra volumina narrant?
 Ut stabat bene fida, ut perfida turma peribat!
 Hæc damnata pati diros sine fine labores,
 Numinis æternum exilium, longasque catenas,
 Horrendis vicibus miseros vexare lacertos,
 Per liquidum sudans sulphur, solidosve per ignes.
 Altera primævæ dum surgit ad atria lucis,
 Delicias inter vivas, à fonte fluentes
 Æterno, quorum rara intervalla voluptas
 Tempestate gravi patitur, veneranda JEHOVÆ
 Cum mandata vocant vindictæ effundere nimbum

Atrocem in Regis stomachum, Populumque rebellem.
 Aut magni trepidanda refigere iussa TOMANTIS,
 Et narrare manu lapsuras fulminas iras,
 Cum ponit supplex animos fastumque Tyrannus,
 Et plorat Populus lacrymosa in veste rebellis.
 Quî Superi possint cœlorum in limite claudî?
 Quî cerni Facies, finis quam nulla coërcet?
 Summa vel ima DEUS, tenet hæc, tenet ista locorum?
 Omnia qui finxit, nonne omnia numine complet?
 O! ubi nigra cohors talem scrutabitur umbram,
 Tam spissam tenebris, Lumen quæ fallat acutum,
 Sublimem Autorem visûs, oculique Parentem?

Angelus intereà quid creditur esse? videtur
 Mens pura? an solidum corpus, seu mollior aër?
 Mentis nulla operum nisi mentibus apta secutæ,
 Pectoribus nostris faciles, animisque propinquæ,
 Internos tantùm motus sub corde cierent,
 Se neque subjicerent externo luminis igni.
 Nonne autem nostri quondam noverè Parentes
 Esse illis sensumque dapum, cumque artibus ossa?
 Ni foret, ABRAMUS fessos potuitne lavare,
 Aut SARA jucundis epulis lenire palatum?
 Surgeret unde timor? què LOTI audacia, captos
 Eripere, & sævum membris arcere furorum?
 Quo more ingressus certamina vera JACOBUS
 Luctantis Seraphini ictus persensit iniquos?
 Qua vi Materiæ potuit se opponere Forma,
 Aut Anima exilis mortalia tangere Membra?

Aëre densato constant, radiisve coactis?
 Unde igitur flectuntque animos, & nostra per auras
 Vota ferunt? ipsos levibus ludibria ventis
 Spargeret aufer agens, & turbine ferret iniquo,

An credam indutos (ut sacro carmine fertur)
 Materiem veram, solidasque ad corpora vires ?
 Quî fit (quandoquidem nos æqua forte potitos
 Numen idem circum expansis complectitur alis)
 Ipsis fortia adhuc florescere lætaque membra,
 Dum nostri languent pereuntque doloribus artus ?
 Cur, Nobis sub valle diù lactantibus ima
 Contra pauperiem & curas, morbumque necemque,
 Ipsi perpetuæ producunt munera vitæ
 Mellifluos inter cantus scenasque virentes ?

E nihilo jussit pulcrum confurgere Mundum ;
 Sæculaque evolvens tanquam spatia arcta diei,
 Instituit Lucem radios expandere amicos,
 Et Solem Lunamque suos agnoscere cursus.
 Ille utero à cæco emisit revolubile Tempus,
 Præscriptoque dedit vestigia flectere gyro :

 Effusæque horæ, & breviores tempores omnes
 Particulæ agglomerant, & deinde haud amplius extant.
 Ipse idem & primus rerum & postremus, ad instar
 Artificis figuli, veluti matrice profundam
 Hanc sphæram effinxit, jussitque effulgere, qualem
 Attonitis oculis & læta mente videmus.

At nutu mutare valet vel perdere Totum ;
 Et sacrum illud opus, stellatum, illustre Volumen
 Membranæ in morem crepitantibus urere flammis :
 Terramque extemplò, divulsam à sedibus imis,
 Fluctibus ut fervent tumidis liquefacta metalla,
 Ignibus undantem diffundere——

Solus ab æterno, prima ante exordia rerum,
 OMNIPOTENS, Æther, Tellus, Mare, Sydera fiant,
 Dixit ; Erant. Atque his quondam contraria fata
 Cum statuet, jubeat, cessabunt esse : verendum
 Hoc juvat Argumentum audaci diceri lingua,
 Hoc ingens sacrumque æterna in sæcula Nomen ;
 Hunc juvat enarrare DEUM.——

Mirati mea verba, Senes siluere ; stupentes
 Mutua in alternos flexerunt lumina vultus,
 Respondere nihil, nihil ausi efferre ; pudorem
 Turba filens celare cupit, proditque silendo.
 Dum quidam, gravitas cui vestiit ora serena,

Cui major Vulgo fulgebat gratia, cœpit;
 Ulteriùs non posse animi contendere vires,
 Discere quàm nostræ felicia dogmata vocis;
 Esse mei, dictare; sui que, attendere dictis;
 Me cunctis simul Imperio Ingenioque priorem;
 Gentesque attonitas uno fremere ore, disertum
 Cedere laude mihi JESSEDEM, cedere MOSEM.
 Genua alter flexit, facturus verba; futura
 Sæcula prospexit nostrum venerantia nomen;
 Prudentùm ô vivas Tu Prudentissime, dixit;
 Nil oriturum alias, nihil ortum tale fatemur.

O Vitii fœcunda parens, ô pestis Honesti
 Suadela artificis linguæ! tua femina dira,
 Tempestate parùm fausta dextraque nefanda,
 Luxuriante solo Virtutis sparsa, repente
 Viribus exauctis culta inter splendida surgunt,
 Et teneros urunt campi ridentis honores.

Interea cruciata animos sine honore Caterva,
 Scrutanti mihi muta, ferent ad fydera laudes
 Altius insonuit. Quo Res è fonte fluebant,
 Aut quî sic extant, ultrò nescire fatetur,
 Plurima qui novit; sed cernunt temporis omnes
 Scilicet occulti fatum, eventusque futuros,

Jamque adeo dirimunt Vates, victique Sophistæ
 Commiffas verborum acies & inania bella.
 At non Rabini, Logici non cedere nôrunt;
 Usque recedentes certant; campoque relicto
 Inviti admittunt ingrata Silentia pacis,
 Dedecorique Artis cupiunt obducere nubem,
 Diversis eadem linguis narrare laborant;
 Per longas verborum ambages cognita rerum

Exponunt; vanas leges præceptaque fingunt,
 Artifices voces, & dissona verba Scholarum;
 Dogmata fucatis male fulta coloribus artis,
 Argutosque Sales Rationi opponere certant.

Nec mora, quin sese studia in contraria scindit
 Discors turba Senum: quod fortiter afferit Ille,
 Hic negat; hostili lingua sibi quisque vicissim
 Appetit alterius raptam de fronte coronam.

Ut premit humanos Caligo miserrima Sensus!
 Quisque novus falsa Specie prætextitur Error,
 Palantesque incerta eludit lucis imago.

Gens hominum infelix! vestri ex quo sanguinis Auto,
 Opprobrio petiit connexis frondibus umbram;
 Ut labem primi foboles imitata Parentis
 Eiusdem repetit veteris vestigia culpæ!
 Turpe patet nimium nudatæ infamia Mentis;
 Cur ita diffusum quærens celare pudorem
 Eloquii tibi vela paras, pictosque colores?

Blandifluis verbis arridens ore sereno,
 Ægrum dixi animum placido sermone levare;
 Ast iterum tacitæ conversus in intima mentis,
 Anxius, hæc imo necquicquam corde revolvi.
 Multùm exploranti frustra Labor usque recurrit;
 Quæsi tandem, plus ponderis intus haberet
 Lux nostri an Caligo animi; stant lancibus æquis:
 Tollitur hæc fursùm, deflectitur illa deorsùm.

Conscia jam demùm Ratio me agnoscere cogit,
 Nos bene scire nihil, dum plurima scire videmur.

Accumulat curas pacis melesana cupido.
 Materiæ finesne datur transcendere Menti?
 Quisve mihi quid sit Spatium, quid Tempora, dicat?
 Necquicquam ad cæcos aspirant Lumina tractus,
 Quos DEUS æterna jussit caligine volvi:
 Scrutator petit usque; sed effugit usque petitem.
 Pars ista exilis, quam nisu addiscimus ægro,
 Ulteriora sequi suadet, fallitque sequentem,
 Quodque latet, frustra Mens indagare laborat.
 Convulsum lacerat Sententia multa cerebrum:
 Mutantur mentes; tamen usque revertitur Error;
 Cura animum gravior, meditantem plura, fatigat.

Quam tenui clausa orbiculo Sapiëntia sudat!
 Perlustrat terras; sperat comprehendere cœlum;
 Obscuras fessis nubes nunc pervolat alis,
 Nunc acri perculsa Diei luce vagatur;
 Latèque expansi supremo à culmine tractûs
 Vix, trepidante oculo, vidit eminùs INFINITUM.

Pectore fige memor, sacro ex ardore sciendi,
 ADAMO prognate, tuos fluxisse bolores.
 Cur vano ulterius cursu tibi corda fatigas?
 Cur vetitos captat temeraria dextera fructus;
 Dum nisu eluso sudans, vacuoque labore
 Expetis ut vitam quæsitâ Scientia pandat?
 Æterno à sacrâ depelleris Arbore fato,
 Quam circum ardescunt Gladii, CHERUBESQUE minantur.

INunc, disce moras & tædia longa dierum
 Fallere, sollicitæque oblivia ducere Vitæ:
 I facilem jam quære viam, & melioribus usus
 Auspiciis, blandæ felicia dona Salutis
 Gratâ fume manu; Curarum à tramite nigro,
 A vario errorum flexu, quem volvere suadet
 Mens studiosa Boni, vestigia flecte nitentes
 Ad Campos, suavesque locos, quibus itur ad almam
 Lætitiâ, teneros lusus, lentamque quietem;
 Utile securus fugias, ut dulce sequaris:

 Nec videt innexis circum cratera corollis

Ecquid inexpertum restat, quod pectoris ægri
 Mulceat infanos æstus, Curasque resolvat ?
 Restat Amor : propera, salientibus imbibe venis

 Hanc tandem extremam ne parce adhibere medelam

Quis malus hic languor ? vel quæ tam fera moratur

 Quin agite ô fidi citius properate ministri,

 Omnis Amicarum cœtus Sponsæque frequentes
 Indutæ nitidos, celebrent convivia, cultus ;
 Quas plaga nostra tulit, quas extera regna, volentum
 Munera seu Regum fuerint, seu præmia Martis.
 Ordine quæque suo nostri studiosa favoris
 Prodeat, & meritam referet Pulcherrima palmam.

Hæc ubi dicta, onerant mensas, cyathosque coronant ;
 Unà omnes studiisque favent, fremituque secundo :
 Nec mora, progreditur Nympharum splendidus Ordo :
 Ante alias Una arripuit tenuitque morantes
 Ardentesque oculos : memori quàm pectore servo
 Semina nascentis flammæ, dulcesque dolorum
 Primitias ! Virgo plenis jam nubilis annis,
 Gentis erat Phariæ : quæ læti gratia vultûs
 Spirabat ! quæ forma ! ut mollia membra movebat,
 Incessu facili gressus ornata decoros !
 Pectore candenti teretes tumuere papillæ,
 Nec Zona cohibente : fluebat nigra soluto
 Cæsaries nodo, multoque errabat in orbe
 Per nitidos diffusa humeros & lactea Colla.

Ore avido intuitus Nympham, placidoque beatus
 Vulnere, adeste (inquam) nascentem augete Sodales
 Lætitiâ, mollique toro properate recentes
 Accumulare rosas, dum prodiga veris odori

Copia deficiat ; lasciva in tempora Myrrhæ
 Lacrymulas suavemque Electri fundite rorem,
 Fundite opes Arabum varias : date carmen amicum,
 Et pulsate lyram fidibusque adjuncta canoris
 Tympana ; Tuque ades, ô formæ pulcherrima Virgo,
 Tu, cujus rosea ora & clari fulgur ocelli
 Delicias spirant, toto quas pectore Princeps
 Exoptat : palmam referas, atque annue votis.
 O Virgo ante alias, quam regius ardet Amator,
Eum qui sceptrâ quatit metuenda per orbem !

Sic fatus, Solioque simul delapsus ab aureo,
 Passu humili accedens, oblatis pignus amoris
 Tendebam supplex ; altæque Insignia Frontis
 Exutus, Nymphæ crines ornare parabam,
 Sollicito prodens ardentia pectora vultu.
 O Virgo dilecta (iterumque iterumque rogabam)
 Indue, quam merita es, palmam, & spectanda decoræ
 Præmia frontis habe ; Sociis prælata puellis
 Splendebis ; Sociæ peragent tua jussa puellæ.
 Surge age, deliciæ ; sequere ô mea sola voluptas !

Protinus heu ! quantus dolor ingruit ! ut furor ardens
 Invasit sensus, & perculit intima cordis ;
 Cum fertum abjecit Virgo, fastuque modesto
 Tristior, avertens candentia colla, refugit !

Luçantem jussit celare Superbia curam ;
 Ægrum animum queror, & somni Solatio posco :
 Mox Epulas medias dejectâ fronte reliqui
 Sollicitus ; fidæque dedi mandata Cohorti,
 Qui servant nostras veteri de more puellas,
 Ut ducant Nympham thalami in secreta, torisque
 Ornatis Dominum instantem sperare juberent.

Anxius

Anxius atque moræ impatiens (Amor Iraque mentem Præcipitant) Nympham sequor indefessus iniquam;
Accessi donisque petens precibusque fatigans,
Imbelleſque iterum gemitus & mollia vota
Turpiter effudi; querulo jam murmure supplex,
Elatâ mox voce minans: neglectaque dona
Ante pedes iterum posui; seu mallet Amoris
Cedere deliciis, seu certæ occumbere morti.

Illa sed invictas aures inimica tenebat;
Et paulum avertens, irâ misſoque dolore,
Occupat, Hic ille est SOLOMON? totumque per orbem
Hæc memorata adeo magni Sapiencia Regis?

Te coram hoc imbelle vides horrescere corpus;
Id Fortuna potest; nescit mens libera frangi;
Victorisque minas & inania vincula temnit.

Te Fama est, Vatum Princeps, Te posse Deorum
Abdita, naturamque Hominum, moresque Ferarum
Pandere; Te docto sermone exponere cæci
Ut turbant animum affectus, utque arbitra fluctus
Componit Ratio; arrestæque edicere turbæ
Quo veniant de fonte & Amara & Dulcia Vitæ:
Grande Tibi Imperium efferri, mundique capacem
Latiùs expatiari animum; Teque optima lætos
Per populos dare jura. Ubi nunc celebrata potentis
Vis animi, dubiisque sagax Prudentia rebus?
Heus ubi nunc, Judex Populi venerande, vagatur?
Quid tibi mens agitat? quid jam meditaris? Amorem?
Res Amor incerta est: hac unâ ab origine luctus
Gaudiaque exundant; varios hinc Vita colores
Induitur; tristisque dies vel candidus ibit,
Explicat ut facilis vel contrahit ora Cupido,

Ille:

Ille pius sanctusque excelsi DAVIDIS Hæres
 Ancillam, Ignoramque, & sacra aliena colentem,
 Ad summi veneranda Tori fastigia ducet ?
 Aut concede tuâ periisse hæc nomina flammâ,
 Atque instar lethi discrimina tollere Amorem;
 Dum tamen indomitas misero sub pectore vires
 Exercet, Tu sola Deum per vulnera sentis ;
 Sæviet implacatus adhuc ; frontem usque severam
 Contrahet, atra mei nisi vincant nubila Rîsus.

Sponte sua surgens Amor, ut radicibus Arbos
 Partitis, gemino vires de pectore ducit,
 Æqua utrinque alimenta trahens ; dum pectora flammæ
 Utraque dant similes, & mutua gaudia miscent.
 Donec Spes foveat jucunda & læta Voluptas,
 Germine se expandunt viridantia, prodiga multis
 Floribus, & circum suaves funduntur odores.
 Pabula si blanda hæc defint, hic mutuus ardor
 Deficiat ; languet collapsa vertice Planta,
 Nudaque Spe, lento confecta dolore, recumbit.

Vi sævâ vinc'lisque immitia corda ferarum
 Vincimus : expugnant Humanum Mollia pectus.
 Nil profecturas age fortiter exere vires,
 Irâ animum fatians ; nec inania gaudia speres
 Virgine ab invitâ ; spolies licet invidus arva,
 Non messem referes optatam. En ! aspice regni
 Quam tibi sint arcti fines ; Te torva tuentem
Judæi metuant, patriâque superbus in Aulâ
 Se jactet SOLOMON : sed lætâ fronte petendus
 Mollis Amor ; folium lentis accede verendum
 Passibus ; utque abeas felix, assuesce placere.

Nil tamen hîc artes poterunt præstare placendi :
 Est mihi, qui dedùm sibi me devinxit ; amores
 Abstulit Ille meos : nec Jussa minæque feroces
 Abrumpent fœdus, patriis quod carus in oris
 Mecum iniit Juvenis ; junxit data dextra vicissim
 Concordes ; neque vana animos fiducia fallat.
 Ad superas arces se mutua vōta ferebant,
 Cælituumque Cohors libratam utrinque bilanci
 Spectaverè fidem, lætùm plaudentibus alis,
 Fœderaquæ æternis servârunt condita fastis.

Quin age, jam gladius præcordia transeat ; aufer
 His oculis dudùm contemptæ munera lucis :
 Me moriente tui malesanos pectoris ignes
 Extinguas, sævæque odium immutabile Nymphæ ;
 Sanguis enim errantes animato in corpore venas
 Dum movet, extremusque regit mihi spiritus artus,
 (Obtestor metuenda Ægypti Numina) sævis
 Te sequar usque odiis ; Tu spe languebis ademptâ.

Quin ferias, inquit ; nudumque ad vulnera pectus
 Exposuit : memoretur in ultima sæcula fastis
 Judaicis, Stimulante libidine, DAVIDE natum
 Sanguineâ jugulâsse manu, sua gaudia, servam.

Mox lecto exiliens, trepidus victusque pudore,
 Sic mecum ; heu ! nimio languefcans pectora luxu,
 Exere te, SOLOMON, lapsamque recollige mentem ;
 Tecum agita, & taciti nascentur sponte dolores.
 Per longam annorum seriem cum vana voluptas
 Spes avidas umbra duxit fugiente, (superbum
 Sic Fortuna animum illudit) quod pectore toto
 Optavi impatiens, habet improba Nympha, negatque.
 Ergone me Regem Judæi, mene fatentur

Gentes ?

Gentes? & mea vox trepidantia stamina vitæ
 Conservat dirimitque, ancillam corpore flexo
 Dum veneror, ridetque meas Virguncula vires?

An rapiam invitam? fugiat tam turpis Imago!
 Hoc pronò pecori Me æquaverit.-----Anne remittam?
 O! quas ad terras, atque hei mihi, cujus in ulnas?
 Illuc quæ SOLOMON nunquam vestigia figet;
 Brachia quæ Juvenis ferventia pandet amatus,
 Cui servans decus Illa suam, munera spernit.

Improbe Amor, quales misero de corde triumphos
 Sævus agis! quam triste jugum! quam cuspis iniqua!
 Illæsus vivit, qui fræna audire recusat;
 Et lacerant fidos asperrima vulnera servos.

En! Tibi Judææ Princeps dat colla; quid optes
 Nobilius? spolia unde magis memoranda reportes?
 Cur Nympha usque adeo sævam intractabilis aurem
 Obstruit oranti, neque regia vota moratur?
 Nescio quem vilem populi de face Babulcum
 Cur petit, ardentisque amplexus DAVIDE nati
 Contemnit? demens, quæ Principis atria spernat,
 Quæ pompam inter opesque effusaque gaudia lætus
 Regnat Amor. Casa nimirum, Casa sordida, summo
 Monte temens, ventis sævoque obnoxia cælo,
 Avocat; hîc vivos compescet pectoris ignes
 Res augusta domi, veneremque extinguet egestas.

Ah nimis! imperium viresque fatentur Amoris
 Sollicitæ Gentes, fanis quæ numen adorant:
 Gnara Dei vultus vivo de marmore ducit
 Græcia, vel fuso spirantem ostendit in auro;
 Quem Cyprus colit, atque aris imponit honorem.

Arcum

Arcum dextra minax gestat, lævoque pharetra
 Ex humero latus ad medium demissa, sagittas
 Suffinet, immitis lacrymosa Insignia regni.
 Infidet ala duplex humeris, quas Ille fugaces
 Jam movet accelerans; reduces mox flectere gaudet;
 Huc, illuc, utcunque animum regit aura protervum.
 Sic mihi, sic sese Deus obtulit improbus, ex quo
 Jam primùm visâ concepi Virgine flammâs.
 Transfixit pectus, celerique avertitur alâ;
 Dira hominum pestis! pereant, precor, aspera tela,
 Quæ fixere meo tantum sub pectore vulnus!
 O! utinam mea vota fugam tardare valerent!
 Lassatus trepides, pennâ languenti moreris,
 Ni cursum huc teneas, versamq; reducere Nympham
 Appropres, ægro meditans solatia Regi.

Dum luctantem animam premerent hæc vincula,
 Nymphæ

Heu! frustrâ cupidam, meditantem obliviam frustrâ;
 Hinc Ratio admonuit, sed fortiùs insitit illinc
 Sævus Amor: fluitante animo, mutabar in horas,
 Curarum indomitus cum tandem involveret Æstus
 Spe nudum, vici cedendo obstantia Fata.
 Longa Diès curas paulatim absterfit eundo,
 Collectasque iterum Sapiencia duxit habenas.

At brevia heu! longos abrumpunt otia luctus;
 Tarda venit requies; celeri pede Cura recurrit.
 Altera mox Virgo (sic invida fata volebant
 Pascere idem in venis aliâ sub imagine vulnus)
 Altera formosas Virgo comitata cohortes,
 Quas inter vacuas fallebam suaviter horas,
 Ante alias semper sese obtulit impigra, Jussa
 Præveniens, motusque oculi servabat herilis;

Abra (hoc nomen erat) comes adstitit usque parato
Obsequio; prima accessit, postrema reliquit.

Abra animo vigili prævertit verba vocantis,
Et quamvis aliam accirem, tamen adfuit Abra.

Sollicito ardentem studio videre puellam
Jamdudum æquales: risum officiosa movebat
Sedulitas; me verò haudquaquam infueta videntem
Impatiens labor iste operosaque Cura latebat.
Dum tandem admonuit Fama, insolitosque ministræ
Ipse etiam sensi fervere conscius ignes.

Cum Sol occiduum pronus jam sparferat ignem,
Tranquillâ sub nocte negotia longa diei
Diluere, atque animo volui dare fessus habenas,
Fæmineis secreta fovens convivia tectis.
Accumbens purgare manus lustralibus undis
(Sic veneranda jubent legum mandata) parabam.
Abra suas tum fortè vices fortita, recentem
Rite dabat lympham & dulces miscebat odores.

Mox humiles demissa genas & supplice passu
Lenta aderat Virgo, pronoque in vertice dulces
Infundens latices, trepidabat corpore toto.
Jamque meos inhians vultus ardensque tuendo,
Conscia mox oculos raptim revocabat, & imo
Necquicquam obluētans suspiria corde trahebat.
Unde, inquam, innocuæ veniant tibi, Nympha, dolores?
Curarum vanâ cur ludis imagine? Vitæ
Secreto sic calle latens, Tu pectoris æstus
Nostin? Tu curasque & gaudia, spesque metusque?
Nimirum tuto sub pectore, blandula Virgo,
Cor tibi molle latet, Veneris neque palpitat ictu.

Erubuit,

Erubuit, linguâ titubanto locuta; Pudorque
Ornavit fractam vocem & trepidantia verba.

Supplicis ancillæ series miseranda dolorum
Si fortè attentas intrabit Principis aures,
Ah! ne, dum referat, vultum indue, quo trepidantes:
Per populos das jura; Superciliique minacis
Absint horrentes rugæ, frontisque verenda
Majestas; & amica exporrige mitiùs ora.

Est mandare Tuum, mihi Jussa capeffere fas est:
Et quanquam ah! renovem crudelia vulnera fando:
Si modò Tu facilem vultum præbere querenti
Digneris, luctus si Rex miseretur obortos,
Perfruar his lacrymis & fundam fræna dolori.

Te, Tellus, & Vos, ô conscia fydera, testor,
Celari neque enim fas est; incendor amore:
Si fitamor, venis effrænem agitare furorem,
Et sine Spe miserum nutrire in pectore vulnus.

Magne Parens, animas hominum qui numine torques
Occulta, varioque doces se flectere motu;
Cur blanda avertens morbo medicamina, tantis
Abjungis spatiis causam finemque dolorum?
Ille, meo sævos qui pectore suscitât ignes,
Splendentique oculo neglectam heu! perculit Abram;
Obscurâ si stirpe satus, si Patre Bubulco
Vixisset Custosve boum, pecorisve magister;
Manè comes summos superâram sedula montes,
Ardentesque æstus temnens, brumamque rigentem;
Usque rogans, mediam quâ falleret arbore lucem.
Ille ubi nocte domum speratus venerat hospes,
Condideram dulci convivia inempta labore;
Anxia & impatiens, humilis de culmine tecti,

Obvia venturo misissem ardentia longè
 Lumina per campos ; trepida inter spemque metumque,
 Gaudia dum secum ferret rediviva, canisque
 Blandulus adventum Domini monstraret amati.
 Illum Ego, cervici teneræ nudisque papillis
 Acclimen, dulces suasissem carpere fomnos :
 Et capate à molli, Phœbi redeuntis ad ortum,
 Sollicita elapsum subducere lene lacertum,
 Exieram, fœtus stabulo missura coactos,
 Et Pecori blanda, & Pastoris amica quieti.

Sin vultu meliore Deus, flammæque benignus,
 (Nec mihi vana fides tam puram inpectora flammam
 Cœlitus immitti) natalem ornaverat horam
 Splendore imperii & Proavorum Stemmata longo,
 Cor impunè altum se evexerat, & mea vota
 Spirâram faciles dilecti in Principis aures

Sic nata, attigeram has terras prior ipsa Sabæâ
 Principe, spectandum Formâ magis omnibus unum
 Lustratura Virum ; molles avidâ aure Poetæ
 Exceptura sonos & ab ore fluentia mella.
 Libassem simul à roseis redolentia labris
 Oscula, quæ dulces vicissent thuris odores,
 Ut vultus atque ora Viri laudare juvâset
 Singulaque eximæ miracula pingeræ formæ !
 Quam radii mites oculorum ? solis ad instar,
 Pura repercussos ignes cum temperat unda !
 Quam rubet aureus ora ; sinumque argenteus albet !
 Flexibus intorti placidis nigredine crines
 Cornicis plumam exsuperant ; certare labellis
 Coccineus metuat rubor, Hesperiumque corallum.
 Ut dentes nitido stant ordine, more cœvi
 Jam tonfi Gregis, emerisque à flumine vivo,
 Candida in aprico ficcantis vellera saxo !

Sapphiris

Sapphiris ut siquis ebur rutilantibus ornet,
 Vena super niveam turgescens cærulea dextram
 Effulget. Quas Crura ostentant fortia vires,
 Quamque decora nitent, Parias imitata Columnas!
 Ut toto attollit se corpore! surgit in auras
 Palmæ instar, pinuque caput sublimior effert.
 Suavè crocum redolent Vestes Myrrhamque fluentem.
 Et caput ambrosii circùm jactantur odores.
 Quid loquor aut ubi sum? heu! infelix, inscîa Virgo!
 Quin morere ô! morere Abra; cheu nimis ausa fateri
 Quam Tibi Cor ardens aspirat Principis alto
 Misceri amplexu, ferosque beare nepotes;
 Plaudente ut populo Te illustret regia Proles,
 Felicemque novis jactes SOLOMONIBUS alvum.

Hic lacrymis lingua interrupta filescit obortis;
 Curarum ô tristis series! melesana Puella!
 Cor mihi, multa dolens nuper, nova spicula temnit;
 In me frustra alij meditentur vulnus ocelli.
 Hei mihi! adhuc altè cruciatis sensibus hæret
 Hærebitque diu vetus atque horrenda Cicatrix,
 Et Pharium vinculum spretique injuria voti.

Quum penitens (dixi) poterit volventibus annis
 Principis opprobrii vanascere tristis Imago;
 Alta iterum in summâ Ratio dominabitur arce,
 Atque iterum SOLOMON lapsos revocabit honores.
 Luserit Affectus, seu Marte subegerit Hostis,
 Cautior intendat totos Sapia nervos,
 Servatâque semel metuat virtute relabi.

Abra sed interea——quæsitâ accedere ad ora
 Sæpiùs indulgi; nam sic Clementia suasit
 Ancillæ miseros paulùm lenire dolores.
 Verus Amor vultuque animoque ardente patebat;
 K 2 Tangimur

Tangimur & veros ultrò miseresчимus ignes.
 Assiduam blandâ spectavi fronte ministram ;
 Et semper studiosam accedere, sæpe vocavi.
 Inque dies jam Nympha magis dilecta magisque
 Paulatim in venas tacitum insinuavit amorem.

Sera ubi fãmíneis agerem convivia tectis,
 (Jam tum sola dedi leviuscula tempora Nymphæ)
 Illius à dextrâ pomorum gratia major,
 Illius à dextrâ meliùs sapuere Placentæ.
 Sed pomis decessit odor, dulcedo placentis,
 Constructas nisi blanda epulas ornaverat Abra :
 Necquicquam vinum rutilanti ardebat in auro,
 Ridentem nisi blanda admoverat Abra liquorem.
 Carmina miscerent cum vespertina Puellæ
 Æquantés parili citharæ modulamina cantu ;
 Languidiùs Vox illa, argutiùs illa sonabat.
 Altera inops artis, nimis altera prodiga vifa est :
 Nec placuere mihi numeri, nisi funderet Abra
 Sola melos : Sociis prælata, insignior ibat ;
 Nec tenuis nitidos comitata est gloria cultus,
 Arctiùs ut crines còhibebat splendida Vitta,
 Pulcrior emicuit contractæ gratia frontis ;
 Utque tumescebant nive candidiora, Pyropi
 Pectora vicini commendavere rubores :
 Baccatæ armillæ teretes auxere lacertos,
 Et varii varium decus incendere lapilli.
 Quin magis ut placuit. magis hinc studiosa placendi
 Gratiór effulfit radiantis coufcia formæ.

Jam tandem veteris repetita opprobria flammæ
 Respicere à tergo poteram & culpata fateri :
 Saucia corda libet paulùm lenine vicissim,
 Conceptosque fovere astris melioribus ignes.
 Quid (dixi) ferat Abra mali? que causa timoris?

Tam

Tam tenera insultare potest? tam blandula lædet?
 Unquamne ambivit quidquam nisi posse placere?
 Deliciis fruar illæsus, facilemque recessum
 Inveniam; sine fraude animum solabitur Abra,
 Et Pax alma semel comitem sese addet amori.

Magne Deus, quam cæcus Homo est! quam forte iniquæ

Ludibrium infelix; laqueos sibi tendere natus!
 Viribus heu! nostris nimium confidimus; hostis
 Nec fatis infidias adversaque tela cavemus:
 Altius inflatas ventosa superbia mentes
 Attollit, vanoque incendit amore placendi.
 Summa Voluptatis temerè per labra vagamur,
 Dum revocare licet vestigia: nulla peric'li
 Securos terret facies; franisque remissis
 Nos ubicunque rapi ventis præbemus & undæ.
 Florifero deinde in prato aut viridante sub umbrâ
 Lascivè fusi languentia membra, repletos
 Inter Crateras, varièque nitentia sarta,
 Æquora ridentes volvi propiora videmus:
 Dum tandem erumpens violentior ingruit Æstus,
 Turpidus immiscet terramque & Sydera nimbus;
 Præcipitesque per Oceani spatia ampla rotati
 Vexamur sero malè credula corda dolore:
 Se circum capita agglomerant pereuntia fluctus,
 Mærentique oculo tellus contracta recedit.

O latè dominator Amor! tua sceptrâ latentem
 Quà tutum exquiret Pectus mortale recessum?
 Quas paret Ingenium oppositas tot fraudibus artes?
 Quæ varias aperire potest Sapiëntia formas
 Infidiis vestris ritè inservire paratas,
 Cum miseros sævo meditaris perdere ludo?

Nympha superba hodie, jactans se, pulcra nocendi
 Arma palam induitur, belloque laceffit inermes :
 Elato vultu incessuque patet Dea ; stat mens
 Inconcussa, ferox, erectaque casibus, audet
 Spernere terrena, & fati ridere furorem.

Interea scuto præcordia septa virili
 Claudentes, dum non inhonesta Superbia munit :
 Ducimur egregiæ laudis muliebria Gesta
 Mirari, nostræ virtetis imagine capti.
 Quæ placuisse potest, facili dulcedine vincet :
 Quos hodie incendit, cras sub juga mittet amantes,
 Vitra oculis Ratio prætereundæ fida videtur :
 Quàm fallax ! Formæ quàm incerta resultat Imago !
 Mirantes animum & percussi luminis igne,
 Dum Nymphæ canimus laudes, speramus amores,

Improbe Amor, Nymphæ cras altera tela ministras,
 Mœrorem effusam & passos sine lege cepillos :
 Voce quærens humili ducit miserabili carmen,
 Hærentisque vicem suppleant Suspiria lingue.
 Concipit hinc generosa incendia pectus honestum ;
 Tollimus afflictam sustentamusque jacentem :
 Dumque animo facili properamus molle levapem,
 Et lenit miserum Pietas humana dolorem ;
 Curarum intereà nobis contagia furtim
 Obrepunt, similique jubent languescere luctu ;
 Cingimus ah ! fero munimine ductile pectus,
 Cedere lacrymulæ gemituque liquefcere pronum.

Intimus hic, quo nec propior neque sævior alter,
 Quâ fraude elusus, quâ vi turbabitur Hostis ?
 Unde tibi auxilium, fragilis Natura, ciebis,
 Nunc facili ingenio, nimio nunc prodita fastu ?
 An licet et externam sperare aliunde medelam,

Cum

Cum Pectus fallax internum admiserit hostem ?
 Ille intus domitam Rationem illudere gaudet,
 Palantisque Ducis cæcus vestigia flectit.

Jamque animæ victrix peramabilis Abra catenis
 Colla mihi captiva coërcuit ; Illa repletum
 Possedit mihi cor, Illa unica ; Spesque voluptasque
 Omnis in Illa affixa pependit : ut abfuit Illa,
 Multa moram incusans gemitus lugubrè profudi ;
 Ocyus Illa redux gemitus luctusque fugavit :
 Nox orto est, abeunte ; Dies, veniente, refulsit.

Ordine Conventus, Scæncæ, ludique sequuntur
 Larvati : facit Illa melos, facit illa choreas :
 Tot formas habitusque novos induta nitescit,
 Fingere quot nôrit vario mens prodiga luxu.

In campo dominata hodiè sub tegmine palmæ
 Vestra arma & vestros sibi, Debora, sumit amictus ;
 Victricique sedet frontem circumdata lauro :
 Ipse instar Baraci nestigia pronus adora :
 Turba illi fictos canit obsequiosa triumphos,
 Illam effert clademque Hosti Potriæque columnam.

Cras mitem induitur faciem moresque feræos,
 Splendenti Martis pompâ & terrore relictis ;
 Molliùs incedens Mulier jam rustica, Villâ

 Depositis Agmen juvenile micantibus armis
 Collatum certant cantando rependere munus ;
 Dum feror incessu spectabilis ipse paterno
 Reginam insigni dignatus honore futuram.

Jam fortasse Abrae si mens vaga gestiat ire
 Latiùs in fylvas, cervosque agitare fugaces ;

Sole recens orto, cita se delecta Juventus
 Corripit è somnis, properatque ad lustra ferarum.
 Majestate humili cinctus pampâque minori
 Rex vester Solyma, adventantem inglorius Abram

 Partim Arabum partim Persarum è semine natus
 Vectat Equus. Tunicâ lascivam undante per auram,

 Dum tremit in dextrâ minitanti argenteus arcus :
 Aureâque ex pharetrâ (lateri quæ affixa pependit)
 Nigrantes plumam ostentant crepitantque sagittæ.
 Fronte altâ, Sapphiri adamantibus intertextis
 Crescentem nitido referunt curvamine Lunam
 Sylvarum Dominæ nitet Abra simillima ; vultus
 Incessum, vocemque agnoscimus ; ipsa DIANA,
 Ipsa Dea est ; digno veneramur honore, Deæque
 Ponimus ante pedes quicquid captavimus agris.
 Vocali insignem Chorus accinit ore DIANAM ;
 Altiùs & lituorum unâ clangorque tubarum
 Divinas effert laudes : pulsare triumphi
 Oppositos Colles : Colles iterare triumphos.

Cras si fortè animus peragrati tædia Saltûs
 Lenire ad vitreas piscosi fluminis undas
 Suaserit ; extemplò artifices se mille labori
 Addunt, & Regis certatim Jussa capeffunt.
 Littore in irriguo multis cumulantur in altum
 Arboribus Tabulata, & mobilis Infula surgit.
 In medio, Carrus solido stat fulgidus auro,
 Cui visi gemere argentei sub pondere Cyçeni,
Abra Dea insignis solio sedet alta corufco,
Argolica VENERIS vultus induta decoros.

Circum

Circumfusa latus Ponti Gens humida, amoris
 Egregias celebrant dulci modulamine laudes.
 Dum magni intereà Spectaculi pompa propinquat,
 Et VENEREM lætæ clamant instare Catervæ;
 Cultor Ego heu! nimium supplex in margine terræ
 Extremo, fervens avidâ spe brachia tendo
 Excipere impatiens surgentem è gurgite Divam.

O Ratio subjecta jacens! ô sæve Cupido!
 Quò tamen ulterius mea se Dementia ferret?
 Satne erit, ut Nympham summa ad fastigia decam
 Intra ædes clausas vel amica silentia Villæ:
 Aut ficti ut vultus mutataqna nomina magno
 Dedecori obducant blandam caliginis umbram?
 Quin omni potiùs Solimæ spectante coronâ
 Prodeat in lucem jactata infamia Regis:
 Solennis dapibus Mensis datur; hospitioque
 Collectam gentem communiter excipit Abra.
 Utque dies omnis pleno celebretur honore,
 Huc varios mittunt foetus Sylvæque Lacusque,
 Huc Arabum & Deserta Ægypti; huc fertur Edule
 Quodcunque est; vix ipse fugit convivia Phœnix,
 Commistis citharisque Viri cantuque Puellæ
 Dulce sonant Abra decus & mea gaudia: servi
 Quinetiam Vates præconia sordida fingunt,
 Et celebrant nostros numeris mendacibus ignes.
 Mox quoque Nupta dapes me deducente relinquens,
 Quam vulgi ex oculis prudens retineret Amator,
 Se jactat spectatam omni notamque popello
 Participem Solii pariter Cordisque magistræ.

Huc coeunt variâ Judeæ ex parte frequentes,
 Agmen Adulantum, quos Abra adduxit: honorum
 Hi mercaturas agitant; hi munera donant,
 Multa nec immodicis par est provincia votis.

Scilicet his primùm monfrantibus Abra nocendi
 Edidicit varias artes ; orare, filere,
 Atque leves summis adjungere rebus amores :
 Imperiumque suum certis firmare peritè
 Legibus, & dulci exitio mea fallere Corda.
 Hinc etiam acceptum, miserum mihi tradidit Illa
 Confilium, Regum esse animis obducere vela :
 Et mala fucato celantes pectora vultu
 Affiduos agitare dolos ; dumque Hostibus almi
 Obsequio arrident blando, contemnere Amicos.
 Mox Ego præfidia imperii certissima sperno
BARZILLÆ magni sobolem, atrocisque BENAIÆ
 Progeniem egregiem ; quorum subiere Parentes
Dauidæ curas, juveni sua gaudia Regi
 Testantes, Sceptro cum jam donatus ad Hebrum
 Fulgeret, Virtute illorum & Vulnere clarus.
 Ocyùs (ah triste auspiciùm!) cumulantur honore,
 Quos mihi reddiderat demerita nostra timendos,
 Mordacis Shimeique genus, Coræque propago ;
 Qui turpes facilem experti sunt DAVIDA, quanquam
 Calcassent leges, Regique indigna tulissent.

Crescit adhuc amor infelix, opprobria Regis
 Neglecti crescunt : subvertens fasque nefasque
 Fœmina dux rerum, fixit decreta refixitque,
 Et Nymphæ instabiles flexit vox unica leges.

Oblitus Patriæ solâque moratus in Abra
 Factaque Conceptusque Illi Vitamque dicabam ;
 Non potui læso Rationem opponere cordi ;
Abra ibi se dominam asseruit, pars optima nostri.
 Quòd si jam nostrum steterat Lis ante tribunal
 Inclyta, quâ tantos miræ virtutis honores
 Accepi Juvenis : Simulatæ lingua parentis
 Euderat illecebras frustra, blandamque loquelam ;
Frustrâ

Frustra etiam Veræ trepidantia viscera matris
 Impulerant Pietas ardens innataque Cura ;
 Utrique elusæ fatum decreverat Abra
 Ore potens placido servare & perdere torvo.

Sceptra rudis moderari, amplóxus vinc'la, jacebam
 Exanimus Princeps & magni nominis umbra
 Pupillis miseris questus funduntur inanes,
 Nec tangunt nostram Viduæ suspiria mentem :
 Neglectæ lites pendent infamè ; supino
 Opprobium injiciunt Domino cessantia Jura.
 Nec jam ultrà coiere Sènes, ut regia Dicta
 Audirent, suaque in melius præcepta referrent ;
 Nec jam Magnatum Pueri didicere, MOYSIS
 Quid leges potuere, quid inclyta DAVIDIS Arma,
 Discinctæ luxu Turmæ oblitæque laborum
 Non intermissò traxerunt otia ludo.

Quin nudæ tectis in publica commoda turres
 Eductæ steterunt ; oneravit machina muros
 Nutantes immanè——
 Expectant mediæ fastigia summa columnæ,
 Et pendent infecta rudi laquearia vultu :
 Artifices languent, tristesque abrupta queruntur
 Mænia : Spes Patriæ, legata à DAVIDE, Sedes
 Magni sacra Dei moles jacet imperfecta.

Plorabant taciti, quorum maturior ætas,
 Errantem Regem & fluxi infortunia regni.
 Hiccine (dicebant Graviores) Hiccine, cui mens
 Altior omnigenas iit indefesta per artes ;
 Cui fixit dubios miranda Scientia fines
 Virtutis Vitiique : diserto cujus ab ore
 Plurima quæ fluxit Sapiencia, tradita fidis
 Spirat adhuc chartis ; Patrumque in frontibus hæret
 Præceptis teneros informatura Minores,

Atque

Atque infigne fenum pariter Decus? Ergone nescit
 Effrænem Sapiens cohibere cupidinis æstum?
 Illa quid admonuit? quid nos advertimus aures?
 Moribus ipsa facem præfert Dœctrina pudendis,
 Et quo plura sciat, culpâ graviore laborat.

Turba faceta magis, leviori scommate; (fertis
 Ut vincti roseis genio indulgere) vicissim
 Hauserunt calices, pretium quibus arrogat Abraë
 Formosæ Nomen, cui cederet ardua Regis
 Gloria Judei: Pars laudavere jocosè,
 Tam bene quem Luxus cum Majestate deceret:
 Advertere alii quantùm pugnaret Amori
 Consilium; factisque meis mea dicta refellunt,
 Rex vivat tamen, (hic infit) regnoque fruatur:
 Quem memoras Regem? (Alter ait;) neque enim amplius audit

Rex SOLOMON; patriæ dudùm immemor Ille fuisse
 Servit amans Abraë: quid nostrum pejus uterque
 Patraret? nobis fluat ordine Vita soluto,
 Si sic, quæis animo melior sententia, peccant.
Dina premat vario lascivos flore capillos;
 Aut lepidum meditata melos, trepidantia pulset
 Fila lyræ: dulces mellis sine acumine succos
 Libemus vacui, nec vi nec lege coacti.
 Dulcis amat volitare inter leviora Voluptas;
 Seria deducunt animun & mœrore fatigant.
 Audiat egregius Veri Rectique Magister
 Hæc mea Dicta, suis meritò ascribenda libellis.

Sentimus lugubrè tui mala verbera Sceptri
 O Ratio, exerces trepido quæ pectore dura
 Imperia! ùt gaudes sævas imponere leges,
 Si, sapere ut possim, penitus linquenda Voluptas,
 Majoresque premant meditantem plura dolores:
Judææ misero Regi si gaudia Vitæ Deliciasque

Deliciasque adimas, ut Principe digna sequatur ;
 Et Curâ paulùm mutatâ, vincula Amoris
 Exutum Tu compescas graviore catenâ !

Tene autem Dominam fateor legumque tuarum
 Sævitiâ queror immitem fascesque potentes ;
 Cum sis interia nihil heu ! nisi nomen inane ;
 Quot Capita vivunt, totidem variata figuris
 Diversis, Soboles deliri vana cerebri,
 Mendaces formas, fluxosque induta colores ?
 Scilicet ingentis tituli levis umbra ! Catena,
 Quâ sese alternis Hominum genus acre coërent,
 Quam primùm finxere Vafri, Timidique fatentur.

Sis tamen invisum nomen seu vera potestas,
 Te quacunq; libet deducere origine, vires
 Agnosco, sævâ præcordia cuspide fixus.
 Te sensere intus luctantia pectora, Fatis
 Decretam dare jura, & debita sceptrâ tenentem.
 Cedo equidom ; supplex edicta superba facessam ;
 Unica erit merces Virtus sibi : Cedo, rebellis
Judea ! infelix à nostrâ mente Puella
 Exulet æternùm : Hoc plebi turbæque remitto.
 Corde ægro dulcis Furor extorquebitur ; Abre
 Vincula nec patiar, populo servire paratus ;
 Seque anima imbellis forti submittet iniquæ :
 Pro dolor ! audebo miser esse viriliter, ut Rex
 Incedam, multâque in Majestate gemiscam.

Hæc dixi, immodico certus me involvere luctu
 Altius, ut foret una quies Spes nulla quietis.
 Mandavi chartis, timui quæ dicere, amata,
 Linquendæ tamen æternùm, portanda puellæ,
 Exposuit multis verborum ambagibus atrox
 Littera, Majestas quantum pugnaret Amori :

Addidit,

Addidit, & Nymphæ memorem fore, dum memor essent
 Ipse mei ; longumque Vale : compesceret ignes
 Heu malè conceptos, iussi ; connubia votis
 Appeteret magis apta suis, thalamosque minores :
 Atque humili vitæ cursu, paribusque Hymenæis
 Dedita, transigeret reliquos felicior annos.

Perlegit, extemploque ad Me se corripit amens,
 Ad Me, præsentem curas lenire priores :
 Sollicitans flexis genibus, luctata, minasque
 Et lacrymas dedit alternis; jam languida jamque
 Ardescens: tandem ulterius data nulla dolendi
 Copia ; corripitur, nostroque miserrima Virgo
 (Illa meos potuit quæ sola inflectere sensus)
 Fertur ab aspectu ; mox exspes, fracta dolore,
 Effudit miseram properato funere vitam
 Et vana imperia infaustosque reliquit Amores.

Fare age si poteris, Mens conscia, quanta dolorum
 Agmina opes in Te simul effudere coactas :
 Quas Furias & quos ignes, quæ sæva tulisti
 Spicula ; Curarum quam multa oppressit Imago !
 Me quoties regni à strepitu in secreta removi,
 Necquicquam tacitum pascens sub pectore vinctus ?
 O quoties labente die, blanda oscula, amores
 Præteritos reputans, in Nymphâ absente morabar
 Auxius ? ô quam sæpe oculis muliebria passim
 Ora pererrabam, cari vestigia vultûs
 Siqua forent ? libuit folio mihi sæpe relicto
 Solam inter tacitos sylvarum ambire recessus :
 Sæpe etiam in omnis per longa silentia noctis,
 Floriferasque super Valles, perque alta sequebar
 Flumina surgentem auroram spectere pigebat,
 Cum fugerent gratæ fraudes & amabilis Error.

Dum

Dum fremeret trepidante diu sub pectore luctans,
 Et magis atque magis ferveret Æstus Amoris;
 Evicit tandem fines; Rationis habenas
 Audire impatiens, rapido sese impete volvit,
 Molliaque indignans Naturæ fœdera rupit.

Montibus haud aliter summis, quorum antra coërcent
 Concava congestasque nives pluviasque tumentes,
 Dum spatii nimis angustis negat unda teneri:
 Sese præcipitem Torrens agit, ut fuga nulla
 Prævertat cursu, vis nulla retardet euntem:
 Quin urbes rapiens sylvasque armenta virosque
 Obruit; horrescit communi funere tellus,
 Et referunt procul ingeminatam Saxa dolorem.

Janque, furor quocunque rapit, Quæ turpiter ausi,
 Oblitus decorisque mei Solique paterni!
 Ut falsis accliven animum per mille secutus
 Ambages Vitii curvas, cæcosque recessus!
 Jam patrias, janque externâ Se gente puellas
 Sordidus in thalami gremium commune recepi.
 Mutavi flammam assiduè: Quamcunque beatam
 Viderat una dies, neglectam postera vidit;
 Utque animum movit fluitantem incerta libido,
 Has, illas, arsi impatiens, captasque reliqui.
 O? precor, ô! fugiant mortalia lumina Scenæ
 Infames; tacitam inducant Oblivia nubem;
 Et nigram errorum Seriem super incubat umbra
 Denior, offusaque æterna silentia noctis!
 Vel feri tantum compendia parva Nepotes
 Et scelerum signa accipiant, quibus undique Gentes
 Cognoscant moditæ, vitiis Opprobra nasci,
 Et certos Levitate animi fluxisse Dolores.

Defi-

Desidiâ languens penitens luxuque solutus,
 Noctem epulis ludisque, & somno perdere lucem
 Consueram; tandem oppressas nova pabula flammâs
 Accumulata necant; aciesque hebetatur amori
 Mutato toties; propriâ vi fracta libido
 Decidit, & lassam subierunt tædia mentem.
 Quin Animus priscum queritur periisse vigorem,
 Incultusque diu, amissas desiderat artes;
 Jam neque Judicii sanum mihi restat acumen,
 Quo vera amplecti valeam, secludere falsa:
 Torpescunt pigri sensus; mentique sepultæ
 Ingenii veteres vestigia nulla supersunt.
 Ducit opes sensim mala consuetudo, laborque
 Et Virtus ingrata movent fastidia; fractæ
 Paulatim frigent effæto in corpore vires,
 Et blando ulterius Vitio superesse recusant.

Imperium extendunt deliria nostra puellis,
 Succubui, facilis votis, patiensque minarum;
 Nympha superba jubet nunc Persica firmate longo
 Verrere humum & lento spectandum incedere passu;
 Jamque Syra (indignum!) cantus interque Choreas
 Crure tenens medio vestes succingere cogit.

Illecebris captus, ritusque & dissona Sacra,
 Quidlibet insanum suadente sequebar Amicâ.
 Dira Philistinæ vereor dum jussa, Dagonis
 Invisi ante aras adolescit flamma; regente
 Pellice Cballica, Ghaldeæ altaria fumant,
Affyrioque Deo fervent redolentiâ Thura.
 Usque novæ meretrici aræ rubuere recentes,
 Quotque arsi Nymphas, colui tot sacra Deosque.

Quò fugit Ratio, sensus deluse? paterni
 Quò sese eripuit Majestas ardua regni?

Quò fugere farcæ Virtutis Dogmata, vivo
 Quæ data fonte DEUS primis mihi tradidit annis;
 Dum veneror cæcas Phariâ monstrante puellâ
 Effigies, nuper Cœlo data numina, quorum
 Fana suis hos ante dies haud viderat oris
Judæa; infames Superos, armenta Deorum
 Turpia, Osirin, Apin, pronum pecus; & sua thura
 Et ritus habet obscœnos latrator Anubis.
 Quin marmor vititâ sylvosi montis in umbrâ
 Cædebam in varias facies, cæsoque ferebam
 Ipse preces supplex: mediâque palude, nefandâ
 Relligione ardens, colubras muscasque verebar,
 Nec non & Plantæ virgultaque vilia cultus
 Accepere suos, timuique quod ante ferebam:
 Omnia honore sacro donans Animalia, solum
 Fræterii, cœlum & terras Qui numine torquet.

Per cæcam hanc animi nubem tristesque per umbras
 Tenuia cœperunt jam tandem albescere lucis
 Semina; nascentis radii nova flammula spargi
 Per nubem, optatæ præstans promissa diei.
 Mente potens mecum jam pauca revolvere, Regem
 Despectum vidi: tardè mea iussa Ministri
 Egerunt, fugitque sacri Reverentia vultûs.
 Vidi etiam unanimes populos opprobia Regis
 Certatim proferre, suisque obducere nubem.
Davidis oravit generi meliora Sacerdos,
 Et sermone vago latè mea crimina pandit.
 Dum Pater erranti vitæ per lubrica nato
 Monstraret vitiorum exempla miserrima; mores
 Ille meos, & me, celato nomine, Pinxit.
 Hoc Custos iterum atque iterum memoravit Alumnis;
 Principe deliro Sanus præstantior Infans.

In me converti Rationis lumen, & imam
 Altiùs ut mentem scrutabar, plura dolebam ;
 Me latè dominantem, in terris Numinis instar,
 Agnoscunt Gentes, vultuque & voce moventur ;
 Vincula libertasque, infamia turpis, honorque,
 Et Fata à nostro pendent trepidentia natu.
 Heu ! nimiùm jaçtat sese mea gloria ; Regem
Judææ innumeri cogunt servire Tyranni :
 Multa cohors Venerum & Vitiorum insana Caterva
 Principis everfæ menti dominanter ; & Ipse,
 Quem decuit leges libertatemque tueri,
 Ipse jugo turpi submittit colla, protervi
 Mancipium Domini, stimulosque cupidinis acres
 Sentit iners, sævoque piger sub Verbere torpet.

Te compello iterum, ô Ratio ! miserere doloris
 Effusi, miserere, oro, & succurre labanti.
 Nimirùm cœlis Sapiencia nascitur ; altos
 Hinc ducit radios, hominumque in pectora torquet
 Hæc tamen humanæ Regina ultissima mentis
 Scepta parùm metuenda manu sustentat inertis ;
 Incola si gravior surgat, folioque potitam
 Vi majore premens, cogat sibi cedere Victor.

Sis verò licet imbellis, sis mollis inersque,
 Consilio tamen orba tuo Mens inscia, cursu
 Incauto tutæ vestigia linqueret alta
 Virtutis, vitijque incerto in calle periret.

Ut mulcet placidâ nares dulcedine fragrans
 Unguentum, lætas pertentat suaviter aures
 Laudis honos meritæ ; quod si labator in urnam
 Muscula, contacti dulces violantur odores ;
 Balsamaque, heu ! quantum mutata, inamabile spirant.
 Sic minimas labes inter pulcherrima facta

Si spargas hinc inde, lues subnascitur atra,
 Contrahit informes maculas purissima Virtus,
 Paulatimque fluens diffunditur undique pestis.

Infelix SOLOMON! mitte has de pectore curas:
 Quin vitæ recolas errores mille peractæ;
 Demissis tacitè lacrymis, quòd, facta Bonorum
 Carmine dum celebret Musa immortalis, honores
 Accumulans famæ meritos; tua crimina sola
 Voce canet clarâ, neque regia carpere parcat
 Nomina, mansuram infundens nimis æquur venenum.

Me tandem eripui è somnis, oculosque patentes
 Conscius erexi; bilem movere cohortes
 Fœmineæ, Trubæque Deorum: stat mihi certum
 Immotumque animo, baulatim emergere ab alto
 Oceano Vitii: Querulos hinc mœsta resurgens
 Musa modos renovat, culpatque fugacia vitæ
 Gaudia; sublimique audens se attollere pennâ
 Spes hominum fragiles sævi ludibria fati,
 Divitias frustra aggestas, ingrataque honorum
 Tædia prosequitor, miseræque libidinis atræ
 Blanditias: aperitque dolos, nugasque fatetur.

P O T E N T I A :

L I B E R T E R T I U S.

ERGO age, Pars Nostrî melior, Vis vivida, vitæ
Fons, Anima! hoc Ego Te, quæcunque es, no-
mine dignor :

Conscius Ipse Meî per Te, Te pectore toto
Percipio, viresque tuas & munera nosco.
Sed latet, unde Tuî ducas primordia ; de Te
Tot Vates diversa canit, diversa Sacerdos.

An Genus obscurum & stirpis vulgare fateris
Principium, lectæ forsan melioribus orta
Particulis terræ, quæ se certo ordine miscent
Mirifico rerum motu faustoque Atomorum
Concurfu implicitæ ; hinc fato statuerente juberis
Corporis ire comes, quem Vitæ cunque colorem
Sortitur ; trepidas, audes, ducisque dolores
Gaudiaque, incerto ut sanguis se concitat æstu :
Utque calor magis ardescit, vel frigora torpent,
Læta viges viridante ævo, languente senescis :
Dum tandem, Socium extremâ vel morte secuta,
Laberis in fumum tenuesque recedis in auras.

An spiras majora, altâque ab origine stirpem
Deduci mavis, audisque libentius ignis
Scintilla ætherii ; divinæ Particula auræ,
Juncta luto vili, nimis arcto fœdore juncta,
Communi heu fato præscriptum ad temporis orbem
Per varias comitata vices variosque dolores :

Ut

Ut doceas Hominem opprobriis vel laude moveri ;
 Ut Bona vel Mala percipere ; & pallore fateri
 Irarum rabiem, aut flammam sentire pudoris ;
 Ut normam vitæ instituas, ducasque fideli
 Consilio ; & rerum variis ceu postulat usus,
 Reddas cautum agilemque, & variis ingeniove
 Nobilitatis, aptum paci, bellique potentem.
 Dum priscum in cinerem se Pars terrena resolvit,
 Carceris & rumpens cedentia claustra caduci
 It Captiva, hærens paulum & cunctata jacentes
 Reliquias super, immitis jam faucibus Orci
 Inclusas ; mox pennâ agili, indignata teneri,
 Evolat, ætheriamque arcem & sua vindicat astra.

Quicquid eris, quoquo tendis (neque enim omnia cæco
 Scire Homini fas est) age parvula pectoris hospes,
 Pectoris insanos motus sedantis, ut alta
 Sit Tibi pax ; (quoniam inde enascitur improba turba, Quæ vitam exagitat, quæ Te diste que & angit)
 Fac age, quodcunque aggredieris, fac arbitra certum
 Monstret iter Ratio, & fido moderamine ducat.
 Pacati Affectus erroris nube remotâ
 Ardua, pulchra petant : Et Vitam discere ferendo,
 An curis hominum & tanto sit digna labore.

Quæ variis vitæ in gradibus variisque Animantium
 Naturis præstant, conjuncta tenere videmus
 In se Hominem, pecudum sensus, aliumque vigorem
 Plantarum, ætheriæque animæ cœlestia dona.
 Inspice quos pariunt generosa hæc semina fructus,
 Et rebus lætis oppone incommoda vitæ.
 En ut Homo, frustra fato cogente reluctans,
 Protahitur miser in lucem ; auxiliique alieni
 Indigus, in genibus maternis nudulus hæret !

Utque

Utque levis statuit Muliercula, tollitur Infans
 Ejiciturve foras: genitrici languit iniquæ
 Neglectus, morbosve trahit de lecte foventis.
 Mollis adhuc fragilisque oculus fugit acria lucis
 Tela, diemque novum; insuetam male sustinet auram
 Cor tenerum, multumque tremit, pulsuque frequenti
 Æstuat. Ut variâ percussus imagine rerum
 Obstupet! ut pavet attonitus! Membra irrequieta
 Luctantem interius produnt augentque dolorem:
 Et gemitu queritur molli lacrymisque misellis,
 Dum nondum fractas voces mutilataque verba
 Effari didicit, quibus intima sensa laborans
 Exprimat, occultosque enarret pectoris æstus.
 Mox ut paulatim assurgit puerilibus annis,
 Garrulitate rudi crepitat; vanosque timores
 Concibit à nugis: cum firma adoleverit ætas,
 Publica scena vocat, populisque frequentibus infert
 Implicitum; longo curarum ibi volvitur orbe;
 Et tacitæ fraudes & aperta pericula cingunt
 Infelix latus: hinc Hostis vindicta ferocis,
 Hinc sævi magis amplexus fallacis Amici.
 Quin facta inquit Populus; laudesque maligno
 Ore filet; minimam gaudet diffundere labem.
 Nec cœtu in turpi maculis aspergere famam
 Derisor parcit mordax, quique audet apertis
 Virtutem opprobriis petere, invisamque fateri.
 Si verò his lassus turbis, secreta fetarum
 Lustra petat solus, populosque urbesque relinquat;
 Mens tamen umbrarum in latebras tacitosque recessus
 Addit se comitem; innumeris Mens usque secuta
 Turbat Imaginibus: palantemque implicat Error,
 Ceu nemorum ambage illusum; aut torrentis iniqui
 More ruens, rapido premit acrior impete Cura.
 Multa animo versans, varioque exercitus æstu,

Dulce

Dulce miser Socii alloquium desiderat; au
Attonitus mœstos saxa ingeminare dolores,
Seque fugit trepido deserta per avia cursu.

Hinc adeo, variæ quocumque in tramite vitæ,
Vexamur cœcis animorum Affectibus: atris
Jam cincti nebulis, cur spem foveamus inanem,
Fuluros olim meliori lumine Soles?
Instabiles Hominum Sensus, trepidantia ut Ægri
Somnia, profiliunt volucres; cursuque citato
Semper amant amota sequi, fugientiaque ardent
Arripere: usque adeo, somni fallacis Imago,
Spes malefuada levi vigilantes decipit umbrâ
Sed flexis post terra oculis, ut dira dolorum
Agmina respicimus, trepidâ formidine Sensus.
Horrescunt, miseramque viam remeare recusant.
Accedunt curis curæ, scenâque priori
Scena superveniens magis & magis atra videtur;
Nec mora, nec requies; sed adhuc geminantur eundo,
Et quæque hora novos usque addit & usque dolores,
Dum tandem longo curarum pondere cani,
Otia venantes nequicquam, effœtaque membra
Jam fracti, laceræ vitiam commune senectæ
Ploramus, miroque volubilis ordine vitæ
Ad stadium infantile rotante revertimur ævo.
Discimus hinc quid Vita hominum est; hesternæ recentes
Protulit ex utero nudos, nudosque sepulcro
Crastina Lux referet; nempe hæc ad munera natos,
Luctu animam vexare, & tædia ferre, Morique,
Quid varias memorem clades, quibus Ille laborat
Quas timet Hic, capiti misero jam jamque minantes?
Quid deformem Ursam, radidumque per arva Leonem
Grassantem, sparsas pecudes, cæsumque magistrum:
Obscuras nemorum ambages, fluviosque profundos,
Pendentisque

Pendentefque immane minaci vertice rupes ?
 Quid Pestem indomitam, quæ late incedit aperto
 Marte furens, medioque die spatia per auras
 Diffundit mortem populis : Tacitamve Sagittam,
 Obscurâ quæ nocte levi fecat æthera lapsu,
 Atra venena trahens, pallentefque inficit umbras.
 Sæpe unâ densæque nives imbresque coacti
 Se glomerant, altifque à montibus agmine facto,
 Præcipiti lætas populantur gurgite valles.
 Sæpe etiam nitidis vermes genus omne voraces
 In campis dominantur, & occupat undique plenas
 Hospes edax fruges; vanas incusat aristas
 Agricola, atque inopi marcescit languidus anno.

Quid lentos referam morbos, acresque dolores,
 Qui carpunt fragiles repititis ictibus artus ?
 Sanguineo ut cursu laceratos Calculus asper
 Excruſiat renes ! ut aquoso frigidus humor
 It capite, abſumens cunctanti tabe vigorem,
 Et vitæ fontem paulatim exhaurit eundo !
 Quas Febris calor indomitus, quas sæva podagra
 Exercet furias ! longoque ut debilis ævo
 Obruitur Natura ; atque omnibus atra Senectus
 Una malis gravior, claudo pede languida repit :
 Dum gemitum affiduum & longos finire dolores
 Mors venerata negat ; lectoque abſcedit acerbo
 Surda Quies, vanos misereri nescia planctus.

Nequicquam egregiæ Virgo pulcherrima formæ
 Languenti dare blanda Seni solatia quærit ;
 Cum tremula incerto quatitur, jam non sua, motu
 Dexterâ ; nec domini votis respondet, amoris
 Impar officiis, placidi neque conscia tactûs.
 Nil faciet pulsata chelys, nil dulcia quondam
 Fila lyræ ; nec molle melos, nec læta juvebat

Fabula, cum celeri jam volvier agmine sanguis
 Desitit, auriculæque ingrato frigore torpent.
 Mons viridi hîc surgit clivo, Vallisque nitentem
 Ridet picta sinum, quem lucidus alluit amnis :
 Illic cœruleos fluctus canentia volvunt
 Æquora, splendidulæque micant in littore testæ :
 Sed varios frustra miscet Natura colores,
 Cum languent hebetatæ acies, oculosque natantes
 Atra premit nubes. Abeunti nocte refulget
 Alma dies : spissi descendunt largiùs imbres,
 Seque iterum scindunt nebulæ & diffunditur æther,
 At Vetulum extincto palantem lumine nullæ
 Jam potuerunt recreare Vices ; non aurea Solis
 Lampas, non Lunæ nitor, & quæ plurima cœlo
 Stellula scintillat, miserum folantur ; iniqua
 Nox cingit, tristesque urgent sine fine tenebræ.

En ! ubi succumbit sævæ miseranda Senectæ
 Victima ! languentes oculos, dextramque trementem
 Aspice ! ut infirmos quatit æger anhelitus artus !
 Sensibus obrepunt incerti Oblivia somni,
 Solaque percipitur per acutos Vita dolores.

Tempore prædanti cedent argentea vitæ
 Vincula, diffilientque ; ruet volventibus annis
 Urna levis, longoque ævo labefacta peribit.
 Scilicet hæc fati lex est : moriemur honoris
 Expertes, & vana erimus sine nomine turba.
 Usque aliam ex aliâ stirpem manet exitus idem ;
 Gens cadit hæc ; nova surgit, abit, sequiturque priorem ;
 Ævi quæque brevis, terræque exorta parente,
 Mox reditura iterum in veteris primordia tærræ.

Sed vultu eniteat meliori Scenâ ; coronet
 Alma salus Hominem, & lætos vigor excitet artus.

En! vix exsuperans operosæ longa diei
 Tædia, fessus adit jam sole cadente pēnates:
 Sole oriente iterum prodit; labor usque recurrit,
 Arcentique famem & vitam fudore merenti
 Perpetuum redeunte die redit actus in orbem.
 Forfitan ad noctem reduci spectacula præbet
 Atra domi moriens puer, aut viduata marito
 Filia: Vicinum cras luxuriante beatum
 Prole videt, nudusque sibi magis inde videtur.
 Utque dies pergunt, lacrymabile funus Amici
 Ducitur, hostilisve occurrit pompa triumphi:
 Quo se cunque ferat Miser, aut Mala publica turbant
 Sollicitum, aut proprii lais Infortunia tangunt:
 Virtutis claræ meritis haud præmia solvi
 Digna videt; læsamque fidem & temerata pudici
 Jura tori queritur, pravo sub Judicæ litem
 Protractam, inversasque haud æquo Interprete leges;
 Aut nigras fraudes Magnatum & turpia damnat
 Arcana imperii, arbitriumque immane Potentum;
 Mordacemve dolet linguam, quam pectore cauto
 Nec fugiat Sapiens, monitis nec frænet amicis.

Hæcine credantur casu volvente sinistro
 Enasci Mala? num parium vaga Semina motu
 Confuso implicita; an potius fert ordine certo
 Lex stabilis fati, rerumque immobile fœdus?
 Quin age, si poteris, nodum mihi Musa resolve;
 Anne, inquam, casu eveniunt, fatone jubenti?
 At quacunque genus ducunt de stirpe, catenis
 Heu miseram involvunt animam, variasque coactam
 In partes rapiunt, & mille timoribus urgent;
 Atra, severa Cohors, quibus anxia Vita laborat,
 Ingens ipsa Malum, & mater fœcunda Malorum.

Usque

Usque adeo vexatur adhuc, blandumque levamen
 Venatu assiduo frustra mens anxia quærit ;
 Sperat adhuc, multi post tædia longa laboris,
 Post tot sollicitos requiescere suaviter annos ;
 Vana voluptatis simulacra attingere posse
 Exoptat ; vitæque aliud dictante magistrâ,
 Quod nusquam est avidè petit, & sibi somnia fingit
 Lætitiæ, miseris sine fine exercita curis.

Felix, qui vallem lacrymarum umbrasque doloris
 Extremas superans, tandem vestigiâ fixit ;
 Qui longi attingens cursûs spatia ultima, durum
 Deposuit pondus, placidâque in morte quievit ;
 Quem sculpti vultus atque æra incisa fatentur
 Jam vitam comitumque agmen superâsse Malorum.
 Hic felix magis, & natus melioribus astris,
 Qui spatium peragit brevius, premiturque minori
 Pondere ; quem vitam jam primùm haurire recentem
 Una dies, haustamque effundere proxima cernit.
 Ille autem longè ante alios felicior omnes,
 Qui vix dum matris penitus formatus in alvo
 Occidit ante diem ; qui nunquam è carcere vitæ
 Profuit ; neque prima etiam certaminis intrans
 Tædia, (præcipuo factorum munere) solis
 Nescivit lucem, & varios sub sole labores.

“ Parce gravis nimium Cenfor ! cur tam aspera tradis
 “ Dogmata ? cur adeo vitæ genus omne severis
 “ Legibus includas ? quid Fasces, Splendor, Opesque ?
 “ Nonne Opibus pax alma datur ; non Purpula Reges,
 “ Victoresque beat ; Decus immortale superbos ?

Tota, inquam, similes subit undique vita procellas,
 Sollicito jactata metu trepidoque tumultu.

“ Ergone per terras nusquam Pax ridet; & omnis
 “ Scena venenati patitur contagia luctûs?

Nulla usquam, Pax nulla—age, conscia Musa, dolores
 Pande nimis veros; sublimius exere vocem
 Mœsta sonaturam; sed vos procul ite, Profani,
 Dum plectro graviore canam, sociandaqua magnis
 Verba loquar chordis, vulgi minùs auribus apta.
 “ O mentes Hominum illusas! Formidine mortis,
 Assiduis fitietis adhuc extendere votis
 Sæcula, & optatem vitæ captabitis umbram,
 Sperantes superesse diu, famâque perenni
 Partem aliquam sævo ereptam fervare sepulchro:
 Utque olim nemorum gratâ sub mente nepotum
 Spiretis, celsas nitidasque parabitis ædes,
 Grandiaque ingenti condetis scripta labore.
 Spes vanæ! labor effusus! labentibus annis
 Ipsæ ædes fato vigilataque pagina cedent.
 O moniti toties! & adhuc res mira videtur,
 Prætereunte ævo vasti membra omnia mundi
 In sedes migrare alias, aliasque figuras,
 Et revoluta novis nova nomina ducere formis?

Musa modos revoca—Vanâ usque illudimur umbrâ
 Lætitiæ: assiduos fortitur Vita dolores.

Quid tandem pacis Sapientis nomen inane,
 Quid Procerum dat honos? quid purpura Judicis, alti
 Quid Regum tituli?—En Regem sub pondere vasto
 Sudantem imperii! sævo nunc auctus honore,
 Surgit ad ingentes populi pro pace labores;
 Nunc ruit infelix malesanæ victima plebi.
 Agmen adulantum primis comitatur ab annis,
 Et tenera insinuat fallax in corda venenum:
 Usque domi cingit, domino blandita potenti,

Serva cohors, maculasque aliis aspergere prona.
 Egreditur ne foras? numerofo milite cinctus
 Incedit, magnâque latus ftipante caterva,
 Innumeras fraudes fe formidare fatetur;
 Ipsaque follicitos testatur pompa timores.
 Sit quantquam illuftris bello, fit pectore fortis,
 Arte valens; dubiis fortunæ cafibus anceps
 Volvitur, ambiguo illufus certaminis æftu,
 Afperaque incertam fequitur per tædia palmam.

Sed redit infigni redimitus tempora lauro,
 Vota foluturus cœlo fœlennia; curru
 Sublimi fedet exculfus, vinctique fequuntur
 Ponè Duces; fremitus effufaque gaudia mifcent
 Turba falutantùm, plaufuque ad fydera tollunt.
 Quæ tamen hæ pompæ! quæ gloria! nempe tumultum
 Plebs agitat confufa, fremitque ignobile vulgus.
 It captiva Cohors, miserâ sub imagine Martem
 Ancipitem oftendens, & quæ fors craftina belli
 Alea victori meditatur fata fuperbo.
 Ipsa etiam fpolia & ductæ longo ordine prædæ
 Olentant laceras Gentes, & publica damna,
 Damna olim fortaffe in fe ruitura, fuosque.
 Nonne dolet, recolens tot merfos funere acerbo
 Heroas, magni quos pectoris ardor honeftam
 Impulit in mortem; qui nuper gloria campi
 Infignes fulfere, feris nunc præda relictæ
 Alitibusque jacent? Heu fplendet fœbile laurus,
 Tot Matrum lacrymis, tot fanguine fparfa Virorum.

En ubi quadrijugos elatus Morte fecundo
 Victor agit, denfâ mirantùm inhiante catervâ!
 Si tantos inter fremitus feftique triumphæ
 Lætitiâ undantem fecum fi pauca volutet,
 Ipsi fuffessus auditaque Vota docebunt,

Quam levis instabilisque hominum, quam lubrica vita est

Axe tonans rapido multoque in pulvere fervens,
 An curas supra evehitur? nulline timores,
 Nullane suspicio turbat, levitasque popelli
 Cognita; num stridor lituûm clangorque tubarum
 Exsuperat misero luctantes corde dolores?
 Intus Naturæ vox importuna fatigat,
 Vox gravis, & nullo populi reprimenda tumultu,
 Quanquam ipsa immani clangore tonitrua vincant.

Volvere sic poterat secum: glomerata faventûm
 Turba virûm, nostros quæ tollit in astra triumphos;
 Si fortè instabiles quatiens Victoria pennas
 Me fugiat, fragilestque hosti decernat honores;
 Illi Turba eadem similes dabit improba plausus,
 Illius ad portas denso sese agmine fundet,
 Et nostas franget statuas inimica, recentis
 Ut domini facies renovato spiret in ære.

O cæcus furor, & dominandi insana libido!
 Ipse Ego, qui populorum hodie super ora superbus
 Evehor, hostilis pompæ pars Ipse feretro
 Cras fortasse trahar, lacerum & deferme cadaver.
 An quisquam interea mirantûm ex agmine tanto,
 (Pro pudor!) ingenti jam plausu ante ora frementûm,
 Defuncti laudes caneret? quisquamne laveret
 Vulnera, vel lacrymâ saltem sequeretur inani?
 Aut si ludibrium fortunæ, inhonestaque passus
 Vinculo. victoris post currus sordidus irem;
 Mene adeo indecorem, de tot modo millibus Unus,
 Nosceret, aut vultu miserum spectaret amico?

Scilicet egregios præstat Sapiencia fructus!
 Cernere dat tristem magis acri lumine scenam,

Dat

Dat fieri ante alios miserum, interiusque dolorum
Aspera percipere, atque imis haurire medullis.

Scrutemur fastos, veterum quibus alta Parentum
Facta manent recolenda; omni quæramus ab ævo,
Siqua unquam effulfit penitens sine nube doloris
Gloria; si Fasces comitata est pura Voluptas.

Ille Parens hominum primus, mundique recentis,
Indigena, en variis ut cingitur undique cœli
Muneribus! cui juncta comes pulcherrima Conjux,
Quem dominum confessa suum, quæcunque capaci
Orbis alit gremio; vasti sive ætheris oras,
Seu tractus terrarum habitent, pontumve profundum
Sed quales fructus magna hæc promissa tulerunt?
Heu, vitæ introitu, vix delibata relinquit
Gaudia! jam primum Paradisi lætus in horto
Viderat ire diem, cum sede expulsus amœnâ
Per sentes triste urget iter, perque aspera spinis
Dumeta; hinc victum haud facilem sudore diurno
Quærere damnatus, longorumque orbe laborum
Tædia solis iniqua pati, dum debita somni
Dona refecturi vires optata ferat Nox.
Ut socium reputans scelus & memor usque peracti
Criminis, infaustum uxorem lugubre tuetur,
Et nimiam heu suadam, nimiosque incusat amores!
Sæpe horret raucæ percussus imagine vocis,
Quam reboante recens iterabat in æthere fulmen:
Sæpe repente tremit, veluti cum fulgura prima
Arderent cœlo, & Cherubis cùm dextra minacis
Vibraret rutilos irati Numinis ignes;
Nec mora, quin terrâ exanimis jacet altera proles,
Primitiæ lethi, & fraternæ victima dextræ:
Frater sanguineâ famosus cæde, notâque
Cælitus impressus, patriam fugit impius Error.

Cur tamen obruerent miserum mala tanta Parentem,
Quærere nequaquam Superosve Hominesve deceret.

Turpior assidue vitiis gravioribus Ætas
Singula successit; patrium scelus æmula pubes
Vicit adhuc: tandem ingentes exarsit in iras
OMNIPOTENS, atque his ora indignantia solvit:
En formasse hominem Me pœnitet! Eripe terris
Sol lucem! Cœli nigrescite! Vosque capaci
Ite sinu effusæ, collectis viribus, Undæ!

Audivere Undæ Dominum: & mandata fecuti
Effrænès fluctus, nimbique immane furentes
Subjectas rapido superârunt agmine terras,
Tradidit interea Noë servanda fideli
Quæ voluit superesse DEUS: naufragia Mundi
Prospexit Pater immunis, victorque tumentes
Diluvii fremitus ferventiaque æquora sprevit.

Sed Venti posuere, & decrescentibus undis
Emergit Tellus; pacisque Insigne Columba
Ore refert placido ramum felicis Olivæ.
At Noë, licet alma fides mœrentia firmat
Pectora, adhuc tacitæ tangunt præcordia curæ;
Dum post terga videt mundi lugubre sepulchrum,
Et desolatas communi funere gentes;
Prospicit inde aliam faciem absimilemque priori
Surgere, vix relegendis veteris vestigia formæ:
Hic sese in longum extendunt deserta locorum
Squallida; prærupti hinc tollunt capita aspera montes.
Vota Pater solvens, mediâ inter sacra frequentem
Effundit lacrymam, & tacitus meliora precatur;
Spemque fovet; miseras etiam dum spectat aquarum
Reliquias, omni ex numero quæis spiritus auræ
Purior ætheriæ; de tot modo millibus, Octo.

Et

Et tribus è Natis, qui jam spes sola relictæ
 Unde ortum Regna expectarent. prospicit unum
 Fatali fixum opprobrio, nudumque favore
 Divino, æternâque onerantem labe nepotes.

Rex quanquam illustris, quanquam OMNIPOTENTIS
 Amicus,

At varios vitæ casus, multosque labores
Abramus subiit; duri discrimina belli
 Pertulit, & cæsis quæsit regna tyrannis:
 Difficili sponsæ subjecit colla; jugoque
 Assuetus, sensit servæ quoque jura superbæ,
 Jam miseram invitus mœstâ cum prole parentem
 Ejcit, ah? nudam, nemorumque per avia solas
 Quæsituram unbras, & agrestis munera victûs:
 Jamque aliud thalami dilectum pignus, & omnem
 Spem senii, ad Moræ fatalia culmina ducit
 Infelix! puerum heu ferro jugulare cruento
 Cogitur, aut magni contemnere jussa TONANTIS.

Ipsam oculis spectare DEUM data copia Mosi:
 Sed qualem vidit? densâ circum undique flammâ,
 Undique inaccesso velatum lucis amictu.
 Lumina sin radios potuissent ferre coruscis;
 Quam brevis hæc, unâ vix nocte morata, Voluptas!
 Ille autem, tanto quanquam dignatus honore,
 Quot volvit casus, quæ pertulit aspera rerum
 A cunis usque ad tumulum! Jam tum invida nudam
 Pauperies puerum primis invasit ab annis:
 Oppressere senem insidiæ, atque adversa malorum
 Agmina; surrexitque cohors studiosa labores
 Frustrari egregios; quin aspera Turba furore
 Sic Vatem incendit, tabulas ut frangeret amens,
 Quas ipsa æterni signârat Dextra JEHOVÆ
 Effrænæque Viros cum jam per mille labores.

Duxerat, armorumque vices, perque extera regna ;
 Promissa en ! tandem fato divisus acerbo
 Littora, jam moriens, heu non sua littora, vidit.

Davidis in vitâ. ut curis longo ordine curæ
 Succedunt ! quot iniqua pericula, quotque tumultus !
 Mollis adhuc, tenerâque virens ætate, leoni
 Concurrit rabido, & torvæ ruit obvius urfæ.
 Nondum annis maturum immanis dextra Golice
 Aggreditur tacitique petunt tela invida Sauli :
Saulo urgente, fugit super avia lustra ferarum,
 Ardua que ascendit montis juga; seque sub antro
 Occulit, & mortis nequicquam munera poscit.
 Tandem Ipse ad regni surgens fastigia, magnum
 Exstitit exemplum, quàm sævo pondere fudet
 Majestas, quantosque ferat Diadema labores:
 O qui torquebant ardentia corda dolores,
 Cum gravis hostiles aperiret Numinis iras.
 Nuntius ! Ut diversa animum exagitabat Imago ;
 Triste Viri funus, violatæ injuria Sponsæ,
 Et Puer heu patrium ob crimen nece raptus iniquâ !
 Ut secum horrenda ingemuit, cum regia cladem
 Intulit impietas populis, jussitque Propheta
 Eligere, an pestem cœlo deducere mallet,
 An tolerare famem, aut sævi discrimina Martis !

Occubuit tandem Genitor : precor, ossa quiescant ;
 Nulla sacrum foedâ violare ærugine nomen
 Lingua aufit : quanquam ô, luctantem pectore in ægro,
 Hunc saltem liceat verbis vulgare dolorem :
 Me moriens curis auxit, scelerisque paterni
 Hæredem instituit ; jussis me vinxit iniquis
 Devotum mactare caput, cæsoque meorum
 Principe, decreto nova tingere sceptrâ cruore.

Nec

Nec mora; continuo juvenili sanguine fervens
 Dira sequor præceps crudelis iussa Parentis.
 Virtutes patrias celeri vix lumine lustro;
 In vitiis intento oculo juvat usque morari:
 Nec memini, primis ut vitæ prodigus annis
 Protegeret patriam! ut leges venerandaque jura
 Servaret constans! Lætâ sub mente revolve
 Nequitiis fractum assiduis, turpique solutum
 Pellicis amplexu: fugienda exempla secutus
 Abripior, scelerumque feror declivia præceps
 Per loca, perque atro rorantes sanguine calles,
 Fraudibus assuetus, tranquillo fallere vultu
 Jam potui, mortisque atrocia tela serenus
 Dirigere; hinc oculo fratrem speculatus iniquo,
 Omnia facta viri vestigiaque omnia scrutor,
 (Ambitione odii stimulos aciente) fugamque
 Quærentem frustra tangentemque insequor aras.
 Hic, etiam hic, ipsas (fateor) cecidisset ad aras,
 Ni Timor obstiterat, tumidamque represserat iram.
 Quin do sponte fidem, certus violare; benignè
 Polliceor veniam, atque odiis simul acribus uror.
 Nil lacrymæ gemitusque valent, nil vota precesque;
 Sævus adhuc, tacitumque premens sub corde furorem,
 Blanda malus loquor, & fictâ pace ore sereno:
 Dum tandem prædæ, vi, fraude, potitus, ad aras
 Accedo, testorque DEI venerabile Numen,
 Sæva palam intentans deluso funera fratri.

Quæ tamen hinc lacrymæ, quantus dolor! Ut libet atrum

Delere ex animo scelus! Ut prætexere vellem
 Nominibus falsis fraternæ opprobria cædis,
 Alteriusque onerare immani crimine famam!
 Necquicquam heu! gladium si dextra aliena cruentem
 Egerit, imperium Regis dextra illa secuta est;

Omne meum est; facinus, quod lacryma multa perenni
 Usque fluens cursu vix tandem abstergere possit:
 Hinc solùm, hinc solitam sperat mens conscia pacem,
 Fletibus assiduis, longoque exercita luctu.

Corde adeo trepidante, parum facunda, neque artem
 Ostentans, nostrum veraci carmine Musa
 Opprobrium explicuit, fidâque ingrata tabellâ
 Describens actæ ætatis vestigia, pandit
 Quàm Spes vana hominum, quàm vanæ pectora curæ
 Exagitant; primoque à vitæ carcere feram
 Ad metam, quàm nigrum iter est, quàmq; undiq; acerbum!
 Nugarum immensâ hac serie jam pene peractâ,
 Tædia longa querens vitæ, mihi mortis in umbrâ
 Polliceor requiem optatam blandosque recessus:
 Huc metus haud penetrant terrorque; nec atra doloris
 Tangunt tela Virum placidâ jam pace sepulchri
 Compositum, & mortis recubantem mollius ulnis.

Cur trepidas, Ratio? quidnam est Mors ista? nihilne
 Præter torpentem concreti sanguinis æstum,
 Interclusa animæ spiracula, membra vigore
 Orbata, & posita angustæ spatia ultima vitæ?
 Fumus ut accenso glomerari visus ab igne
 Se sursum rapit, & tenues vanescit in auras;
 Ut celerem per inane fugam volitantia carpunt
 Nubila, præcipitique abeunt disperdita vento:
 Sic Hominum subito pede lubrica labitur ætas:
 Vitæ sic vapor emicat, in vacuumque recedit
 Aëra; sic spatii instans propioribus ortum
 Occalus juxta insequitur, cunasque sepulchrum,

Quæ Timidî horrorem, quæ vota medetur Avari,
 Mors finem adducit, quem non procul abfore cuncti
 Novimus: hinc animo fatalia tempora forti

Prospiciens,

Prospiciens, lethum contemne, nec inscia flecti.
Naturæ jura incuses ; quin munera vitæ,
Non aliâ pate lege, hilaris lætusque reponas.

His Sapiens dictis, secum diversa volutans,
Respondet tandem, dubius metuensque futuri :
Si mecum evolvam spatium omne, quod usque peregit
Lapforum sine fine volubilis ordo dierum,
Ex quo profiluit de carcere Tempus, ad horam
Quâ primùm incepti matris concrefcere in alvo,
Aut Nil profus eram, aut memet saltem ipse latebam.
Rursusne in Nihilum fatortum lege revertar,
Hæc artus fugiente Animâ : penitusne jacebo
Perditus, angustâque æternùm condar in urnâ ?
Particulæ, hoc corpus quæ composuere, caducos
Illapsæ in cineres, nunquamne in prisca coibunt
Fœdera : sed rerum confusâ mole solutæ ?
Incipient membra in diversa aliasque figuras
Ire, nec agnoscent veteris vestigia formæ ?
An vox illa, Homini vitæ quæ infundere sensum
Dignata est, prohibet redivivo accendier igne ?
Nulla semul labentam Animam, Vis nulla catenis
Eripiet tenebrarum, & carcere noctis opaco ?

Oceani in fluctus, quoties redit Hesperus, igne
Præcipiti prorum video descendere Solem ;
Nec longum, & radiis isdem similique vigore
Urget iter solitum, rutilique Infigne diei
Purpureum referens, illæso ardore refulget.
Instabiles video ventos sine lege vagari,
Incertamque agitare fugam ; nunc flamine molli
Leniter aspirant, rabido nunc turbine fervent,
Perpetuumque tenent, vario licet impete, cursum.
Fontibus occultis sese erumpentia primùm
Flumina, mox prona immensum glomerantur in æquor

Hæc

Hæc fugiens abit unda, supervenit altera, & amnes
 Fluctibus affiduis lapsuque ferunter eodem :
 Usque novæ funduntur opes, venâque perenni
 Copiæ inexhaustis fœcunda evolvitur urnis.
 Ergo Hominem premet æternùm lex aspera, cui Sol,
 Cui Fluvii, Ventique leves parere recufant ?

Ut Flos mane novo decus explicat omne, diei
 Deliciæ fragiles; & primo vespere marcet;
 Nos itidem.—Eoïs ut concitus Eurus ab oris
 Æquora summa fugâ verrit, tacitoque recumbit
 Littore; ut in stipulis volitans crepitantibus ignis;
 Ut saxum in præceps declivi à monte volutum
 Se rapit; ut sudum jaculata per æthera flamma;
 Sic, sic Vita fugit: quin bullula rupta brevifque
 Fabula, & umbra levis ventofaque fomnia velox
 Ætatis referunt iter—Hei mihi, ficcine Vita
 Transit, & æternum Mors sese extendet in ævum ?

Se certè angustis nimium hæc Sententia claudit
 Finibus: aut unde humanæ est illa infita menti
 Spes, unde ille Timor, forsne altera & altera fedes
 Præmiaque & pœna, luctusque & gaudia restent ?
 Relliquiæne Hominis redivivæ vincula somni
 Excutiant? letho pateat nova Janua vitæ?
 Cnm Sponsi lacrymosa oculos compresserit Uxor,
 Fœmineo funus gemitu planctuque secuta!
 Num dormit, paulùm assueto fugiente vigore,
 At letho haud penitus deviſtum. exſanguè Cadaver:
 Dumque artus, vitæ jam functos munere, carpet
 Ignis edax, vermefve, aut tempora lenta; vigebit
 Usque eadem vivax Anima, & data gaudia lato
 Guſtabit ſenſu, horrefcetque affecta dolore ?
 Illane, ſi pulchrè ſe geſſerit, inſcia labis,

Dum

Dum socium amplecti dignata est corpus amico
 Fœdere, fulgentem ad patriam sedesque beatas,
 Regnaque perpetuâ surget ridentia pace ?
 Nosq; Hominem extinctum lacrymis dum flemus ineptis,
 Cœlicolæ læti excipiunt, plauduntque reverso !
 Sin sese scelerum maculis & crimine multo
 Polluerit, superisne tremens depellitur oris
 Perpetuam in noctem, loca tetra ; ibi cogitur ævum
 Immortale pati, æternos sentire dolores ?

Nos adeo, angusto trepidantes limite terræ,
 Fluctibus oppositis geminum circumfluit æquor :
 Flectimus hinc atque inde oculos ; dolor opprimit inde,
 Imminet hinc timor : & vario dum volvimur æstu
 Præcipites, flemusque peracta, futura timemus,
 Præsens sollicito desperditur hora tumultu.

Pectore sic varias inter fluitante procellas,
 Dum Spes ægra cadit, Ratioque incerta vacillat ;
 En (iterum dixi) quid Vis illa impigra, quæram,
 Quid trepidans agilisque, Animam quem dicimus Ignis ?
 Quo more exercet sese ? quæis clauditur oris ?
 Nosne illam imperio premimus, frænisque tenemus ?
 Unde ideo hæc nostram rumpunt Incommoda pacem
 Usque sequi pacem contendimus, usque dolorem
 Aufugere utrinque heu ! studio exercemur inani :
 Dumque diem Natura velit traducere molles
 Inter delicias, & noctem fallere somno ;
 Fortior interia opponens mala certa Potestas,
 Arbitrium eludit fragile, arrectamque premit spem ;
 Omniaque ostendit, nobis licet usque videntur
 Libera præscriptâ fatorum lege teneri.

Illa igitur menti humanæ dominata Potestas,
 Num gemitus audit miseros, precibusque movetur ?
 Num votis venerata piis & thuris honore,
 Avertet curas, decretaque jura resolvet ?
 Fortior addat opem Pietas Ratione labanti,
 Thureaque invalidas compensent munera vires :
 Et doceant taciti veneranda silentia templi,
 Garrulâ quod nequeunt Sapientûm rostra, dolores
 Quo pacto licet aut fugere, aut superare ferendo.

Quid nostra in melius poterit convertere fata ?
 Ut palans tenebris fortisque incerta futuræ
 Anxia mens trepidat, Nihil inter & Infinitum
 Dum pendens diversa fluit, densâque laborat
 Ambage implicita, & dubiis conceptibus impar !
 Solum Hoc scire datur, luctus subsidere, spemque
 Surgere, quo faveat magis Indulgentia Cœli.

Hæc ubi fatus eram, solennia ferre jubebam
 Dona Sacerdotem, & sacris se accingere votis.
 Jamque ascendebant centum ad delubra Juvenci,
 Lecti omnes, roseis evincti tempora fertis :
 Rite chorum Juvenes ineunt, arguta periti
 Taugere fila lyræ, calamosque inflare canoros :
 Pone Puellarum nitidus subit ordo, feritque
 Tympana, & exercet choreas : quas deinde secuti
 Excipiunt orti veneranda stripe Levitæ,
 Carminaque alterno recitant solennia cantu :
 Per templi spatia ampla incessu pompa verendo
 Ingreditur : claudit sacrum Rex anxius agmen.

Finierant cœleste melos ; cum debita solvens
 Vota, & poplitibus venerans altaria flexis,
 Sic Ego : Magne Pater, qui terram & sydera torques ;
 Quo

Quo mandante ingens tenebris sese extulit Orbis ;
 Cujus diffusas vires curamque paternam,
 Omnia quæ spirant, quæ sunt ubicunque locorum,
 Quotidie agnoscunt ; subitam sensura ruinam,
 Te vires revocante tuas ! Rex maxime Regum,
 Omnia qui nôsti, quique omnia Numine complex,
 Te supplex precor : ô magni miserere doloris.

Que potes insanos pelagi sedare tumultus
 Luctantesque notos frænis nimbosque feroces
 Comprimere : ô animam hac laceram defende procelli
 Quas miscent rapidi Affectus & iniqua Libido :
 Nec gravis obruat Ira, altisve Superbia faxis
 Illidat. Vestrum sed opus vaga Cymbula vestri
 Sentiat auxilii munus : vitæque per æstus
 Incertos, variasque vices, cœlestia cursum
 Ducant auspicia, & tuto me in littore fistant.

Si, levis hos fragiles animet dum spiritus artus,
 Pertæsos vitæ, mortisque horrore trementes ;
 Si forte annueris, saltem ut breviuscula pacis
 Antingam dona, & lectu cessante quiescam ;
 Nunc ô, Magne Pater, jam nunc deterge doloris
 Ingratam hanc nubem, quâ mens onerata laborat ;
 O blandum diffunde jubar, renebrisque fûgatis
 Pande oculis meliora ; hinc Te modulamine multo,
 Te citharâ celebrabo ; hinc lingua animata recenti
 Lætitiâ, effuso referet tua munera cantu.
 Sin placet, his curis functo, ut nova vita superfit,
 Expectentque aliæ sedes, da firma dolori
 Pectora ut opponam, superemque adversa serendo.
 Arcanasque vias quanquam explorare negabis
 Interius, penitusque aditus invisere sacros ;

Da tamen ut fervens pietate, humilique dolores
 Spe minuens, supplex venerabile Numen adorem :
 Imperio cedam Omnipotenti & laudibus æquis
 Justitiæ meritos solvam tibi gratus honores.

Vix ea finieram ; cælo nox ingruit atra ;
 Intonat ; ingenti nutant delubra fragore ;
 Alta quies subit, & tacitæ caliginis horror
 Insinuat sacrum interius per corda pavorem.
 Nec mora ; se erumpit multo fulgore coruscans
 Clara Dies ; ultro conceptis ignibus ardent
 Robora, & involvunt subitis altaria flammis.
 Dives, opimus odor (qualem neque balsama spirant
 Thuriferis Arabum terris neque blanda Sabææ
 Labra rosæ) latè diffunditur aëra circum ;
 Irriguumque solum cælesti rore madescit.
 Quin melos ætherium (quod frustra æquare canendo
Jessides certet, Miriæ vel tympana) miris
 Pertentat numeris trepidantes suaviter aures,
 Et ferit attonitos nimiâ dulcedine sensus.
 En ! oculos quæ Forma rapit ? Quæ tanta repente
 Lux animam invadit ? cælo delapsus aperto
 En ! facer ardenti radiorum indutus amictu
 Nuntius accedit ; roseoque hæc ore profatur ;

Desine, Mortalis, jam tandem de fine finem
 Quærere curarum, spatiumque optare dolori.
 Spes age pone leves, ventisque remitte : rebelles
 Quin potiùs reprime Affectus, mentemque paratam
 Erige ; nec vanæ vexent tibi pectora curæ
 Obdurata malis, longoque assueta dolori.
 Membra gravi fractus senio assiduoque labore,
 Pronus in occasum verges trepidantibus annis :
 Et moriens varios (legatum heu triste !) tumultus,
 Solli.

Sollicito generi, litesque & bella relinques
 Aspera, ad extremos olim mittenda nepotes
 Quisque suos luctus misero patrimonia nato
 Debita concedet Pater, infeliciores hæres
 Quæ capiet cumulata, & adhuc cumulanda relinquet.

Ossa simul tumulo dederis tua; Spes tibi sola
 Que superest, Natus, jam vix diadema cinctus
Judeo, imperii stimulante libidine sacrâ
 (Heu quam prona animos dominantium inflare libido!)
 Sancta Patris spernet monita, & præstantius armis
 Præsidium, populi demens contemnet amorem,
 Suadente heu! Juvenum turbâ: mox victus atroci
 Terga dabit genti, nomenque insigne Jacobi
 Deteret; imperium opprobrio turpabit iniquo,
 Et nubem famæ patrioque obducet honori,
 Quin ferta indecori penitus delapsa videbit
 Vertice, quæ magno meruit sudore recepta
 Acer Avus, multoque ardens è pulvere duxit.
 Civiles nec Marte potens fedare tumultus,
 Nec prece, victores pariter victosque pavebit,
 Utrinque attonitus; solos neque degener hostes
 Horrescit; Judæ simul arma incerta timebit,
 Occumbens tandem fato languentia sternet
 Corpora Jordani ad fluctus, lugubre tumentes
 Cognatorum armis, & fratrum sanguine rubros.

Annorum hinc lentè procedet flebilis Ordo,
 Diris horrentium tenebris luctuque nigrantium
 Perpetuo; lacrymosa onerabunt tempora longæ
 Bellorum series & multa doloris Imago.

Quinetiam in geminas diviso flumine partes
 Diffluet Imperium: laxos age funde dolori
 Toto corde finis; sævis Gens barbara ludet

Oppro-

Opprobriis ; dejecta gravi Judea pudore
 Victa jacebit humi, folis spectanda ruinis.

Altera adhuc superest visenda Ægyptia Tellus,
 Altera vinc'la manent ; uret graviore flagello
 Asperior Dominus : passura atrocius olim
 Mœsta jugum soboles patriis decedet ab oris,
 Opprobrioque gemens majore, Euphratis ad undam
Niliacos iterum renovabit perdita luctus.

Sublimes templorum apices, qui cuspide tangunt
 Sydera, venturi confusâ clade Nepotes
 Disiectos latè aspicient ; mœstique stupebunt
 Immane excidium & vastæ vestigia molis,
 Illa etiam Imperii venerabilis altaque Sedes,
 Quâ vos fuluros fera usque ad sæcula natos
 Creditis, hinc longè hostiles ducetur in oras,
 Victorisque superbi ornabit capta triumphos.
 Quin sacras dextra effrænis populabitur aras,
 Et vasa ipsa DEO templisque dicata Tyrannus
 Efferus indecori violabit sqallida vino ;
 Sacrilegosque sales inter lususque profanos
 Exultans, vetito se proluet impius auro.

Sæc'la quaterdena assiduo revolubile cursu
 Tempus aget ; varias fato versante subibunt
 Regna vices ; alios dum Gens infausta dolores
 Volvet adhuc, aliasque geret lacerata catenas ;
 Demissisque oculis & mœsto languida vultu
 Lapsa gemet recolens, & adhuc ventura timebit

Hostili Judæa solo, Babylonis ad undas,
 Languescens luctu, lacrymisque immerfa sedebit ;
 Plectraque vicinis pendebunt muta salictis.
 Nec jam molle melos tentabit lingua ; choreas
 Nec poterunt agiles membra exercere, labori
 Membra diu assueta, & tacitæ studiosa quietis.
 Lucenti undarum in speculo nimiumque fideli
 Sponsa repercussos formidans squallida vultus
 Horrescit : conjux linguentis in ore maritæ
 Prospiciet sobolis maciem luctusque futuræ ;
 Asperaque, amplexus vexantia, vinc'la queretur.
 Lugebunt neglecta diu solennia Sacra
 Turba Sacerdotum, percussi tristia palmis
 Pectora ; festorumque obliviam longa dierum
 Plorantes, solvent lugubribus ora querelis.
 Quin lacrymas, gemino quasi fonte, effundere posse
 Solliciti optabunt Vates, fletusque ciere
 Perpetuos ; noctis super alta silentia fauces
 Horrescent barathrorum atras dirasque procellas ;
 Et subito excussis flammaram turbine somnis,
 Attoniti referent trepidanti mane popello
 Mystica signa dolorum, & atroces Muminis iras.

Interea miseranda Cohors, poscente Tyranno
 Festivus citharæ numeros & amabile carmen,
 Usque adeo (referent) proles captiva Jacobi
 Gaudebit ? dudum siluerunt pendula plectra,
 Ora melos siluere oblita ! Ut carmina Regi
 Hostili, patriâque procul tellure, canemus ?
 Nosne jugo oppressos graviori, flagra timentes
 Aspera ; & ad nutum sævi trepidare magistri
 Assuetos, humilesque trementia flectere genua ;
 Nos, sordes hominum, nosne efferet alma voluptas ;
 Languen-

Languentesve animos dulcis tentabit Imago ?
 Heu longæ tandem post tædia tarda diei
 Cum nox lenta venit; votorum hoc summa, labores,
 Exuere ingratos paulùm, fessesque soporem
 Indulgere brevem trepida inter somnia membris,
 Donec atrox redeat redeunti sole Tyrannus.
 Luctibus assueti meditemur gaudia ? luctus
 Perpetuos renovare jubet Natura ; videtur
 Hoc nobis Rationis opus. Nonne improba primùm
 Stultitiæ vano manavit fonte Voluptas ?
 Certè immaturo præceps Infania partu
 Protulit effrænesque jocos risusque profanos.

Hæc Series curarum, hic fati flebilis Ordo
 Teque Tuosque manet ; titulis Insignis, & idem,
 O Solomon, Miser ante alios ! quin parce querelis,
 Nec leges metire DEI Rationis ocello :
 Ah distat nimium nimiumque effulget Imago !
 Ille nihil finet intactum, nil linquet inausum,
 Fatorum qui cæca resolvere jura laborat.
 Mitte adeo scrutari, animum compefce superbum !
 Nempe DEO Pulvis Rationem opponet ineptam !
 Sublimi DEUS arbitrio regit omnia ; vestrum est
 Cuncta pati, vitæque datos evolvere cursus.
 Crede nefas, quodcunque DEI inviolabile tendit
 Imperium contra ; Virtuti Ea consona sola,
 Quæ magni arbitrio respondent æqua JEHOVÆ.

Ne tamen immodico vincantur pondere sensus,
 Neu penitus spes fracta cadat ; solatia luctûs
 Accipe, quæ spondet vobis, Qui fallere nescit.
 Nec falli potis est. — Veniet labentibus annis
 Grata Dies, cum Terra malis Judæa fugatis
 Lætior, hostiles solvet secura catenas :

Attollens

Attollens capita alta indigno è pulvere Sion
 Audiet antiquas veneranda per atria leges ;
 Templâ iterum aëriâ ferientia cuspide nubes
 Fulgebunt splendore novo ; Sedesque verendi
 Promissa Imperii montes super ardua surget
 Vertice sublimi, & latis dominabitur arvis.
 Quin Tibi præclarâ de stirpe orietur, amicum
 Auxilium terris cœlo laturus ab alto,
 Victorum insignis Victor, Regumque potens Rex.
 ILLE Hominum curas emolliet: ILLE delores
 Affectusque animi effrænes moderabitur : ILLO
 Auspice ridebit Pax alma, & flumine pleno
 Gaudia manabunt lætum diffusa per orbem.
 Hoc Tibi scire fatis : Superis nec panditur ultrâ.

Quin age jam Solomon, reliquæ ad stadia ultima vitæ
 Perge memor vestri, patrii neque degener hæres
 Nominis : i constans, firma erige pectora, fortis,
 Strenuus ; Affectus cohibe, Virtutibus omnes
 Pande finus, Tibi Censor atrox, aliisque benignus ;
 Supra alios tantùm evehctus pietatis honore,
 Quantùm opibus titulisque nites. En arripe tecum
 Hoc breve præceptum, & memori sub pectore serva :
 Te Justum atque Humilem præsta. — Quæ deinde
 locutus

Nuntius, in cœlum reduci se sustulit alâ.
 Pronus Ego in terrâ variisque impulsibus actus,
 Huc illuc varias volvens sub pectore curas
 Sollicitus, tandem mœstos ad sydere vultus
 Tollebam supplex, humilique hæc voce precabar :

O Rex Omnipotens, Pater optime, Confilii Fons!
O solus Qui cuncta creas, nutuque creata
Dirigis, ardenti lucis quâ cinctus amictu
Arce sedes rutilâ ; Cujus sacra ora tueri
Non Homini datur ! O Terris Cœloque supreme !
Tu mihi, quodcunque est Nostri, Tu vitam animamque
Conciliâs : Tu flecte manu quacunque potenti
Vestrum Opus ! O monitus tandem meliora, fidelis
Permaneam, magnique sequar mandata Parentis !

The Curious Maids.

Wm. Gucht Scull.

THE CURIOUS MAID.

By HILDEBRAND JACOB, Esq;

Obstupuit; steteruntque Comæ.

BEAUTY's a gaudy Sign, no more,
To tempt the Gazer to the Door;
Within the Entertainment lies,
Far off remov'd from vulgar Eyes.

Thus CLOE, beautiful, and gay
As on her Bed the Wanton lay.
Hardly awake from Dreaming o'er
Her Conquest of the Day before.

And what's this bidden Charm? (she cry'd)
And spurn'd th'embracing Cloaths aside
From Limbs of such a Shape, and Hue,
As TITIAN's Pencil never drew,
Resolv'd the Dark-Abode to trace,
Of Female Honour, or Disgrace;
Where Virtue finds her Task too hard,
And often slumbers on the Guard.

Th' Attempt she makes, and buckles to
 With all her Might ; but twou'd not do :
 Still, as she bent, the Part-requir'd,
 As conscious of its Shame, retir'd.

What's to be done ? We're all a-ground !
 Some other Method must be found——
 Water NARCISsus' Face cou'd show,
 And why not CLOE's Charms below ?
 Big with this Project, she applies
 The JORDAN to her Virgin Thighs ;
 But the dull Lake her wish denies.

What Luck is here ; We're foil'd again ?
 The DEVIL's in the Dice, that's plain !
 No Chymist e'er was so perplex'd ;
 No jilted Coxcomb half so vex'd ;
 No Bard, whose gentler Muse excells
 At Tunbridge, Bath, or Epsom-Wells,
 Ordain'd by PHOEBUS special Grace,
 To sing the Beauties of the Place,
 E'er pomp'd, and chaf'd to that Degree,
 To tagg his fav'rite Simile.

Thus Folks are often at a Stand,
 When Remedies are near at Hand !
 For lo ! the Glass——ay, That, indeed !
 'Tis Ten to One we now succeed !
 'To this Relief she flies amain,
 And straddles o'er the shining Plain,
 The shining Plain reflects at large
 All DAMO's Wish and CLOE's Charge.
 The Curious MAID in deep Surprize,
 On the Grim Feature fix'd her Eyes :

(Far

(Far less amaz'd ÆNEAS stood,
When by Avernus' sacred Flood,
He saw Hell's Portal fring'd with Wood.)

And in this ALL, is this (she cry'd)
MAN's great Desire, and WOMAN's Pride;
The Spring whence flows the Lover's Pain,
The Ocean where 'tis lost again,
By Fate for ever doom'd to prove
The Nursery and Grave of Love?

O THOU of dire and horrid Mien,
And always better felt than seen!
Fit rapture for the gloomy Night,
O, never more approach the Light?
Like other MYST'RIES Men adore,
Be HID to be REVER'D the more!

SILENT FLUTE:

O R, T H E
MEMBERS Speech to their SOVERAIGN.

By the S A M E.

Henceforth Italian Concerts must be mute,
No Instrument is like the SILENT FLUTE

O THOU, design'd by Nature to controul,
And in the Centre plac'd to guide the Whole,
What Praise to suit thy Merit shall we bring,
Or how, Great Limb, thy nervous Glory sing?

242 P O E M S on several Occasions.

From Thee our nobler Talents we derive,
 Courage to act, and Cunning to contrive,
 With Thee we flourish, and with Thee we fall,
 Of Health thou sure Prognostic to us all.

When Chance or Vigour does expose thy Face,
 Tho' Prudes may frown, and gravely quit the Place,
 Soft Maids, with giddy Eyes, thy Lustre see,
 Dazzled, like Slaves, at Eastern Majesty ;
 They smile, and blush, and peep, and fly, and turn,
 And in the pleasing Conflict chide, and burn ?
 No Steel like Thee their Paleness can relieve ;
 E'en Widows by thy Aid forget to grieve.

What, tho' with Blood thy Conquest oft are stain'd ?
 To either Party's Joy they still are gain'd ;
 Nor dost thou swell, vain-glorious, with success ; }
 But after Action still retir'd, and less, }
 The Hero and the Sage at once confess.

That thou art just, thy very Foes agree, }
 Partial to no Condition or Degree, }
 Nor e'er consult the Fair One's Pedigree ; }
 But visit both the Wealthy and the Poor, }
 And knock like equal Death, at ev'ry Door, }
 Honour, that fullen Guardian Pow'r, who dwells }
 In unfrequented Caves and barren Cells, }
 Howe'er resolv'd, her folding Gate unlocks, }
 Unable to resist thy mighty Shocks : }
 Yet some pretend thou art a Paradox. }
 Tho' blind, yet bold ; tho' dumb, you teach to speak ; }
 Strong without Bones ; and thro' your Triumph weak.

But

But Nature on thy Vigour still relies,
 And for her fading Labours hopes Supplies.
 On boldly then, Your youthful Heat employ,
 And strenuously force Your way to Joy ;
 Yet all Excesses, as pernicious, shun,
 Nor strain the Tenth laborious Heat to run,
 By curs'd Ambition led or fond Intreaties won :
 So long with Matrons will you find Respect,
 Maintain your Crimson Blush, and Form erect.

Pleas'd We'll pursue, where'er You lead the way,
 And Your dear Laws implicitly obey ;
 By Day, by Night, thro' Heats, thro' Winter's Snow,
 Fatigue and Danger scorn'd, We'll boldly go,
 Not coldly asking why, when You command ;
 For you in Reason's Place, triumphant stand.
 Long in Superior Glory may't Thou thrive,
 And may we ne'er thy active Power survive !
 Scorn'd shall We be, when Thou can't charm no more,
 And slighted by the Sex we pleas'd before.
 Strong as thou art, thy stubborn Neck must yield,
 One Day reluctant, thou must quit the Field,
 Then shall the Nymphs thy drooping Head deride,
 Tho' now the Maidens Dream, and Matrons Pride.

Hence, gloomy Thought, while yet our Monarch reigns,
 And the quick Torrent boils within our Veins ;
 And thou, Great Chief, the gloomy Thought forgive
 Nor shrink with sudden Grief ; but rise, and live
 Thee to some fond expecting Nymph we'll bear,
 And Beds of Roses for thy Bliss prepare.

May no Alarms your softer Hours annoy ;
 Still in Sweat Peace repeat the kindly Joy.
 May no disgust e'er lessen your Desire ;
 No Flatus raise Thee with deceitful Fire ;
 No Spells, from slighted Maids, your Courage foil,
 While on yourself you shamefully recoil,
 Or vainly for th' important Minute toil. }
 And still dear Wanderer, may'st thou be free
 From the infected Rover's Infamy !
 Dire Plague ! Which Heav'n has long reserv'd in Store,
 To damp the envy'd Joy, too great before.
 But if the Pow'rs this perfect Bliss deny,
 And needs must punish your Inconstancy,
 Rather when Old and loaded with Renown,

ODE XXX. BOOK I.

CÆLIA this Night has promis'd, I
 (And bound it with, Or may I die)
 Shall then be eas'd of all my Pains,
 And taste the Sweets of Lovers Chains ;
 The Bed she tells me, is prepar'd,
 The Candle out, the Door unbar'd,

* Lovely

*Lovely Goddess, Queen of Love,
 Ruler of the Gods above,
 For one soft Moment leave thy Sky,
 Neglected once let Paphos lie,
 And here, with all thy Graces fly :
 Contemn the bawling Harlot's Pray'r,
 And snuff up nobler Incense here.
 Let Love in all his fierce Desires,
 His raging never-dying Fires,
 Enter the lovely Form, and there,
 Make Pleasure his peculiar Care ;
 In naked conq'ring Charms array'd,
 Let all the Graces lend their Aid,
 And Youth, and soft Persuasion meet ,
 To make the joyful Scene complete.

The Goddess hears, and now she's there
 I see and feel her ev'ry where ;
 See how the charming Cælia lies,
 With heaving Breasts, extended Thighs,
 And strong desiring, sparkling Eyes ;
 Declaring now, that Love's possesst,
 And revels warmly in her Breast.

— Wanton VENUS, now inspire
 Thy Servant with unusual Fire ;
 Prolong the Night, as when great Jove
 Was blest with his ALCMENA'S Love ;
 And let me, Goddess, if you can,
 Be this Night something more than Man.

HOR.

YOU who, like PROTEUS, in all Shapes appear,
 And ev'ry Hue, like the Camelion, wear,
 PHANTASIA, airy Pow'r! in humbler Lays
 We sing your Triumphs, and your Temple raise.
 There, far from Reason, absolute you reign,
 And scorn your proud, unequal Rival's Chain:
 A thousand restless Forms around you sport,
 A thousand busy Dreams your Throne support;
 Vain Terrors your severer Orders wait,
 And gay, delusive Hopes attend your State.

In Britain, still for some new Madness fam'd,
 When Madmen long had rag'd, and unrestrain'd,
 Near Old AUGUSTA's Walls, the spacious Seat,
 The wretched, wand'ring Lunatic's Retreat,
 Arose Majestic to the Founder's Fame,
 And * Bedlam, from it's Purpose, is it's Name.

Here ev'ry Error of the lawless Mind,
 The Monsters of distemper'd Thought we find,
Madness

* Bedlam, or Bethlent, signifies the House of Bread.

Madness in all Extrems ; Serene and mild ;
 Where EUCLID'S Sons * run Regularly wild ;
 Where patient Chymists fill their Labour ply ;
 And where the frantic Dead supinely lie.

Or loudly Raving ; where Ambition reigns,
 O're prostrate Foes, and wide extending Plains,
 With Tyrants of all Kinds, and each Degree
 From Pedagogue to Eastern Majesty.

Or the pale Wretch, in one sad Posture found,
 With fix'd, and hollow Eyes surveys the Ground.
 For ever dwells on the consuming Care,
 And ev'ry Thing he turns to his Despair.
 Now tells of adverse Fate, and fondly dreams
 Of troubled Oceans, and contending Streams ;
 Or weeps, like NIOBE, and weary strays
 O'er false, enchanted Ground, and thorny Ways ;
 Or threatening Ghosts, arising to his View,
 On lonely Sands and Shores, the Wretch pursue ;
 Or all around a thousand Furies glare,
 And shake their fiery Brands, and snaky Hair.

For grateful Errors some their Reason change,
 And in the gaudy Fields of fancy range.
 Magnific to their wild delighted Eyes
Peruvian Roofs and Parian Columns rise ;
 Beneath their Thrones the Niles and Ganges meet,
 And waft unbounded Riches to their Feet,
 Kind Nymphs around with gay LYABUS dance,
 And not one Fear invades the golden Trance,
 Happy till envious Art the Bane restore,
 And sad returning Reason finds 'em poor.

* Mathematicians.

Nor here alone are these Delusions kind,
 Nor to our Age, nor to our Clime confin'd :
Athens of old a famous Beggar knew,
 Who rich, and happy in Distraction grew ;
 Loud thro' the throng'd * Pricæum he commands,
 The Trade of mighty Nations in his Hands,
 Till taught his long neglected Rags to own,
 Aud curse the † HAULES and SHADWELL of the Town.

Near these the sage Observer of the Skies,
 Imp'd with Icarian Wings, attempts to rise,
 The World of Lunar Nations to surprize ;
 Impatient to possess the distant Ground,
 And plough the ‡ fertile Plains him self has found.

Damn'd Authors next, the tasteless Age deplore ;
 Many inhumble Prose ; in Metre more.
 These, PHOEBUS, did your wholesom Laws disclaim,
 And fondly hop'd with Ease to purchase Fame.
 Here oft in sweet Confusion they excell ;
 Or mighty Deeds in mighty Madness tell,
 While Seas of Crimson Gore the Plain o'erspread.
 " And Heav'n turns pale to see us look so red ||
 Or Nature's general Wreck they bravely dare,
 The whirling Globe from off its Axle tear,
 Hurl Worlds at Worlds, eclipse each heav'nly Spark,
 " While Gods meet Gods, and jumble in the Dark ||.

With you, bright Queen  of Error, unconfin'd
 They soar, and leave the Weight of Sense behind,

Thus on your wanton Wings supinely ride,
 There most secure where most they want a Guide.
 With you, and Art of old, the tuneful Quire
 To Heav'n itself with Safety could aspire,
 Sing the blest State of the Immortal Pow'rs,
 Their Loves, their Nectar, and their Golden Bow'rs.
 Or else descending, they the Deep explore,
 And thro' the World of Waters find a Shore,
 Visit the Nereids Chrystaline Retreats,
 Their Groves of Coral, and their Ouzy Seats.
 Or farther, does your restless Pow'r invite
 To Realms of Chaos, and eternal Night?
 Tuneful amidst the horrid Wreck they soar,
 And celebrate the Elemental War.
 Or in a milder Region would you tread?
 Behold the quiet Mansion of the Dead!
 Silent and fleeting Shades compose the Song,
 And LETHÉ rolls his lazy Wave along.

Turn, various Goddesses, turn your beauteous Face!
 We sing your Triumphs, You your Triumphs grace!
 O! cou'd You here, your kindly Aid impart,
 And lend your animating Pow'r to Art,
 Propitious as when ev'ry Grace you bring
 To CONGREVE'S Art, when CONGREVE deigns to sing,
 While Eccho pleas'd conveys the Charm around,
 And Envy's Self compos'd, devours the Sound!

Yet why, tho' artless all, do we delay
 Your Sport, insulting * VENUS, to display?
 Unequal Forms, and Hearts you Here unite;
 Or Nature's Laws reverse in wanton Spite,

While CORIDON laments his absent Swains,
And slighted SAPHO of her Nymphs complains.

But see a love-sick Maid, with Sighs oppress'd,
Shines with superior Grace amidst the rest!
Romantic Tales, In Heaps, compose her Bed,
And vast CASSANDRA * props her pensive Head.
Sigh to her Sighs, and long to share her Pains,
And thus the fond distracted Fair complains.

Sprung from a Royal Race of High Renown,
The wand'ring Heiress of an Eastern Crown
You here behold! a miserable Maid?
By hapless Love to endless Care betray'd!
Early my Fame to distant Nations flew,
And wond'ring Crouds from ev'ry Nation drew,
Shining in Arms for MYRA's Love they vie,
And many in pursuit of MYRA die.
Ador'd by All, One only I approve,
And Him, and Him alone I vow to love.
But 'ere the holy Priest might join our Hands,
A fatal Task my Royal Sire commands.
Proud of the gen'rous Toil the Hero goes
In quest of Glory, and our Country's Foes.
Three tedious Moons his Absence I deplore,
And watch solicitous the well-known Shore,
The Way where then the brave ORLANDO pass'd,
When these o'erflowing Eyes beheld him last.
At length I vow, impatient of Delay,
'To find my Love, or wander Life away.
'Twas in the solemn Noon of silent Night,
When guided by DIANA's doubtful Light,
Along the winding Coast I took my Flight.

* A Romance.

An Age o'er Plains, o'er Forests I'm convey'd,
 And Wastes where yet no human Path is made,
 Spells, Monsters-Rage, and Tyrant's-Threats endure,
 And Pains ORLANDO's Love alone can cure.

Tell me, ye courteous Knights, whose gen'rous Care
 Protects the Injur'd, and relieves the Fair,
 Tell me what magic Pow'rs, what CIRCE's Charms
 Detain ORLANDO from his MYRA's Arms,
 Tell me, O, tell me this, and, O, invade
 The Giant's Tow'rs, and free a captive Maid!

Love has a thousand more fantastic Slaves,
 And each by Turns a diff'rent Madness raves,
 Triumphant now, and now again distress'd,
 By Hope elated, or by Fear depress'd.

Religion next, and Politics, combine,
 And in one friendly League of Madness join
 The wild Projector, Patriot, and Divine.
 Of Schisms yet untaught, unpractis'd Schemes,
 And Credit still to fall, the Frantic Dreams.
 Here, CYNTHIA, once a fam'd Coquet, retires,
 And burns with manly Rage, and Roman Fires,
 Scorns the malicious Art, her Beauty past,
 And changes Love for Politics at last,
 Loud from her Cell the raging Sibyl screams
 Mysterious Errors, and portentous Dreams;
 War, horrid War, and Peace by Turns she sings,
 And Bedlam with the Fate of Europe rings,
 For these our sacred College chiefly stands,
 And Half our Lodgings are in Statesmens Hands;
 Tremendous Crowd! with various Rage possess'd,
 And ever more tumultuous than the rest.

Yet

252 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Yet few of all the raving Herd are found
So loud as he who wou'd be thought most found.

Pity, he cries, a sad, but wholesome Mind,
A Wretch by false, impatient Heirs confin'd!
Bedlam, at least, one Reas'ning Slave contains,
And many yet without deserve these Chains:
Amidst his shining Hoard AVARO wants,
Hoarse STENTOR sings, and bright AURELIA paints,
On these let Bedlam's just Correction fall,
On these and on my impious Prodigal!

Not far from hence, and in obscure Cells
Spleen with her meagre, faded, People dwells.
A hundred Heads the gloomy Monster bears,
Each Head by Turns a hundred Faces wears, }
Inspiring all the Train of needless Cares. }
PHANTASIA, you, the deadly Pest of Yore, }
On Albion's chalky Cliffs to EURUS bore: }
She still her Sire attends, and haunts the cloudy Shore. }

Near these the Lunatic, in fond Despair,
Oft to th' inconstant Moon directs his Pray'r,
Sollicitous observes her Nightly Way,
As thro' the pathless Heav'n she seems to stray,
To her of short-liv'd Intervals complains,
And feels already the approaching Change.

'Twas here, amidst the Crowd of gaping Fools,
A celebrated Member of the Schools
Pass'd gravely on, with slow, majestic Pace,
The Pride of useless Learning in his Face.
Tir'd of the noisy Crowd, away, ye rude,
Away, he cry'd, obstrep'rous Multitude?

Hence !

Hence ! your unreasonable Mirth give o'er !
 Or learn of me lost Reason to deplore,
 Profane, illeterate Herd ! who joy to see
 Man fallen from his native Dignity.
 Man ! Lordly Creature ! for whose only Aid
 The Earth, and all th'Etherial Lamps were made.
 To these sublime his stately Front he rears,
 And Majesty in all his Form appears,
 And Heaven to that glorious Form has join'd
 A quick, discerning, bright, capacious Mind,
 And plac'd him next to the Angelic Kind.

The surly Lunatic, whose Cell was nigh,
 Observ'd the canting Pedant stalking by,
 And thus occosts him : Hist, Sir Gravity !
 When his own Form the Painter wou'd express,
 He seldom flatters more, or means it less.
 To me this Lordly Creature Man appears
 The empty, idle Sport of Hopes and Fears,
 Flying the Thing he did but now adore,
 An' now pursuing what he fled before ;
 Of Nature's more unfinish'd Draughts the Worst,
 And of all Nature's Wretches most accurs'd,
 If Flattery and Pride had not conspir'd
 To make his Imperfections still admir'd.
 At mighty Things he aims with restless Strife
 Beyond the little Purpose of his Life ;
 Base in Oppression, and in Pow'r severe ;
 His Glory, Arrogance ; his Justice, Fear :
 For fear of Human Nature, Laws are made ;
 For fear of Human Punishment, obey'd.
 And his sublimest Knowledge seems design'd
 To prove the narrow Limits of his Mind.

Some whom at least in Silence all revere.
 Like Gods, we own, amidst the Croud appear;
 These tho' they must admire, they basely hate,
 Or starve the Worth they dare not imitate.
 Yet more ungrateful Truths Mankind must own.
 Was Man but to himself sincerely known;
 But from the Dawn of Light they turn away,
 And fly like Birds obscene, the hated Day;
 Virtues in human Vanity devise,
 Which human Weakness ne'er can exercise,
 And sooth their Wretchedness with pompous Lies, }
 Thus Reason is their boasted Attribute,
 The Mighty Diff'rence 'twixt Man and Brute!
 The Flatterer of all, the Guide of none,
 And late Reflection of the Wretch undone.
 An Armour which in Peace for Pride they bear;
 But never of Defence in Time of War.
 A Pilot who in Calms alone can guide,
 Stem easy Currents, and a gentle Tide;
 Who, insolent and vain, in Safety braves
 The sleeping Tempest, and the smiling Waves;
 But when strong Winds arise, and Billows rore, }
 The idle Boaster is of Use no more,
 And the poor Vessel breaks upon the Shore.

SHIP in a STORM.

By a SAILOR.

I.

WITH flowing Pomp, and beauteous Pride,
The floating Pile in Harbour rode,
Proud of her Freight, the swelling Tide
Reluctant left the Vessel's Side,
And kiss'd it as she flow'd.

II.

The Seas with Eastern-breezes curl'd,
And silver'd Half the liquid Plain,
Her Anchors weigh'd, her Sails unfurl'd,
Serenely mov'd the Wooden-World,
And stretch'd along the Main.

III.

Thus whilst we trace a prosp'rous Scene
Dissembled Friendship waits on Power ;
But early quits the fraudulent Mien,
When Fortune is no more serene ;
And waits but to devour.

IV.

IV.

The native Wonders of the deep,
 Pres to admire the vast Machine,
 In sportive Gambols round it leap,
 Or else at awful Distance keep,
 In Homage to their Queen.

V.

In vain we fly approaching Ill,
 Danger can Multiply its Form,
 Expos'd we fly like JONAS still;
 And Heav'n, when its Heav'n's Will
 O'er takes us in a Storm.

VI.

The distant Surge all foaming white,
 Foretells the furious Blast;
 Dreadful, tho' distant, was the Sight.
 Confed'rate Winds, and Waves unite,
 And menace ev'ry Mast.

VII.

Winds whistling thro' the Shrouds, proclaim
 A Fatal Harvest on the Deck,
 Quick in pursuit, as active Flame,
 To soon the rolling Ruin came,
 And ratify'd the ——Wreck.

VIII.

Thus ADAM shone with new-born grace,
 Inform'd by an Almighty Breath;
 Thus the same Breath sweeps off his Race,
 Disorders Nature's beauteous Face,
 And teams with instant Death.

IX.

IX.

Stript of her Pride, the Vessel rolls,
And if by Sympathy she knew,
The Secret Anguish of our Souls,
With inward deeper Groans, condoles
The Danger of her Crew.

X.

The faithless Flood forsook her Keel,
And downward launch'd the lab'ring Hull,
Stun'd she forgot awhile to reel,
And felt, or almost seem'd to feel,
A momentary Lull.

XI.

Now what avail'd it to be brave
On liquid Precipices hung,
Suspended on a breaking Wave?
Beneath Us yawn'd a Sea Green-Grave,
Which silenc'd every Tongue.

XII.

Thus in the Jaws of Death we lay,
Nor Light, or Comfort found us there,
Loft in the Gulph, and Floods of Prey,
No Sun to chear Us, nor a Ray
Of Hope, but in Despair.

XIII.

The Seas encourag'd this Despair,
While certain Ruin waits on Land;
Shou'd we direct our Wishes there,
Soon we recal the fatal Prayer,
And wish to shun the Strand.

XIV.

At length a BEING whose behest,
 Reduc'd a Chaos into Form,
His Goodness and his Power confest,
He spoke, and, like a GOD, suppress
 Our TROUBLES and the STORM.

STRADA'S NIGHTINGALE.

IMITATED.

By Mr. PATTISON.

AS PHOEBUS darted forth a milder Ray,
And lengthning Shades confess'd the shortning Day;
To Tyber's Banks repair'd an am'rous Swain,
The Love and Envy of the neighb'ring Plain,
To cool his Heat, he sought the breezy Grove,
To cool his Heat, but more the Heat of Love;
Too sooth his Cares on a soft Lute he play'd,
But the soft Lute reviv'd the lovely Maid:
Conspiring Elms their Umbrage shed around,
Wav'd with Applause, and listen'd to the Sound.

When Philomela, gentle Bird of Love,
Poor, pretty, harmless Siren of the Grove,
Enchanted, heard the Shepherd as he play'd,
And stole attentive to the tuneful Shade;
Perch'd o'er his Head the Sylvan Charmer fate,
With Envy burning, and with Pride elate.

Ambitiously

Ambitiously she lent a list'ning Ear,
Fix'd by the Melody, she dy'd to hear.

Each Note, each flowing Accent of the Song
She sooth'd, and sweeten'd with her softer Tongue;
Gentle refin'd each imitated Strain,
And with his Music charms the ravish'd Swain.

The ravish'd Swain admir'd the just Replies,
Awhile he thinks soft Ecchoes round him rise;
But when he found his little Rival near,
Imbibing Music both at Eye and Ear;
With a sublimer Touch he swept the Lute,
The daring Prelude to the sweet Dispute;
The dauntless Charmer heard the bold Defy,
And warbling answer'd with a gay Reply.

Now tend'rest Thoughts the gentle Swain inspire,
And with a dying Softness tune the Lyre,
Eccho, the Music of the vernal Woods,
And soft remurmur to the falling Floods;
Thus sweet he plays, but sweetly plays in vain;
For Philomela sings a softer Strain;
With gentler Art She modulates each Note,
And breathes more melting Music from her Throat.

Much he admir'd the Music of her Tongue,
But more to find his Lute and Art outdone!
And now to loftier Airs he tunes the Strings,
And now to loftier Airs his Eccho sings,
Tho' loud as Thunder, swift as Sun-beams float,
She reach'd the swelling, caught the flying Note;
In trembling Treble, now in solemn Base,
She show'd how Nature cou'd his Art deface.

Amaz'd

Amaz'd at length with Rage the Shepherd burn'd,
 His admiration into Anger turn'd ;
 Inflam'd, with emulating Pride he stood,
 And thus defy'd the Charmer of the Wood.

And wilt Thou still my Music imitate ?
 Then see thy Folly, and Thy Task is great :
 For know, more pow'rful Lays remain unsung,
 Lays far superior to that mimic Tongue.

If not this Lute, this vanquish'd Lute, I swear,
 Shall never more delight the list'ning Ear ;
 But broke in scatter'd Fragments, strew the Plain,
 And mourn the Glories which it cou'd not gain.

He said, and glowing with a jealous Fire,
 With a disdainful Air he struck the Lyre ;
 Quick to the Touch the Tides of Music flow,
 Swell into Strength, or melt away in Woe :
 Now rise the shriller Trumpet's clanging Jar,
 Now rouse the Thunders of the tuneful War ;
 Now soft'ning Sounds and sadly pleasing Strains
 Breathe out the Lover's Joys and Lover's Pains.

He Sung ; and sat attentive now to hear,
 His little Rival's Fame-contending Air.

But now, too late ! her noble Folly found,
 Sad Philomela stood subdu'd by sound ;
 Tho' vanquish'd, yet with gen'rous Ardour fill'd,
 Ignobly still she scorn'd to quit the Field ;
 Each emulated Strain, each labour'd Note,
 Trills on her Tongue, and trembles thro' her Throat.

But

But slowly faint, her pensive Accents flow,
 Weaken'd with Grief, and overcharg'd with Woe:
 Again she Tunes her voice, again she Sings,
 Strains ev'ry Nerve, and quivers on her Wings,
 In vain! her sinking Spirits fade away,
 And in a tuneful Agony decay?
 Dying she fell, and as the Strains expire,
 Breath'd out her Soul in Anguish on the Lyre:
 Dissolv'd in Transports, she resign'd her Breath,
 And gain'd a living Conquest by her Death.

W Here the fair Paphian Goddess keeps her Court
 Where the Loves wanton, and the Graces sport;
A tow'ring Mountain lifts its loftly Brow,
 And bends with Pleasure on the Plains below;
 O'er distant blue retiring Hills surveys;
 Its shadow floating in Ionian Seas;
 The Top impervious all Access denies,
 Tires the faint Foot, and dims the dizzy Eyes:

No fierce inclement Winter shivers here,
 No blasting Seasons nip the bloomy Year,
 No smoaking Mists, nor foggy Damps arise.
 Hang o'er the Hills, or sail along the Skies :
 But an untainted Æther smiles serene,
 And sheds its Influence on the shining Scene ;
 Eternal Sweets the wafting Breezes bring,
 And breathe around an everlasting Spring.

The pleasurable Mountains by Degrees,
 Sink in a Level, to salute your Eyes :
 Where Joy, succeeding Joy, for ever New,
 For ever rising to the ravish'd View.
 The wond'ring Sight with sweet Amusement leads
 Thro' golden Groves, and ever-living Meads.

These were the Gifts, his Gratitude to prove,
 VULCAN bestow'd upon the Queen of Love ;
 For these, the Queen of Love resign'd her Charms,
 And over-fold the Heaven in her Arms.

Here a soft Grove it's cooling Shade affords,
 Fann'd by the Music of the vocal Birds ;
 To this the Sylvan Choristers resort,
 Hop on the Boughs, or to the Breezes sport :
 The Queen of Love amid the tuneful Throng,
 With graceful Smiles rewards each fav'rite Song ;
 Elect the worthy Tenant of the Grove,
 And dedicates him to the God of Love.

Embow'ring Trees the mingled Shade compose ;
 That imitates the Fair, for whom it grows ;
 With complicating Poplars, Poplars twine,
 With spreading Alders, spreading Alders join :

Majestic

Majestic Elms with bending Foliage flow,
 Float in green Waves, and fan the Shades below,
 The Shades below the cooling Gale receive,
 And rising with the cooling Gale revive.

Two diff'rent Rivers murmur thro' the Grove,
 Two fatal Contrarities in Love!
 This sweet, as mutual Joys in youthful Veins;
 That bitter, as a dying Lover's Pains;
 Conscious, the Streams each other seem to fun,
 But in Meanders lost, too soon are One:
 Dipt in these fabled Waves, Love's fatal Dart
 Stings the distracted Soul to sooth the Heart:
 To these his Shafts their double Power owe,
 Soft pleasing Joys, and sad consuming Woe.

Rang'd on the Banks the little Loves resort,
 Plight fancy'd Oaths, and bend their Bows in sport;
 Those tender Nymphs produ'd a blooming Race,
 And left their Virgin Image on their Face;
 The ruddy Cheeks their Parents Charms proclaim,
 Alike their Habit, and their Look the same.
 O'er all these Troops preside the God of Love,
 A God whom all the Gods revere Above;
 Sprung from the Mother, and the Queen of Charms,
 He shines distinguish'd in superior Arms;
 His potent Pow'r ev'n Deities controls,
 And awes the Thunderer that awes the Poles;
 On Earth he triumphs o'er a Monarch's Cares,
 And blasts the Laurel which the Light'ning spares:
 In Woods and Groves th' inferior Archers reign,
 Contented with the Conquests of the Plain.

Close in the Streams, in fatal Pomp array'd,
 Love's wild romantic Equipage is laid ;
 Here lawless Liberty for ever roves,
 For ever riots in excess of Loves ;
 Inflam'd with Wine, distracted Rage appears,
 But soon dissolves in self-accusing Tears ;
 Here, warming Whispers propagate Replies,
 Sweet melting Murmurs, soft consenting Sighs ;
 With all the Eloquence that Hearts confess,
 With all the Harmony that Eyes express :
 There young Desires, their tasted Joys pursue,
 Pleas'd with the past, and panting for the new ;
 While strange Chimera's on a sudden rise,
 Shift the false Scene, and intercept their Eyes ;
 Tormenting Jealousies, uneasy Cares,
 Dissembling Hopes, imaginary Fears ;
 Accusing Crimes of ill-requited Love,
 And breaking Vows re-echo thro' the Grove :
 Full in the midst, with nice-becoming Grace.
 Stood Youth, too conscious of his comely Face ;
 Proud of his nervous Strength, and vig'rous Veins,
 With Pain his Blood the luscious Tide contains ;
 With haughty Smiles he mocks declining Age,
 His starv'd Enjoyments, and dissembled Rage :
 The wither'd Wretch avoids him with remorse,
 And sickens at the thought of what he was.
 Proud o'er the Groves, a glitt'ring Dome ascends,
 Rich with the Labours of Vulcanian Hands ;
 Thro' the green Ranks the darting Lustre streams,
 And the Shade kindle with reflecting Gleams ;
 This Master-piece of Skill the Lemnian God
 On his fair Spouse a worthy Gift bestow'd :

Immortal

Immortal Monuments of Art support
 The vast Foundations of each ample Court ;
 On Di'mond Pillars, Di'mond Pillars rise,
 At once invade and emulate the Skies ;
 Perlucid Crystal clarifies each Stone,
 And by excluding makes a double Sun ;
 In Oval-steps the rising Topaz roll'd,
 Reflected Blazes on the valving Gold ;
 Each Stone conspires it's emulating Rays,
 Glitter the Beryls, and the Rubies blaze.
 Carv'd Saphirs meet in undulating Flame,
 And drink the lucid Ambers fainter Stream.

Here spacious Greens, refreshing Areas rise,
 And with a milder Scene refresh the Eyes ;
 Thro' Cassia Groves ambrosial Breezes breathe,
 And steal the aromatic Sweets beneath ;
 There soft inferior Shades of Myrtles grow,
 And Lillies blushing as the Roses glow ;
 Dissolv'd with Joy the trickling Balm runs o'er,
 And the sweet Tears distil at ev'ry Pore.

But now his Journey pass'd, the God of Love,
 With eager Joy approach'd his native Grove ;
 And now he re-assumes a solemn Pace,
 He moves with Majesty, and looks with Grace.

It happen'd then with future Joys elate,
 His Goddess-Mother at her Toilet sat ;
 On either Side th' Idalian Sisters stand,
 Proud of the smiling Goddess's Command ;
 These scatter Odours o'er the fragrant Fair,
 Those spread the mazy Tendrils of her Hair.
 Some exercise the fine correcting Comb,
 Smooth the soft Curls, and call the Straglers home :

The comely Fav'rites by a nice Design,
They leave to sport, and wanton in the Wind ;
The comely Fav'rites with adorning Grace,
Wave on the Breeze, and flow upon her Face,
With cooling Airs create an easy Pride,
And but increase the Charms they strive to hide ;
No Glasses here deluding Lights supply,
The brilliant Di'mond guides the judging Eye :
For as the Goddess moves, new Mirrours rise,
And catch augmenting Splendors from her Eyes ;
As to the multiplying Stones she turns,
On all she dances, and on all she burns.

But lo! a sudden Scene of Glory fires
Her rising Soul, and breathes more gay Desires ?
Her Son's reflected Image she surveys,
With trembling Joy she turns to prove the Rays ;
But turning conscious of her only Son,
Into the blooming Boy's Embraces run ;
Receives him panting at unfolding Charms,
And hugs the little Darling in her Arms :

DOBSON and JOAN;

A

S O N G.

By Mr B*.

I.

DEAR CHLOE, while thus beyond Measure,
You treat me with Doubts and Disdain,
You rob all your Youth of it's Pleasure,
And hoard up an Old-Age of Pain.

II.

Your Maxim, that Love is ill founded,
On Charms that will quickly decay;
You'll find to be very ill-grounded,
When once you it's Dictates obey.

III.

The Passion from Beauty first drawn,
Your Kindness wou'd vastly improve;
Your Sighs and your Smiles are the Dawn,
Fruition's the Sun-shine of Love.

IV. And

IV.

And tho' the bright Beams of your Eyes,
Should be clouded (that now are so gay)
And Darknefs possess all the Skies,
We ne'er can forget that 'twas Day.

V.

Old DOBSON with JOAN by his Side,
You've often regarded with Wonder ;
He's dropfical, She is fore-ey'd,
Yet they are ever uneasy afunder.

VI.

Together they totter about,
Or fit in the Sun at their Door ;
And at Night, if Old DOBSON's Pot's out,
His JOAN will not smoke a Whiff more.

VII.

No Beauty or Wit they possess,
Their several Failings to smother ;
Then what are the Charms can you guess,
That makes 'em so fond of each other ?

VIII.

The pleasing Remembrance of Youth,
Th' Endearments That Youth did bestow,
The Thoughts of past Pleasures and Truth ;
The best of our Blessings below.

IX. Those

IX.

Those Traces for ever will last,
 No Sickness nor Time can remove ;
 For when Youth and Beauty are past,
 And Age brings the Winter of Love.

X.

A Friendship insensibly grows,
 From Reviews of such Raptures as these ;
 A Current of Fondness still flows,
 That decrepit Old Age cannot freeze.

THE Man that is Drunk, is void of all Care,
 He needs neither Partbian Quiver or Spear,
 The Moor's poison'd Dart he scorns for to wield,
 His Bottle alone is his Weapon and Shield.

II.

Undaunted he goes among Bullies and Whores,
 Demolishes Windows, and breaks open Doors,
 He revels all Night, is afraid of no Evil,
 And boldly defies both the Proctor and Devil.

III.

As late I rode out with my Skin full of Wine,
 Encumbered neither with Care nor with Coin ;
 I boldly confronted a horrible Dun,
 Affrighted, as soon as he saw me, he run.

IV. No

IV.

No Monster could put you to half so much Fear,
Shou'd he in APULIA's Forest appear ;
In Africa's Defart, there never was seen,
A Monster so hated, by Gods and by Men.

V,

Come place me, ye Deities, under the Line,
Where grows not a Tree, nor a Plant, but the Vine ;
O'er hot burning Sands I will swelter and sweat,
Bare-footed, with nothing to keep off the Heat.

VI.

Or place me where Sun-shine is ne'er to be found.
Where the Earth is with Winter eternally bound !
Even there I wou'd nought but my Bottle require.
My Bottle should warm me, and fill me with Fire.

VII.

My Tutor may Job me, and lay me down Rules,
Who minds 'em but Damn'd Philosophical Fools ;
For when I am Old and can no more Drink,
'Tis time enough then for to sit down and Think.

VIII.

'Twas thus ALEXANDER was tutor'd in vain,
For he thought ARISTOTLE an Ass for his Pain ;
His Sorrows he us'd in full Bumpers to drown,
And when he was Drunk, then the World was his own.

IX. This

IX.

This World is, a Tavern with Liquor well stor'd,
And into't I came to be drunk as a Lord;
My Life is the Reckning which freely I'll pay,
And when I'm Dead-Drunk, then I'll stagger away.

* PROTEUS

272 P O E M S on several Occasions.

The Gods on all thy hated Labours frown,
 Thy Crimes have call'd the raging Vengeance down.
 Young ORPHEUS wretched, tho' unjustly so,
 Moves Heaven to load Thee with a length of Woe, }
 His WIFE's sad Fate has rais'd Thee such a Foe.
 When from thy bold Pursuit, with blushing Dread,
 Swift, o'er the River's winding Bank she fled ;
 She ne'er beheld in her unhappy Speed,
 A burning Serpent in the Herbage hid.
 She died! and all the Dryads mourn'd around.
 O'er all the conscious Hills their Sorrows found ;
 Ev'n savage Thrace a tender Grief adorn'd,
 And RHODOPE thro' all his Mountains mourn'd.
Barbarian Climes confess'd a gen'rous Woe,
 And Heber's plaintive Streams forgot to flow.
 His Matchless Lyre was all the Youth's Relief,
 His last soft Effort to elude his Grief.
 Thee, lovely Spouse! thee, fated to deplore,
 He mourn'd melodius on the desert Shore ;
 Thee, when the Day-spring dawn'd with tuneful Tongue,
 Thee when Night gloom'd, he solitary sung,
 But now his Love an awful Proof intends.
 To Hell's detested Shades the Youth descends ;
 To the dull Grove where Night for ever reigns ;
 To Ghosts insensible of Human Pains,
 To Hell's tremendous King, he boldly goes,
 Led by the Ardour of the restless Woes.
 His wondrous Lyre charm'd Erebus around,
 And rais'd soft Raptures with the magic Sound :
 The gliding Ghosts and Forms of living Shade,
 Around him croud, and gladden'd as he play'd :
 Not in such Numbers, from the clouded Sky,
 The feather'd Nation to the Woodland fly,

When

When from the fable Night and Storms above,
 They seek the Shelter of the greatful Grove.
 Parents in venerable Forms appear,
 And laurel'd Heroes frown'd in Shapes of Air;
 Bright Virgins too, in softer Shadows move,
 And Youths snatch'd early from their Bloom above;
 Whose wand'ring Flight the Stygian Streams control,
 Nine Times the mirey Waters round them roll:
 But o'er the Gloom the tuneful Rapture spread,
 And charm the Caverns of the silent Dead.
 The Furies too with fond Attention gaz'd.
 And their dishevel'd Snakes no longer blaz'd,
 The dreadful Throats of CERBERUS were still,
 And gentle Breezes stop'd Ixion's Wheel.
 And now, the Perils of his Passage pass'd,
 With pleasing Speed, he leaves the dismal Waste,
 His Wife, the dear Companion of his Way,
 His Footsteps follow'd to the Verge of Day.
 With this Command, relenting at his Prayer,
 The Queen of Hell restor'd the Willing Fair.
 When ah! his tender Joys too soon renew,
 A slender Crime,) if Ghosts Forgiveness knew:
 Near the mild Confines of returning Day,
 On the last Bounds of his unfinish'd Way;
 Thoughtless alas! unable to forbear,
 He stop'd, he turn'd, he gaz'd upon his Fair:
 Here all his Labours lost their rich Reward,
 His Vows were broke with Hell's tyrannick Lord;
 A Noise of Woe roll'd ominous around,
 And ACHERON thrice echo'd to the Sound:
 My Spouse, she cry'd, what angry Gods Decree,
 Divides thy dear EURYDICE and Thee!
 The Fates remand me to the silent Shades,
 The Sleep of Death my swimming Eyes invades;

274 P O E M S on Several Occasions.

Farewel! the Glooms of Night around me low'r,
 EURYDICE, alas! is Thine no more!
 At this she skims reluctant from his Sight,
 As Vapours vanish in the Fields of Light;
 Now doom'd to wander on the dreary Shore,
 Her Eyes beheld the hapless Youth no more;
 Whilst he in vain the hollow Gloom invades,
 And impotently clasps the empty Shades:
 Ah! what persuasive Strains shall he invent,
 What lovely Woe to make the Ghosts relent;
 Slow o'er the fable Element she fails,
 Nor all the Music of his Lyre avails.
 Nine long revolving Months, as Bards relate,
 Near cold Strymona's chilling Waves he sat,
 Beneath a Mountains bending Brow he sung,
 And the soft Sound thro' all the Caverns rung;
 The list'ning Tygers at his Strains were still,
 And Groves descended from the shaggy Hill.

Thus in a Poplar Shade, with mournful Song,
 Sad Philomel laments her stolen Young;
 When some unpitying Swain her Nest has viw'd,
 And seiz'd unfeather'd, the defenceless Brood;
 Perch'd on a Bough, the tuneful Songstrefs sits,
 And nightly her melodious Woe repeats;
 Whilst the soft Murmurs of the melting Sound,
 Swell thro' the Thickets and the Grots around.

No blooming Virgins could his Pangs remove
 Or sooth his Sorrows with a second Love;
 He fled Society, and rang'd alone,
 'Midst the cold Horrors of the frozen Zone,
 Where the bleak North forbids the Streams to flow,
 And Rocks rise hoary with eternal Snow:

His

His lust EURYDICE prolongs his Pain,
 Stern PROSERPINE's fair Gift bestow'd in vain!
 Their slighted Charms, the Thracian Dames resent,
 Unanimous on dire Revenge they're bent;
 'Midst their Night-Orgies to the God of Wine,
 The rageing Crew perform their black Design;
 Implacable the helpless Swain they slew,
 And his torn Limbs around the Meadows threw:
 When sever'd from the lovely Trunk, at last,
 His gasping Head in Heber's Waves they cast;
 As the cold Stream it stain'd with ebbing Blood;
 And ghastly roll'd along the purple Flood;
 Tho' Death's pale Hue, on ev'ry Feature hung,
 EURYDICE still dwelt upon his Tongue:
 In the last Pang of fainting Life he cry'd,
 Unfortunate EURYDICE! and Died!

EPISTLE to Mr. J A C O B B O B A R T.
Botany Professor to the University of Oxford.
and Keeper of the Physic-Garden.

By Dr. E V A N S, 1711.

T H A N K Heav'n, at last, our Wars are o'er;
We're very Wise, and very Poor,
All our Campaigns at Once, are done;
We've Ended, were we just Begun,
In Perfect PEACE: Long may it last!
And Pay for all the Taxes past:
Refill th' Exchequer, chase our Fears,
And dry up all the Ladies Tears
For Husbands, Sons, and Lovers lost;
In Duels some, in Battles most.

Rise, Rise, ye Britons, Thankful Rise!
Extol your EMPRESS to the Skies;
Crown Her with Laurels ever Green,
With Olives fair inwove between:
Her Courage drew the Conquer'ing Sword;
Her Wisdom Banish'd-PEACE restor'd.

Long, wond'rous ANNA! may'st Thou live,
T'enjoy those Blessings which You Give:

To

To Guard Thy Friends, Confound thy Foes,
 And Fix the Church, and State's Repose:
 And late, for PEACE to Britain giv'n,
 Be Crown'd with Endless PEACE in Heav'n.

Farewel ye Camps, and Sieges dire!
 With all your Cannons, Smoke and Fire:
 Ye Victories and Trophies vain!
 A certain Loss, uncertain Gain:
 Ye Squadrons and Battalions brave!
 Who first your Foes, then Friends enslave:
 Ye Gallant Leaders! who delight,
 For Glory less, than Gold, to Fight:
 Ye Publick Patriots! plac'd on High,
 To Sell those Votes which first ye Buy:
 And Bards, whose mercenary Lays,
 Such Heroes, and Such Statesmen Praise.

An Honest Muse, alike disclaims
 Such Authors and their impious Themes:
 And with a more becoming Grace,
 Her Song impartial does Address.
BOBART to Thee; the Muse's Friend:
BOBART! the Promis'd Song attend.

And where no difference appears
 Betwixt the Subject, and the Verse;
 But He who Praises, and is Prais'd,
 On Equal Eminence are rais'd:
 No Flatteries thence are to be fear'd,
 Nor hopes encourag'd of Reward.

Such is our Case:—I Honour Thee
 For Something, Thou for something Me;

Sincerely

278 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Sincerely Both : Our Thoughts the same ;
Of Courtiers, Fortune, and of Fame :
Alike, (in Pity to Mankind)
To P E A C E, to Heavenly P E A C E inclin'd.

To P E A C E, my Friend ! that Thou and I,
(No Colours flutt'ring in the Sky ;
With frightful Faces, glitt'ring Arms,
BELLONA's military Charms ;)
May undisturb'd and studious rove,
O'er ev'ry Lawn, thro' ev'ry Grove.

See various Nature, in each Field
Her Flow'rs and Fruits luxuriant yield ;
While the Bright God of Day presides
Aloft, and all the Season guides ;
Jocund to run his Annual Course,
With never-tiring Speed and Force.

With Golden Hair, the God of Day,
Wings from the East, his fervid Way :
The Stars, applauding as he flies,
To see him stretch, along the Skies :
To see him roll his fiery Race,
Athwart the vast Æthereal Space ;
Unbind the Frosts, dissolve the Snows,
As round the Radiant Belt he goes.

Mild ZEPHYRUS, the Graces leads,
To revel o'er the fragrant Meads ;
The Mountains shout, the Forests ring,
While FLORA decks the purple Spring ;

The Hours (attendant all the While)
On ZEPHYRUS and FLORA smile:
The Vallies laugh, the Rivers play,
In Honour of the God of Day.

The Birds that fan the liquid Air,
To tune their little Throats prepare;
The Joyous Birds of ev'ry Shade,
For loit'ring, Love, and Music made:
Their Voices raise on ev'ry Spray,
To Welcome in the God of Day.

The Vegetable Earth beneath,
Bids all her Plants his Praises breathe:
Clouds of fresh Fragrance upwards rise,
To cheer his Progress thro' the Skies;
And Heav'n and Earth, and Air unite,
To celebrate his Heat, and Light.

That Light and Heat, which on our World,
From his gay Chariot-Wheels is hurl'd;
And ev'ry Morn does Rosy rise,
To glad our dampy, darksome Skies:
Which once deserted by his Light,
Wou'd languish in eternal Night.

But GARD'NING were of all a Toil,
That on our Hopes the least wou'd smile;
Shou'd the Kind God of Day forbear
T' exhale the Rains, foment the Air:
Or, in an angry Mood, decline,
With his prolific Beams to shine.

280 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Ev'n THOU! tho' that's thy meanest Praise,
 Nor Fruits, nor Flow'rs cou'dst hope to raise ;
 (Howe'er thou may'st in Order place,
 Of Both, the Latter, Earlier Race ;
 In Glasses, or in Sheds confin'd,
 To shield them from the Wintry Wind ;
 Or, in the Spring, with skilful Care,
 Place 'em his Influence best to share ;)
 Did not the SUN, their Genial Sire,
 The Vegetative Soul inspire :
 Instruct the senseless aukward Root,
 And teach the Fibres how to shoot :
 Command the taper Stalk to rear
 His flow'ring Head, to grace the Year ;
 To shed Ambrosial Odours round,
 And paint, with choicest Dyes, the Ground.

THOU, next to Him, are truly Great :
 On Earth his Mighty Delegate :
 The Vegetable World to guide,
 And o'er all BOTANY preside :
 To see, that ev'ry dewy Morn,
 Successive Plants the Earth adorn :
 That Flow'rs, thro' every Month be found,
 Constant to keep their gaudy Round :
 That Flow'rs, in spite of Frost and Snow,
 Throughout the Year, perpetual Blow :
 That Trees, in spite of Winds are seen,
 Array'd in Everlasting Green.

Nor with a Care, beneath thy Skill,
 Dost THOU that vast Employment fill,

Hail,

Hail, Horticulture's Sapiient KING!
 Receive the Homage which we bring :
 While at thy Feet, with Reverence low,
 All Botanists and Florists Bow ;
 Their Knowledge, Practice, All resign :
 Short, infinitely Short of Thine.

For THOU, not satisfy'd to know.
 The Plants that in Three Nations Blow ;
 (Their Names, their Seasons, native Place ;
 Their Culture, Qualities and Race)
 Or Europe's more extended Plains ;
SYLVANUS's, FLORA's wide Domains.

Nothing in Afric, Asia, shoots
 From Seeds, from Layers, Grafts, or Roots ;
 At both the Indies, both the Poles,
 Whate'er the Sea, or Ocean rolls ;
 Of the Botanic, Herbal Kind,
 Lies open to Thy searching Mind.

Noblest Ambition of thy Soul !
 Which Limits, but in vain Control :
 Let others, meanly satisfy'd
 With Partial Knowledge, sooth their Pride :
 While Thou, with thy Prodigious Store,
 But shew'st thy Modesty the more.

Thou Venerable Patriarch Wife,
 Instruct us in thy Mysteries :
 From Thee, the Gods no Knowledge hide,
 No Knowledge have to thee deny'd :
 The Rural Gods of Hills or Plains ;
 Where Faunus, or Feronia Reigns.

Then

Then tell us, as Thou best dost know,
Where perfect Happiness does grow.

What Herbs our Bodies will sustain
Secure from Sicknes, and from Pain :
What Plants protect us from the Rage
Of blighting Time, and blasting Age ;
Which Shrubs of all the flow'ry Field,
Most Aromatic Odours yield.

Shew us the Trees by Nature spread,
To form the coolest Noon-tide Shade ;
When our first Ancestors were seen,
Out-stretch'd upon the grassy Green :
Nor any Food or Cov'ring sought,
But what from Trees and Woods they got.

Who after various Ages spent
In Ease, Abundance, and Content,
Knew not what Wars, or Sicknes meant ;
But chearful, when the Fates requir'd,
Quick to th'Elysian Fields retir'd.

Recount the Precepts they observ'd ;
How from their Rules they never swerv'd :
Such, as ALCINOUS of Old,
To his belov'd Phæaceans told ;
Or those APOLLO first did teach
His * Son the Epidaurian Leach †.

} Long

* ÆSCULAPIUS.

† Physician. verb. ant.

Long 'ere the Romans us'd to dine,
 Beneath their Plains manur'd with Wine :
 On Tyrian Couches, Thoughtless lay,
 And Drank, and Laugh'd, and Kifs'd away
 Each fultry, circling Summer's Day :
 On polish'd Ivory Beds reclin'd ;
 Cast Care and Sorrow to the Wind :
 And scorning Nature's temp'rate Rules,
 Like Madmen liv'd, and dy'd like Fools :

Teach us, Thou Learn'd, Judicious Sage !
 The Manners of a Wiser Age.

To Thee, was giv'n by Jove to keep
 Those Grottoes where the Muses sleep :
 To plant the Forests, where they sing,
 Fast by the cool Castalian Spring :
 With Myrtles their Pavilions raise ;
 Soft, intermix'd with Delian Bays :
 And when they wake, at Earliest Day ;
 To strew, with sweetest Flow'rs, their Way.

Transcendent Honour ! here below,
 The Muses and their Haunts to know.

ANNA! Look down on Isis Tow'rs ;
 Be gracious to the Muses Bow'rs :
 And now Thy Toils of War are done ;
ANNA! Protect APOLLO's Throne :
 'Twas He, the Dart unerring threw ;
PYTHON, the Snaky Monster, flew.

The Muse's Bow'rs, by All admir'd,
 But those Fanatic Rage has fir'd:
 Or Atheist-Fools, who Freedom boast;
 Themselves to Slav'ry fetter'd most.
 Stern MARS may Thunder, MOMUS Rail;
 But Wisdom's Goddess will prevail.

On Ifis' Banks, Retirement sweet!
Tritonian PALLAS holds her Seat.

MINERVA'S Gardens are Thy Care;
 BOBART! the Virgin Pow'r revere:
 Thy Hoary Head with Vervain bound,
 The Mystic Grove thrice compass round;
 The Waters of Lustration pour,
 And thrice the Allies, Walks, explore:
 Lest some presumptuous Wretch intrude,
 With impious Steel to wound the Wood:
 Or, with rash Arm, profanely dare
 To shake the Trees, the Leaves to bare,
 And violate their sacred Hair:
 Or by worse Sacrilege betray'd,
 The Blossoms, Fruits, or Flow'rs invade.

Ye Strangers! Guard your heedless Feet,
 Lest from the Herbs, their Dews ye beat;
 Cosmetic Dews, (by Virgins Fair,
 Exhal'd in May, with early Care;) }
 Will to their Eyes fresh Lustre give,
 And make their Charms for ever live.

MINERVA's Gardens are thy Care ;
JACOB, the Goddess Maid revere.

All Plants which Europe's Fields contain ;
For Health, for Pleasure, or for Pain :
(From the tall Cedar, which does rise
With Conic Pride, and mates the Skies ;
Down to the humblest Shrub that crawls
On Earth, or just ascends our Walls,)
Her Squares of Horticulture yield :
By DANBY* Planted, BOBART Till'd.

Delightful scientific Shade !
For Knowledge, as for Pleasure made.

'Twas Gen'rous DANBY first inclos'd
The Waste, and in Parterres dispos'd ;
Trans'form'd the Fashion of the Ground,
And Fenc'd it with a Rocky Mound ;
The Figure disproportion'd chang'd,
Trees, Shrubs, and Plants in Order rang'd,
Stock'd it, with such excessive Store,
Only the spacious Earth has more :
At his Command the Plat was chose,
And Eden from the Chaos rose :
Confusion in a Moment fled,
And Roses blush'd where Thistles bred,

The Portico next, High he rear'd,
By Builders now so much rever'd ;

(Which like some Rustic Beauty shows,
 Who all her Charms to Nature owes ;
 Yet fires the Heart, and warms the Head,
 No less than those in Cities bred ;
 Our Wonder equally does raise
 With them, as well deserves our Praise.)

The Work of JONE's Master-Hand :
 ONES, the VITRUVIUS of our Land ;
 He drew the Plan, the Fabric fix'd,
 With equal Strength, and Beauty mix'd :
 With perfect Symmetry design'd ;
 Consummate, like the Donor's Mind.

Illustrious DANBY! Splendid Peer!
 Look downwards from thy Radiant Sphere,
 The Muse's Thanks propitious hear.

When Albion will thy Nobles now,
 Such Bounty to MINERVA show ?
 With true Patrician Renown,
 In Honour of the Church and Crown,
 Grace, with such Gifts, the Muse's Town?

There, where Old Cherwell gently leads
 His humid Train, along the Meads :
 And courts fair Isis but in vain,
 Who laughs at all his am'rous Pain ;
 Away the scornful Naiad turns,
 For Younger Tamus Isis burns,

Close to those Tow'rs, * so much renown'd
 For Slav'ry lost, and Freedom found :

* MAGDALEN College.

Where

Where thy brave Sons ! in hapless Days,
 WAINFLEET : to thy Immortal Praise !
 Their Rights Municipal maintain'd
 Submits, nor their Allegiance stain'd :
 To Loyalty and Conscience true ;
 Gave CÆSAR, and Themselves their Due.
 Close to those Tow'rs, by Jove's Command,
 The Gardens of MINERVA stand.

There 'tis we see Thee, BOBART, tend
 Thy fav'rite Greens ; from Harms defend
 Exotic Plants, which finely Bred
 In foster Soils, Thy Succour need ;
 Whose Birth far distant Countries claim,
 Sent here in Honour to thy Name.

To Thee the Strangers trembling fly,
 For Shelter from our barb'rous Sky.
 And Murd'ring Winds, that frequent blow,
 With cruel Drifts of Rain or Snow ;
 And dreadful Ills, both Fall and Spring,
 On alien Vegetables bring.

Nor art thou less inclin'd to save,
 Then they Thy gen'rous Aid to crave :
 But with like Pleasure and Respect,
 Thy darling Tribe Thou dost protect :
 Lessen their Fears, their Hopes dilate,
 And save their fragrant Souls from Fate ;
 While they secure in Health and Peace,
 Their Covert, and their Guardian bless.

This makes thee rise at break of Day,
 Thy doubtful Nurs'ry to survey :

288 P O E M S on several Occasions.

At Noon to count Thy Flock with Care,
And in their Joys and Sorrows share :
(By each Extream unhappy made,
Of too much Sun or too much Shade :
Be ready to attend their Cry,
And all their little Wants supply :
By Day severest 'Sentry keep,
By Night sit by 'em as they sleep :
With endless Pain, and endless Pleasure,
As Misers guard their hoarded Treasure.

'Till soft Favonius fans the Flow'rs,
Breathes balmy Dews, drops fruitful Show'rs :
Favonius soft, who sweetly blows,
The Tulip paints, perfumes the Rose ;
And with the gentle Twins at Play,
Brings in th' Elysian Month of May.

Then boldly from their Lodge, You bring
Your Guests, to deck our gloomy Spring.

Thrice happy Foreigners ! to find
From Islanders, such Treatment kind :
Not only undisturb'd to Live,
But by thy Goodness, BOBART, Thrive :
Grow strong, increase, their Verdure hold,
As dwelling in their native Mold.

The rest, who will no Culture know,
But ceaseless Curse our Rains and Snow ;
A sickly, sullen, fretful Race ;
The Gard'ner's and his Art's Disgrace :
Whom BOBART's Self in vain does strive,
With all his Skill to keep alive :

Which

Which from beneath th' Æquator come,
In India's sultry Forests bloom.

Of these, at least, since Nature more,
Denies t'increase thy Living Store,
Their Barks, or Roots, their Flow'rs, or Leaves,
Thy *Hortus Siccus still receives :
In Twenty Volumes, Work immense !
By Thee compil'd at vast Expence ;
With utmost Diligence amass'd,
And shall as many Ages last.

And now, methinks, my Genius sees
My Friend, amidst his Plants and Trees ;
Full in the Center there he stands,
Incircl'd with his verdants Bands ;
Who all around Obsèquious wait,
To know his Pleasure, and their Fate :
His Royal Orders to receive,
To grow, decay, to die or live :
That not the proudest Kings can boast,
A greater or more duteous Host.

THOU, all That Pow'r dost truly know,
Which They but dream of here Below ;
Thy absolute Despotic Reign,
Inviolably dost maintain :
Nor, with ill-govern'd Wrath, affright
Thy People, or insult their Right :
(But as Thy Might, in Greatness grows,
Thy Mercy in Proportion flows :)

Nor they Undutiful deny,
What's due to Lawful Majesty.
Safe in Thy Court from all the Cares,
Domestic Treasons, Foreign Wars,
Which Monarchs, and their Crowns perplex.
Whom Factions still, or Fav'rites vex.

But THOU, on Thy Botanic Throne,
Sit'st Fearless, Uncontroul'd, Alone:
Thy Realms in Tumults ne'er involv'd,
Or Rising, are as soon dissolv'd:
Free from the Mischiefs, and the Strife,
Of a False Friend, or Fury Wife;
And if a rebel Slave, or Son,
Audacious by Indulgence grown,
Presumes above his Mates to rise,
And their dull Loyalty despise;
THOU, Awful Sultan! with a Look,
Can'st all his Arrogance rebuke;
And darting one Imperial Frown,
Hurl the bold Traytor headlong down:
His Breth'ren trembling at his Fate,
Thy dread Commands with Rev'rence wait:
Thy wond'rous Pow'r, and Justice own,
And learn t'assert a tottering Throne.

Thus Kings, who are in Empire wise,
Rebellions, early, shou'd chastise;
And give their Clemency no Time,
Betwixt th' Offender, and the Crime,
With fatal Eloquence to plead,
Which does more Rebels only breed.

BOBART,

BOBART, to Kings Thy Rules commend,
For Thou to Monarchs art a Friend.

Thus, Sov'raign PLANTER! I have paid
The Debt, the promis'd Present made :
Do THOU, what's written for Thy Sake
With Freedom, with like Freedom, take :
Take the just Praise Thy Friend does give,
And in my Verse for ever Live.

DUKE of CHANDOS,

By SAMUEL HUMPHREYS, Esq;

MARTIAL.

Written in the Year 1728.

WHILST You my Lord, acquire a deathless Name,
And shine unrival'd in the Rolls of Fame ;
Whilst your great Conduct is a Nation's Boast,
And they best please Mankind who praise You most
Whilst Heav'n to You its chosen Bliss extends,
And Grandeur, duteous, on your Days attends ;
Appear, great Prince, propitious to the Lays
That join with Millions to proclaim your Praise.
O! may I prosper in the Theme I love,
And fortunately sing what You approve :
Mankind will favour my sincere Designs,
And Cannons rise applauded in the Lines.

ENVY

ENVY that fullen Foe to human Bliss,
 Parent of Rage, and Ravisher of Peace,
 Had long triumphant rul'd o'er many a Land,
 And gain'd low Homage to her stern Command :
 And oft, alas ! in Albion's mighty State,
 The pale Implacable had fix'd her Seat.
 Mischiefs and Woe surround her ghastly Throne,
 The grieving Murmur, and the hollow Groan ;
Despair, that drives the wretch'd to the Tomb ;
 And Deaths relentless to a youthful Bloom.
 Her Transports rise at human Pains and Fears,
 At falling Families, guiltless Tears.
 Gay Pleasure, and the gentle Voice of Joy,
 And soft Prosperity, her Peace destroy.
 Harmonious Love her sharpest Rage supplies,
 And Prosper'd Merit blasts her baleful Eyes.
 The Scenes of Misery and wasting Woe,
 Are all the Happiness the Fiend can know.

Long had she thus enjoy'd her dire Repose.
 Her Sway extended and her Triumphs Rose ;
 When now approach, the long-devoted Hour,
 That Heav'n decreed to crush her lawless Pow'r.

To view her Empire in the British Land,
 And gain new Vassals to her proud Command ;
 With Ruin to regale her hateful Sight,
 The Fury hasten'd her pernicious Flight :
 With fatal Speed as she pursu'd her Way,
 Pleas'd with the Prospect of her impious Sway,
 The rising Sun, affrighted as she flew,
 The radiant Glories of the Morn withdrew ;
 Around his Orb, a Veil of Shade she cast ;
 And injur'd Nature startled as she past ;

The Streams ran Sable thro' their winding Beds,
 And dying Plants bow'd down their wither'd Heads ;
 Malignant Steams invade the blooming Field,
 Their fragrant Lives the languid Lilies yield ;
 Th' unwilling Groves resign their lovely Green,
 And blasted Landscapes fill the barren Scene.

Whilst thus the Fiend pursues her wasteful Flight,
 Unnumber'd Triumphs charm her eager Sight.
 Frequent in' sad Variety appear
 Painful Magnificence, and golden Care,
 Where-e'er she march'd, the mournful Prospects show
 Pompous Distress, and Palaces of Woe.

Impell'd by Fate at length the fury flew
 Where Edgworth's Vales appear'd in blooming View;
 Amaz'd she saw, whate'er could charm the Eyes
 In one soft Prospect beautifully rise :
 Here all the Graces made their gay Retreat,
 Pleas'd With a Verdure of a Scene so sweet :
 The Streams swell'd gently with the breathing Gales,
 And murmur'ing gliter'd thro' the sunny Vales :
 Here sporting Flocks in painted Meadows play'd ;
 And Linnets warbled in the woodland Shade ;
 Whilst new-born FLORA, in her bright Array,
 Smil'd in the Sunshine, and perfum'd the Day.

ENVY, astonish'd at a Scene so fair,
 Ceas'd her long Voyage thro' the Wastes of Air
 With fierce malignant Rage she gaz'd around ;
 And thought she hover'd o'er enchanted Ground
 Her black Infection now no more prevails.
 Lost in the Fragrance of the balmy Gales,

Aw'd

Aw'd as from Heav'n, she found her Power decay,
 And saw the Vales inviolably gay.
 So SATAN when he lost the Realms of Blifs,
 And vow'd to ruin our grand Parent's Peace ;
 In the dire Progress of his fatal Spite,
 Fled thro' the Chaos in a Storm of Night :
 But when he gain'd the golden Bounds of Day,
 And view'd each Glory with a grim Survey,
 The bright Creation rais'd his hateful Care,
 And Paradise promoted his Despair.

Such Pangs of Rage the tortur'd Fury fill'd,
 Wond'ring she view'd, and curs'd what she beheld ;
 She fear'd some heav'nly Guardian govern'd there,
 And made the Beauties of the Place his Care.
 In Agonies of Wrath she gaz'd around ;
 And soon, the Causes that oppress'd her, found.

Where the stretch'd Plains their lovely Bloom disclose,
 A stately Pile majestically rose,
 Her wond'ring Eyes beheld in every Part
 A Blaze of Grandeur and the Force of Art.
 Magnificent o'er all the Fabric shin'd
 The rich Profusion of a Royal Mind.
 Stretch'd like a Sea, beneath his grand Survey
 The verdant Level of the Meadows lay,
 He, Monarch like, his awful State maintains,
 Swells o'er the Landscape, and commands the Plains.
 His Pomp the Prospect all around refines,
 And ev'ry Object with his Lustre shines ;
 In each bright View a softer Bloom is seen,
 Brooks seem more limpid, and the Groves more green.
 So the bright Sun from his Æthereal Way,
 Adorns each Object with the glorious Day ;

296 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Mountains and Vales a shining Scene unfold,
And the wide Prospect seems to rise in Gold.

Now round the noble Pile the Fury flew,
And fir'd her Anger with the wond'rous View.
Rich Strokes of Grandeur all around her shine,
A chaste Magnificence, and just Design.
She saw Perfection reign in ev'ry Part ;
And òwn'd the Palace had exhausted Art.

Or when she next a softer Scene pursues,
And the green Progress of a Visto views,
Where the fond Eye a verdent Pleasure gains,
And Thickets open thro' a Length of Plains ;
Envy reluctant, feels a strange Delight,
Such Beauties mingle to refresh the Sight,
In the mid-View, a Bason's ample Round
Contains an Ocean in its noble Bound ;
Whilst Stannmore, proud to send the vast Supply,
Drains the long Ridge of all his Mountains dry.

The Gardens next her vengeful Eyes engage,
And almost tempt her to renounce her Rage.
The fairest Seat of Pleasure she surveys,
That Art could finish, or that Cost could raise.
Here, gay Parterers disclose their fragrant Bloom ;
There, Thickets form a venerable Gloom :
Here, Statues breathing from the Artist's Hand,
An awful Troop majestically stand :
Such Forms the Eyes of Nature might deceive ;
So well the polish'd Marble seems to live,
No Scene with more Profusion can impart
The Sweets of Nature, with the Charms of Art.

Here,

Here, winding Channels roll their costly Rills,
 Drawn from their Sources in the distant Hills ;
 And there a Lake, where tallest Barks might fail,
 Fills the wide Bosom of a proud Canal :
 The wand'ring Treasures hospitably flow,
 To ev'ry Plant their liquid Life bestow :
 Keep the fair Prospect redolent and gay,
 Through all the Fervours of the glowing Day ;
 And check each sultry Season that invades
 The verdant Solitudes, and cooling Shades.

When TITAN'S Rays a burning Vengeance sheds,
 And drinks deep Rivers from their oozy Beds ;
 When JOVE no more descends in grateful Rains,
 To gasping Furrows, and the wither'd Plains,
 Dry Desolation wastes the fading Field,
 And dusty Groves their blasted Honours yield ;
 Plants, Herbs and Flowers in one sad Scene appear,
 The mingled Ruins of the scorching Year.
 But Cannons never mourns the raging Heats,
 Nor yields the Verdure of his green Retreats :
 His treasur'd Floods in stately Currents run,
 And scorn the Dog-star, and the Noon-day Sun ;
 To Bowers and Groves a fragrant Freshness give,
 And bid the vegetable Nation live.

When CHANDOS has the matchless Work design'd,
 And form'd the Plan of Wonders in his Mind,
 No Climate can defeat his mighty Soul,
 No Time discourage, and no Task control,
 Where Cannons now augustly rears his Pile,
 Was once a Scythian Scene and desert Soil :
 It lay rebellious to the Hand of Art ;
 Nor Dews, nor Sunshine, could a Grace impart :

Till

298 P O E M S on several Occasions.

'Till Great CAERNARVON did the Task assume,
 And taught at once the barren Glebe to bloom.
 The fruitful Labours with a genial Strife
 Manur'd the blasted Acres into Life ;
 A verdant Carpet cloath'd the pregnant Land,
 And Plants rose willing at his great Command :
 The low-sunk Vallies then were taught to swell.
 And Hills obsequious to a Level fell.
 He form'd the sudden Shade of rising Woods ;
 And taught the Mountains where to roll their Floods,
 O'er all the Waste, a blooming Change prevails,
 A Desart rising to a grand Versailles.

Thus from rude Chaos, and his Atoms Strife,
 Earth rose to Harmony, and teem'd with Life ;
 And sudden from the dark Domain of Night
 A Heav'n of Stars emerg'd immensely bright.
 Amaz'd ! the blest Spectators view'd around
 Creation starting from the black Profound ;
 And hail'd, with Transports of divine Surprise,
 The Earth new blooming, and the dazzling Skies

Mov'd with the Beauty of a Scene so sweet,
 A-while the ENVY did her Rage forget :
 She seem'd to wander with a milder Miên,
 Through winding Alleys of embow'ring Green.
 A-while the Fiend consented to be blest ;
 Nor felt the burning Vipers in her Breast :
 But unreluctant seem'd to entertain
 A secret Joy she never knew till then ;
 So well such Wonders could a-while control
 The hateful Anguish of her tortur'd Soul.

But this soft Passion she at length suppress,
 And Rage reviv'd in her malignant Breast;
 For ENVY never can be long at Rest.

Whate'er her Thoughts could form, she now design'd,
 And pale Revenge rose dreadful in her Mind.

Proud Impotence! what Shame attends the Foe,

When Heav'n and CHANDOS were united so?

Fierce as she seem'd, on Vengeance vainly bent,

Yet much she doubted of the wish'd Event.

Her former Triumphs but inflame her more,

Since here her Pride proves destitute of Pow'r.

Thus ARCHIMEDES by his wond'rous Art,

Could make huge Towers from their Foundations start,

Remove a Mountain from the loaded Plain,

And heave whole Navies from the croud'd Main;

But when, the utmost of his Skill to prove,

He proudly wish'd the World's whole Weight to move,

He found no Place to act the daring Boast,

And the Pow'r fail'd him where he wish'd it most.

Ah me! said ENVY, must I now behold

My Pow'r, my Glory, and my Peace control'd?

Whilst Kings and Empires at my Alters bow,

With Shame I suffer from a single Foe.

Could I great CHURCHILL's mighty Name invade,

And blast the Laurels on his awful Head?

Save Tyrants from the Terrors of his Sword,

Whilst half the World its Hero's Loss deplor'd?

Tho' now he reigns amidst the blest Abodes

A crown'd Companion of the Demi-Gods;

And Fame, more faithful to the glorious Trust,

Guards his great Relicks, and adorns his Dust:

Yet once he yielded to my potent Reign,

When Nations arm'd to daunt his Soul in vain;

When

300 P O E M S on several Occasions.

When all the Thunder of the Gaul he scorn'd,
And BOURBON'S Spoils his dreadful Arms adorn'd,
But ah! the Trophies of my former Pow'r
Increase my Anguish, at this killing Hour.
Aw'd and oppress'd by some malignant Fate,
I praise the Wonders that my Soul should hate:
Or CHANDOS well deserves his matchless Fame,
Or I have lost my boasted Art to blame;
So just indeed his Praises seem to prove,
Even I would utter them, could I but love,
How could this Hero find the wond'rous Art,
To make whole Kingdoms his Applause impart?
To make even those whom angry Discord sways
Unite to publish his unbounded Praise?
In vain Invention to degrade him seeks,
Even Calumny grows candid when he speaks.
Ah! let me hasten to some sad Retreat,
Where Solitude has fixt her silent Seat;
Where I no more this hateful Scene may know;
But in the Night of Thicket breathe my Woe.
There let me ever entertain my Eyes,
Where some fam'd Abby in low Ruin lies;
Where Ivy, shrouding what old Time devours,
Winds its pale Arms around the broken Towers,
Where Moss-cloath'd Iles a solemn Length extend,
And mould'ring Arches reverently bend:
There let me walk o'er many a low sunk Tomb,
Whilst Echoes rattle thro' the holy Gloom:
There whilst my Sorrows to the Shades I tell,
Midst the dim Covert of some sacred Cell,
O! might I mortal prove, and yield my Breath
A willing Victim to the Dart of Death!
Then should I ever in Oblivion rest,
And CHANDOS' Merit would no more molest; No

No longer should I feel this painful Flame,
 Nor mourn my want of Pow'r to wound his Name.
 But ah! why thus my Soul do I deceive,
 And impotently labour to relieve?
 In vain with solitude, with shade in vain,
 I wish to conquer this eternal Pain:
 Retreats avail not, for his Fame invades
 The wildest Solitudes, and deepest Shades.
 Must then my Pangs no Mitigation know?
 And shall his Conduct ever crush me so?
 Not one kind Instance may I e're expect,
 Where humble Merit mourns his cold Neglect?
 Ah no! his Bounty to the polish'd Arts
 Deprives me daily of a thousands Hearts.
 Reward from Him with such Profusion flows,
 He seems Himself oblig'd when he bestows;
 And bears his Grandeur with such graceful Ease,
 That he appears pre-eminent, to please,
 Mankind his Merit with such Joy displays,
 No Place can now protect me from his Praise.

Whilst all despairing ENVY thus express
 The rising Anguish of her burning Breast,
 A lovely Vision, cloath'd with shining white,
 Descended dazling from the Realms of Light:
 Her Looks were mixt with Majesty sublime,
 And Virgin Beauty in its lovely Prime;
 Her heavenly Locks with Amaranths array'd,
 Wav'd o'er her Shoulders with a graceful Shade;
 Her Sky-dipt Zone, with glowing Sapphires grac'd,
 The Snow-white Swelling of her Breast embrac'd,
 She made all Nature at her Presence bloom,
 And fill'd the Region with a rich Perfume.

But

302 P O E M S on several Occasions.

But ENVY, trembling with a wild Surprise,
Viewed the bright Vision with malignant Eyes :
She knew ASTRÆA in her Charms confests'd,
And felt a thrilling Horror in her Breast ;
She tore the Tresses of her snaky Hair,
And look'd more hateful, near a Form so fair.

With rosy glowing Looks, the heav'nly Maid
The Odious Spectre for a while survey'd :
At length her Silence the bright Goddess broke,
And thus with beauteous Indignation spoke.
O! Monster foul, rejected and abhorr'd,
By Man below, and Heav'n's immortal Lord !
Durst thou, presumptuous, in this Place appear,
Which Heav'n assigns to my peculiar Care ?
Or think'st thou, with thy wanted Arts, to gain
This fair Addition to thy hateful Reign ?
In impotent Attempts thou dost engage ;
These bright Possessions scorn thy feeble Rage,
Could'st thou thy Throne in this soft Scene display,
Where would'st thou find a Subject to obey ?
Who can the Merit of Great CHANDOS know,
And to That Merit own himself a Foe ?
As soon may Mortals with Aversion shun
The grateful Splendor of the golden Sun ;
As soon the Gloom of endless Night approve,
As such pure Virtue they can cease to love.
Behold the Clouds his world'rous Bounty rais'd :
And then declare if he's unjustly prais'd.
Couldst thou but view his secret Succours flow,
To needy Merit, and to modest Woe ;
But this he will not suffer thee to see,
For here his Goodness even pities thee :

He

He will not blast thee with the fatal Sight;
 His private Favours are his best Delight,
 But those fam'd Acts which to thy knowledge come,
 Are more than capable to strike the dumb.
 That Piety, which his great Conduct joins,
 In all the Beauty of Devotion shines,
 Rais'd by the Practice of so pure a Mind,
 Religion gains the Homage of Mankind:
 Virtue's bright Laws in all their Charms appear;
 And Sanctity no longer seems severe.
 In vain thy hateful Presence here invades
 These blooming Walks, and unpolluted Shades.
 Retire for ever, by my fixt Command,
 From this fair Eden of the British Land:
 To that renowned Pile approach no more;
 All there is Sacred, and defies thy Pow'r.
 I'll guard the Glory of its mighty Lord,
 Whilst thou shalt pine abandon'd and abhor'd.

The murm'ring Fury her Command obey'd;
 And trembling, fled from the Celestial Maid:
 Then sunk to Chaos, where amidst the Gloom
 She mourn'd her fixt irrevocable Doom.

And now the Goddess, with a pleasing Mien,
 Enjoys the Beauties of the florid Scene;
 Views the sweet solitude of waving Woods,
 And the clear floating of the crystal Floods:
 Sees a new Paradise around her rise;
 Nor once regrets her Absence from the Skies.

To grateful Joy resign'd, the Heav'n-born Maid
 The royal Splendor of the Pile survey'd.

Beneficently

304 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Beneficently bright with Smiles she gaz'd :
And each Perfection of the Palace prais'd :
Blest the Rewards on such pure Merit plac'd,
And hail'd the Grandeur so divinely grac'd.

Now the blest Power, as thro' the Dome she past,
O'er her bright Form concealing Shadows cast.
Here she beheld the grateful Arts combine,
To make their great Protector's Palace shine.
Such breathing Sculpture so deludes the Eyes ;
Such soft Creations from the Pencil rise ;
The golden Roofs around so richly glow ;
The shining Rooms such just Proportions show ;
The stately Columns in such Marble swell,
And each bright Prospect courts the View so well,
That fair ASTRÆA feels a new Surprise,
And views each Glory with unsated Eyes.

Nor were her Thoughts to this bright Scene confin'd,
A nobler Prospect rises in her Mind :
She view'd those Wonders, as the just Reward
Due to the Merit of their matchless Lord.
She trac'd his Life benevolently great,
His Virtues brighter than his shining State :
She saw, when Heav'n to prove its Pow'r design'd,
To what Perfection in could raise Mankind.
Her Ears had long been open to his Fame ;
Such Numbers daily his Deserts proclaim,
To such pure Heights his just Applauses rise,
His Fame was now familiar to the Skies.

To view her Image in his Mind express'd,
Celestial Transports kindled in her Breast :

She

She felt such Pleasure she possess'd of Old,
 When most she flourish'd in the Age of Gold :
 The Wrong she e'er sustain'd from lawless Power,
 Seem all requited in this happy Hour.
 To view her Glory so divine at last,
 Proves a sweet Solace for each Sorrow past.
 Thus when the Soul forsakes its dying Clay,
 To gain the Mansions of immortal Day,
 As she pursues her unretarded Flight,
 Above the Steams of Earth, and Shades of Night,
 Releas'd for ever from each thorny Woe,
 That late diminish'd her Delight below,
 She looks triumphant on the Bliss she gains,
 And glides astonish'd o'er the azure Plains :
 Surveys the Heav'ns in all their bright Array,
 And swims in Rapture thro' a Flood of Day.

POEM, Sacred to the Memory

Of the Right Honourable the

L A D Y M A L P A S*.

By the S A M E.

*Nunc autem de te loquar, quam non ego amissam, aut
nobis penitus ademptam, velim dicere; cum illucescat
menti mee quotidie magis præclarissima nominis tui tuarumque virtutum Gloria.* C I C. de Consolat.

WHEN Heav'n has once with rich Profusion join'd
A spotless Form to an unblemish'd Mind,
We fondly hope, transported with the View,
That What's so lovely, will be lasting too.

And

* Only Legitimate Daughter of Sir Robert Walpole.
She died at Aix la Chapelle in France, and her Body in bringing over to be Interred at Houghton in Norfolk, was unfortunately cast away, and could not be found,
Ann. 1732.

And to the Great Creator urge our Prayer,
 He long would lend us what he made so fair.
 If Death should then be priveleg'd to gain
 The charming Object to his envious Reign,
 Disconsolate, we mourn the blighted Bloom
 Too soon devoted to the silent Tomb,

Such was MALPASIA, to our wond'ring View,
 As brightly perfect, and as transient too :
 A lovely Specimen to Mortals given,
 To intimate how Angels shine in Heaven :
 Her Soul to them so nearly was ally'd,
 Their Joys they thought defective till she dy'd.
 It seem'd injurious to the radiant Throng,
 That Earth detain'd their Ornament so long ;
 They wish'd her summon'd to their blest Abodes
 To grace the Chorus of her Kindred Gods ;
 And Heav'n, that form'd her for a Seraph there,
 Soon to her Seat Celestial call'd the Fair.

But ah! what Comfort can the Muse afford
 To ease the Pangs of her dejected LORD !
 How reconcile him to this Shock of Fate,
 His Soul so tender, and his Loss so great !
 Let such whose happy Part it is to prove
 The grateful Intercourse of Mutual Love ;
 Whose Nuptial Treasures of Delight contain
 The softest Bliss that Constancy can gain,
 Let such conceive th' illustrious Mourner's Pain.
 Heav'n lately seem'd its Labours to employ,
 To fix him in a Scene of chosen Joy :
 His well-weigh'd Merit made his Prince his Friend,
 And Public Honours did his Days attend,

All

308 P O E M S on several Occasions.

All that beheld his blooming Glory grow,
 Rejoic'd that Virtue was rewarded so.
 What Destitution cou'd his joys defeat.
 When Bright MALPASIA did those Joys compleat;
 A rich Maturity of Charms she bore,
 And still exhaustless, was producing more;
 Like the luxuriant Tree that gives to view
 His golden Fruit, and fragrant Blossoms too.
 Each soft Delight their circling Hours did prove,
 Smiles where there Strife; their Emulation, Love.
 But Heav'n determin'd that the Youth shou'd know
 The frail Uncertain of all below,
 Bid pale Mortality perform its Part,
 And snatch the Charmer from his panting Heart.

In vain the Muse would whisper some Relief,
 To calm the strong Invasion of his Grief:
 What Consolation from a Muse can flow,
 That feels the Anguish of a Social Woe!
 When so much Virtue is so soon remov'd,
 And none succeeds so worthy to be lov'd;
 When CHARITY, mild Goddess, seems distress'd,
 Her Pow'r distributive in whom to vest,
 Laments her Incapacity to find
 A Substitute, like her, MALPASIA, kind.
 When at her Death the Desolate complain,
 They now must find their Poverty a Pain;
 And weeping Families around deplore
 Their Pangs, suspended by her Alms before.
 What conscious Eye can now refuse a Tear
 To such a Death, that costs Mankind so dear?
 The Muse, My LORD, bewails the doleful View,
 And pities thousands whilst she mourns for You.

Ye

Ye grateful Crouds, who can so well exprefs
 MALPASIA'S Beauty in your deep Distrefs,
 Whose dear Benevolence you oft receiv'd,
 When, in the Anguish of your Souls, ye griev'd:
 Implore that God who rais'd you such a Friend.
 That he his Comforts to her LORD would lend,
 Support his Soul beneath his Sorrow's Weight,
 And teach Submission to the Will of Fate:
 O! let your Gratitude be thus approv'd,
 And blefs the Man your kind MALPASIA lov'd!

But whilst this mournful Theme my Lays purfue,
 What Godlike Form now rifes to my View?
 Affliction near him her sad Station keeps,
 The FRIEND the PATRIOT, and the FATHER weeps:
 With how much Eloquence his Sighs confefs
 The BEST are not exempted from Distrefs!
 O! may the Guardian of our Glory know
 Some Intermiffion of his flowing Woe!
 With thee the Genius of BRITANNIA mourns,
 Griev'd for the Hero that her Realms adorns.
 Ah! let not Sighs thy facred Hours invade,
 When EUROPE calls for thy important Aid:
 Profperity and Peace obfequious wait
 Thy Great Difpatch to each expecting State:
 Monarchs their Anguish in thy Sorrows fee,
 And half the World must be unbleft with Thee.

Thus the great CICERO, the Pride of Rome,
 Like You, lamented o'er his TULLIA'S Tomb;
 A-while the Stroke of unrelenting Fate
 Opprest the Guardian of the LATIAN State:

But soon as he perceiv'd that his Despair
 Depriv'd the Public of his Genial Care,
 The Patriot's Duty chas'd the Parent's Pain,
 And his rich Wisdom blest the World again.

But my poor scanty Genius can't afford
 A proper Entertainment for my Lord.
 A small Collection gather'd round the Fields
 Of simple Images, is all it yields ;
 Which shou'd I dress with utmost Skill and Care,
 I shou'd but treat my Lord with Farmer's Fare.
 My Muse to Grubstreet Dawbing is confin'd
 For want of Colours of a better kind ;
 And shou'd I paint with these, I should disgrace,
 But not describe Great HARLEY'S Godlike Face.

The noble Subject, Each deserves his Lays,
 And each affords an endless Theme of Praise,
 He need not search the Monuments of Greece
 For Tales of Antient Heroes, when he sees
 Two living Heroes, worth them All in These.
 But my poor feeble Muse must lowly fly,
 And leave sublimer Poets Tracks so high.

Besides, whate'er my Genius once cou'd boast,
 Ere it was shipwreck'd on this barren Coast,
 When in my younger Years I did pursue
 Some little Traffic with the World and You.
 'Tis lost and gone: and rustic Prose and Phrase
 Have long ago usurp'd the Muses Place.
 Long have I liv'd in this forlorn Abode,
 An Exile from the learned World abroad,
 A Pris'ner in a Country-Cure immur'd
 The Term of Years the Siege of Troy endur'd;
 And in these Years my Loss amounts to more
 Than what I gain'd as many Years before.
 So that at best I can but now produce
 'The sapless Product of a blasted Muse,
 Exert the vain Efforts of Nature curst,
 And stunted in the Growth, tho' weak at first.
 A Fetter'd-wretch may Jingle in his Chain,
 And so may I, but Jingle Both in vain.

But what is worse. In Essex watry Plains
 The God of Dulness, mopish HIPPO reigns:
 Where Fogs exhal'd from Fens and Moats support
 In gloomy Columns his Fantastic Court.
 He seems a stupid Image made of Clay;
 And talks by Starts, as Persons dreaming may,

316 P O E M S on several Occasions.

He walks as if his Limbs were made of Lead,
And Vapours form a Circle round his Head.
A Circle somewhat like, you often saw
About the Sun, or Moon, before a Thaw.
A Tyrant He; devoid of Sense or Shame,
Who Chains and Tortures those he cannot blame;
And Rules with such an arbitrary Sway,
That all we have, but Life, is swept away.

His heavy Chains for several Years I bore,
And all his fancied Tortures o'er and o'er.
He seiz'd on all the little Stock I bought,
And left me scarce behind one sprightly Thought.
The Hand is manacled that guides my Pen,
As by the Slips you easily may ken.
And you may soon perceive by what is writ,
How poor I am, and destitute of Wit.
But shou'd I now thus destitute proceed
To sing Great HALLEY's Praise, I must be bipp'd indeed.

Tho' shou'd MINERVA still some Pity show
Or HARLEY, her Lord-Treasurer below, —
To whom she now the Care of All enjoins,
Her Grecian, Latin, and her Modern Coins.
From ev'ry Nation her Revenues come
To Wimpole-Library, an endless Sum.
Shou'd they redeem me from the Tyrants Hand,
Like Slaves from Turkey to some Christian Land,
Where once again my Long-imprison'd Mind
Might labour for its Living unconfin'd,
Where my starv'd Muse might feed on better Fare,
And find Digestion in a purer Air:
Then would She spread her Wings, and strain a Flight
To reach, if possible great HARLEY's Height.

The

The bright Expansion of his Praise I'd try,
Altho' like ICARUS, by soaring high,
My Pinions dropt-me headlong from the Sky.

But court their HEROES, and agnize their Love.

IT was the Fate of unhappy SWAIN
 To Love A NYMPH, the Glory of the Plain ;
 In vain he daily did his Courtship move,
 The NYMPH, was haughty, and disdain'd to Love.
 Each Morn as soon as the SUN'S Golden Ray
 Dispers'd the Clouds, and chac'd dark Night away,
 The

The sad despairing Shepherd rear'd his Head
 From off his Pillow, and forsook his Bed.
 Strait he search'd out some melancholly Shade,
 Where he did blame the proud disdainful MAID,
 And thus with Cruelty did her upbraid :
 Ah ! SHEPERDESS will you then let me dye ;
 Will nothing thaw this frozen Cruelty :
 But you, lest you should pity, will not hear,
 You will not my Suff'rings give ear ;
 But Adder-like to listen you refuse
 To Words the greatest Charm that Man can use.
 'Tis now Noon-Day, the Sun is mounted high,
 Beneath the refreshing Shades the Beasts do lie,
 And seek out cooling Rivers to asswage,
 The Lion's sultry Heat, and Dog-Star's Rage :
 The Oxen now can't plow the fruitful Soil,
 The furious Heat forbids the Reaper's Toil.
 Both Beast and Men for work are now unfit,
 The weary'd Hinds down to their Dinner fit
 Each Creature now is with Refreshment blest,
 And none but wretched I, debarr'd of Rest.
 I wander up and down thro' desert Lands,
 On Sun-burnt Mountain-tops, and parched Sands.
 And as alone, restless I go along,
 Nothing but Eccho answers to my Song.
 Had I not better undergo the Scorn
 Of JENNY ? Is it not more easy borne ?
 The Cruelty of angry KATE ? altho'
 That she is black, and you as white as Snow.
 O ! NYMPH don't, too much, to your Beauty trust,
 The brightest Steel is eaten up with Rust :
 The whitest blossoms fall, sweet Roses fade,
 And you, tho' handsome, yet may dye a Maid.

With

With THEE I could admire a Country Life,
 Free from disturbance, City noise, or Strife :
 Amongst the shady Groves and Woods we'd walk,
 Of Nothing else but Love's great Charms we'd talk,
 We would pursue, in Season, rural Sports,
 And then let Knaves and Fools resort to Courts ;
 I could, besides, some Country-presents find,
 Could they persuade you, but to be more kind :
 But since with Scorn you do those Gifts despise.
 Another SHEPHERDESS shall gain the Prize.

O ! AMARYLIS, beauteous Maid observe,
 The NYMPHS themselves are willing THEE to serve,
 See where large Baskets full of Flowers they bring,
 The Sweet fair Product of th' indulgent Spring.

See there the Pink, and the Anemony.

The purple Violet, Rose, and Jessamy.

See where they humbly lay their Presents down,
 To make a Chaplet thy dear Head to crown.

See where the Beasts go trooping Drove by Drove,
 See how they answer one another Love :

See where the Bull the Heifer does pursue,

See where the Mare the furious Horse does woo :

Each Female to her Male is always kind,

And Women, on cruel Women blind,

Contradict that for which they were defin'd.

So CORYDON loves an ungrateful Fair,

Who minds not Oaths, nor cares for any Prayer,

But see the SUN his Race has almost run,

And the laborious Ox his Work has done.

But I still Love without the Thought of ease,

No Cure was ever found for that Disease.

But CORYDON, what Frenzy does thee cease.

Why

Why dost thou lie in this dejected way?
Why dost thou let thy Sheep and Oxen stray?
Thy tuneful Pipe, why dost Thou throw away. }
Had not you better disposses your Mind
Of her who is so cruel and unkind,
Forget her Guile, and calm those raging Cares,
Take Heart again, and follow your Affairs
For what altho' this Nymph does cruel prove,
You'll find a thousand other Maids will love.

THOU Tyrant, God of Love, give o'er,
 And persecute this Breast no more :

Ah ! tell me why, must ev'ry Dart
 Be aim'd at my unhappy Heart ?
 I never murmur'd, or repin'd,
 But patiently myself resign'd ;
 So all the Torments, which thro' Thee
 Have fell, alas ! on wretched me :
 But O ! I can no more sustain
 This long continu'd State of Pain ;
 Tho' 'tis but fruitless to complain.

 My

My Heart, first soften'd by thy Pow'r,
 Ne'er kept it's Liberty an Hour.
 So fond and easy was it grown,
 Each Nymph might call the Fool her own:
 So much to it's own Interest blind,
 So strangely charm'd to Womankind,
 That it no more belong'd to Me,
 Than Vestal-Virgins Hearts to Thee.
 I often courted it to stay,
 But deaf to all 'twould fly away.
 In vain to stop it I essay'd,
 Tho' often, often, I display'd,
 The Turns, and Doubles Women made.
 Nay more, when it has Home return'd,
 By some proud Maid ill us'd and scorn'd
 I still the Renegade carest,
 And gave it Harbour in my Breast.
 O! then with Indignation fir'd
 At what before it so admir'd;
 With Shame and Sorrow overcast,
 And sad Repentance for the past;
 A thousand sacred Oaths it swore,
 Never to wander from me more.
 After Chimæras ne'er to rove,
 Or run the wild-Goose-Chase of Love.
 Thus it Resolv'd —————
 'Till some new Face again betray'd
 The Resolutions it had made.
 Then how 'twould flutter up and down,
 Eager, impatient, to be gone:
 And tho' so often it had fail'd,
 Tho' vainless ev'ry Heart affail'd,
 Yet lure'd by Hope of new Delight,
 It took again it's fatal Flight.

'Tis thus, malicious Deity,
 That Thou hast banter'd wretched me,
 Thus made me vainly lose my Time,
 Thus fool away my Youthful Prime,
 And yet for all the Hours I've lost,
 And Sighs, and Tears, thy Bondage cost,
 Ne'er did thy Slave thy Favours blefs,
 Or crown his Passion with Success.
 Well — since 'tis doom'd, that I must find
 No Love for Love from Womankind ;
 Since I no Pleasure must obtain,
 Let me at least avoid the Pain,
 So weary of the Chace I'm grown.
 That with Content I'd sit me down,
 Enjoys my Book, my Friend, my Cell,
 And bid all Womankind farewell.
 Nay, ask for all I felt before,
 Only to be disturb'd no more.
 Yet thou (to my Complaining deaf)
 Will give my Torments no Relief :
 But now, ev'n now, thou mak'st me die,
 And love I know not whom, nor why.
 In ev'ry Part I feel the Fire,
 And burn with fanciful Desire ;
 From whence can Love it's Magic draw ?
 I doat on her, I never Saw :
 And who, but Lovers, can express
 This strange, mysterious Tendernefs.
 And yet methinks 'tis happier so,
 Than, whom it is I love, to know :
 Now my unbounded Notions rove,
 And frame Ideas to my Love.

I fancy I should Something find
 Diviner both in Face and Mind,
 Than ever Nature did bestow
 On any Creature here below.
 I fancy, thus CORINNA walks,
 That thus she sings, she looks, she talks.
 Sometimes I sigh, and fancy then,
 That did CORINNA know my Pain,
 Could she my trickling Tears but see,
 She would be kind and pity me,
 Thus thinking I've no Cause to grieve,
 I pleasingly myself deceive ;
 And sure am happier far than he,
 Who know the very Truth, can be,
 Then, gentle CUPID, let me ne'er
See my imaginary Fair :
 Lest she should be more heav'nly bright
 Than can be reach'd by Fancy's Height :
 Lest (when I on her Beauty gaze.
 Confounded, lost in an Amaze,
 My trembling Lips and Eyes should tell,
 'Tis her I dare to love so well.)
 She with an angry, scornful Eye,
 Or some unkind, severe reply,
 My Hopes of Bliss should overcast,
 And my presuming Passion blast.
 If but in this Thou kind wilt prove,
 And let me not see her I love,
 Thy Altars prostrate I'll adore,
 And call thee Tyrant-God no more.

Antiquated C O Q U E T,

PHYLLIS, if you will not agree
 To give me back my Liberty,
 In spite of you I must regain
 My Loss of Time, and break your Chain.
 You were mistaken, if you thought
 I was so grossly to be caught;
 Or that I was so blindly bred,
 As not to be in Woman read,
 Perhaps you took me for a Fool,
 Design'd alone your Sex's Tool;
 Nay, you might think so made a Thing,
 That with a little Fashioning,
 I might in Time for your dear Sake,
 That Monster call'd A Husband make:
 Perhaps I might, had I not found
 One darling Vice in you abound;
 A Vice to me, which e'er will prove
 An Antidote to banish Love.
 O ! I could better bear an old,
 Ugly, diseas'd, mishapen Scold,
 Or one who games, or will be drunk,
 A Fool, a Spendthrift, Bawd, or Punk,

Than

Than one at All who wildly flies,
 And with soft asking, giving Eyes ;
 And thousand other wanton Arts,
 So meanly trades in Begging Hearts.
 How might such wond'rous Charms perplex,
 Give Chains, or Death, to all Our Sex,
 Did she not so unwisely fet,
 For ev'ry flutt'ring Fool, her Net.
 So poorly proud of vulgar Praise,
 Her very Look her Thoughts betrays ;
 She never stays till we begin,
 But beckons us herself, to sin,
 Ere we can ask, she cries Consent,
 So quick her yielding Looks are sent,
 They Hope forestal, and ev'n Desire prevent.
 But Nature's turn'd when Women woo,
 We hate in them what we should do ;
 Desire's asleep, and cannot wake,
 When Woman such Advances make :
 Both Time and Charms thus PHYLLIS wastes,
 Since each must surfeit ere he tastes.
 Nothing escapes her wand'ring Eyes,
 No one she thinks to mean a Prize ;

 All, all she could, from sad Despair.
 From thence she hither came to prove
 If yet her Charms could kindle Love.

My Motions still on Her must wait,
And what she wills to me is Fate.

She's gone, O! hear it all ye Bowers,
Ye Walks, ye Fountains, Trees, and Flowers,
For whom you made your earliest Show,
For whom you took a Pride to grow.
She's gone, O! hear ye Nightingales,
Ye Mountains ring it to the Vales,
And eccho to the Country round,
The mournful, dismal, killing Sound:
DORINDA'S gone, and STREPHON goes,
To find with Her his lost Repose.

But ere I go, O! let me see,
That all Things mourn Her loss like me:
Play, play, no more ye spouting Fountains,
Rise ye Vallies, sink ye Mountains;
Ye Walks, in Moss, neglected lie,
Ye Birds, be mute; ye Streams be dry.
Fade, fade, ye Flowers, and let the Rose
No more it's blushing Buds disclose:
Ye spreading Beach, and taper Fir,
Languish away in mourning Her;
And never let your friendly Shade,
The Stealth of other Lovers aid.
And thou, O! dear, delightful Bed,
The Altar where Her Maidenhead,
With burning Cheeks, and down cast Eyes,
With panting Breasts, and kind Replies

 Hereafter suffer no Abuse.
 Since consecrated to our Use,
 As thou art sacred, don't profane
 Thy self with any vulgar Stain,
 But to thy Pride be still display'd,
 The Print her lovely Limbs have made:
 See, in a Moment, all is chang'd,
 The Flowers shrank up, and Trees disfrang'd,
 And that which wore so sweet a Face,
 Become a horrid, desert Place.
 Nature Her Influence withdraws,
 Th' effect must follow still the Cause,
 And where DORINDA will reside,
 Nature must there all gay provide:
 Decking that happy, spot of Earth,
 Like Eden's-Garden as it's Birth,
 To please Her, matchless, darling Maid,

 Excelling All who e'er Excell'd,

And thinks some Nymph divine,
Now brings his annual Sacrifice,
Some pretty Boy, or neat Device,
To offer at Her Shrine.

III.

But I can pay no Offering,
To show how I adore,
Since I had but a Heart to bring
A downright foolish, faithful Thing,
And that you had before.

IV.

Yet we may give, for Custom sake,
What will to both be New,
My Constancy a Gift I'll make,
And in Return of it will take
Some Levity from You.

Miss C O R, A S O N G.

FOR God's—sake—nay, dear Sir,
Lord, what do You mean?
I protest, and I vow Sir,
Your Ways are obscene,

II.

Pray give over, O! fie,
Pish, leave off your Fooling,
Forbear, or I'll cry,—
I hate this rude doing.

III.

Let me die if I stay,
Does the DEVIL posses You;
Your Hand take away,
Then perhaps I may bless You.

Or in Devotion spend the Day,
Since without half such Toil and Pain,

You must inhabit Heav'n hereafter,

S E C O N D Book of T I B U L L U S.

I See the Fetters I am doom'd to wear
And see the Nymph for whom I those must bear,
Freedom farewell! O how it gauls my Heart
To say farewell, and that we now must part!
Why must a Lover's Bondage be so hard,
Who serves a Nymph that never will reward?
A Nymph to Love, who ne'er will ease my Pains,
Or free me from this clogging Weight of Chains?
Yet undeserving, or deserving, I
Struck by her Eyes, in Flames consuming die.
Nymph, pity him, who do so fiercely burn,
Extinguish mine, or Fire for Fire return.
O! rather than endure such Misery,
What wou'd I not perform, or chuse to be.

243 POEMS on several Occasions.

Much rather wou'd I be a Stone, and lie
Expos'd to all the Anger of the Sky;
Or else some Rock, which in the wat'ry Plains
The winter Shocks of Wave and Wind sustains,
For now alas! how tedious is the Light,
Yet much more irksome is despairing Night:
For ah! what can delight when Pains increase,
And warring Passions rob the Soul of Peace,
Soft Verse no more can ease distracted Grief;
It's God by neither art can bring Relief;
Nor tender Words the greedy Maid can move,
Gold is the Charm in Her which raises Love
Fond, idle Muse be gone! you sing in Vain,
Since thus you cannot ease a Lover's Pain.
For that alone I only begg'd your Aid;
I for no kindly Inspiration Pray'd,
That of embattled Legions I might write,
Or paint the various Horrors of a Fight;
Or that I might describe the changing Moon,
Or Travel thro' the Zodiac with the Sun.
Love was my Aim, Love made me try your Art,
In Hopes of vanquishing NEÆRA'S Heart.
But since whene'er my tender Song she reads,
The Verse no Symptoms of a Passion breeds,
Since no flush'd Cheeks or kind Disorders shows
She feels that Thing she cares not to disclose!
Since all thy Art can't force my Nymph to spare
One Sigh, one Tear, one Look, to cure Despair;
Be gone thou useles, trifling Muse! no more
Impose upon my Time as heretofore:
For I unpitty'd at her door must lie,
Unless by Rapine I Admittance buy.
With sacrilegious Hands I must invade
The Temples of the Gods, to please the MAID

But

But violated VENUS all shall pay,
 The Trophies from her Shrines I'll bear away,
 since me she forc'd upon this sacrilegious Way.
 She made me wear this greedy Woman's Chain,
 Whose Soul is Ava'rice, and whose Passion Gain.
 Oh! may he ne'er without a Curse be nam'd,
 Who first the gen'rous Way of Love defam'd ;
 Who first for Hearts did fordid Traffic hold,
 And taught the Nymph to barter Love for Gold.
 He was the Cause, hence we these Plagues endure.
 Hence baying Dogs and Locks the Door secure.
 But bring the Gold at which her Charms she rates,
 And then no ratt'ling Chains secure the Gates ;
 No Stop you meet, at Gold all open flies,
 And the still Mastiff in his Kennel lies.
 Pity! that Heav'n to this fair Frame a Mind
 Shou'd give to Avarice so much inclin'd,
 And cancell'd Beauty with so black a Stain,
 O! what attracting Charms were made in vain :
 Hence Wars and Quarrels rise ; the Deity
 Of Love's from hence defil'd with Infamy.
 But mayst thou, Girl, who canst a Market hold,
 So poorly for thy Charms, and sell thy self for Gold ;
 Mayst thou, to warn the rest of Womankind.
 Equal to such a Sin a Penance find!
 May Winds and Flames thy ill got Treasure share,
 And not one God attend thy mournful Pray'r!
 May no Youth help the raging Fire to tame,
 But Joy to hear thy Riches crackle in the Flame!
 Nay shou'dst thou die, no one wou'd drop a Tear,
 Or strew a Flow'r upon thy wretched Bier.
 Whereas shou'd one, tho' ne'er so much decay'd.
 Die, who has never known thy guilty Trade,

She surely wou'd be pitt'y'd as she lies
 Upon the Pile, with sighing Breasts, and weeping Eyes.
 He who has had her youthful Love, wou'd come
 And scatter Sprigs of Cypress on her Tomb;
 Wou'd then deplore her Fate in Elegy,
 And wish that on her Limbs the Earth may lightly lie.
 'Tis Truth I sing; but what does Truth avail?
 I love and only can Her way prevail:
 At her Command all, all, should turn to Gold,
 Nor House, nor Household God, remain unfold.
 Take all the Drugs that CIRCE ever knew,
 Or dire MEDEA; or pois'nous Herbs that grew
 In fatal Theffaly's abandon'd Fields;
 Take that dead Lump the New-foal'd Courser yields,
 Which from his Front the Mother-Mare divides.
 Where on the Plains unlicens'd Love presides;
 Let all the Philters in one Draught be hurl'd,
 That all the Witches know in all the World;
 And let NEÆRA mix them: If the Maid
 With one kind Look will bid me be o'er paid,
 Will crown my past, and seal my future Trust,
 I'll Drink it all, and Drink it with a Gust,

The THIRD ELEGY

THIRD Book of TIBULLUS.

NOT that I may in wordly Wealth abound,
 Not that my Flocks may thrive, or fruitful Ground
 May load my Barns with such prodigious Store
 Of Grain, till fill'd, they can receive no more,
 Does daily Incense on my Altars smoke,

Or

Or I so often do the Gods invoke,
 A greater Blessing I of Heav'n require.
 O may it hear, and grant me my Desire!
 'Tis that I may with thee be ever blest,
 Of a long Lease of Life and Love possess:
 'Tis that I ne'er may feel another's Charms,
 But as I liv'd, so die within thy Arms.
 What tho' my Bags swell with unnumbered Gold,
 What though, thus rich, I round me do behold
 My Thousand-Oxen in my Thousand-Fields,
 Where the fat Soil both Grain and Pasture yields,
 What tho' my House on marble Columns stand,
 (With Cost imported from the Phrygian Strand,
 Or shipp'd from Tænarus, and dearly bought,
 Or thine CARISTUS, curiously inwrought)
 Grac'd with a gilded Roof or golden Gate,
 With all Things else becoming Regal State;
 What tho' on Beds of softest down I lie,
 And sweat beneath the noblest Tyrian Dye;
 What tho' I have wherewith the Crowd to move,
 Tho' I by Condescension gain their Love;
 Yet oft their Love's succeeded by their Spite.
 Who seldom place their wav'ring Fancy right:
 Yet all this Pomp my Grief can't countervail
 For leaden Care will turn the golden Scale,
 And Fortune with her Gifts may take the next fair Gale.
 So Fate will make me but possess'd of Thee,
 May I be closely prest with Poverty!
 Without Thee, for thou mak'st my Wishes full,
 Courts wou'd displease, and Pomp wou'd seem but dull,
 O how that Day by me wou'd still be blest
 By a white Stone distinguish'd from the rest,
 That gives NEÆRA to this longing breast!

But

But if the GODS deny my Nymphs's Return,
 Resolv'd that I her Absence here shall mourn,
 For all the Pray'rs I make, and Incense burn;
 Not all the Wealth this mighty Globe contains,
 Nor all which in the Ocean yet remains,
 Can me delight; for they are glitt'ring Toys,
 And tinsel Ware to Love's substantial Joys;
 Counters and Gewgaws to please froward Boys.
 Let others take them; but let me be blest,
 Ye GODS! with Love, with Privacy, and Rest.
 Propitious JUNO, as my pray'rs ascend,
 Receive them gracious, and thy Succour lend!
 And thou, bright VENUS, Guardian of her Charms,
 Assist— restore NEÆRA to these Arms!
 But if the Fates, for who can Fate withstand?
 Refuse this Blessing to her native Land;
 If the sad Sisters spin out all their Store.
 And leave her life-less on a foreign Shore;
 May PLUTO call me to the Shades below;
 To follow her I unreluctant go,
 Where lazily along the livid Waters flow!

The TWELFTH ELEGY.

O F T H E

FOURTH Book of TIBULLUS.

To His MISTRESS.

N O Woman e'er shall draw me from your Arms;
 I now defy the Force of other Charms.
 My plighted Faith shall firm remain to you;
 I'll to that Vow which seal'd our Loves be true.
 You're

You're my Delight, 'tis you alone I prize ;
 All other Maids seem odious to my Eyes.
 O that none could your Charming Features see,
 That none had Eyes, none Eyes excepting me !
 Or that you could your glorious Beauty shroud,
 Retiring, like the Sun, behind a Cloud
 Of borrow'd Ugliness, to cheat the gaping Croud.
 Then should I not suspect my charming Maid
 Of being false, or think my Love betray'd.
 I no Ambition have that prat'ling Fame
 My choice approving, should your Charms proclaim.
 Nor would I envy in a rival Race ;
 I would have none to see, that none may praise.
 He that is wise will keep his Joys conceal'd ;
 Joys always lessen when they are reveal'd.
 With Thee I could in barren Desarts dwell ;
 Nor Courts could please without Thee half so well.
 With thee I could o'er Rocks and Mountains stray,
 Where yet no human Feet e'er made a Way.
 In Thee my Cares would soften, I should find
 Thy Arms a Balm for my distemper'd Mind.
 Thy pow'rful Eyes would in the darkest Night
 Perform a Miracle, and make it light.
 No other Objects I'd desire to see,
 But gaze, in Desarts gaze, eternally on Thee,
 Should e'en the Gods themselves send from above
 New Beauties, to subdue my Faith and Love ;
 Should VENUS try herself to make me burn,
 She should despair, and as she came return.
 All this I do by sacred JUNO swear
 For Thee — and JUNO duly I revere.
 Ah Fool ! that thus I let you know your Pow'r ;
 I've lost my Freedom from this fatal Hour.

You

You will no Pity shew, no Mercy have,
 But act outright the Tyrant on your Slave:
 Well, I've betray'd myself, and all will own,
 I do confess I'm yours, and yours alone.
 I am, and ever will Your Slave remain;
 Nor will I strive to break, but hug my Chain.
 Nor do my Flames decrease; no, no, I burn,
 Tho' my approaching Love you check'd with Scorn.
 Now I the Folly of my Tongue shall feel,
 The fatal Secret it could not conceal.
 But be advis'd, and do not on this Score
 Shew me less Favour, or insult me more,
 Lest I of VENUS Succour should implore.
 Doubtless such Cruelty enrag'd to see,
 You she would soon dethrone, and set up ME.

OVID'S AMOURS,

ELEGY III, BOOK III.

IMITATED.

CHLOE, since You a handsome Woman are,
 And consequently frail as You are fair
 Be not to any of my Rivals coy,
 But all the Sweets of Liberty enjoy;
 Thro' ev'ry various Scene of Loving rove,
 And to the Best Your Youth and Charms improve;
 I all this Freedom can with Ease allow;
 I meant not to confine You to a Vow;

Provided

Provided that You act with Secrecy,
 And keep Your jilting Tricks conceal'd from me.
 She sins not to the World who can deny,
 And brazen out the Rumour with a Lie.
 'Tis Folly, nay, 'tis Madness, to reveal
 That which You can but any Way conceal.
 You what the World wou'd ne'er suspect proclaim,
 And double by Your Impudence Your Shame.
 The lewdest, bawdy'd Drab in all the Town
 Will shut the Door, before she lays her down.
 Is't not enough that Fame proclaims Your Guilt,
 But You, Yourself, must tell, You are a Jilt?
 For your Own-sake be with Your Pleasure wife,
 And sin at least under a chaste Disguise.
 Nay, if to Me, Your Tricks shou'd be betray'd,
 Vow they're all false, and that the World are mad;
 Blush, weep, sigh, rage, and all Your Passions vent,
 As if You did Your injur'd Fame lament;
 And I shall fondly think You innocent:-
 When to some secret Grotto You resort,
 That Love will suit, conceal the amorous Sport:
 There then unmask'd let loose Your fierce Desire,
 In flame with ev'ry lech'rous Trick Your Fire,
 Thy Soul in it's own native Dress expose,
 And what, without Disguise, You are disclose:
 Baulk nothing that can add to Your Delight,
 But vig'rously pursue Love's pleasing Flight.
 Without a Blush Your folding Arms fast lock,
 That links You closer, and improves the Shock.
 Your Tongue to His in humid Kisses dart,
 And let each single Member have a Part.
 As still You're acting the soft Scenes of Love,
 Your Body in a Thousand Postures move;

350 P O E M S on several Occasions.

Art does the dry insipid Act advance,
 And diff'rent Motions does the Bliss inhance.
 All dying, am'rous, soft, Expressions use,
 Your melting Looks new Vigour will infuse,
 But when you meet Me, do not disabuse :
 Hide with Thy waving Robe the rising Blush,
 By strong Denial all Suspicion crush,
 Till Scandal's Self confirm the gen'ral Hush.
 To Me, to all the World Thy Truth declare,
 That if deceiv'd, unknowing I may err.
 My dear Credulity O ne'er destroy,
 That Paradise of Fools let me enjoy,
 But why! ah why! so often must I see
 The Billet sent, and brought again to Thee?
 Why deep indented, when I come, is seen
 The Couch without, the conscious Bed within;
 And ev'ry Seat a Witness of Thy Sin?
 Why discompos'd the Ringlets of Thy Hair,
 More than with Sleep? Why all Thy Bosom bare,
 And all the Marks of Love imprinted there?
 Lost Reputation tho' You may despise,
 Set not at least Your Guilt before my Eyes.
 Consider Me, if not Your ruin'd Fame;
 To Me 'tis Death, to You what is not Shame.
 When you confests, I feel the fatal Pains,
 And the chill'd Blood creeps slowly thro' my Veins.
 But ah! in vain Thy Falsehood I wou'd hate;
 No; I must love Thee, faithless and ungrate!
 Ev'n while I fly from Thy destructive Charms,
 I wish myself expiring in Thy Arms,
 O then conceal what I shall not enquire!
 Did not Thy Conduct blow it to a Fire,
 Each Spark of Jealousy wou'd soon expire.

Nay,

Nay, wert Thou taken in the guilty Act,
And ev'n these Eyes were Witness to the Fact,
What well I saw, as well would'st Thou deny,
And swear My Sense impos'd on Me a Lye,
My willing Eyes their Evidence shou'd quit,
And all My Soul in Sorrow shou'd submit.
Prepar'd to yield, how easy is thy Task!
To say, 'Tis false, is all that I can ask,
And since two Words Thy Conquest may Secure,
And since Thy Judge, if not Thy Cause, is sure,
At least, be Constant in a fix'd Denial;
Thy Truth, my Girl, shall never come on Trial.

This done His Mind will be at Rest,

On a REPORT of
Mr PRIOR's DEATH.

I.

WIT, Sense, and Learning, massacred of late,
By Bards, who pour like Goths and Vandals, in,
A Cry for Vengeance reach'd the Thund'rer's Seat,
And Vengeance just was rip'ned for the Sin.

II.

When lo! MAT. PRIOR, starting from the Croud,
Cry'd, " Sov'raign Jove, a-while Thy Thunder cease, "
Jove smil'd serene, and an aerial Cloud
Took MATTHEW hence, to mediate a Peace.

III.

Be hush, ye mungrel Brood, 'till His Return ;
Nor, rashly rhiming say, " The Poet's Dead ; "
What tho' he were ? It is not Your's to mourn,
Who ne'er in Verse can un-inspir'd succeed,

IV.

When PRIOR bids the British-Isles adieu,
A CONGRAVE, POPE, or GAY, shall weep His Praise;
They, only skill'd, their absent Brother knew,
Nor will the Public relish meaner Lays.

I S P R I O R gone? O wou'd you once inspire
 Celestial NINE, a stranger to your Quire!
 While I this melancholy Theme pursue,
 And pay my last Respects to Him and You.
 Alas! How soon ends all our Joy in Woe,
 Which your Arrival gave not long ago!
 When the great Poet humbly laid aside
 His glitt'ring Robes of State, and Courtier's Pride,
 And lowly deign'd with Rustics to reside,
 So P H O E B U S God of Verse, once in Disguise
 Abode with Shepherds, banish'd from the Skies.
 Vast Hopes we then conceiv'd, and vainly guess'd
 That now Down-Hall wou'd be for ever blest,
 And soon all other Country-Seats, out-shine,
 As being the Muses Seat, and rais'd by Hands Divine.
 The Trees around shou'd grow in Verse sublime;
 And the shrill Brooks shou'd roll in Shriller Rhime:
 And what still rais'd our Expectations higher,
 You seem'd the Situation to admire.
 The Hill was advantageous to your Flight;
 The Grove to sing the Nut-Brown Maid's Delight,
 Pleas'd with the Place, Poetic Plans you drew
 Of Houses, Gardens, Walks, in Paper View;
 And meas'ring all the Fields and Meads around,
 Describ'd the Limits of your Hallow'd Ground.

The Grove already made your Vistoes Ways,
Longing to echo your immortal Lays.

And shortly thought with Cooper's-Hill to vie.

The Wonder-working Muses too are fled,
And the Old tott'ring House nods down its mournful

O THOU the Muses greatest Friend and Heir.
Great HARLEY! for their sake, and pious Care,
Support its drooping Head; and let it stand

For Vain indeed by Fate's severe Decree,
Thy Plans of Pleasure prov'd Great Men, to THEE;

The gloomy Walks and Vistoes of the Dead.
In vain didst thou thy Summer-House project,
