*Singula de nobis anni prædantur euntes
Eripuere jocos, venerem, conviviva, ludum,
Tendant extorquere pœmata—quid faciam vis ?*

HORACE, Ars Poet.

PITT claps his paws on something ev'ry day ;
A hiss at ROYALTY—a poor old PLAY ;
Meetings near Mother Redcap's (harmless things!),
Jokes on Court-mummery, smiles at QUEENS and KINGS ;
Ere long, he leaps on PETER's dove-like strains ;
And should the MUSE be ravish'd, what remains ?

DIALOGUE I.

PETER.

AH, TOM! from ALMA MATER?

TOM.

Just imported,
FORTUNE a Jade, and ev'ry Guinea sported.

PETER.

What! no rich Father then has flipp'd his wind,
And left a hoghead of Bank-notes behind?
No good AUNT GRIZZLE, kind enough to die,
Left a long purse to soothe the mournful sigh,
And purchase PLEASURE's pretty recreations?

B 2

TOM.

TOM.

I meet with no such kindness from Relations !
 P-x on't, it now appears their cruel plan
 To live as long and happy as they can ;                    10
 To make their fons in slavery watch and pray,
 Till TIME and disappointment turn them gray !

PETER.

True, TOM—when lively lads arrive at age
 Dull fathers should be hustled off the stage,
 And mothers (hifs'd to heav'n to find employ)            15
 Yield up their jointures to oblige their Boy.
 Sons with lefs ceremony us'd to treat 'em—
 Tied them to trees, for wolves to come and eat 'em :
 Are Parents old, with any thing to give ?
 'Tis really fin and impudence to live :                    20
 Gold should change hands—not sleep amid the chest—
 Ye Gods, for Guineas what inglorious rest !
 Gold on Newmarket's panting steed should fly,
 And briskly circle with the rattling die.

TOM.

TOM.

FRIENDSHIP! where art? in books and on the tongue; 25

Who mak'ft, like LOVE, a very pretty fong:

Too much a stranger to the heart, I ween!

Like Angels, prais'd, admir'd—but seldom feen!

Befides myself, no Comforter have I!

No hopes from Parents, and no Friend to die. 30

Sweet Friendship ev'n for animals I love—

A dog, a cat, a monkey, parrot, dove;

With ALEXANDER'S spirit charm'd, of courfe,

Who built a town in honour of his horfe.

PETER.

Now for the meaning of thy wild-goose chace: 35

What project, TOM? a pension, or a place?

TOM.

Full of my mighty self, from College down

I rush, to blaze a COMET on the town!

V. 34. Who built a town.] The city of Bucephalus.

To tear from SLAVERY's neck the galling chain,
 And raise a Nabob-Fortune by my brain ; 40
 On skins of hungry wolves, the Courtiers, thrive,
 A NIMROD! leaving not a Beast alive!

Tremble thou RICHMOND, HAWKSB'RY, and thou
 PITT

Too tremble, at the faulchion of my wit.

Tremble thou PORTLAND, MALMSB'RY, ROSE,
 DUNDAS!

Stripp'd be the Lion's hide, that holds an A/s. 46

Roll my deep thunder round that REEVES's head,
 Dark form! that stalking strikes a world with dread:
 All eye, all ear, at Midnight's guardless hour,

To seize a subject for the jail or Tow'r. 50

Fierce with the lightning's blasting fire, my PEN,
 Strike thou th' aspiring heads of impious men.

Drag thou, my ARM, black GUILT to open Day!—
 Such are my projects!—how d'ye like them, pray?

PETER.

Nobly resolv'd! a pious resolution, 55

Would FORTUNE kindly crown the execution.

But PITT despis'd the execrating noise

Of men and women—hooting girls and boys!

Smil'd

Smil'd at the rude salutes of stones and mire
 That discompos'd his curls and gay attire ; 60
 And fated, had he fall'n, his gang to cros,
 PITT knew a simple life no public los ;
 Knew that a Name but mock'd a vengeful stone,
 Whose ghost-like popularity was gone ;
 And knew, his flow'rs of speech and breadth of foul 65

The State might find in many a dirty hole.
 Safe 'mid the windings of his brazen tow'r,
 Too well a MINISTER discerns his pow'r ;
 With high contempt he bids their fury flow,
 And mocks the pop-guns of the WORLD below : 70
 So deep in fat CORRUPTION'S soil his roots,
 The public blast but lops some wanton shoots ;
 The bullying Trunk, whose members brave the skies,
 Firm in its hell-clad strength, the storm defies.

TOM.

I'll pour a broadside into Courts.—

PETER.

Forbear. 75

Court-folly charms, of all, the eye and ear :

B †

Sink

Sink it, and SATIRE mourns his uselefs dart ;
While RIDICULE, a bankrupt, breaks his heart.

TOM.

I'll spread my sentiments of Kings and Queens ;
Truth guides my pen, and Truth the Poet screens. 80

PETER.

Oh! what an inexperienc'd thing is youth !
How very little knowest thou of TRUTH !
TRUTH for a very dangerous Dame believe !
Too often, TOM, the fairest forms deceive :
Mid WINTER's shiv'ring scene the simple hare 85
Finds in the purest snow a fatal snare :
Forth as she scuds, to feed at early day,
The treach'rous softness tells her winding way :
Where'er it feels her feet, the fair BETRAYER,
Informs the treach'rous Poacher where to slay her. 90
The MUSE that tells plain truth, with edge-tools sports:
Go, deal in fiction, Man, and flatter Courts.

TOM.

TOM,

Nor shall the pompous LAWN my lash escape,
 That swelling lords it over simple CRAPE :
 WHALES of the church, before my vengeance fly— 95
 Devouring, mangling the poor helpless FRY :
 PRIESTS! how unlike your healing, humble MASTER !
 HE, Gilead's Balm ; but you—a blister-plaster !
 Out with State-cancers! CAUSTIC, come, and KNIFE—
 I'll gain FAME's plaudit, though I lose my life. 100

PETER.

Sweet is her song—divine, like BANTI's breath ;
 Yet dear's the ballad, TOM, whose note is death !

TOM:

Perchance I venture on the Hope-forlorn !
 Yet, HE who HONOUR courts, must DANGER scorn !

PETER.

PETER.

Thus, when a breach is made in some fair Town, 105
 The VOLUNTEERS, agog to gain renown,
 Beg hard to enter first, to fall with glory,
 And give Posterity a beauteous story;
 While wiser some, averse to making mould,
 Would rather tell the tale, than have it told. 110

TOM.

I'll pierce of WIMBLEDON the midnight scene,
 Where Taxes spring, and RIOT's orgies reign;
 Expose the two DICTATORS to the Isle—

PETER.

The world has mark'd them, and the COUPLE smile.

TOM.

What! is there not a blush?—a little glow, 115
 To stain their marble countenances?

PETER.

No!

The MINISTER who bears a blushing face,
 POOR MOLLY! is not fitted for his place.

With

With dog-like impudence, and dog-like stare,
 To wonder, all the while he lays the snare, 120
 “ That Gentlemen suspect a harmless plan ;”
 Such is the Minister, and such the Man,
 To dupe the State, and carry all before him !—

TOM.

So, then, my BULL of Satire cannot gore him ?

PETER.

At ev'ry push the Man would only laugh, 125
 And prove thy bellowing Bull, a whining Calf.
 ROSE, spite of ridicule, enjoys his place,
 And grins at such as damn the want of grace ;
 While WYNDHAM, unabash'd, his heart unlocks,
 And calmly meets the front of injur'd Fox. 130
 One monosyllable, whose name is AYE,
 Weighs more than all a hundred Bards can say :
 ONE daring MEMBER of a rotten borough
 Is found of late, to poor Old ENGLAND's sorrow,
 Full strong to give fair FREEDOM her death wound, 135
 And hurl her heav'n-clad column to the ground.

MERIT

MERIT may walk to grafs, or munch the thistle:
 For PITT, the VIRTUES all may e'en go whistle.
 WORTH, like the worm beneath the cold hard stone,
 Crawls forth, and courts the sunshine of a Throne: 140
 But, lo, its rays on diff'rent Reptiles fall,
 That wriggling, clinging, lick the foot of Baal.

TOM.

PORTLAND shall feel my scourge—

PETER.

Why so, poor MAN?

His GRACE is much the best of all the Clan.
 Though dup'd to join with Knaves his luckless doom,
 'Mid Rooks, a pigeon with unfullied plume: 146
 His colleagues, when compar'd to Him!—a day
 Of wolf-like WINTER, and the lamb-like MAY;
 The lane's course pebble, and Golconda's stone;
 The MEDICEAN VENUS, and a Joan. 150
His and their hearts are opposition-things;
 Diff'rent as dove-like Saints, and Vulture-Kings;

CYNTHIA, the world's delight, and Lady MARY ;
Fam'd BELISARIUS, and old BAMFYLDE CAREY.

TOM.

Die then the Embassy that shames the LAND. 155

PETER.

Lord! TOM, the French have kill'd it to thy hand ;
Then rein thy fury—spare thy idle breath—

TOM.

I'll fabricate the poetry of Death.
O'er many a neck my scymeter ihall flame,
And HAVOCK's corfes form my road to Fame ; 160
On SATIRE's burning coals this villain fries,
And roasted that with skewers in his eyes :
I'll match the Knaves with tortures of all forts,
And make a charming little hell for COURTS.

PETER.

Heavn's! TOM, be cooler ; take advice—

TOM.

TOM.

I won't— 165

“WILFUL will do't”—my soul is fix'd upon't.

Ah, PETER, you're a courtier.

PETER.

No such thing:

I never drank at ADULATION'S spring.

TOM.

No! PETER never dealt in praise!

PETER.

There is a time ere any man's a knave— 170

Some start in youth, some fin at bald fourscore;

But known—the voice of Fame is heard no more.

VIRTUE'S pure Robe with dirt I scorn to load,

Or offer incense to embalm a Toad.

True,

True, I have flatter'd—yes, my raptur'd tongue 175
 Has pleas'd a mistress oft—and oft a song :
 Yet for no baseness I invok'd the Nine—
 A lovely subject, and a harmless line.
 Let talents, virtues, meet my happy eyes ;
 I ask not, truly, from what soil they rise. 180
 If'mid the lorn cold vale of WANT they spring,
 The MUSE shall hen-like spread her foff'ring wing ;
 Or GRANDEUR's sun-clad mountain, to their glory,
 My verse (though scarce believ'd) shall tell the story :
 Give me the riches, and I'll find the soul 185
 To lead poor pining MERIT from her hole.
 Friend to the ARTS, were GEORGE's millions mine,
 What HEAV'NLY MAID in poverty should pine ?
 For lab'ring GENIUS, palaces should rise ;
 Not for Court-sycophants, the carrion flies: 190
 These would I flap—and change at once the scene ;
 To TASTE, the ATTIC NYMPH, restore her reign ;
 With RAPHAELS, TITIANS, the glad world renew,
 And lead a second ANGELO to view ;
 Bid, for our Board of Works, PALLADIOS spring, 195
 And cast a ray of glory round a King.
 And, were I King ! I solemnly protest,
 That Hardware-man, that Brazier, MISTER WEST,
 No

No more should copper poor old WINDSOR'S walls;
 Nor BACON'S lifeless lumber load Saint PAUL'S. 200
 Then should yon nick-nam'd DOME (alas! how poor
 In real merit!) shut its sacred door
 On smugglers in the trade, whom ART reviles;
 Whose sole pretensions are—what? FOLLY'S smiles.
 Yet, is there ONE, whose bags with wealth run o'er, 205
 Who loves the Arts, and loves to see them poor;
 Proud of a lying, cringing Dedication,
 That dubs him the MÆCÆNAS of the Nation?
 Lo, there are Authors to proclaim his spirit,
 And swear it ever in pursuit of Merit. 210

V. 200. BACON'S lifeless lumber.] Two statues intended to adorn St. Paul's Cathedral, and challenge the universe for sculpture, They are said to be meant for Howard and Johnson. Much money has been given for digging the two miserable objects out of the stone, and they have been put up: when will the poor exposed figures, for the honour of our national taste, and their own credit, be taken down?—Risum teneatis, amici?

V. 201. Nick-nam'd DOME.] How the Academy came to be baptized Royal, I cannot conceive; as not a spangle of ROYAL MUNIFICENCE ever threw a ray around its walls. Had it not been for the annual Shillings of the charitable PUBLIC, it must have died of famine long ago.

TOM.

Curs'd be the period, whether verse or prose,
 That round a worthless head a glory throws—
 Yields MERIT'S meed to tinsel stars and strings,
 And soul to Mis'ry, though it dwelt with Kings.
 Makes AV'RICE generous—the poor Idiot wife— 215
 And lifts the Fool of Fortune to the skies.

PETER.

Yet are there knaves in these unblushing days,
 To fabricate the lying song of praise!
 What's strange—The flatter'd fools, so dead to shame,
 Strut in stol'n plumes, and boast th' imputed fame. 220
 Tell KNIGHT he beats, in rural scenes, the world;
 Nought for the falsehood at your head is hurl'd!

Say

V. 221. Tell KNIGHT.] A Gentleman who scrambled to Par-nassus as he crept into the Borough of Ludlow; and who, obtaining the alms of CHARITY from a REVIEWER, informs the world that it is the free and unsolicited donation of FAME. A Gentleman who fancies his poor cracked post-horn to be the trump of HEROIC POETRY; and, ashamed of being a contemptible Mute amidst his Brethren of St. Stephen's, turns a roaring Bully amongst the Muses.
 Possessed of a schoolboy-power of mouthing a few Greek polysyl-lables,

Say that he feels a POET's genuine fire,
 His palsied hand like MILTON's sweeps the lyre :
 Not FLATTERY's self can too much Fame allow ; 225
 For, lo, to PHŒBUS self he scorns to bow.
 Swear TASTE a poor lost sheep before he came ;
 At once he hears MESSIAH in his name :
 He sees the poor fall'n Creature TASTE restor'd ;
 And, proud of Vict'ry, feels himself the Lord ! 230
 Say WISDOM languish'd in barbaric gloom ;
 He sees his GENIUS the wild waste illumine.

PETER.

Thus, when a NIGHT of shade involves the pole,
 And clouds on clouds in murky masses roll ;
 SOL through the darkness bids his radiance flow, 235
 And robes with golden light the world below !

TOM.

Call MASON, SHAKESPEAR ; Mister HAYLEY, POPE
 Their jaws with sudden inspiration ope ;

lables, who most ridiculously deems himself an Aristarchus ; and who, childishly arrogating to himself the character of a Legislator of Taste in Landscape Scenery, has received a severe and merited castigation, from Men of real abilities, for his presumption. A Gentleman who, despairing of a reputation, for wit equal to that of the famous or rather in-famous LORD ROCHESTER, has printed a work to prove that he is by far the Noble Earl's superior in rage for a subject of obscenity.

With fancied immortality they shine,
 And all PARNASSUS thunders through their line: 240
 No more the MUSES their lost fav'rites mourn;
 In MASON'S, HAYLEY'S page again they burn!
 Tell BANKS he fills with honour NEWTON'S chair,
 The weed-and-bird's-nest-hunter will not stare!
 Aloud with NEWTON'S fancied pow'rs he brays, 245
 And struts with NEWTON down to distant days!
 Call WEST, CORREGIO; on his cloth display'd,
 Raptur'd he marks a breadth of light and shade,
 His copper turns to flesh of loveliest hue,
 And ev'ry Cherub-SWEETNESS charms his view. 250
 Or grant him RAPHAEL'S line and RAPHAEL'S grace,
 He will not fling his brushes in your face:
 Pronounce like matchless CLAUDE'S his landscape
     clear,
 He sees the brightest clouds, the purest sphere;
 Surveys DAME NATURE'S forms with thrilling blood, 255
 And counts a thousand leagues along the mud.
 Inform that Witch—of ugliness the Queen,
 Old SYCORAX, she beats in mind and mien
 Fair OXFORD; how the wrinkled Hag will smile,
 And stretch her approbation-mouth a mile! 260

Call PORTEUS gen'rous, PORTEUS will not cry,
 With hands uplifted, "Jesu, what a lie!"
 No! on his lip a smile approving springs,
 Sweet as the simper when he bows to Kings.

Praise STRELITZ, SCHWELLENBERG will scream,
 " Mine Gote,

" England haf noting clevers as dat spote; 266

" Dere be de palace!—peepels of high bert,

" An bestest Princes dat's in all de ert."

Praise BRU——LL's brain—what farce! the Man receives it!

Swear that his head is human—he believes it: 270

Swear B-LL-R honours the huge wig and gown,

By heav'ns, the Fellow will not knock you down;

Nor turncoat W——M, to no party true,

Deny sincerity to be his due.

Praise HAWKESB'RY for his sweet ingenuous heart, 275

The Man has not the decency to start;

V. 261. Call PORTEOUS generous.] Her MAJESTY'S own
 Bishop, the economical BISHOP of LONDON; who, on his exaltation, sent circular letters to the Clergy of his diocese, commanding them to inform him of the state of morality, religion, and the churches; at the same time, however, requesting that the answers might not weigh more than one ounce. Poor morality, poor religion, poor churches! What!
 not worth the postage of a letter!

Call

Call GRENVILLE humble—will you shock the Peer?

No, no! he listens with unwounded ear:—

CHATHAM, in naval matters, brisk and deep;

He drops the tortoise, and forgets his sleep. 280

Tell PITT, the PEOPLE love him—PITT will smile,

And deem himself the Fav'rite of the Isle:

Swear MODESTY no stranger to DUNDAS,

HAL feels the virtue on his front of brass.

PETER.

Thus, should SIR ISAAC (meannefs to promote) 285

Form for some upstart wretch a handsome coat;

Lo, from the Conquest, lifts of Sires appear,

And all the puddle of his blood runs clear.

V. 285. Thus, should SIR ISAAC.] SIR ISAAC HEARD, Garter King at Arms.

END OF DIALOGUE I.

DIALOGUE II.

---

TOM.

O! For the soul of LEO, to inspire
 Our future Kings with GLORY's genuine fire!
 Then would the happy PAINTER, and the BARD,
 Of simple merit reap the rare reward!
 Then would the varied Field of Letters bloom, 5
 Smile on the eye, and yield the heav'ns perfume.

PETER.

Poor Field! at present much like Hounslow Heath,
 Whose chief production is the wood of Death,

V. 5. Hounslow Heath.] The comparison of the present barren Field of Literature to the Field of Gibbets is new, apposite, and ingenious. Literature now is as dangerous as Murder. Let REEVES be the Interpreter, and every line of every pamphlet, verse or prose, shall by this Gentleman's sagacious commentary smell of treason as strongly as the whisper of an Anti-Pittite proclaims rebellion.—THE EDITOR.

TOM

TOM.

How is fair ART, and SCIENCE, in disgrace!
 What Patron meets them with a smiling face? 10
 See, like a shadow, GENIUS, limping, poor,
 In supplication at a GREAT MAN'S door!—
 And see with insolence his lacquey treat him;
 And were he fat enough, the Dog would eat him.

PETER.

O TASTE, O REASON, to our Isle return! 15
 Behold our GREAT for littlenesses burn!
 Charm'd with his wit, and tricks, and nose, and hunch,
 Not long ago, LORD PLYMOUTH purchas'd PUNCH:
 And very soon, I ween, some titled NINNY,
 Some moon-ey'd fool, will buy the FANTOCCINI. 20
 Th' alarming voice of WAR must not be heard—
 There are no FRENCH to pull us by the beard—
Invasions! nonsense—What the pow'r of FRANCE;
 What Discord, Murder, so the Puppets dance?

TOM.

This reddens my rough vengeance—fans my flame, 25
 And goads my SATIRE'S hawk to seek its game.

C 4

Yes!

Yes! yes! I stand resolv'd upon the matter—
Fry is the word, and brimstone be my batter!

PETER.

Gods! what a furious Saracen art thou!
But what says PITT? will PITT thy rage allow? 30
Believe me, TOM, the blunderbus of Law
Makes a long shot—an engine form'd to awe—
By this has many a bird of Satire bled—
Be prudent, therefore, and revere the lead.
Think of thy banish'd Namefake!

TOM,

What! TOM PAINE?

I like the Man—should boast to hold his train: 36
TOM PAINE speaks boldly out; and so I dare
Strike at Court Slaves, nor sex nor order spare;
Spread o'er my quarry VICE, my eagle wings,
Nor dread the conflict, though oppos'd by Kings! 40

PETER.

Lo, that rich hour of Liberty gone by!
GRENVILLE's and PITT's bold acts thy rage defy:

PITT

PITT claps his paws on something ev'ry day;
 A hifs at ROYALTY, a poor old PLAY,
 Meetings near MOTHER REDCAP'S (harmless things!)<sup>45</sup>
 Jokes on COURT-MUMMERY, smiles at QUEENS and KINGS:

Ere long he leaps on PETER'S dove-like strains;
 And should the MUSE be ravish'd, what remains?
 Behold the COURT, of Hist'ry grown so fore,
 I scarce dare mention—Apple-dumpling more, 50
 Or Madam SCHWELLENBERG and ambling JACK,
 For fear the PALACE might be on my back;
 And that's a heavy load, the world will own,
 Enough to make the mighty ATLAS groan:
 Nor WHITBREAD'S Brewhouse, nor poor MOTHER
 JONES, 55

Nor HUNTING PARSONS, if I prize my bones;
 LOUSE, BRICK-KILN, GARD'NERS, MUTTON, MOUSE-
 TRAP TOUR;

Such mention will not MINISTERS endure:

V. 44. A poor old PLAY.] Venice Preserved; condemned by AUTHORITY to oblivion on account of the numerous and violent plaudits bestowed on passages that seemed direct sarcasms on our present Rulers.

V. 51. Ambling JACK.] The Ass on which the GREAT MISTRESS OF THE ROBES was wont to take her airings, for health, through the Royal Gardens, which furnished much misfortune, and amusement.

Though

Though MINISTERS, as blushing HIST'RY shows,
 Dar'd pull a goodly MONARCH by the nose ; 60
 Spat in his face, and threaten'd to dethrone him ;
 Roar'd out ' REFORM,' and forc'd themselves upon him :
 Drunk with successes, seiz'd the old State-Thunder,
 When uproar wild began, and Nation-plunder.
 The "State's in danger," louder howl'd the storm, 65
 Gagg'd ev'ry raven mouth that croak'd ' Reform.'
 Thus then it happens (save good MASTER REEVES),
 The purest Patriots may be pick'd from Thieves.

PETER.

For ever facred be the acts of Kings,
 The founts of worship, honour, stars and strings ! 70
 Ev'n such as Virtue damns, the gentle MUSE
 (So chang'd her nature !) shall not once abuse :
 Peace to the ghost of NERO, great good man,
 Beneath whose blade no blood in rivers ran !
 Whose heart in MERCY's tender mould was made ! 75
 Peace to DOMITIAN's—peace to RICHARD's shade !

TOM.

Who is this Lord High-Paramount, this PITT ?
 What are his mighty acts, his wisdom, wit ?

What

What his huge feats, with all his wondrous brags?
 The Nation stripp'd, fair Liberty in rags, 80
 With scarce a shift, gown, stocking, garter, fandal;
 Put up at Garraway's by inch of candle.
 A Booby who for vict'ries madly gapes,
 And idly lab'ring brings us into scrapes;
 Then bids us get ourselves, with phiz devout, 85
 And fear and trembling, pray'r, and starving, out!
 Thus, with an infolence a name that lacks,
 He flings his own d-mn'd sins upon our backs.
 Poor ENGLAND! to destruction he has brought it;
 Then cries with ideot wonder, "Who'd have thought it!
 Away with fasts that gormandise and quaff, 91
 And give ev'n fly HYPOCRISY a laugh!
 Who will with lying impudence declare,
 Nought fills his mouth upon that day, but Air?
 What Saints the stomach's pinches will endure? 95
 None!—save their pious Majesties, I'm sure.
 But grant we fast—are fasts of aught avail?
 Behold the Poor with fasting lean and pale;
 And still the French, in lucky war employ'd,
 Unlike Sennach'rib's host, are not destroy'd. 100

PETER.

But, TOM, 'tis Gentry that must Heav'n implore ;
 G-d never listens to the ragged Poor.
 When MINISTERS their blundering tricks betray,
 'Tis Gentry only that must starve and pray.
 Yet at their dread petition Heav'n will start, 105
 Nor, cruel, run a Frenchman through the heart,
 T' oblige a foolish Briton who shall cry,
 I'm fasting, Lord ; so let thy vengeance fly :
 So far am I a Quaker, I must own,
 And dare not thus address th' eternal Throne, 110
 Heav'n is most merciful—inclin'd to spare,
 And scorns to kill a neighbour for a pray'r.
 Indeed, whate'er the Bishops may pretend,
 In fast and pray'r we seldom find a friend :
 Fasts will not wet French powder ; nor will words 115
 Of pious imprecation blunt French swords :
 Nor sighs of Saints avert the flying ball :
 The POPE must run from Rome, and Mantua fall.

TOM.

TOM.

How at each solemn phiz the DEV'L must grin!
 All sanctity without, and fraud within! 120
 Put pray'rs before a Bishop, and a haunch;
 Alas! he quits not, for the soul, the paunch:
 Meat must be watch'd, and roasted in its prime;
 Pray'rs for the Lord keep cold for any time.

PETER.

Thus, on a Sunday, Pious PARSON MOSS, 125
 Afraid a tyger-appetite to cross,
Left out good pray'rs, and stopp'd the organ's tongue,
 That groaning meditated heav'nly song:
 For, lo, too soon (to disappoint the LORD)
 The JUDGES' venison smoak'd upon the board! 130
 Who can resist when APPETITE feels bold?
 And what DIVINE would eat his ven'fon cold?

V. 125. PIOUS PARSON MOSS.] At the last Wells assizes, at the Cathedral, this ludicrous affair happened.

TOM.

TOM.

Well, since we must have this same idle day,
 Shut up the shops, look dismal, starve, and pray ;
 O give the Litany this supplication, 135
 " Lord, kick two scoundrels from Administration !"

PETER.

Fie, fie, Tom—really you are too severe.

TOM.

Who with a velvet lash would flog a Bear ?

PETER.

Come, come—some merit must to PITT belong—

TOM.

I grant him perseverance—grant him tongue. 140
 With words I own the fellow well supplied,
 Bombast, and phrases ready cut and dried ;
 A formal, scowling, wisdom-aping face ;
 An awkward gesture, an affected grace :

Cavil

Cavil and flimsy logic, to surprife, 145
 And raife the whites of Country Members eyes.
 When dead, what leaves this PITT to light mankind?
 Not the dim luftre of a snail, behind!
 Grant from his duft the world one ray may pick;
 What is't?—the glimmer of a rotten ftick! 150
 What has PITT done for SUBJECT or for PRINCE?

PETER.

Good heav'ns, I've faid it, fcarce a minute fince!
 Of fcreech-owl SATIRE, PITT has fhorn the wings,
 That hooting hover'd round the thrones of KINGS;
 Where, from the rifing to the fetting ray, 155
 Now soothing FLATT'RY pours the lark-like ray;
 Where fimp'ring Courtiers buz with praiseful tongue,
 Like gnats that hum to parting funs the fong.
 Friend to the State, with foldier, and with tar,
 PITT fights our juft and necelfary war; 160
 Improves our taxes, what would he have more?
 And fets an honeft fpy at ev'ry door.

TOM.

TOM.

For shame!—by ridicule you ward each stroke,
 And make the Ruin of the State a joke!
 Who from DAME JUSTICE snatch'd the bloodhound—?
 'Tis PITT compassionates, 'tis PITT reprieves: 166
 Caught in the trap, the dark Informer roar'd,
 Till PITT the wretch to liberty restor'd.

PETER.

Thus, if we may compare great things with small,
 When DOCTOR JOHNSON lodg'd at KETTLE-HALL, 170
 His philosophic consequence to shock,
 FATE bade him put on MISTRESS THOMPSON'S smock;

V. 170. When DOCTOR JOHNSON.] When JOHNSON lodged at Kettle-Hall, in the University of Oxford, at a Mr. Thompson's a cabinet-maker; the maid, by an unfortunate mistake, brought him one day a chemise of Mrs. Thompson's to put on, instead of his own shirt. Contemplating on nothing but Ramblers and Idlers, and colossal Dictionaries, he shoved his arms and head and shoulders into the lady's linen before he discovered his error. "Who has cut off the sleeves of my shirt? Who has cut off the sleeves of my shirt?" exclaimed the enraged and hampered Moralist, with Stentorian vociferation, dancing and tugging and foaming for freedom.—This roar brought up poor trembling Mrs. Thompson, who, with the most consummate delicacy shutting her two chaste eyes, slipped her hand into the room, and delivered her giant guest from his enchanted castle.

Wedg'd in the smock (a Lion in the toil),
 He roar'd, and kick'd, and sweated—huge turmoil!—
 Stamp'd, bounc'd, and ran a Buffalo about, 175
 Till MISTRESS THOMPSON let the savage out.

TOM.

Misplac'd indeed is all your ridicule,
 That means to thwart my plans by calling fool.

PETER.

Thus, when the PRESIDENT of frogs and flies,
 And weeds and birds-nests, with'd in pomp to rise, 180
 And fill (himself) a throne sublime and fair,
 And give his hammer'd arm a Jove-like air ;
 Th' uncourtly DOCTOR, hostile to the scheme,
 Gave a loud horse-laugh, and dissolv'd the dream !

V. 181. And fill (himself) a throne.] It is an incontrovertible fact that Sir Joseph Banks proposed the plan of a throne for himself, and benches for Foreign PRINCES and AMBASSADORS beneath him, whose heads might be on the same plane with the most noble President's ten toes. Dr. HORSLEY, the present Bishop of Rochester, by a well-timed ridicule, put an end to the vision of vanity.

TOM.

Still with more irony?—But I'll go on— 185
 Who with calm spirit sees the realm undone?
 Who from the noble haunches of the State
 Cuts fine fat slices for his dainty plate,
 And bids the PEOPLE on the offals feed?
 This fellow PITT !

PETER.

—A crying sin indeed! 190
 Thus saw I once a CUCKOO in a cage,
 And THRUSH, a very Purser of the age!
 Boil'd beef, and cabbage, had the PAIR for dinner;
 When, lo, the Thrush (a knowing Purser-sinner),
 soon as he met a bit of beef, the elf 195
Sans cérémonie gobbled it himself:
 But when a stump of cabbage!—chang'd his note,
 He ramm'd it down the gaping Cuckoo's throat.

TOM.

Behold the barracks, and our lot deplore;
 Ere long a damn'd Dragoon at ev'ry door! 200
 Then, lo, fair FREEDOM dead, who holds his hate,
 Forc'd by a fascination to her fate !

PETER.

PETER.

Thus when the wily SNAKE, beneath a tree,
 Darts his red eyes upon his feather'd prey ;
 Poor Bird ! no more he swells the song of love,      205
 Waves the wild wing, and glides from grove to grove :
 With panting heart he tries to shun the foe ;
 But, looking on the steady FIEND below,
 In chains of fatal fascination bound,
 Captive he hops around him and around ;      210
 Till nearer, nearer drawn, with hopeless cries,
 He drops upon the poison'd fang, and dies.

TOM.

So, then, you laugh at hopes of Reformation?

PETER.

PITT finds a tame old Hack in our good NATION ;
 Safe through the dirt, and ev'ry dangerous road,      215
 The BEAST consents to bear his galling LOAD ;
 And, spite of all that we can sing or say,
 FOOLS will be FOOLS, and MINISTERS—betray.

TO THE

LIVERY OF LONDON.

---

WHY, where the devil are ye rushing?
Thus to St. James's rudely pushing,
To force the King to turn out PITT, poor youth!
The open JENKINSON, the blushful ROSE;
DUNDAS, too, on whom Heav'n bestows
Cart-loads of modesty and truth!

If aught I know of QUEENS and KINGS,
Their GRACES will do no such things.
And who are you, in impudence so strong?
Know ye the rev'ence due to Thrones?
Down, Knaves, upon your marrow-bones,
As PRINCES never yet were in the wrong.

Ye think ye make a King and Queen
 As CRISPIN makes a shoe, I ween;
 And think, like humble shoes, too, ye may wear 'em:
 Ye feel, by this time, I suppose,
 That those same shoes can gall your toes,
 And find your corns not much inclin'd to bear 'em.

Old SOLOMON, of Wisdom the great King,
 Declareth, there's a time for ev'ry thing—
 Methinks he might have left out impudence:
 For who should have the impudence to say,
 That LIVERYMEN, compos'd of common clay,
 Should boast to Sovereigns their superior sense;
 Inform them that their MINISTERS tell lies,
 Are raggamuffins, wicked, and unwise?

IMPERTINENCE gets ground, I greatly fear;
 Such things are said as I can scarcely bear:
 With insolence the PEOPLE tax poor PITT;
 Now this is cruel!—'tis the poor man's nature,
 As natural as for fish to cleave the water,
 Monkeys to grin, dogs howl, and cats to spit.

Whoever knew a PITT that had humility?
 Fling on the blood, then, all the culpability;
 Since 'tis well known to all, that PITT and PRIDE
 Are dove-tail'd—join'd as close as bones and hide!

The world abuseth ROSE in language rude,
 For ignorance and base ingratitude,
 And meanness; but 'tis cruel thus to flash—
 The man had never any education—
 The poorest tag-rag of the Scottish Nation;
 Born in a sty, and, hog-like, fed on wash.

For Gratitude's a sentiment that springs
 'Midst Gentlefolks, and Nobles, Queens and Kings!
 Like pine-apples, whom soil the richest fuits;
 For pine-apples ne'er grow on cold, raw clay,
 But fat manure, amid the solar ray,
 That darts its golden influence to their roots.

What impudence, alas! to say,
 " Sire, we resolve to have our way;
 " And be it known,
 " We'll have no levee-tricks, indeed,
 " And our petition we will read;
 " And you shall hear it on the throne!

" This

“ This is our right by law accounted ;

“ So, pray your Majesty, get mounted.”

Such is the faucy language ye have utter'd ;

Which proves ye know not how your bread is butter'd.

At such rude treatment, GRANDEUR winces !

So far I'll take the part of Princes—

Monstrous ! they have been scandalously treated ;

Basted by faucy verse and prose—

God knows,

Dear fowls ! like bears by ruffian bull-dogs baited !

Poor LOUIS forc'd to run away,

Poor ARTOIS, not inclin'd to stay,

From France, like some hard-hunted badger, haft'neth ;

Now billeted upon the Scots ;

Sad fates ! yea, most unpleasant lots !

But whom the Lord doth love, behold, he chast'neth !

Thus is the bible in their favour ;

Yet MIS'RY breeds an ugly favour ;

She smells of musty rags, and dirt, and nits—

I won't say bugs, and itch, and lice,

Wishing for ever to be nice,

As nicety a well-bred MUSE befits :

And yet it is a truth most melancholly,
That MIS'RY's often the weak child of FOLLY.

PRINCES are blest with such a dove-like nature !
Their hearts compos'd of such nice ductile matter,
Turning like potter's clay to any forms !
But for their subjects !—heav'ns their hearts are rock ;
Their manners borrow'd from the pig-stye, shock ;
Their shapes, rank Calibans ; their voices storms !

Mild are the souls of princes, like new cheese !
And, like the cheese, of milk the simple child,
Too often suffer a confounded squeeze
From subjects by equality defil'd ;
Who look with rapture on their grinning GRACES,
Enjoying their sad torments and wry faces.

But why and wherefore, I can't tell the grounds ;
No, verily, my wisdom can't determine,
Why subjects should become a pack of hounds,
And hunt their Sovereign Lords like stinking vermin ;
For no one needs (I'm very sure) be told,
Their souls are cast in NATURE's sweetest mould.

No,

No, no ; they are not polecats, pretty creatures !
 Choak not the NATION's chicks, nor fuck its eggs !
Pleas'd with whate'er is giv'n (such gentle natures)
 Each Prince with so much sweetness bows and begs !
 No, never kite-like on a subject souses,
 And, sweeping, carries off his lands and houses !

“ There's odds in Gossips,” says an old adage,
 Forgotten ah ! in this degenerate age :
 Subjects from fair decorum widely wander !
 Now ev'ry tradesman lifts his dirty nose ;
 His teeth each working, poor mechanic shows,
 And cries, “ What's fauce for goose is fauce for gander !”

Thus, by the impudence of rogues and fools,
 Are lofty thrones converted to joint-stools !
 C— christen'd Fool's-caps—sceptres turn'd to sticks ;
 A — smile proclaim'd an idiot grin ;
 A — a jack-ass in a lion's skin ;
 Courts, puppet-shows ; and Rev'rence, monkey tricks !—
 Tricks of a mean, submissive clan,
 That shame the dignity of MAN.

There's

There's not an Englishman, I do suppose,
 That would not from his office kick poor ROSE,
 And on his honest earnings lay his pats ;
Eke on DUNDAS's, JENKINSON's poor souls !
 And eke from humble RICHMOND tear his coals,
 A * King's black present to his blacker brats.

Nor is there one who would not break, alack !
 Our LORD MAYOR's wooden leg about his back !
 Thus is POLITENESS turn'd a clown—
 WISDOM in Gothic gloom benighted—
 The world turn'd fairly upside down,
 I fear me, never to be righted.

When such things are 'mongst Cobblers, Tinkers,
 Tanners,
 The Lord have mercy on the PEOPLE's manners !
 Then, Sirs, no more your wanton venom spit
 At KINGS and QUEENS, and worthy Mister PITT :
 Should the ship founder in this blowing weather,
 Like friends and neighbours, let us sink together.

* CHARLES the SECOND's Tax upon Coals, for the benefit of his Bastards.

PART.

PART II.

THINK of old times, when Royal Folk
 Made of their Subjects a mere joke ;
 Ev'n in the happy days of good QUEEN BET,
Mum was in Parliament the word—
 Her very frown, a flaming sword ;
 And ev'ry menace put it in a sweat !

Think of the horse-whipping she gave
 Th' AMBASSADOR—a saucy knave !
 In Latin, too, to make the fellow wonder—
 The man was frighten'd at her voice,
 And could not then have had his choice ;
 He rather would have fac'd a clap of thunder.

Of Lords she often lugg'd the ear ;
 And often would her HIGHNESS swear
 On BISHOPS, sacred men ! enough to shock ye.
 “ Do this ! ” her Majesty would say—
 “ Do that !—God's blood ! I'll have my way !
 “ Quick ,quick ; or, d —n me, Parsons, I'll unfrock ye ! ”

What

What to her PARLIAMENT said she?

- “ Good Gentlemen, I must agree
 “ That ye are proper judges of the weather,
 “ And judges, too, of the Highways,
 “ Hares, Pheasants, Partridges, and Jays;
 “ And eke the art of tanning leather.
 “ But, as for Sovereigns, and Dominion,
 “ 'Tis too sublime for your opinion.”

Suppose the LIVERYMEN had boldly said

To this SEMIRAMIS of lofty rule,

- “ Your Majesty must knock off CECIL's head,
 “ And hang up ESSEX for a beast and fool:
 “ We relish not these men's administration;
 “ So, Ma'am, dismiss them, and oblige the nation:”—

What had the answer been

Of this great Queen?

Why, to the APOTHECARIES she had roar'd—

- “ Ye knaves, who do more mischief than the sword!
 “ You vomits, glyster-pipes—the dev'l confound ye!
 “ What to such madness, raggamuffins, urges?
 “ Murderers! I'll make you swallow your own purges!
 “ In your own mortars, rascals, will I pound ye!

“ You,

“ YOU, BAKERS, I shall heat your ovens, flaves,
 “ And ferve you like the three Jew boys, ye knave
 “ Shadrach, and Mefhach, and Abednego :
 “ Browner than all your loaves, shall be your skins
 “ Then let us see, if, for your faucy fins,
 “ Your God will deign to take you out or no.

“ YOU, POULTERER, wag not thus your tongue fo
     loofe,
 “ For fear I pluck ye, as ye pluck your goofe.
 “ And, MASTER SKINNER, calm your upstart pride—
 “ On Marfyas think your flaming rage to cool,
 “ Who, wrestling with his betters, like a fool,
 “ Loft, in his struggle for the prize, his hide !

“ And MASTER BARBER, mind the beard and wig ;
 “ And MASTER PIPEMAKER, don't be a prig,
 “ And let that clay of yours be quite fo stiff ;
 “ Nor in your prowess try to smoke a Queen,
 “ For fear her MAJESTY's sharp wrath be feen,
 “ And fend you to the devil on a whiff.

“ Leviathans

“ Leviathans be catechis’d by sprats!

“ Mind, if one more complaint ye bring,

“ By G—, ye dangle like a pack of rats,

“ All in a string!”

Thus to those men the great QUEEN BESS had said,
 Bridling and tossing in contempt her head;
 And thus the QUEEN, with equal fury blest,
 Had smartly rapp’d the knuckles of the rest.

Then, turning to her marv’ling Lords, her GRACE,
 Wiping the sweat that gemm’d her precious face,
 Had said, “ God’s-blood, my Lords, a fine discourse!
 “ Those fellows talk to me—the small-beer dregs!
 “ They teach, forsooth, their grannum to suck eggs!
 “ They’ll find the old gray mare the better horse.”

Then why should gentle GEORGE of pow’r have less
 Than that same furious AMAZON QUEEN BESS?

What said her loyal PARLIAMENT again?

“ We must not move her GRACE’s ire—

“ Lord, blest us! should we once complain,

“ The fat will all be in the fire!

“ Low to her feet, like spaniels, we must crawl,

“ Or, lo! she'll play the devil with us all!”

Now, to return to PITT, ye roar,

“ Out with the rascal!—what a bore

“ To keep a fellow that undoes the realm!

“ A great land-lubber! he, he, steer

“ The foundering ship from danger clear!

“ Pretending puppy! he, he guide the helm?”

Not long ago, in Paradise,

Ye stuff'd his mouth with figs and spice,

To show your love for him and all his schemes;

Drench'd him with treacle, till besmear'd

Like AARON'S patriarchal beard,

From whence the oil of gladness flow'd in streams.

His head with ev'ry grocer-glory crowning;

And now you are for kicking, hanging, drowning!

So different now, indeed, your carriage,

It puts me much in mind of marriage.

Now love, now hate ; now smile, now tear ;
 Now sun, now cloud, now mist, now clear ;
 Now music, now a stunning clap of thunder ;
 Now perfect ease, now spiteful strife,
 So much like matrimonial life !
 Pray read the pretty little story under ;
 A tale well known :
 'Tis JOHN and JOAN.

---

JOHN and JOAN.

A TALE.

HAIL, wedded Love ! the BARD thy beauty hails ;
 Though mix'd, at times, with cock and hen-like
sparrings :

But calms are very pleasant after gales,
 And dove-like PEACE much sweeter after warrings.

I've written—I forget the page, indeed ;
 But folks may find it, if they choose to read—
 “ That MARRIAGE is too sweet without some sour—
 “ Variety oft recommends a flow'r.

“ Wedlock should be like Punch, some sweet, some acid ;

“ Then life is nicely turbulent and placid.

“ A Picture that is all in light—

“ Lord, what a thing ! a very fright !

“ No, let some darknes be display'd ;

“ And learn to balance well with shade.”

JOHN married JOAN—they frown'd, they smil'd ;

Now parted, and now made a child :

Now tepid show'rs of LOVE, now chilling snows ;

Much like the seasons of the year ;

Or like a brook, now thick, now clear ;

Now scarce a rill, and now a torrent flows.

One day they had a desperate quarrel

About a little small-beer barrel,

Without JOHN's knowledge slyly tapp'd by JOAN ;

For JOAN, t'oblige her old friend Hodge,

Thought asking leave of JOHN was fudge ;

And so she wisely left the leave alone.

It happ'd that JOHN and JOAN had not two beds

To rest their angry, frowning brace of heads ;

Ergo, there was but one

To rest their gentle jaws upon.

“ I’ll have a board between us,” cried the Man—

“ With all my spirit, JOHN,” replied the wife :

A board was plac’d, according to their plan :

Thus ended this barrier at once the strife.

On the first night, the husband lay

Calm as a clock, nor once wink’d over—

Calm as a clock, too, let me say,

JOAN never squinted on her lover.

Two, three, four nights, the sulky PAIR,

Like two still mice, devoid of care,

In philosophic silence sought repose ;

On the fifth morn, it chanc’d to please

JOHN’S nose to sneeze—

“ God bless you, Dear!” quoth JOAN at JOHN’S loud nose.

At this JOHN gave a sudden start,

And popping o’er the hedge, his head—

“ JOAN, did you say it from your heart ?

“ Yes, JOHN, I did, indeed, indeed !”

“ You did ?” — “ Yes, JOHN, upon my word” —

“ Zounds, JOAN, then take away the Board !”

Thus it will be with you and PITT agen;
Love will beam forth, that ev'ry love furpaffes;
The GROCERS be themselves, sweet-tempered men,
And fouse him in a hogthead of molaffes.
Thus will CONTENTION take away the bone,
And you and PITT kifs friends, like John and Joan.

ON A

REPORT

IN THE NEWSPAPERS,

THAT SIR JOSEPH BANKS WAS MADE A PRIVY COUNSELLOR.

AN ODE.

OPTAT EPHIPPIA BOS.

---

YE Gods! Sir JOSEPH of the Council Privy?

Inventive News-papers, I can't believe ye!

Impossible! ye certainly are fibbing!

Sir JOSEPH dubb'd a Counsellor of State!

'Tis laughing at too high a rate;

Lord! what a joke! ye certainly are squibbing!

Because we have believ'd th' apostate PITT,

And shewn such wond'rous want of wit,

Ye think that any fable will go down.

Now, pray be careful, Sirs, of what you print;

There's danger—yes, indeed, there's danger in't—

Woe to the wight that ridicules a Crown!

SIR

SIR JOSEPH is for blunt* conductors ;
 A Monarch wanteth sharp Instructors :
 How can such monstrous discords then agree ?
 Then pray speak truth, ye men of news,
 And do not thus the world amuse ;
 It is not—cannot—must not be !

His M——y is surely wise ;
 And wants no talk on butterflies,
 On eggs and bird-nests, newts and weeds ;
 He wants a man to talk on wars,
 On dread invasions, wounds, and scars,
 On stumps and carcases, and heads.

After a butterfly to scamper,
 And with a net his captive hamper,
 SIR JOSEPH is expert, and must delight ;
 But, as for politics !—O Heav'n !
 The Board must very hard be driv'n,
 To choose a swearing Tadpole Knight !

* Notwithstanding a thousand experiments in favour of pointed Conductors, the Knight and Co. will not allow the ingenious Franklin, the Father of Electricity, to be in the right with respect to the superiority of points to nobs : too obstinate (and perhaps too ignorant) to be convinced, and too haughty to yield.

To

To give a breakfast in Soho,
 SIR JOSEPH'S very bitterest foe
 Must certainly allow him peerless merit ;
 Where, on a wag-tail, and tom-tit,
 He shines, and sometimes on a nit,
 Displaying pow'rs few Gentlemen inherit.

I grant he is no intellectual lion
 Subduing ev'ry thing he darts his eye on ;
 Rather, I ween, an intellectual flea,
 Hopping on SCIENCE'S broad bony back,
 Poking its pert proboscis of attack,
 Drawing a drop of blood, and fancying it a sea !

But should reports be true, alas !
 (And marv'lous things oft come to pass),
Should he be dubb'd a King's adviser ;
 'Twill be so wonderful a change—
 So very, very, very strange !
 What's stranger still, the Council won't be wiser !

From JOSEPH BANKS unto SIR KNIGHT,
 Then PRIVY COUNSELLOR in spite

Of

Of Nature, brain, and education !
If, for the last, he hands has kifs'd ;
There's not a reptile on his list
E'er knew a stranger transmutation.

How could SIR JOSEPH have the face
To take so dignify'd a place ?

But probably the Knight will say, the elf,
“ Why should not I, as well as some of those
“ Who this fame wondrous Board compose ?
“ There are not wiser fellows than myself.”

To give the Devil his due,
That's true.—

While PITT harangues on France and Spain,
SIR JOSEPH'S on a beetle's brain,
A fly, a toad, a tadpole's tail :
While PITT is on the Emperor's loan,
For Britain's jaws so hard a bone,
SIR JOSEPH'S on a weed and snail !

While

While PITT is thinking of supplies,
 And turns, poor man ! his hopeless eyes
     On what may lift us from the bog ;
 The Knight his head for flea-traps rakes,
 Or louse-traps, or deep studying makes
     A pair of breeches for a frog.*

While MAJESTY and his wife Nobles
 Shall weep o'er England's groans and troubles,
     Ordering great guns to make the Frenchmen caper ;
 Of reptiles will the Knight be dreaming,
 And instruments for insects scheming,
     To stretch their little limbs on paper.

Gods ! if amidst some grand debate,
 All for the good of our great State,
     A moth should flutter, would the man fit quiet ?
 Forgetting State Affairs, the KNIGHT
 Would seize his hat with wild delight,
     And chacing, make the most infernal riot :

* See the works of Bonnet and Spalanzani, a pair of Frog-Tailors, who employed a great deal of time and ingenuity in cutting out taffety-breeches for the males of the little croaking nation, during their amours, in order to establish some beautiful and delicate facts relative to impregnation.

O'erturning

O'erturning benches, statesmen, ev'ry thing,
To make a pris'ner of the mealy wing!

Were BRUNSWICK here, I'd tell the KING OF GLORY
A simple story ;
An Æsop-tale, by way of illustration,
Proving SIR JOSEPH's awkward elevation.

As how a CAT did JUPITER implore,
(For cats like Christians said their pray'rs of yore)
That he would make her a young Lady fair ;
And how, of rattling Thunder the GREAT GOD
Consented to it with his usual nod,
And made her pretty too as she could stare.

And then as how, upon her wedding-night,
When in her DEARY's loving arms lock'd tight,
She heard behind the bed a rat ;
Sudden from his embrace she gave a spring,
Forgetting love, and kifs, and ev'ry thing,
To catch the vermin like a cat:
And how, to punish her, with huge disdain,
The angry GOD made Miss a Cat again.

Thus

Thus may the KING, like his great Brother JOVE,
Forget his partiality and love ;

And as JOVE justly serv'd the Cat, to shame her ;
So, from a Counsellor, the KING of MEN
May make the KNIGHT a Grub-hunter agen,
And bid him mind his butterflies and hammer.

* * Since the above ODE was given to the Printer, it is too true that the News-papers were in the right. The KNIGHT is bonâ fide dubbed a PRIVY COUNSELLOR. RIDICULE enjoys a second feast on the occasion. Her first treat was his elevation to the chair of the immortal NEWTON.

SIR JOSEPH must not complain at his being so frequently the subject of a poetical laugh; Folly is the natural and fair game of SATIRE. To wreak his revenge on the Muse, by condemning her to silence, let him cease to play the fool. Amotâ causâ, tollitur effectus—I beg the KNIGHT's pardon, for I recollect that he has forgotten all his Latin, and retains his native vulgar tongue only.

MY Bookseller assuring me, with a most solemn countenance, that the Public expect more for their Half-Crown than was provided: in imitation of our most compliant ADMINISTRATION, I have yielded to their hungry wishes, and cooked up a pretty dish of BUBBLE and SQUEAK.

The Composition is Elegiac, that is to say, full of complaint and tenderness; and I have moreover baptised it a Jeremi-ad, on account of a tender and sublime resemblance between my Song and the Songs of the Prophet. The birth of my Jeremi-ad immediately succeeded PITT's and GRENVILLE's two celebrated Bills of Terror.

It pathetically lamenteth the fallen state of ONE of our most admired POETS, videlicet, MYSELF! and is addressed to Mr. GEORGE ROSE, of the Treasury, a pains-taking man, of low extraction, pitiful talents, and of no education; but who, finding, in his journey from Scotland to England, a couple of ladders, very much like those employed by Messieurs PITT, DUNDAS, JENKINSON, and Co. called IMPUDENCE and PERSEVERANCE, ascended, like the aforesaid bold Gentlemen, to nearly the same plane of elevation; shewing thereby the little or no importance of MERIT and MODESTY towards the attainment of Fortune and Honours.

ADDRESSED TO

GEORGE ROSE, ESQ. OF THE TREASURY.

---

WHERE is the power of PETER?—where the quills
That from the Porcupine at Folly flew?
Where, where his cannon that in thunder kills?
The sword of SATIRE that its thousands flew?

The voice that like the rams-horns levell'd walls,
Has lost its fury—to a whisper dies!
The look of PITT the Poet's tongue appals!
“Curs'd be the BARD!” the POLITICIAN cries.

What fine large shot was mine for high-crown'd heads!
Those glorious pheasants! noble cocks and hens!
But now of smaller size I cast my leads,
Forc'd (what a paltry mark!) to fire at wrens.

Now

No more I smile at Buc——am's fair house,
 Nor sharpen, for a KING and QUEEN, my wit ;
 No more indulge my humour with a louse,
 Content with humbler game, to crack a nit.

NOW Madam SCHWELLENBURG her afs may straddle,
 And JACK may fly before a poking pin ;
 The Lady, frighten'd, tumble from the saddle,
 And shew her lovely legs without a grin.

The BARD, who bullied QUALITY with song,
 Must to the iron times his genius suit ;
 The BARD, in energy divinely strong—
 The BARD, whose voice was thunder, must be mute.

In vain I gnash my teeth—my hour is o'er ;
 The Statesman triumphs !—all my cunning foils !
 He careth not five farthings for my roar,
 But mocks the lion struggling in his toils !

A hopeful CEDAR near th' Aonian fount,
 I push'd my daring top into the skies ;
 Grac'd with my large, luxuriant limbs the mount,
 And drew the wonder of a million eyes !

Struck

Struck (not illumin'd) by their ANGER's flame,
Amid the work of terror, shook my form!
Low to the earth, my head with rev'ence came,
And own'd the passing GENIUS of the Storm!

Who, who could fancy such disgrace, alas!
Heav'ns! what a change!—a mighty change prevails!
The second KING of BABYLON at grafs!
SATIRE'S ARCHANGEL fall'n to feed on snails!

Since PITT and GRENVILLE, daring dreadful things,
Full of their magnanimities, agree
That PETER shall not laugh at QUEENS and KINGS,
Permit me, gentle GEORGE, to laugh at Thee.

LIBERTY'S LAST SQUEAK;

CONTAINING

AN ELEGIAC BALLAD,

AN ODE TO AN INFORMER, AN ODE TO JURYMEN,

AND

Crumbs of Comfort for the Grand Informer.

---

Now farewell to fair BUCKINGHAM-HOUSE ;
To WINDSOR, and RICHMOND, and KEW ;
Farewell to the tale of the LOUSE !
MOTHER RED-CAP, and MONARCHS, adieu!

LIBERTY'S LAST SQUEAK.

---

AN

ELEGIAC BALLAD.

---

FAREWELL, O my PEN and my TONGUE!
To part with such friends I am loath;
But, PITT, in majorities strong,
Voweth horrible vengeance on both.

No more on a King or a Queen,
Apple-dumpling, and smuggling so sweet;
Like their stomachs, your wit shall be keen,
Hogs, hay, and fat bullocks, and wheat.

No more upon smugglers at Court,
Mother SCHWELLENBERG, bulbes, and shawls;
Nor at levees and drawing-rooms sport,
Where MAN, the poor fycophant, crawls.

The meanness no more of high folk
 In the rope of your satire shall swing ;
 For, behold, there is death in the joke
 That squinteth at Queen or at King.

Thus untax'd by your satire, my friends,
 COURTS smile at th' intended DECREE ;
 Thus the reign of poor RIDICULE ends,
 And follies, like shawls, will go free.

Yes, FOLLY will prattle and grin
 With her scourges OPPRESSION will rise,
 Since Satire's a damnable sin,
 And a sin to be virtuous and wife.

But wherefore not laugh at a — ?
 And wherefore not laugh at a — ?
 A laugh is a laudable thing,
 When people are filly and mean.

When we paid Civil List without strife,
 When we paid the old QUACK for his cure,
 When we pray'd at PEG NICHOLSON'S knife,
 The K— laugh'd at Us, to be sure.

E'en

E'en the Minions of Courts will escape ;
 DUNDAS, PITT, and JENKY, and ROSE,
 Yes, SATIRE gets into a scrape,
 If she takes the four R—s by the nose.

No more must ye laugh at an afs ;
 No more run on Topers a rig,
 Since PITT gets as drunk as DUNDAS,
 And DUNDAS gets as drunk as a pig.

A laugh at a DELEGATE hurts ;
 Yes, 'twere dangerous to hazard your sneers ;
 And mock the sweet mercy of Courts,
 That return'd him his forfeited ears.

Now farewell to fair BUCKINGHAM-HOUSE,
 To WINDSOR, and RICHMOND, and KEW ;
 Farewell to the tale of the LOUSE !
 MOTHER RED-CAP, and MONARCHS, adieu !

Like ferrets, since all must be muzzled,
 (And muzzled indeed we shall be !)
 Say, PITT, (for I'm grievously puzzled)
 May we venture a horse-laugh at THEE ?

ODE TO AN INFORMER.

NOW is the time, my FRIEND—'tis now or never—
 Help, help of GOVERNMENT the bold endeavour!

So lately through a deep consumption rubbing,
 PREROGATIVE's upon his legs again!
 He wields his knotty club with might and main,
 For long the LAND has needed a found drubbing!

PREROGATIVE, ye Gods! will soon look fierce,
 Hunt with his hounds the shops for prints and verse,
 And find the likenesses of men on high—
 Make of the BOOKSELLERS and BARDS a hash—
 Smell rank rebellion in a star or dash,
 And bid the sneering culprit hang or fly.

Whoever mentions pig, or goose, or pens,
Skim-milk, or corn, or man-traps, cocks and hens,
 Or Frogmore Fête, or charities, or bulse,
 The TURNKEY soon shall feel the culprit's pulse.

Whoever

Whoever says that MAJESTY is rich,
 Or calls DAME SCHWELLENBERG a smuggling b—,
 Or swears HYPOCRISY has dwelt in Courts,
 Blasphemes, speaks treason, and with edge tools sports.

Who says of WIMBLEDON a flighting word,
 Where PITT, the PUNCH of SHOWMAN HARRY, steals
 To learn State tricks, behold the vengeful sword
 O'ertaking soon the swiftest pair of heels!

Who mentions RICHMOND'S courage or his coals,
 Must think upon the STOCK'S ignoble holes.

Whoever christens but his Dog, TOM PAYNE,
 (And many an itching tongue can scarce refrain),
 The cur and master shall be brought to shame—
 Nay, Tom, a common christian name for Cats,
 Must die; and lo, the HANOVERIAN RATS
 Already lose the Hanoverian name.

The name, TOM PAYNE, should e'en a Parrot cry,
 Make out his mittimus, and let him die:
 Strike me that Bullfinch on the jaw,
 That dares to warble ça ira.

God

God save the King, the world must sing or say ;
God save the King, the ballad of the day !

Our dogs shall learn of royalty to bawl ;
 Our cats, from roof to roof, of CÆSAR squall ;
 The beetles buz with royalty along—
 The very owl “ God save the King ! ” shall learn ;
 And barn, at midnight, hoot to brother barn ;
 And bat shrill shriek to bat th’ inspiring song.

What Journeyman will dare to mention wages ?
 Who talk about the hardships of the Poor ?
 Off with the villains to their iron cages,
 Where whip-arm’d JUSTICE guards the gloomy door !

E’en on a royal horse, or sheep, or cur,
 Let subjects, if they dare it, cast a slur !
 All that a Palace holdeth smells of God :
 A PAGE’s call is glory to our ears ;
 A COOK’s salute a load of honour bears ;
 Nay, honour dwelleth in a SCULLION’s nod.

Shoot all those grumbling rascals, the DISSENTERS,
 And hang their hearts, like butchers meat, on tenters ;
 Fellows

Fellows that fain would be Court-Gospel makers ;
Impale the goat-fac'd, unbelieving JEWS;
And then the knife of JUSTICE to amuse,
Cut out the tongues of all the groaning QUAKERS !

Return, return, ye glorious days agen,
When Pow'r, the Giant, muzzled tongue and pen ;
Saw what the foul was thinking, through the eye,
And crush'd it for a treasonable figh !

The voice of LIBERTY has roar'd too long !
Pull out the wide-mouth'd strumpet's lawless tongue !
Off with the wonted crown that decks her head,
And place the proper FOOL'S-CAP in its stead.

SECOND ODE TO AN INFORMER.

---

The great POET inviteth a great INFORMER to great wickedness!

---

R—, let thy foul enjoy the hour!

See NIGHT her grisly spectres pour!

The clock proclaims her at her highest noon;

Lone SILENCE shall our work befriend;

Her shoes of cygnet down shall lend;

The cloud's black mantle muffle the pale moon.

NEWGATE to brother Tow'R shall roar aloud:

“So thick the pris'ners my dark dwelling crowd,

“I cannot put a pin between the knaves;

“And gluttoned too, am I, and I, and I.”

The Tow'R and echoing jails around reply—

“And I, and I, each loaded Compter raves.”

The fated PILLORY shall roar:

“I'm tir'd, I'm tir'd—can squeeze no more.”

The

The GIBBET, surfeited with death, shall groan ;
And, shuddering, lo, at human woes,
The TOMB its pond'rous jaw shall close,
While PITY's fruitless tear embalms the stone.

Oh ! would kind NIGHT extend th' eternal shade,
And help in MURDER's cause our panting breath !
For, lo ! to MURDER with his reeking blade,
The beam of Morning seems the gloom of death.

Lo, where the INNOCENTS repose,
Our longing hands shall scatter woes,
And FEAR shall whiten ev'ry haggard face :
Sly to the pillow will we creep,
Dash with rude arm the bonds of SLEEP,
And drag a husband from a wife's embrace.

In vain shall TERROR lift the suppliant cry ;
Our hearts, two rugged rocks, the found defy.

Behold, behold a youth with muddled brain,
Reeling, the Lord knows where, a little drunk,
Perhaps to slumber with a fav'rite punk :
The RASCAL mutters FREEDOM and TOM PAYNE.

Soon,

Soon, like a pair of eagles on a pig,
 On this poor midnight stroller let us fall ;
 Drag him before the JUSTICE and his WIG,
 And swear to treason that he did not bawl.

This will be pleasant to our Lords on high,
 Who call the under-world of man,
 An afsish, mulish, pack-horse clan,
Shreds of mortality, with scornful eye.

Look to the histories of ancient times.
 Their pleasant prose, and tale-recording rhimes :
 Kings were God's images—rever'd the throne :
 SUBMISSION then, indeed, with eye-balls low'ring,
 And suppliant hands and pray'r, and forehead cow'ring,
 Spoke treason, if she call'd her foul her own.

Knock down the man who out of reason rules ;
 Believes that MONARCHS can be rogues and fools,
 Virtues are transferable, just like stock,
 With title-pafs, that dignifies a block.

Title on UGLINESS confers a bloom—
 Bids carrion drop its stench, and breath perfume—

To

To palaces converts the meanest house,
 And with an eagle's pinion, mounts the mouse.

Saddle black DESPOT for the field, so strong,
 With such a spirit as no curb can tame :
 His chest, like JOB's wild horse, with thunder hung,
 With mouth of bleeding foam, and eye of flame.

On DESPOT mounted, let us boldly ride,
 And cover mountains with the crimson tide.

B— and K—, men of busy merit,
 Shall rouse to crush the democratic spirit,
 And at the pris'ners shake their lion-manes ;
 And CURTIS, now Lord-May'r, now not so small,
 Shall fill with culprits soon th' Egyptian Hall,
 From hedges, ditches, alleys, courts, and lanes.

JUSTICE shall find brisk work upon her hand ;
 Pronounce quick fate, and thin a miscreant land ;
 Thus lucky thriving, make, in blood campaigns,
 A NABOB's fortune, by her ropes and chains !

ODE

ODE TO JURYMEN.

SIRS, it may happen, by the grace of God,
 That I, GREAT PETER, one day come before ye,
 To answer to the MAN of WIG, for Ode,
 Full of sublimity, and pleasant story.

Yes, it may so fall out that lofty men,
 DUNDAS, and RICHMOND, HAWKSB'RY, PORTLAND,
 PITT,

May wish to cut the nib of PETER's pen,
 And, cruel, draw the holders of his wit ;

Nay, Dame INJUSTICE in their cause engage,
 To clap the gentle POET in a cage !
 And should a grimly JUDGE for death harangue,
 Don't let the POET of the PEOPLE hang.

What are my crimes? A poor tame CUR am I,
 Though some will swear I've snapp'd them by the heels ;
 A puppy's pinch, that's all, I don't deny ;
 But Lord ! how sensibly a GREAT MAN feels !

A harmless joke, at times, on Kings and Queens ;
 A little joke on lofty Earls and Lords ;
 Smiles at the splendid homage of Court scenes,
 The modes, the manners, sentiments, and words :

A joke on Marg'ret Nicholson's mad Knights ;
 A joke upon the shave of Cooks at Court,
 Charms the fair MUSE, and eke the world delights ;
 A pretty piece of inoffensive sport.

Lo, in a little inoffensive smile
 There lurks no lever to o'erturn the STATE,
 And KING, and Parliament ! intention vile !
 And hurl the QUEEN of NATIONS to her fate.

No gunpowder my modest garrets hold,
 Dark-lanterns, blunderbuffes, masks, and matches ;
 Few words my simple furniture unfold ;
 A bed, a stool, a rusty coat in patches.

Carpets, nor chandeliers so bright, are mine ;
 Nor mirrors, ogling VANITY to please ;
 Spaniels, nor lap-dogs, with their furs so fine :
 Alas ! my little livestock are—my fleas !

- No, Sirs! I wish not to blow up the realm ;
 But thus I've pray'd—" Her life may ALBION keep!
 " Curs'd be the treach'rous fiends, who, at the helm,
 " Would fink the VESSEL in the gaping Deep!"
- " May LIBERTY fit firm upon her throne;
 " And he who dares to shake her, vengeance meet;
 " No matter what his grandeur—let him groan,
 " And HELL's best brimstone the black miscreant sweat!
- " No longer, like his dough, may our LORD MAY'R
 " Turn pliable, and join the busy REEVES—
 " State Jackall hunting through the midnight air,
 " Like Bow-street blood-hounds in pursuit of thieves!
- " And should a JUDGE (a JEFFERIES) rush to kill;
 " Fierce, like the Lybian Savage from his den;
 " Their glorious pow'rs, at once, may JURIES feel,
 " And still sublimer, feel that they are MEN!
- " May RICHMOND'S DUKE, of valour find increase,
 " And, by example, fire the SOLDIER souls;
 " To invalids afford more frequent fleece,
 " And bless the veterans with meat and coals!
- " And

- " And may his GRACE's fate-improving brains,
   " With guns of leather much old DEATH surprife ;
 " Delight the TYRANT with his dread campaigns,
   " And fend his pale dominions vast supplies.
- " May BRUDENELL's head in sense and grace improve !
   " In mercy's balm may B——'s heart be rich—
 " Feel for a sheep-stealer a little love ;
   " Whose fur-clad paws alike for mutton itch !
- " May HEALTH, sweet HEALTH, attend on CIVIL LIST,
   " So very apt to sink in a decline :
 " Whom DOCTOR PITT with med'cines can assist—
   " A great PHYSICIAN, whose prescriptions shine !
- " May KINGS and QUEENS, whom much the Muse
   reveres,
   " With wonted charity themselves comport ;
 " And LADY TRUTH approach the Royal ears,
   " And LADY WISDOM be receiv'd at COURT !
- " No more in COURTS may weeds of Folly thrive,
   " 'Mid royal smile, their sunshine, waxing strong ;
 " Or roaring Laughter must be kept alive,
   " And PETER's CLIO never want a song.

- “ May ev’ry King be lov’d by all the ARTS ;
 “ And eke may all the arts be lov’d by him ;
 “ And when his money from the purse departs,
 “ Not play at ducks and drakes on waves of whim !
- “ Then for a ———, so lofty and so sweet,
 “ Let not ECONOMY cry “ Fie upon her !”
 “ But may she give a pillow-case and sheet
 “ To each poor slavish shiv’ring MAID of HONOUR !
- “ Perdition feize the MISER who denies
 “ A pittance to the helpless pining poor ;
 “ Who, millions owning, still with watchful eyes,
 “ Hawks at fresh bags of gold, and screams for more.
- “ May yon SOCIETY ne’er want a head,
 “ Just like a paper kite that wants a tail ;
 “ Now dipping, rising, wild at random led,
 “ Up, down, here, there, the sport of ev’ry gale.
- “ May CURATES eat, and rear their infant brood ;
 “ Nay, put a little fat about their bones ;
 “ Cast from their wounded jaws the curb of blood,
 “ And dash their lawn-sleev’d RIDERS on the stones !
 “ And

" And may those LAWNMEN, born to happier fate,
 " Chace not the CURATE from their grand abode ;
 " But gravely think of Heav'n, as well as prate,
 " And give a leg of mutton to their GOD ! "

How base to preach of GOD'S exhaustless store ;
 Of treasures that to mortals will be given ;
 Yet sooner trust (as though they thought it poor)
 The Bank of England than the Bank of HEAV'N !

How vile to preach of Heav'n's large int'rest, too,
 Seeming to place dependance on its word ;
 Yet on sky-credit look so very blue,
 As though 'twere dang'rous lending to the LORD !

Such is my song and fervent pray'r ; and now
 TO PITT, DUNDAS, and JENKINSON, I bow,
 That spotless TRINITY of courtly POW'R !
 A democratic raven, turn'd court throstle !
 A persecuting PAUL, a meek APOSTLE !
 The foulest weed, the valley's fairest flow'r !

CRUMBS OF COMFORT

FOR THE

GRAND INFORMER.

LORD! R——! why, what a most unlucky CHAP!
 What! Thou a pris'ner in our hard State-trap,
 The roaring Lion of Administration!
 Then SHERIDAN has nabb'd the Beast at last;
 Lock'd, in the iron gin of JUSTICE, fast:
 Fun for men, women, children of the nation!

R——, verily 'twas too bare-fac'd to fay
 SAINT STEPHEN'S Members might be shorn away,
 And injure not the Body—what a dream!
 Nay, that our Lords may feel alike the blade—
 Those precious limbs, so shelt'ring with cool shade,
 From DESPOTISM'S intolerable beam;
 Lopp'd off, without an injury to TRUNK!
 Say, great INFORMER, wert thou mad, or drunk?

I ne'er said such rude things in all my life!
 A joke upon a GREAT MAN and his WIFE

Forms all my sin, though Courtiers foam around :
I, with my pretty brazen PIN and small,
 Just scratch'd the pretty flow'ry capital;
 But Thou wouldst drag the COLUMN to the ground!

PITT wishes to put forth his hand to save ;
 And Giant WYNDHAM, too, his humble Slave,
 Sees thee with grief the tenant of the gin :
 But LONDON views thee with a scornful smile—
 Hears with much glee thy howl, and marks thy toil,
 And looks with triumph on thy suffering skin.

“ Is this the BAT,” cries LONDON, “ to devour
 “ The simple FLIES, at midnight's silent hour, “ Wheeling, with hunger keen, from street to street?
 “ Is this the mousing Owl, that darkling stole
 “ In quest of harmless victims from his hole ;
 “ The Bird obscene, whom now our mock'ries meet ?

“ The Imp, whose heart delights in NATURE's sighs,
 “ The Eves-dropper, with damned prying eyes,
 “ Who hunts th' unwary for the fangs of State !
 “ Is this the JUSTICE, of most foul report,
 “ Who, proud to please the Minions of a C——, “ Unfated, (a staunch blood-hound) pants for fate?

" Is this the Demon, the sworn foe of light,
 " Curs'd by the beauteous WANDERERS of the night;
 " Whose soul, in MIS'RY'S moan, a music hears,
 " And toad-like, feeds its poison on her tears?

" Is this th' INFORMER, that, with bellowing breath,
 " To whips and jails, each son of FREEDOM dooms;
 " Whose life, (misnomer'd life) is death, rank death;
 " Putridity—the noisome stench of Tombs?"

Such is the cry of LONDON, luckless R——,
 In language coarse!—not good enough for Thieves!
 Yet, Man, despair not—COURTS can fet thee free—
 And COURTS are known to pity R—— like thee.

Well! in a come—KING GEORGE to town,
With doust and zweat az netmeg brown,
The hosses all in smoke;
Huzzain, trumpetin, and dringin,
Red colours vleein, roarin, zingin;
Zo mad simm'd all the voke.

THE ROYAL VISIT.

---

PART I.

I PROMIS'D thee, dear ZESTER NAN,
That thee shudst hear vrom BRETHHER JAN,
About the KING wey speed :
And now I zet me down to write,
To tell thee ev'ry thing outright,
The whole that I've azeed.

Now meend me, NAN ! all EXTER town
Was gapin, rennin up and down,
Vath, just leek vokes bewitch'd !
Lord ! how they lang'd to zee the KING ;
To hear un zay zom marv'lous thing !
Leek mangy dogs they itch'd ;

Leek bullocks fting'd by appledranes,
Currantin it about the lanes,
Vokes theese way dreav'd and that ;
Zom hootin, heavin, foalin, hawlin !
Zom in the mucks, and pillum sprawlin ;
Leek pancakes all zo flat.

Hoffes

Hoffes and mares, affnegers, moyles,
 Leaping the hedges, ditches, ffiles,
     Hunderds comm'd in at least ;
 Gallopin, trattin, spurrin, vallin,
 Hallooin, laughin, cryin, squawlin,
     Vour mounted 'pon one beaft.

The LADIES vrom the windors all
 Pok'd vorth their powls, both gert and small ;
     Ecod, there were a power :
 Their hair zo white I'd zexpence stake,
 That from their powls I'd fairly shake
     A dezen zacks o' vlower.

To spoil good vlower, a spendthrift crew !
 OULD TIME wull whitten vast anew,
     The locks o'um, never fear ;
 Bezides, it is a burnin shame,
 And making of GOD's gifts a game,
     Confiderin corn's fo dear.

And yet the perty maids, I vow,
 Make me vorgive, I can't tell how,

Theft

Thoft 'tis a ferious matter :
 But what wey zich have I to do ?
 Vor Joan and Nell, and Madge and Sue,
My mouthe must only water.

But than agan, *Is*s can't but zay,
*Is*s could look at mun a whole day,
 They look'd zo vair and vresh ;
*Is*s long'd to gee zome hearty smacks
 Upon their little rosy chacks,
 They feem'd zech wholsome vlesh.

Well! in a come—KING GEORGE to town,
 With doust and zweet az netmeg brown,
 The hoffes all in smoke ;
 Huzzain, trumpetin, and dringin,
 Red colours vleeing, roarin, zingin,
 So mad feem'd all the voke.

Wipin his zweatty jaws and poull,
 All over doust we spy'd 'SQUIRE ROLLE,
 Clofe by the KING's coach trattin :
 Now shovin in the coach his head,
 Meaning, we gifs'd, it might be zed.
 " The 'SQUIRE and KING be chattin."

Now

Now goed the Aldermen and May'r*,
 Zum wey crapp'd wigs, and zum wey hair,
 The Royal Voke to ken ;
 When Measter MAY'R, upon my word,
 Pok'd to the KING a gert long fword,
 Which he pok'd back agen.

Now thoofe that round Ould BURNET ftood,
 All zweard it clumzily was dood ;
 Yet SQUIRT, the peepel zay,
 Brandish'd his gert horfe-glyfterpipe,
 To make un in his leffon ripe,
 That took up half a day.

Now down long Voreftreet did they come,
 Zum hollowin, and fcreechin zum ;
 Now tridg'd they to the DEAN's,
 Becaze the BISHOP zent mun word,
 A could not meat and drink avoor'd,
 A hadn't got the means.

A zaid, " that az vor he, poor man,
 " A had not got a pot nor pan,

Mr. Burnet.

" No

“ Nor spoon, nor knife, nor vork ;
“ That he was weak, and ould, and squeal,
“ And zeldom made a hearty meal,
“ And zeldom draed a cork.”

Indeed a was a moderate man,
And zo war all the clargy clan
That with un uz'd to chatter ;
Who if a ax'd mun to drink wine,
To one the wother they tipp'd the fign,
And begg'd his charming water.

“ And as vor rooms, why there agen,
“ A could not lodge a cock nor hen,
“ They war fo small,” he said ;
And as vor beds they wudn't do—
“ In number about one or two,
“ Vor zelf and Joan the maid.

“ In voolish things a wudn't be cort ;
“ 'Twas stoopid to treat yokes vor nort ;
“ No, 'twas not his dezire :
“ Prefarment, too, was at an end ;
“ The KING wud never more vor'n zend,
“ To lift'n one peg higher.”

And

And yet they zay's a man of sense,
Honest and just, but hoardth his pence—

Can't peart wey drink nor meat :
And then, " what vor," the peepie rail,
" To greaze a vat old pig in the tail ;
" OLD WEYMOUTH of Longleat !"

Well ! to the DEAN's bounce in they went,

And all the day in munchin spent,

And guzlin too, no doubt :

And while the GENTRY drink'd within,

The MOB wey brandy, ale and gin,

Got roarin drunk without.

PART

PART II.

NOW Vriday`morning sheen`d fo bright ;
 But zome were up bevore `twas light ;
 Wey zounds the streets did ring :
 “ Lord, Lord, than fose, wer yow zo blest,
 “ To zee the show among the rest ?
 “ Did yow than zee the KING !”

Now droo a small * back-door wey stairs,
KING GEORGE went vorth to zay his pray`rs ;
 A pure and godly sign :
 And there he took his spyglafs out,
 Star`d up and down, and all about,
 And fimm`d to zay, “ `Tis vine.”

Vull az an egg was all the Charch,
 Vor voakes were mad az hares in March ;

* His Majesty did not, as was expected, enter in full procession the large door of the Abbey ; but slipped into a small private one, to the no small mortification of Messieurs Mayor, Aldermen, and Cavalcade.

And fath it was dam quare,
 To zee ould Dames wey leathern chacks,
 Hoisted upon the fellows' backs —
 A penny for a stare.

The QUEEN, she show'd zuch wive-leek care ;
 Zo kind upon un zo to stare ;
 To whifper'n, and all that !
 And, faggins, people leek'd it much,
 Zo pleas'd to zee her love vor'n zuch—
 To watch'n leek a cat.

Prayers over, now he spy'd the ruff,
 And look'd it round and round enuff
 And zoon beginn'd to fpeak :
 Zo zaid, " Neat, neat—clean, very clean ;
 " D'ye * mop it, mop it, Measter DEAN ;
 " Mop, mop it every week ?"

" Sir," zaid DEAN BULLER to'n agen,
 " 'Tis not by moppin keep'd zo clean,

* This observation really took place at Exeter, as well as at Salisbury, some years since.

" What

“ What streek’th your royal eye ;
 “ Vor, Zir, in all our Exter shops,
 “ We never meet wey zich long mops ;
 “ Our mops dant reach zo high.”

All people join to praise the DEAN,
 He did zo well his zel demean ;
 No man behav’d more humbler :
 Spar’d no expence—bort every thing—
 To please forfeth the QUEEN and KING ;
 Vor which, they gid’n a tumbler.

Vor Royal voake, so gert withall,
 The present fimm’d most merty small ;
 And zo zed all the city :
 It was too sneaken, fath and troth—
 A poor groat glafs between mun both !
 No fath ! it wazn’t vitty.

Now to the tavern renn’d ’SQUIRE ROLLE,
 To git the names of ev’ry zoul
 That wish’d KING GEORGE to zee * :
 The ’SQUIRE most kindly tould mun too,
 How jest leek zoldiers they must do—
 Bow down, and drap the knee.

* To be presented.

H 2

And

And zaid it never shud be mis'd ;
 That when KING GEORGE'S hand they kifs'd,
 Leek vish they must be dum ;
 And backwards crawl leek crabs away :
 Good zound advice—much as to zay,
 “ KINGS must not zee your b—m.”

Now tridg'd to ALDERMEN and MAY'R,
 'SQUIRE ROLLE, a speech vor to prepare,
 To thank the KING vor commin :
 “ Lord ! (cried the ALDERMEN and MAY'R)
 “ Why, MEASTER ROLLE, yow make us stare !
 “ 'SQUIRE ROLLE, why yow be hummin !

“ Why we be only men in trade ;
 “ 'Tis true a vieow good pounds we've made—
 “ Be tolerably rich ;
 “ But thoff we've rak'd up zom vieow pence,
 “ It deth not vollow we've the fence
 “ To make the KING a speech.

“ Zend vor REKORER—put he too't—
 “ We'll warrant HAWTRY zoon wull doo't—

“ Ifs,

“ Ifs, ifs, he’ll do the feat
 “ And as the man can logic chop,
 “ The doul’s in’t if he can’t cook up
 “ Zomethin that’s fhort and zweet.”

Now HAWTRY took a world o’ pain—
 He did zo drash about his brain,
 That was not over stor’d ;
 But vath, outleap’d a SPEECH at lafte,
 That fimm’d to please KING GEORGE’S taste,
 Speal’d right in ev’ry word.

Now to the rume, to zee the KING,
 They all march’d off, a clever dring ;
 And there KING GEORGE a stude,
 Receiving bows and scrapes and kiffes,
 Vor all the world leek handsome MISSES,
 Expecting to be woo’d.

Jolly’s a tinker stude ’SQUIRE ROLLE,
 Sly winking, leek an ould grey owl,
 To zee that nort went wrong ;
 Zo got behend, and wey a frown
 He pull’d near twenty o’mun down
 And twenty droad along.

The KING stude patient as a stock,
 Vour hours at least by Exter clock,
 It zafely might be waager'd;
 Zom makin their vine rev'rence spurn'd,
 The KING was nearly overtern'd,
 A Gosh! a was fo badger'd.

Tag rag and bobtail, all kifs'd hands,
 Vrom neighb'ring pearts and voreign lands;
 Aye! kifsing 'twas anuff—
 Had not the hand beed tight put on,
 It waz zo mainly smack'd upon,
 The voke had kifs'd it off.

And fath, no woundy fufs was made
 'Bout drefs amungst the men in trade,
 They thort o' no zich thing;
 Wey derty sharts and grizly beards,
 Much leek a greazy pack o' keards,
 They shuffled vore the KING.

Now Varmer TAB, I understand,
 Drode his legs vore, and catch'd the hand,

And

And shak'd wey might and main :

“ I'm glad your MEDJESTY to zee,
 “ And hope your MEDJESTY (quoth he)
 “ Wull nere be maz'd again.”

“ Maz'd ! maz'd ! what's maz'd ?” than zed the KING ;
 “ I never heer'd of zich a thing ;
 “ What's maz'd ?—what, what, my LORD ?”
 “ Hem,” zed my LORD, and blow'd his nose ;
 “ Hem, hem—SIR, 'tis, I do suppose,
 “ SIR—an old Dev'nshire word.”

And than my LORD a scratch'd his head,
 And coughing wance or twifs, he zed :
 “ I'll try to vend it out ;”
 And than agen he hemm'd and haad,
 And puzlin while his pate a claw'd—
 KING GEORGE he tern'd about.

PART III.

ZOM thort the KING wud march about,
 And show his zelf a bit, no doubt ;
     Zee Guildhall, Circus, Castle ;
 Vor this, LORD FOSKY gid'n a shove ;
 But virm's a rock, nort made'n move,
     Zo 'twas in vain to wrastle.

But this a did—now this was kind—
 Knowin the people's longing mind,
     And being pretty tall,
 A stude 'pon's tiptoes, it is zed ;
 And condescending, pok'd his head
     Over the BISHOP's wall

Zum of the Exter vokes suppose
 They plainly zeed his royal nose,
     And zum his royal eyes ;
 And, Lord ! whatever peart they zeed,
 In this they one and all agreed,
     'Twas glorious, gert, and wize.

'Tis zed, and I believe 'tis true,
He gid (but lookin rether blue)

The Hospital a ken :

'Twas all a gid ; but than quoth he,
“ I'll zomething gee, my LORD, d'ye zee,
“ When I come here agen.”

This, to be zure, look'd cruel kind
Towards the zick, and lame, and blind ;

What's thy opinion, NAN ?

But rat it, theve net zeed a doit ;

Zo 'tes no very gert exploit

Of our SAMARITAN.

Zich perty promifes, egozh !

Zeem words o'cufe—a pack o'trosh ;

Wind, faith ! net one crume better ;

I leek to zee voakes dra the pufs ;

Parlaver is not worth a cufs ;

I hate to hear voakes chetter.

But now to please the Royal chops,

Presents vall'd in as thick as hops,

Vifh,

Vish, vlesh, and vowl, and vruit ;
 'Twas who shud zay, I zent the KING
 " Zich, zich, and zich, and zich a thing :"
 The vokes were mad to do't.

Now let me tell thee, ZESTER NAN,
 The KING's a jolley gentleman,
 The QUEEN not very ugly !
 AZ vor the PRINCESSES, sweet souls,
 With rosy chucks, and flaxen polls
 They angels look'd so smugly.

Mayhap, yow wud be glad to know
 Zom more about the QUEEN, I trow—
 I think I've zed anuff :
 What voakes in general zay, is this :
 " The oman is not much amifs,
 And tak'th a power o' snuff."

But Milliners of EXTER zwear,
 That HER's and all her DAUGHTERS' geer
 Was shellings net worth thirty ;
 That, Lord ! they wear'd but little laces,
 Their zilks mert blish to show their faces,
 Ould fashion'd, strip'd, and dirty.

Now

Now woundy mad was * MEASTER MARE,
 To think a shud a veast prepare,
     Of vlesh, and vowl, and vish;
 Of ham, and terkie, gooze and mustard,
 Dumplin, and apple-pye, and custard,
     As good az mouthe could wish.

Vor whan unto KING GEORGE a zends,
 To tell'n the ALDERMEN, his vriends,
     Wud all be glad to zee'n;
 The KING no notice tuke, 'tis zaid,
 But, leek a pisky, laugh'd and play'd
     To push-pin wey the QUEEN.

Zo there the meal, vorzooth, was spoil'd,
 The bak'd and roast, and vry'd and boil'd;
     Oh! 'twas a dismal day;
 The zyder, brandy, wine, and ale,
 The gert gold † chair to hold his tail,
     Was money droad away.

* Burnet, the plumber.

† Made expressly, at a very great expence: indeed it did credit to the liberality of the Corporation.

It, when KING GEORGE did leave the town,
The ALDERMEN, in red fur gown,
    And MARE, vore Guildhall houze,
Vurft havin had a little veeding,
Leek soldiers form'd, to show their breeding,
    And make their Zenday bows.

The KING, he spy'd mun vrom his coach,
Wey faces net pleaz'd over much,
    That did un much delight:
The Bench keep'd bowin up and down,
Till all the hoffes rumps they vound,
    And KING's were out o' zight.

Than home they lerk'd, and drapt their furs
And tails between their legs, leek curs,
    Becaze they war zo zlighted ;
But what was ten times worfe, poor foulds,
Their wives leek devils claw'd their polls,
    Becaze they didn't git knighted.

POSTSCRIPT.

POSTSCRIPT.

Now, ZESTER NAN, by this yow zee,
What zort of vokes GERT PEOPLE be;
    What's cheny thoft, is clome;
And, ZESTER, now I do believe,
That after this yow daan't much grieve,
    Becaze yow staid at home.

Theeze once I've made my zelf a vool,
And now I feel my courage cool
    For zeeing ROYAL THINGS:
And whan my Bible next I rede,
Zo leet I worship all the breed,
    I'll skop the book of KINGS.

“ He’s down! amid ST. STEPHEN’S walls,
“ The mighty Beast in Thunder falls.”

OUT AT LAST;

OR,

THE FALLEN MINISTER.

---

PROËMIUM.

SOME time ago the LYRIC PETER,
With much sublimity of metre,
Did prophecy a MINISTER would tumble !
To verify the POET'S ode,
Behold it pleaseth MAN and GOD,
In anger, his HIGH MIGHTINESS to humble !
Good Man! but not the MAN of ROSS ;
He's down! procumbit humi Bos.

How like unto a crow or rook,
Shot near his nest, (a mortal wound),
He hung and bled, with downcast look,
Before he fous'd at last to ground !
Yes ! like those black birds much too long we saw
The Culprit hanging by a fingle claw.

What a vile bramble he has been,
 May now with half an eye be seen.—
 Look at us!—What poor shiv'ring sheep, alack!
 Naked and lank—most closely shorn!
 This hooking, dragging Imp has torn
 The healthful, warming fleece from every back!
 Gone! gone some good-for-nothing ribs to treat;
 But woe to that poor sheep which dar'd to bleat!

Sing HEAVENLY MUSE, to whom our wool all goes:
 To warm DUNDAS, LONG, WYNDHAM, CANNING,
 ROSE,

Old LIVERPOOL and CUB, with each compeer.—
 While they carousing swill'd their toast and sack,
We bit, in anguish, musty bread and black,
 And writhing got the gripes from dead small-beer.

“ Try PITT again,” some fools exclaim.
 He has been tried, and tried, and tried—
 The hobbling NATION, still more lame,
 Has now nor crutch, nor afs to ride.
 “ He'll mend,” they roar.—He mend! the MUMMER—
 Aye, mend just like four ale in summer.

Lo,

Lo, then, our sad STATE CARPENTER dismiss'd!
 No longer now his bungling art befools:
 Yet from the service when the man was his'd,
 Why leave behind his BUDGET and his TOOLS?

Glad as a bird that 'scapes the kite, I'll drop
 The lamentations of poor JEREMIAH;
 Of gay Pindarics open a fresh shop,
 And pour the song of triumph with ISAIAH.

---

READER, in this my LYRIC ODE,
 I imitate a MAN of GOD;
 That POET of sublimity, ISAIAH:
 A man of quality, of note;
 Of arms possessing a rich coat;
 A Brother to the great KING AZARIAH.

Lord! how the POET did bespatter
 The Babylonian Monarch with his satire!
 Were I to talk so of a British King,
 What were my fate? Alas! a string!
 Not string, dear reader, that the shoulder decks;
 But string that twines at Newgate round our necks.

ODE OF TRIUMPH.

TOSSING poor ENGLISMEN in scorn.
 The BULL no more exalts his horn!
 Thank GOD, the BEAST is put at last to pound!
 And that he never may get out,
 To make another cursed rout,
 Forms many a hearty pray'r and wish profound.

What! is there not one song of sorrow,
 One tear of pity?—Let me say,
 There's neither dirge nor tear to-day,
 Whatever there may be to-morrow.
 Nay, cannons roar applause—the bells are ringing—
 And EARTH, rejoicing, breaketh into singing.

No more he turns the burning globe;
 But on a dunghill, just like JOB,
 Scratching, surveys his melancholy plight!
 No more with HAL, his chum, to booze,
 And for the State's salvation snooze,
 He bids the Clarets and Champaigns good night.

But

But hark! OLD ENGLAND'S GENIUS sings!

(Sounds that will pierce the ears of Kings)

- “ Harpoon'd art thou at last, thou flound'ring porpoise—“ Thou who hast swallow'd all my rights,
 “ Gobbling the mightiest just like mites—
 “ Devouring like a sprat my Habeas Corpus.”

- “ THOU who didst bind my fons in chains,
 “ And nearly beatedst out their brains,
 “ For fear their wrath might kindle riot;
 “ And after binding them in chains,
 “ And nearly beating out their brains, “ Didst cry—‘ How tame they lie, poor things! how quiet!’

- “ Thou who didst groaning Prisoners keep
 “ In Cold-bath Fields, like hapless sheep
 “ Whom horrid butchers mean to flay;
 “ Where ARIS with his iron rod,
 “ The PLUTO of the dark abode,
 “ Roasted and broil'd in cook-like way
 “ The victims of his power and pride,
 “ And damn'd them all before they died.

" Art thou the Caitiff, with imperious frown,
 " Who o'er the BARD didst hold thy hempen string;
 " Threat'ning to hang him, if, to please the town,
 " He dar'd to smile or wink at Q— or K—;
 " Or dar'd (no matter how divine the Songs)
 " To chaunt of Dumplings, Sheep, or PARSON YOUNGS;
 " To mention kine and corn, and FAMINE's groans;
 " Record wit Royal, and crack jokes on Thrones?"

Bold hast thou said, " Supreme I'll prate—

" I will be Minister of State,
 " And swill from night to morn the Nation's wine:
 " I will get drunk with honest HAL:
 " The bottle my dear constant Baal,
 " I'll daily kneel and hiccup at his shrine.

" Snoring upon the State machine
 " My DROWSY BROTHER shall be seen,
 " Who from his cradle never heard the Lark.
 " I grant the man the wheels will clog,
 " Lazy as Ludlum's lazy dog,
 " That held his head against the wall to bark.

" His

“ His nose may like the bull-frog roar—
 “ The STATE shall pay him for the snore.

“ I'll buffet OPPOSITION's waves:
 “ I have my creatures and my slaves;
 “ For any borough will I bring my man in:
 “ The poorest that crawls I'll raise,
 “ To yield his incense-pot of praise,
 “ From Greek-mouth'd BELGRAVE, to lame-Latin
 CANNING.

“ I'll pension any fool or knave;
 “ The Nation's pocket, my poor slave,
 “ Shall open, nor dare make a pother—
 “ GIFFORD, that crooked Babe of Grace,
 “ And CANNING too, shall be in place,
 “ And get a pension for his Mother.

Lame-Latin CANNING]—This Gentleman was ravished from his Op. position-Friends on account of supposed extraordinary talents. A completer take-in of the Knowing-ones was never more laughably experienced amongst the Black-legs of the Turf. His “Iter ad MECCAM,” for the University Prize, exhibited such proofs of ideas and scholarship as put the poor DEAN of Christ-Church to the blush. The first effort was condemned to the flames, though it obtained the Prize: the second was a cobbled piece of work between Mr. CANNING and SOMEBODY of Christ-Church, which with difficulty passed muster.

“ Ev'n GR—V—R's Cobbler shall come forth,

“ And hammer to the world my worth—

“ Come

G—V—R's Cobbler.]—This is a most extraordinary fellow, speculatively virtuous, and practically wicked—for ever bellowing in the cause of Religion and Morals, yet in the daily practice of every thing that should fix him at the cart's-tail.—To justify the above assertions, accept, Reader, a small sketch of his life, and blush for the depravity of HUMAN NATURE! Taken from a Cobbler's Stall at Ashburton, a little town in Devonshire, by Mr. COOKESLY, a Surgeon of that place, who mistook the itch of rhyme for the inspiration of the MUSES, he was, by a subscription of the gentlemen of the town and neighbourhood, placed at a Grammar School, and afterwards sent to Exeter College—At this College, after his daily occupations of tolling the bell, waiting at dinner, and lighting the candles, he amused himself with writing scandalous lampoons on the heads of the College, as well as other respectable characters of the University—Noticed however by a Clergyman, he was introduced to Earl G. who soon found an honourable employment for him, luckily for his Lordship's pleasures, and fortunately congenial to the disposition of GIFFORD.—In a little time he tripped up the heels of his Oxford Friend, ousted him from the house of G— by lying insinuations, and publicly triumphed in his success.—His next glorious action was to send a cast-off Strumpet of his L—dsh—p to the Widow of his old Friend COOKESLY, who, for a livelihood, kept a creditable Boarding-school.—She was recommended by Gifford as a modest young Lady, for education, which modest young Lady, in a few months, betrayed her old Cyprian propensities, and very expeditiously blasted the School:—this was the subject of another triumph. To continue his progress in infamy with an equal splendor, he seduced a beautiful and innocent girl, called MARY WEEKS, a native of Ashburton. Under the pretence of marrying her, a fellow with a surplice was prepared to execute this nefarious matter; the sham ceremony was performed, the poor girl was ruined;

“ Come hobbling forth without one blush of shame,
 “ With heel-taps, toe-caps, soles for worn-out Fame.”

“ I’ll

ed ; and after satiety had taken place with her infamous seducer, she was sent back to Ashburton, where she pined and died of a broken heart!!! To support the credit of his past achievements, he published a most dirty and scandalous Poem, called “The Ashburtoniad,” abusing all his old and respectable Benefactors. Previously to the above act, he had obtained an ample subscription for a Translation of the Satires of Juvenal, which (happily for the Public, and paper, and print) he never performed.—To accommodate his MÆCENAS, he keeps a creature as a Decoy-duck, and has actually sent her to necessitous young women of beauty and innocence, under the pretext of learning to read and write. Such are parts of his life—HUNC, tu Romane, caveto, hic niger est.—It must not however be forgotten, that, for his atrocious calumnies, he was lately cudgelled in one WRIGHT’S shop, a poor ignorant and pains-taking Bookfeller in Piccadilly ; and, in spite of the most solemn and tender protestations of his own head and shoulders, he with an unprecedented effrontery denied the fact ; and notwithstanding a message, informing him that he was cudgelled, most soundly cudgelled, that he should be cudgelled again in order to oblige him, by producing a complete conviction, he had not the manners to answer the civility.

He continues in his favorite occupation of administering as Jackall to the constantly watering chops of the toothless Old Lion. To use another figure, he is still his Lordship’s Gamekeeper, and guards the plump little partridges (which are exceedingly numerous on all his Lordship’s Manors) with so much laudable assiduity from Poachers, that he has been amply and gratefully remunerated with an honourable annuity from GOVERNMENT!!!

As for Mr. GIFFORD’S rhymes, they will appear extraordinary to such Readers (and they are not a few) as prefer bombast to sublimity. Bombast is the idol of the VULGAR—To such, the attic simplicity appears “ I’ll hire each prostituted Muse,

 “ For mags, for newspapers, reviews ;

“ I’ll

pears arrant insipidity—the vulgar eye is fooner fascinated by the stiff, staring cabbage-rose brocade of the Harlot, than the modest and snowy robe of INNOCENCE. The ear of the true Critic distinguishes with facility the difference between the mellifluous tones of the Lyre of Apollo and the hard, ponderous sounds of the hammered lapstone. To indulge a Greek quotation from Proclus on Plato, without offence to his Pupil, the learned Lord BELGRAVE, MR. WILLIAM GIFFORD is—Ἰδιώτες ἐν Φιλοσοφοῖς, Φιλοσοφὸς δὲ ἐν Ἰδιωταῖς—which I translate thus : “ He is a Poet with Poetafters, and a Poetafter with Poets,” So much inequality pervades his verse, that the FACULTY would pronounce his MUSE afflicted with the rickets. Still, to do him every justice, his various verses are very well for a Cobbler ; they must undoubtedly smell of the stall.

Quo semel est imbuta recens servabit odorem

Testa diu—————

So singeth Horace, who, one would think, had peeped into futurity, and penned the happy line for poor CRISPIN.

So far from originality of thought and a luxuriance of imagery in his lines, there reigns a pitiable famine: aukward and obscure inversions, with a verbose pomposity, form the leading features of almost every couplet. Indeed, it were cruel to expect more. Sprung from a dunghill, and old before he was charitably taken from his stall, at the same time totally destitute of the poetical character, what could a few scraps of Latin and Greek do for an object whose sole powers lay within the circumscribed space of a rhyme? A Riddle in the LADY’S DIARY—an Acrostic in a NEWSPAPER—an abusive Stanza in the ANTI-JACOBIN REVIEW, or a Criticism in the BRITISH CRITIC (equal, perhaps, to those of poor paralytic PARSON NARES, a most feeble pillar of that falling fabric, and lately sent for a maintenance to that

“ I’ll pay the ballad-finger’s throat for praise ;
 “ My visage (hatchet-like, indeed !)
 “ In shops the gaping mob shall feed—
 “ My name on rails shall grace the King’s highways ;
 “ And trav’lers, whether they may ride or walk,
 “ Read ‘ Pitt for ever!’ in broad-staring chalk.

“ I’ll place the CAPETS on the throne,
 “ And France her worthy Kings shall own ;

“ And

that idle and expensive Toyshop of the Nation, called the BRITISH MUSEUM)—form at present his amusement. At the House of GR--V--R he experiences a prodigality of praise; But his LORDSHIP and his LADIES are better qualified for writing the history of Paphos than Parnassus.

On the appearance of this Gentleman’s last lying publication, which was in some measure answered by the argumentum baculinum, I entertained thoughts of a formal execution of the felon, in a solemn poetical epistle ; but on reflexion, thinking him beneath the dignity of such an exhibition, I determined to hang him in a note.

For, should the Muse’s satire bid him die,
 The GODDESS really guillotines a Fly.

Before I conclude, it may not be unacceptable to my Readers to be informed that his L-dsh-p sometimes kills his own mutton—hunts without his Jackall—and succeeds. Witness the following little genuine epistle :

‘ DEAR G——,

‘ I am in luck to-day—sprung a fine covey amongst a parcel of ‘ brambles. Take care of the plump little bird that bears this letter ‘ —clean her and comb her well, cut her nails close, and put her to bed. ‘ G——.’

" And BONAPARTE soon my rage shall feel ;

Oft hast thou said, with scowling eye,
 " The world I hate, disdain, defy ;
 " I value neither Commoner nor Peer :
 " He who attacks me, dearly pays :
 " A man must have, the Proverb says,
 " Good iron nails that scratches with a Bear.

 " To fight in BRITAIN'S cause so hearty ?
 " Art thou the Man (whom nothing shames),
 " Who made his Office Clerks call names,
 " And fling their dirt at BONAPARTE ?

Bold hast thou said, with dauntless soul,
 " I'll damn the motion on Ferrol ;
 " No matter whether cowardice or not :
 " Whatever was the crying sin,
 " SIR JAMES shall sleep in a whole skin—

Thou, in thine insolence, hast said,

“ At ME the world shall cow'r afraid ;

“ Old GANGES humbly at my feet shall flow ;

“ MOGUL, NIZAM, and RAJAH bend ;

“ Slave-like their humble tribute send,

“ And learn from ME their future fates to know.

“ Th' unchristian TURK his gems shall send—

“ His trembling tottering turban rend,

“ To grace the beaver'd brows of Christian Kings.

“ PERU shall gild St. JAMES’s walls and doors ;
 “ And ravag’d MEXICO emblaze the floors.”

Bold hast thou said—“ I’ll curb the P—— ;

Such of Britannia’s GENIUS is the song !
 Now let the BARD the theme pursue,
 And, with an equal spirit too,
 In thunder drive the MUSE’s car along.

POETA LOQUITUR.

Bold hast thou sworn—“ the MUSE I’ll check ;
 “ Each with a halter round her neck,

 “ And through the tuneful shades shall stray
 “ My Jack-asses, to graze and bray.”

Thou ’rt an abominable branch:
 No more shalt thou enjoy a haunch—
 No more with HARRY booze from night to morn—
 The Hackneymen, to thy amaze
 Shall cry, “ My money for my chaise;
 “ The money, Sir, to pay for hay and corn!
 “ Come, Sir, I know what’s what, and who is who;
 “ I’ll trust no longer—d-mn me, if I do.”

See the stern shade of CHATHAM rise!
 On Thee he darts his eagle eyes!

My Jack-asses]—The MATHIASSES, the GIFFORDS, the B—’s, the C—’s, &c. &c. Will it be credited that an Administration so feeble should not have selected one tolerable literary pillar to support its imbecility? Where was HUNTSMAN-WYNDHAM’s judgment, when he made choice of hounds to run down OPPOSITION? Heavens bless us! Not one decent dog in the pack—neither nose nor speed!—absolutely a parcel of yelping Curs!

- " Fool!" cries the angry, disappointed Ghost :
 " Was it for this I show'd thy youth
 " The paths of glory, and fair truth ?
 " Lo, by thy flagrant folly, all is lost !
 " Mad Boy ! instead of WISDOM'S springs, to court
 " The dozing fountain of DUNDAS'S port.

 " The wonderful COLUMN of my hand,
 " That push'd its head into the skies ;
 " Shook by thy damned wizard wand,
 " Low ! low ! a splendid ruin lies !
 " Toads for a dwelling the poor Pile invade,
 " And shelter'd weeds of death, the fragment shade.
 " Blush at the partners of thy toil,
 " The refuse of the groaning ISLE !"

Where is the EAGLE that, above,
 Grasp'd daringly the bolts of JOVE,
 And taught their fatal thunders where to roll ?
 Ah ! forc'd his lofty perch to quit,
 He dwindles to a poor tom-tit,
 And skulks through humble hedges to his hole.

Is this the MAN who pension'd spies,
 Informers, that, with wolf-like eyes,
 Prowl'd nightly, yelling, in pursuit of food?
 Is this the MAN who put, alack,
 Such bugs upon the NATION's back,
 To gnaw and suck its best, its vital blood?

Where are thy bustling Levees now?
 Thy humble sycophants to bow,
 Obey thy mandate, and applaud thy wit?
 Unnotic'd thou shalt lonely ride,
 Attended only by thy pride,
 That never, never yet forsook a PITT.

Cur-like shalt thou walk in and out,
 Unnotic'd at her * GRACE's rout!
 Unnotic'd, down thy throat, her pastry poke:
 No bumpkin, no poor country wight,
 Shall, stealing near with curious sight,
 Watch if thy jaw-bones wag like those of common folk!

* The jolly and hospitable DUCHESS of GORDON.

GEORGE ROSE'S Papers shall turn tail—
 Expose thy blunders, storm and rail,
 And ope of calumny the dirty springs,
 While Anti-Jacobin Reviews
 Shall cull the literary stews
 For flowers to deck the COUNSELLOR of Kings.

Each Newspaper that took delight
 To make thee, like the snow-ball, white,
 Will paint thee now as black as hell:
 No more thy voice angelic hail,
 But give thee horn, and hoof, and tail,
 With CERBERUS'S frightful yell!—
 Paint thee a damned spirit from below,
 Rais'd by some Wizard for the Nation's woe.

Lo! thou art sprawling in the dirt!
 The Mob their wanton jokes will spirt!—
 Behold a fable CHIMNEY-SWEEP appear!
 And hark! a SCAVENGER, with eyes
 Sparkling with rapture and surprize,
 Exclaims—"Ah, MASTER BILLY, are you there?"
 Then, anxious to reward thee, on they rush,
 One with his broom, and t'other with his brush!
 Hark!

Hark ! AUTHORS braying round thee crowd,
 And AUTHORESSES cry aloud—
 “ Villain ! to wage a war with all the Muses !”
 And lo, the PRINTERS’ Devils appear !
 With ink thy visage they besmear,
 While each in turn indignantly abuses,
 And more their pris’ner to disgrace,
 They empt the pelt-pot in thy face !
 Roaring, around thee as they caper,
 “ Take that, my boy, for Tax on Paper !”

And lo, with anger HARDY glows !
 The Man of Leather, with delight,
 Runneth his awl into thy nose,
 And stirrups thee with all his might.

“ He wants much mending, d-mn my eyes !”
 The punning Son of Crispin cries—
 “ The shoe quite rotten—yes, the whole—
 “ Quite vanish’d ev’ry bit of sole.”

The pelt-pot.]—An utensil amongst Printers, containing a certain stale fluid for the benefit of the balls.

And, see ! the GIRLS around thee throng—

“ Art thou the Wight, thus stretch'd along,

“ An enemy well known to Wives and Misses ?

“ Art thou the man who dost not care

“ For oglings, squeezes of the FAIR ;

“ Nay, makest up wry mouths at woman's kisses ?”—

Then shall the NYMPHS apply their birchen rods,

And baste thee worse than PETER PINDAR'S Odes.

And see poor PADDY with his pole !

“ By Jafus now, I'll twig his jowl,

“ For leaving us poor Christians in the lurch :

“ Open your jaw-bones, Master Knave—

“ Where be the promises ye gave,

“ To give a bit of shove to MOTHER CHURCH ?

“ To a good market, faith ! our hogs are braught—

“ And so we're dead, and kill'd, and murder'd, all for naught !”

The CATS shall spit at thee !—and, hark !

The CURS in yelling concert bark.

The Cats exclaim—“ Our mice with famine moan !

“ Not one fat mouse is to be had !”

“ Aye,” cry the Curs, and What's more sad,

“ We cannot now obtain a well-pick'd bone !”

O FUR-

O FURCIFER—no, LUCIFER I mean—

How art thou fall'n ! fall'n from the starry sphere !
 Kick'd from the presence of the K. and Q.—
 From Burgundy, from Claret, to small beer.

That feature of thy face call'd nose,
 Which now with many a ruby glows,
 Shall lose, alas ! its wonted fire !
 The Claret-lustre shall expire !
 For POVERTY's pale-fingers soon pick out
 The blushing rubies of the richest snout.

The meanest of the mean shall scoff,
 And cry, " I'm glad the fellow's off !"
 The Taylor leaps in rapture from his board ;
 The Cobbler throws his shoe away ;
 The Washerwoman flings her tray ;
 The Shoeblick drops his brush, and thanks the Lord :
 To pot-houses they run with loud acclaim,
 To get more joyful news from Gossip Fame.

Fox, on thy fall, with scorn must look ;
 And pointed SHERIDAN and TOOKE

Will make thee tingle with the lash of wit :
 The poorest reptile of the House,
 The vilest little Borough Louse,
 Will scratch and bite the back of BILLY PITT.

And HE, of whom the MUSES brag,
 From his stretch'd jaws shall pull the gag,
 And vengeful to thy head will give it wing :
 Then shall he cry, with dauntless looks,
 " I'll go again amongst the COOKS,
 " And tell more pretty tales of Q— and K—."

And He.]—My very identical and numerical SELF, whose innocent and improving rhymes falling some years since in the way of an irritable and offended Bashaw, gave birth to an Act of Parliament vowing vengeance on the Wight that should, by any prose or poetical anatomy, dare exhibit the inside of Heads Royal.

MY GOOD LORD!

THE increasing depravity of the FAIR SEX cries aloud for correction; Adultery is deemed a peccadillo, and Fornication a mere flea-bite: gigantic are the strides that LEWDNESS has taken to subdue the moral world; her steps are like those of Neptune, from promontory to promontory. The recent alterations in the Sex are alarming! every woman is elegant; every woman is accomplished; every woman is handsome; every woman is a witch. In short, Beauty is so common, that I should not wonder (such is the caprice of mankind) at seeing a public advertisement for UGLINESS. At every turn we pop upon a CLEOPATRA—and what must murder the blushing sensibilities of Modesty, more than a half of those CLEOPATRAS are to be purchased for half-a-crown. What dangerous traps of seduction!—what lures of loveliness! Even I (like your Lordship, rather the worse for wear) meet the smile, the wink, the stare of those CIRCES, on whose lips are written in capitals (says a great *LYRIC POET)

The modest, the ingenious, the pious BISHOP of DURHAM has laudably exercised the pruning-knife of reform amongst the OPERA DANCERS: he has lengthened their petticoats, circumscribed their skips, and shaded their nudities. This reverend * MYSELF.

BISHOP

BISHOP and his reverend LADY saw so much at the Opera as astonished, confounded, and petrified. They saw on a Saturday, with their own eyes, the wanton BALLET break in on the holy Sabbath—They turned pale at the contamination—They remonstrated, and threatened, and preached, but they could not convince. TAYLOR, the Manager, smiled at the BISHOP's and his LADY's reforming zeal: the Performers lifted up their eyes and noses in contempt, while the displeas'd Audience exclaimed in a burst of thunder, "Out, out, out,—out with the pair of old hypocrites!" My Lord, we may truly say with the nervous and moral Juvenal,

"Credo Pudicitiam Saturno rege moratam

"In terris"—

Which may be thus elegantly rendered:

True—MODESTY in Saturn's days was seen:

The dev'l a bit, indeed in George's reign.

But now, My LORD, for that species of vice ADULTERY, against whose brazen walls your Lordship means to make a push with your battering ram: That your bold attack may succeed, for the honour of morality, and the honourable heads of great FAMILIES, is my most devout desire; and to encourage your Lordship in the day of battle, I dedicate to your Lordship these my Prophetic ODES.

I am, MY LORD, &c. &c.

ARGUMENT TO ODE I.

---

The BARD, in the true spirit of prophetic poetry, commenceth his Ode with a compliment to WEDLOCK.—PETER treateth the hot-bed of Adultery with much poetical contempt.—He prophesieth the fall of CRIM. CON. her acquaintance with the Rakes.—In a sublime strain of insult PETER questioneth CRIM. CON. and proclaimeth a total annihilation of her Rams-horns. PETER singeth of the wonders done by Rams-horns at JERICHO—he giveth some history of LORD AUCKLAND's Family, and biddeth them beware of defilement.—The Poet candidly accuseth himself of having been a votary to Pleasure, and prettily and poetically depicteth the manner of his courtship; illustrating with a most apt and original comparison.—The Poet abruptly bounceth off to attack the PRINCES of these Realms for not joining the pious efforts of LORD AUCKLAND, to destroy CRIM. CON.—PETER complimenteth the Bench of Bishops for their furious abhorrence of CRIM. CON., for their intimate knowledge of Heaven, and for their great humility, but not for their great poverty, in which article these holy MEN have always varied from their simple PREDECESSORS, the Apostles.—PETER attacketh the Ladies' petticoats, or rather no petticoats.—The Bard, with a mighty Lyric jump, leapeth on the shoulders of KING DAVID, of Israel, and giveth him a stunning blow; and suddenly turning about, knocketh down KING HARRY, of England; concluding with a squint at some modern PRINCES.—PETER praiseth the unparalleled, though ungallant, behaviour of a KING LOUIS, of France, of whom he relateth an entertaining and delicate story, ending with somewhat more than a suspicion that certain Young Gentlemen would not have shewn the same fortitude under the same circumstances.

ARGUMENT TO ODE II.

An apologetic Song for INCONSTANCY, by a SON of the DEVIL.—

This SON of a DEVIL pronounceth LOVE and a BUTTERFLY to be similar BEINGS, and encourageth the idea—this DEMON wisheth to take the licentious FRENCH NATION for a model, who wish to change a Wife as often as a shirt—this IMP continueth to fascinate the mind by beautiful poetry in favour of the unlicensed Passion LOVE.—

PETER reprobateh such notions, and prettily telleth, in verse, a story, well known in prose, of a KING of FRANCE, who had experienced a satiety on the beauties of his QUEEN.—PETER triumpheth in the future happiness of the BRITISH EMPIRE on the death of CRIM. CON.—PETER exhibiteth a natural picture of AGE, exulting, amidst his imbecillities, in the idea of possessing blooming virgins, smiling at the same time at the horrors of horns.

—PETER again, with his wonted candour, reverseh the medal, and suggesteth an inconveniency that may arise from the fate of CRIM. CON. in the character of a rotten RAKE.—PETER here is truly moral as well as poetical.—Another RAKE is brought on the stage, who glorieth in the advantages to be obtained over a Wife, by this attack of LORD AUCKLAND.—PETER, replete with historical knowledge, relateth a story of the great CATO, and also of the WISE MEN, not of GOTHAM, but of GREECE.—

The BARD again singeth the song of triumph—he prophesieth,—He giveth a picture of the fashionable Wives of the present day, who visit TOM's and JOHN's in Soho-square, with as much ease as Mrs. SNIP the Milliner.—PETER prophesieth peace in the house of WEDLOCK, and security to that blushing DAMSEL, CHASTITY.—

The impudent and threatening Speech of Miss FORNICATION on the intended destruction of her Sister CRIM. CON.

SWEET is the song of wedded LOVE,
The echo of the turtle-dove;
Then who would turn that song to sounds of woe?
Bright are the skies, and calm the scene
Where HYMEN holds his halcyon reign;
Then who would bid the howling tempest blow?
What but a Ruffian would the spot invade,
To dash the beam of bliss with hellish shade?

Doubtless, ADULTERY's a fat hot-bed;
But what's the produce?--Heavens! a wanton weed.
No buds of promise ope their bloom,
And load the zephyr with perfume!

O SYREN of the CYPRIAN ISLE,
CRIM. CON. who by a touch and smile

Dar'ft lure a lady from a fpoufe's arms ;
 Make her defert her babes, her kin,
 To liften to the voice of Sin,
 That praiseth of Variety the charms ;
 Thy lawlefs reign at length is o'er,
 And rams-horns frighten Man no more.

Yes! there's an end of all thy wooing,
 Thy dove-like billing, fluttering, cooing :
 At THEE, thy vile companions, ev'ry Rake
 Shall start with horror, curfe thy name,
 Fly from thy fong of death with fhame,
 Avoid thee like the fascinating fnake
 That wily won the world's firft Madam,
 And put that fatal trick on ADAM.

Tell me, where are thy rams-horns now,
 To clap upon a Husband's brow ?
 AUCKLAND has broken them to pieces :
 And THOU fhalt foön be put to death ;

By rams-horns JERICHO fell down.

A very notable old town ;

Yes, rams-horns laid the lovely City low :

Thus rams-horns also to the earth

And force them with humility to bow.

Look at Lord * * * whom high birth adorns,

How pitiful he squints amidst his horns !

Thinks Gentlemen should have the proper fears,

And try to ward the antlers from the head.

Rare caution ! how unlike some folk,

Of present and past times the joke ;

Who, till the steed was stol'n, forbore,

What fools ! to shut the stable door !

Yes, AUCKLAND has his wife and daughters too ;

What tho' LUCRETIAS? In a fatal hour,

The fam'd LUCRETIA fell by TARQUIN's pow'r.

AUCKLAND will give a deathful blow

To some sad purlieus of SOHO:

No longer there shall lofty beds of down

Expect the muffled married DAME,

And blushless youth of lawless flame,

Secure from husbands and the prying town.

There are, for wedded prey, who prowl,

And joy to hear the tempest howl;

O'er MATRIMONY's smile to cast a cloud,

And put the modest LADY in her shroud!—

Such shall the MUSE to infamy consign,

And crush with all the thunders of her line.

Blushing, I own, I've been in love with PLEASURE,

Look'd on the NYMPH's acquaintance as a treasure;

Never

Never purfued her once with scoff and hisses ;
 But caught the little HUSSEY in my arms ;
 Ran o'er the pretty garden of her charms,
 And pluck'd the cherries of her lips—call'd KISSES.

I never cast off PLEASURE from me—no ;
 But hugg'd her, when I met with her—and so :
 For lo ! a piece of velvet was my foul !
Black velvet, mind ! which when the GOD of Day
 Doth visit with his all enlivening ray,
 Enjoys the radiance, and devours the whole.

Velvet, unlike the marble rock indeed,
 Devoid of gratitude and grace ;
 Who, when the SUN would warm and gild his head,
 Flings back the blessing in his face.

Yes ! I was once a finner, I confefs ;
 But now my morals wear a sober drefs.
 Sorry am I for our good Princes,
 (Indeed my tender confcience winces)
 To think they try to fave CRIM. CON. the Jade !
 The Bishops in a goodly row,
 All wish to give a fatal blow :
 Such good examples somewhat might have fway'd !

Rare ORACLES! so just, so sweet, so wise,
 So deep in all the secrets of the SKIES;
 So prone to teach, assist, inspire, and bless one,
 From which HUMILITY might take a lesson!

Sons of those holy men of yore—
 As pious but not quite so poor;
 Since FORTUNE to the world's surprize,
 On MERIT learns to ope her eyes.
 Now, when a Bishop* for a favour sues,
 Not, not in vain the plaintive TURTLE coos,

Ye GODS! how wicked are the times!
 Ev'n I cry "Shame," the MAN of Rhymes!
 And POETS are not overstock'd with blushes.—
 See! lovely MODESTY is gone
 From BRITAIN, where she fix'd her throne,
 And IMPUDENCE to fill her station rushes!

* The present BISHOP of LONDON (Dr. PORTEUS), I must indeed adduce as an exception. Wishing to turn his back on his R-y-l PATRONESS, on a vacancy in the SEE of Durham, he strained every nerve to obtain the precious prize, worth nearly twenty thousand pounds a year; the BISHOPRICK of LONDON, worth only poor four thousands per annum, scarcely sufficient to supply the extensive circle of his charities! Good Man! he was disappointed; not only disappointed too; his prayer was considered as a piece of meanness and ingratitude.—If this be not a fact, I beg his LORDSHIP'S pardon.

How

How loose our LADIES in attire,
 To set our peeping Youth on fire!
 A hundred instances I soon could pick ye!
 Without a cap we view the Fair,
 The bosom heaving, heaving bare;
 The hips asham'd, forsooth, to wear a dicky: *—

Quite antique statues—such the drefs,
 It nothing leaves for FANCY'S guesfs!

Look at our GRANNUMS, good old souls,
 With caps and pinders, well mobb'd polls;
 With warming dickies, high stiff stays,
 To guard the neck from grasp and gaze.
 How diff'rent from our modern FAIR,
 Whose ev'ry beauty takes the air!

Alas! they heed no frost or snow,
 Nor winds around that chilling blow,
 And swing their muslin gossimer about:
 Showing what MODESTY should veil;
 Things very proper to conceal,
 For legs and knees, and so, should ne'er peep out.

* A term used in the polite circles for a flannel petticoat.

KING DAVID fet a very bad example—
 KING HARRY, too a very shocking fample
 Of Wedlock's constant, chaste, and lovely state :
 And many other Kings besides, indeed,
 Too prone on wild variety to feed,
 Have broken MATRIMONY's tender pate :

Nay, many PRINCES ev'ry day
 Do something in this wicked way,
 But not so did a King of France,
 Whose story seemeth quite romance.

A KING OF FRANCE AND THE FAIR LADY
 AT BATTLEDORE AND SHUTTLECOCK.

A TRUE STORY.

---

A KING of FRANCE upon a day,
 With a fair LADY of his Court,
 Was pleas'd at Battledore to play,
 A very fashionable sport.

Into

Into the bosom of this fair COURT DAME,
 Whose whiteness did the snow's pure whiteness shame,
 KING LOUIS by an odd mischance did knock,
     The SHUTTLECOCK,
 Thrice happy rogue, upon the down of Doves,
 To nestle with the pretty little LOVES!

“ Now, SIRE, pray take it out”—quoth SHE
 With an arch smile.—But what did he?

    What? what to charming MODESTY belongs!
 Obedient to her soft command,
 He rais'd it—but not with his hand!

    No marv'ling Reader, but the chimney tongs.

What a chaste thought in this good King!

    How clever!

When shall we hear agen of such a thing?

    Lord! never.

Now were our PRINCES to be pray'd

To such an act by some fair MAID,

    I'll bet my life not one would mind it:

But handy, without more ado,

The YOUTHS would search the bosom thro',

    Although it took a day to find it!

ODE II.

NOW hear a SON of SATAN; how he sings!

“ CHLOË, thou art the sweetest of sweet things:

“ I hate dull constancy—’tis such a bore:

“ It ruins LOVE—’tis such a piece of lumber;

“ Kind VENUS, let it not my back encumber.

“ Come, CHLOË, come—thy beauties I adore:

“ Come to the fields—thy husband’s gone to town—

“ O come, and let me give thee a green gown.

“ LOVE is a Butterfly that skims about

“ From hill to vale, and stops at ev’ry flow’r;

“ Sucks all the honey with its little snout,

“ So pleas’d the rich ambrosia to devour;

“ Then on wild wing, away it flies again,

“ The SULTAN of the variegated plain.

“ CHLOË, we’ll imitate the ways of FRANCE;

“ For CONSTANCY’s a very dull romance—

“ Fit

" Fit only for a poor old grunting DAME ;
 " And blind old DARBY, full of ail and groan,
 " Forc'd to be led about by limping JOAN,
 " Of girls the fitter, and of boys the game.

 " But LOVE, my dear, is neither lame nor blind ;
 " All enèrgy—his life, eternal spring ;
 " Roams the wide world as wanton as the wind,
 " And scorns the fetters that would bind his wing :
 " Then, CHLOE, learn to prize the varied kifs,
 " And prove of sweet INCONSTANCY the blifs."

Such was the song of thousands—such the song
 Of one King LOUIS—of his Lady tir'd,
 Who dragg'd with pain the marriage clog along,
 And lo, a Lady of his Court desir'd.

Yes, yes, His Majesty, much, much to blame,
 Had a colt's tooth, and lov'd another DAME.

His MINISTER (a Bishop, I presume)
 Inform'd him of the danger of his soul,
 And pointed strongly to the day of doom,
 And heav'n-ward his two eyes began to roll—
L 4
Much

Much as to say, "O KING, if this way giv'n,
Your MAJESTY will never get to Heav'n."

"Stick to your virtuous Queen," the Bishop figh'd:
"Go to the Devil," the King in secret cry'd.

The King, not relishing the Priest's instructions,
His heaps of quoted Scripture—sage deductions,
Order'd him partridge constantly for dinner:
No dish beside—'twas partridge ev'ry day.
From this at length the Bishop turn'd away,
Grew sick, and groan'd like a repentant sinner.

Many wry mouths he made—" Toujours perdrix!"
Partridge and Priest in short could not agree:
He now felt constancy a marokish thing.
A profelyte with long long face he came,
Desir'd to know the pretty Lady's name,
Turn'd pimp himself, and brought her to the King.

Die but CRIM. CON.—the region smiles,
And glory crowns the QUEEN of ISLES!

OLD-AGE shall soon be hobbling seen
 With blooming virgins of eighteen,
 Panting, and coughing up an amorous sigh:
 Yes, wheezing, wrinkled AGE shall woo,
 And paw and drivel, kifs and coo,
 And shake his crutches, and in triumph cry:

“Horns, I defy you—horns no more I dread;
 Fearless I wake, and fearless go to bed.
 In Wedlock's cage my nightingale shall sing,
 And lull my senses with a charming note:
 I dare that damned rakehell a RED COAT
 To pull a single feather from its wing.”

But then the batter'd RAKE will boast—
 “Tho' past my prime, my vigour lost,
 And full of holes my aching bones;
 Tho' gone my teeth, my cheeks all pale,
 And foul my breath that taints the gale,
 And NIGHT a witness of my groans;

“A virgin of a thousand charms
 Shall bring her beauty to my arms;

“While

- “ While happy (from dishonour safe)
 “ My head at rams and bulls shall laugh.”

What modesty the Man inspires!

How sweet the scheme the knave proposes!

What justice too in his desires!

A carrion on a bed of roses!

“ I will ascend,” (exclaims another RAKE)

“ Yes, I will mount the highest places;

“ The beds of virgin innocence shall shake;

“ I'll kiss the Daughters of the GRACES

“ Thus will I spread (a king of blisses)

“ Mine empire o'er the world of kisses.

“ Wild as the roe my feet shall bound;

“ I'll graze in ev'ry neighbour's ground;

“ In vain my injur'd spouse shall wake and weep:

“ Well hamper'd by Lord AUCKLAND's chain,

“ She dares not of her wrongs complain;

“ Her sighs must whisper, and her anger sleep.”

How manners change!—The times of old,
 When wives were lent and bought and fold,
 Must make a modern husband smile!

CATO was often known to lend

To this, and that, and t'other friend,
 To lend his wife a little while.

If gone from Rome for air or water,
 What then? why lend a pretty daughter.

What happen'd?—One of them was sent to CATO,
 With as much cordiality and ease,
 As though the SAGE had begg'd for a potatoe,
 A pot of mustard, or a slice of cheefe!

The Grecian SAGES also, (monstrous strange!)
 All GENTLEMEN of moral lives,
 Met just like horse-dealers or Jews on 'Change,
 To buy, and swop, and borrow wives.

Now from digression to return,—

CRIM. CON. must die, and thousands mourn.

No more shall wanton PRINCES now
 Attempt to milk a subject's cow:

No

No more * JOHN T——ds shall attack a Duchesse,
 Who, chaste as DIAN, scream'd for help,
 And, struggling with the wicked whelp,
 Escap'd all spotless from his savage clutches.

No charming MISTRESS HODGES shall appear,
 Nor MISTER HODGES aid his tender DEAR
 To plant the horn upon his willing skull:
 Lady CADOGANS, with inviting charms,
 Lure no more pamper'd Parsons to her arms,
 Help'd by that pretty pimp, MISS FARLEY BULL.

Lady WESTMEATHS no more shall rise,
 Victims of fascinating eyes,
 To fill the trump of scandal, and inspire
 Old Prudish Maids with jealous fits,
 Drive virtuous wives out of their wits,
 And set our envying, envying Youth on fire.

No BETTY LEEKES, to talk of a loose dress,
 When BRADSHAW came to woo the noble Dame;
 No powder'd, towzled couch their hours to blefs,
 No Coachmen to proclaim their acts of shame:

* The AUTHOR is mistaken here. Her Grace was, at the time of his Lordship's amorous attack, in her weeds.—The Editor.

And last of all, no catering MISTER HOGG,*
To suit falacious tastes with prurient prog,

No more shall HAWKERS gallop on,
Roaring away, "CRIM. CON. CRIM. CON."
While ABIGAILS from houses, with a caper,
Rush, giggling, forth to buy the paper:
To show their Ladies, happy, none will doubt it,
To wink and sneer, and prattle all about it.

No more a COUNSEL's blush shall spring,
Nor loftier B—R with sweet grace
Hide in his handkerchief his face,
When evidence has been too near the thing.

COUNSEL will not be forc'd to say,
When did they kifs?—in garish day,
Or by the candle's conscious trembling light?
Were they in bed beneath the sheet,
Snug in embrace—both tête-à-tête?
And what were things that might appear in fight?
Such shall no more be heard in Court,
Making for idle ears a sport.

* The Bookseller.

Too often wives who lose at play,
 With honour debts of honour pay;
 And sily to some Cyprian Fane repair—
 Invoke of Love the faucy Pow'r,
 To CUPID sacrifice an hour,
 And lo! return with so much ease and air,
 As though it were a millinery trip!
 So out of breath in quest of MISTRESS SNIP!

All in the house of Wedlock shall be quiet;
 No sighs to soften, and no pulse to riot;
 And CHASTITY, in danger now no more,
 Shall sleep without a lock upon her door.

“ 'Tis a bad wind that blows no good,”—
 A proverb older than the flood.

Cries pert MISS FORNICATION, with a wink,

“ Aye, kill my SISTER—do—and soon

“ I'll play young Ladies such a tune;

“ Aye, spinster reputation soon shall sink :

“ I'll deal in billets-doux and sighs;

“ I'll open necks, and sharpen eyes;

“ I'll

- “ I'll make their gowns and petticoats of gauzes;
 “ I'll do the business of the maids;
 “ I'll make more routs and masquerades;
 “ I'll sharpen MISTER SATAN'S claws.
- “ I'll order it with nymph and swain,
 “ That cheeks shall never blush again.
- “ I'll build to METHODISM more chapels,
 “ Where lad with lass so sweetly grapples
 “ Soon as the tell-tale candles are put out:
 “ Yes, yes, the love feasts shall increase,
 “ And MODESTY, that mincing piece,
 Shall say, “ Good bye t'ye,” to the groaning ROUT.
- “ I'll aid HYPOCRISY'S dark cause,
 “ And for a Parson choose a H——s; *
 “ I'll ope new turnpikes to salvation,
 “ Or I'm not christen'd FORNICATION.”

Thus wildly she exclaims! and, by the LORD,
 I think the HUSSEY means to keep her word!

* While ALNWINKLE exists, the conscientious act of this HUNTINGTONIAN APOSTLE will be remembered.

Thus

Thus have I pour'd a pair of ODES,
Which some may deem the songs of Gods ;
But hark ! a second solemn voice I hear—
A second awful voice, that cries,
“ Bard, Bard, thine oracles are lies ;
“ CRIM. CON. has nought from AUCKLAND'S rage to fear.
“ That LORD from morn to night, and night to morn,
“ Shall trembling view the visionary horn.”

ADVICE

ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN;

OR,

The Rose and Strawberry,

A FABLE.

---

YOUNG WOMEN!—don't be fond of killing.

Too well I know your hearts unwilling

To hide beneath the veil a charm—

Too pleas'd a sparkling eye to roll,

And with a neck to thrill the soul

Of ev'ry Swain with LOVE's alarm.

Yet, yet, if PRUDENCE be not near,

Its snow may melt into a tear.

The dimpled smile, and pouting lip,

Where little CUPIDS nectar sip,

Are very pretty lures, I own:

But ah! if PRUDENCE be not nigh,

Those lips where all the CUPIDS lie,

May give a passage to a groan.

A ROSE in all the pride of bloom,
 Flinging around her rich perfume,
 Her form to public notice pushing,
 Amidst the summer's golden glow,
 Peep'd on a STRAWBERRY below,
 Beneath a leaf, in secret blushing.

"MISS STRAWBERRY," exclaim'd the ROSE,

"What's beauty that no mortal knows?"

"What is a charm, if never seen?"

"You really are a pretty creature:

"Then wherefore hide each blooming feature?"

"Come up, and shew your modest mien."

"Miss ROSE," the STRAWBERRY replied,

"I never did possess a pride

"That wish'd to dash the public eye:

"Indeed I own that I'm afraid—

"I think there's safety in the shade;

"AMBITION causes many a figh."

"Go, simple child," the ROSE rejoin'd,

"See how I wanton in the wind:

"I feel

“ I feel no danger’s dread alarms :
 “ And then observe the God of Day,
 “ How amorous with his golden ray,
 “ To pay his visits to my charms !”

No sooner said, but with a scream
 She started from her fav’rite theme—
 A clown had on her fix’d his pat.
 In vain she screech’d—HOB did but smile;
 Rubb’d with her leaves his nose awhile,
 Then bluntly stuck her in his hat.

ODE TO HYMEN.

O TELL me, HYMEN, how it comes to pass,
 That folks live not in unison, alas !
 That all thy votaries are not always blest ?
 Thy pretty fane is enter’d all so billing,
 So am’rous, so obliging, smiling, willing ;
 When lo ! LOVE’s passion sinks at once to rest !

An ignorant poor bachelor am I,
And stupid, knowing not the reason why!

Love seems at first within the torrid zone,
Now to the temperate, lo, his course he bends;
Now to the frigid limpeth with a groan,
And now the sweetest of all passions ends!

Look to the simple state, the state of clowns,
Born in a hut, and seldom from their downs!

Thus LUBIN, in a Glo'ſter hamlet bred,
Soon as the honey-moon began to shine;
“ Now, DEARY,” (I ſuppoſe the pair in bed)
“ Now put thy pretty little totes* to mine.”

But when, ah me! the honey-moon was over,
Adieu the Lover!

And what the ſoul of delicacy ſhocks,
Inſtead of “ Put thy pretty totes to mine,”
He turn'd his back and grunted like a ſwine,
“ Why doſt not heave away thy d-mn'd great hocks?”

* An abbreviation, I preſume, of pettitoes, frequently uſed in Glouceſterſhire.

ODE ON THE PASSIONS.

THE PASSIONS are all prone to sad disorders,
Whose OBJECTS never should approach their borders!
“ O lead us not into temptation,”
Is a choice pray'r, and which I much admire—
So many things are dangerous to DESIRE,
So ripe for soul-affaffination!

YOUNG WOMEN, par exemple, O how sweet
How fascinating each wild sense they greet!
How much we long to smell to the fair flow'r!
How long the blushing peach to pluck it,
And suck it—
To use an epicurish phrase, devour!

Now such desires are very dangerous things—
It does not signify to talk about it:
Yet seemed SOLOMON, first of wise Kings,
And eke his father DAVID, much to doubt it.

For wheresoe'er they meet a pretty LASS,
Snap was the word—they could not let her pass.

How many a time I thought it not a sin
 To press the virgin's cheek and dimpled chin,
 And press her pouting lip, that dew-clad cherry;
 And peep upon her neck of Alpine snow,
 And pressing, panting, to her bosom grow,
 Rich banquet—very—I repeat it—very!

But lo! I stand reform'd, thank Heav'n,
 So much of grace to me is giv'n!—

O YOUTHS! whene'er the wishes warm of nature,
 Tumultuous rise—destroy their dangerous dance;
 The curb of REASON to your aid advance,
 And fouse them with her buckets of cold water.

No harm is in the PASSIONS, to be sure;
 But then they must not gallop wild to door:—
 Close keep them, just like hounds that long for hare;
 Or muzzle them, indeed, like ferrets;
 And thus suppress their wanton spirits,
 That lawless wish to be as free as air.

Well

Well I remember, (but the times are past, Thank Heav'n, this wickedness can't always last)

When if a petticoat but caught my eye—
A petticoat furrounding some fair maid,
Lord bless us! how my heart's brisk fountain play'd!

GRACE was abjur'd, and PRUDENCE forc'd to fly:
The PASSIONS sudden wak'd to watch her,
And, hound-like, scamper'd in full cry to catch her.

The PASSIONS, as I've said are far from evil;
But if not well confin'd, they play the devil.

Learn from that CANDLE—mark its govern'd flame,
How in its lustre, gentle, steady, tame,

So mild, such trembling modesty, so quiet!—
But let him touch your curtains, or your bed,
Who on such stuff delighteth to be fed,

Lo, in a brace of minutes, what a riot!
He pulls, (for nought th' unbridled ROGUE reveres)
Like SAMPSON, an old house about his ears!

POSTSCRIPT.

TO THE READER.

IN my last Publication, called NIL ADMIRARI, or a SMILE at a BISHOP, I most ingenuously, and with a pretty portion of the ars critica, appreciated the merits of my own Work, with a view of assisting some monthly ARISTARCHUSES in their literary discussions, and of fixing the muzzle of restraint upon the mouth of CALUMNY: but quod petimus est nusquam! I had reckoned without my host. Indeed, I was deceived—the Poet was damned, and the Man overwhelmed with slander. Little MISTER MATHIAS, the son of a Cobbler (says Fame), nevertheless a rhyme-monger and critic, united in hostility against me, with little squinting MASTER ÆSOP GIFFORD, also a rhyme-monger and critic, although some years ago actually a Cobbler in the little town of Ashburton, in the county of Devon. In interrupting my narrative for a minute or two, let me observe, that this MASTER ÆSOP GIFFORD has performed in several characters since his elevation from his STALL at Ashburton, having been created a PETRONIUS, the ARBITER ELEGANTIARUM to the honorable House of G———R; in which laudable situation he acquitted himself with so much dexterity and satisfaction to his most noble and constant and brisk EMPLOYER, as well as great reputation to himself, that he was appointed BEAR-LEADER to his LORDSHIP's hopeful Son, to conduct him through the refined dominions of Italy, and to point out to him the beauties of Painting and Sculpture, the knowledge of which little ÆSOP had acquired quired partly by inspiration, and partly from the most excellent engravings in wood at the heads of ballads, which surrounded and adorned the inside of his humble mansion, that is to say, his stall; especially a portrait of ST. CRISPIN at work, forming a beautiful frontispiece to a ballad, whose well-known exordium floweth poetically thus:

“ A cobbler there was, and he liv'd in a stall,

“ Which serv'd him for parlour, and kitchen, and all,” &c.

And which portraiture of ST. CRISPIN being represented with a crook back and squinting eyes, was often supposed by the apprentice girls and stable boys of the town, who were accustomed to lean on his bulk to hear his poetry and jokes, I say, this homely portraiture of the tutelar Saint of Cobblers, was supposed, by those his companions, to be a likeness of HIMSELF; which idea he cunningly encouraged, having not only an itch between his fingers, but a brother itch in his mind to cut a figure in print. To proceed—The afore said Gentlemen, fearful of their own abilities (for modesty is of a timid disposition) united themselves with a young Gentleman, cleped MASTER CANNING, who, being a forward lad at school, a præcox ingenium, composing in the shortest time the most copious parcels of Latin nonsense, hexameters and pentameters, (a common exercise for the advancement of sense), was noticed and elected by ADMINISTRATION to high posts, from an idea that a forward school-boy would make a profound politician. Still to strengthen the phalanx, the afore said three young Gentlemen made a further union with a young Gentleman who received the best part of his education at that long-established seminary celebrated for turning out as well as turning off genius of every description, called NEWGATE. Further still to augment their force, the afore said four young Gentlemen united with a fifth, the élève of little ÆSOP, viz LORD POLUFLOSBOIO, whose whose broadside of Greek once thundered with such an happy effect on the great Assembly of the Nation.

This formidable Association, with the motto of Vis unita fortior on their banners, having completed a battery called the ANTI-JACOBIN MAGAZINE and REVIEW, for the purpose of confounding the enemies of their country, supporting the cause of literature, and getting into lucrative employments, opened their fire on my poor Pamphlet, with a view to its utter annihilation.—To relinquish the metaphor, these men, wilfully and maliciously disregarding my fair and candid criticisms, have convinced me that all my attempts to produce a decent effect on them is labour thrown away; in short, that I have exhibited my imbecillity in trying to wash the blackamoor white. Violent has been the torrent issuing on me from those water-spouts of abuse!—Not only my poetical, but my moral character, which I thought a fine haunch of venison, has been converted into dog's meat under their paws. In all the calmness of reflection, when prejudice was asleep, I said to myself, What have I done to these fellows, that they should so fluice me with the muddy and stinking torrent of abuse?—I have, I confess, ventured to speak my thoughts of that rhyming humbug the Pursuits of Rancour, alias Literature,—the united composition of the aforesaid Gentlemen and LORD —; and behold, I was to fall a martyr to my impartial decision. I may have said that the Authors of that boisterous unmeaning silly production, called the PURSUITS of LITERATURE, in which so many lines and half-lines are stolen, and such a farrigo of impertinent quotation introduced—I say, I may have called them the RAGMEN of PARNASSUS, the OLD CLOTHESMEN to the MUSES, literary PINCUSHIONS, composed of scraps and bran. I must confess that I have at times smiled at the unmeaning noisy lines of two wretched things called Baviad and Mæviad; and smiled more-

moreover at the self-consequence of their AUTHOR.—I may have said that if MISTER ÆSOP GIFFORD, instead of BAVIADS and MÆVIADS, had only composed COBLERIADS, he would have been more at home on the subject; and really, no young man was keener in his profession than little ÆSOP with his paring-knife in his hand—In short; he was the cobbling WONDER of ASH-BURTON and its vicinity, as no one of his profession, like him,

(So shining was his genius) knew
 The constitution of a shoe;
 To put a heel tap (we'll suppose)
 Or mend a sole, or add a nose!
 And as for an old boot, in truth,
 He gave it the black bloom of youth
 Eke comely ears to an old pattin,
 Till some vile demon cry'd—"Learn Latin."

I believe that I may have asserted that there is so much flatulence in those compositions, that his MUSE previously to her beginning her song, must have made a hearty dinner upon boiled peas, a vegetable possessing much flatulent energy.—I may have asserted that STEPHEN DUCK the Thresher was a much superior Poet to GIFFORD the Cobbler; as honest STEPHEN wrote common sense and from the heart, and GIFFORD from a confused muddy brain, without feeling, and in general without the power of exhibiting a meaning.—I may have asserted as much, and more than that: I do assert it now, that the Thresher is a better writer than the Cobbler.—I may have said, that when a man receiveth subscription-money for a work, and without any intention to produce that work, he is a literary swindler, and deserveth a rope.—I may have asserted that the dirtiest of all occupations is a Pimp, I may have said that the wretch who can write lampoons on the patrons who took him from the dung-hill, and placed him in a situation of respectability, is a scoundrel.

drel.—I may have said that a fellow with the form of the letter Z, who publickly attacks an unfortunate woman for a disorder of which the DIVINE BEING is the sole author, is little less than a demon and a fool.—And finally, I may have declared that the wretch who, after the most important favours conferred on him by a friend, can, by the most infernal machinations, meditate the ruin of that friend, to pave the way for his own ambitious consequence, is a villain.—But what is all this to Æsop?—These reflections might have been general; but unfortunately for me, they have been considered as particular, so that certain folk have positively sworn, in the language of an old ballad, “That was levell’d at me.” I may have pronounced Mr. CANNING a feeble character (and I appeal to his speeches for my justification)—I may have suggested that the puerile Letter sent to Bonaparte could only be the work of MASTER CANNING; and that PITT and DUNDAS could not have been the authors of that weak performance but under the brain-destroying influence of the JOLLY GOD. For this then have I been persecuted, grievously persecuted in prose; and I expect the same persecution in rhyme, if not poetry. But, O astonished Reader, not only these are my foes; but the Squad belonging to another thing, christened the BRITISH CRITIC, (it should have been named British Hypocrite, Religion being made a stalking-horse for the purposes of Mammon) this Squad has spit its collected venom in my face—and for what? Have I been known to attack poor PARSON NARES’s still-born pious prose lucubrations, or BELOE’s rhymes?—I scorn to insult the dead: Have I ever spoken disrespectfully of the critical sagacity of MESSIEURS RIVINGTONS (two Booksellers of Paul’s Church-Yard) and their reviewing LADIES? I scorn to trample on paralytics.—Have I ever attacked the military character of Mr. FRANCIS RIVINGTON, whose sword is as sharp as his pen, and who is ready to storm

the loftiest dunghill of the metropolis with as much intrepidity as was displayed by the commanding General at the battle of Jemap!—I have seen him on the plains of BRIDEWELL in his accoutrements, out-Alexandering ALEXANDER—I have seen him bayonet a pickpocket at a fire.—I have witnessed his undaunted appearance, and maintain that he will be as formidable to his foes in the field as he is terrible to a poor petitioning, complaining, emaciated author in his shop, or to those drudges the scavengers of his Review. Let justice be done—fiat JUSTITIA, ruat cælum.—To use another classical quotation, Amicus PLATO, amicus SOCRATES, sed magis amica VERITAS.—TRUTH and CANDOUR are the DEITIES at whose shrine I sacrifice; or may I resemble

A poor mean, sneaking, literary shrimp!

Lie like M——s, and like G——p——!

To conclude—I shall forbear a long and elaborate criticism on the various and numerous beauties of my present production, contenting myself with modestly saying that my pair of Prophetic Odes is not a little in the Hebrew style, and which, without blushing, might admit of a comparison with some Hebrew compositions of Lyric celebrity. Nay, I know some Readers that will assert perhaps of each of my Odes, that decies repetita placebit—others centies, and some millies, peradventure. To confess a truth, I am somewhat like my great COUSIN of THEBES in one respect, an egotist—indeed, I am told of it; but then, I am far from detracting, like him, from my contemporary rivals. I persecute not with calumny; on the contrary, I return good for evil—MESSIEURS MATHIAS, and GIFFORD, and CANNING, and the GENTLEMAN of NEWGATE, and my Lord POLUFLOSBOIO, have received my pity! Their Pursuits, and their Ghosts and their Baviads and Mæviads, and their speeches, and their monthly criticism, shall never be cruelly dragged by me from the Lake of Oblivion,

Oblivion, to make a second feast for the table of RIDICULE.—
May they sleep in sæcula sæculorum beneath the placid EX-PANSE!

TO
DR. B. PORTEUS,

LORD BISHOP OF LONDON.

---

MY GOOD LORD!

AS your Lordship, in your late Charge to the Clergy, has almost exhausted panegyric to compliment Miss HANNAH MORE on talents that are presumed to have worked wonders in the cause of Religion and high-toned Morality, to use your Lordship's fiddling figure, I have taken the liberty of addressing a Poem to your Lordship on the subject of your most extraordinary eulogium. Your Lordship's innumerable virtues producing such an enthusiasm of love and veneration, particularly from the poor unbeneficed Members of the Church, the constant objects of your Lordship's condescending and kind attentions, is universally allowed; but in regard to your Lordship's claim to Genius, Taste, and the Chair of Aristarchus, I fear it will be as universally denied. But non omnia possumus omnes. A Bishop may be an abstemious, or a devouring Bishop; a generous, or an avaricious Bishop; a decent, or an indecent Bishop; a believing, or an unbelieving Bishop; a sober, or a boozing Bishop; a lazy, or a fox-hunting Bishop (for I have seen all those characters):—he may, nevertheless, be no better than a poor Curate among the Muses.

I am, MY LORD, &c. &c.

THE

BISHOP OF LONDON'S PANEGYRIC.

“MR. HANNAH MORE, whose extraordinary and versatile talents can equally accommodate themselves to the Cottage and the Palace, who, while she is diffusing among the lower orders of people an infinity of little Religious Tracts, calculated to reform and comfort in this world, and to save them in the next, is at the same time applying all the powers of a vigorous and highly-cultivated mind, to the instruction, improvement, and delight of the most exalted of her own Sex. I allude more particularly to her last work on Female Education, which presents to the Reader such a fund of good sense, of wholesome counsel, of sagacious observation, of a knowledge of the world and of the female heart, of high-toned morality and genuine Christian piety; and all this enlivened with such brilliancy of wit, such richness of imagery, such variety and felicity of allusion, such neatness and elegance of diction, as are not, I conceive, easily to be found combined and blended together in any other work in the English language.

“Of her little tracts, no less than two millions were sold in the first year! and they contributed, I am persuaded, very essentially to counteract the poison of those impious and immoral pamphlets, which, as I have already stated, were dispersed over the kingdom in such numbers by societies of infidels and republicans.”

THE ARGUMENT.

PETER prettily and poetically proclaimeth the pernicious effects of FLATTERY—he solemnly addresseth DOCTOR PORTEUS, as of the celebrated School of WARBURTON; loading the DOCTOR with appropriate and complimentary epithets.—Though PETER acknowledgeth the BISHOP'S overmatch for the DEVIL and SIN, he denieth his powers over TASTE—shrewdly hinteth that a wife father may have a foolish son—proveth the BISHOP'S want of critical acumen by his hyperbolic praises of Miss HANNAH MORE, a rhyme-and-prose Gentlewoman, born at BRISTOL—PETER having narrowly searched MISS HANNAH, and tried MISS HANNAH by his own Touchstone, discovereth the metallic nature of MISS HANNAH'S genius—PETER solemnly protesteth that he cannot wade twice through MISS HANNAH'S Works, deeming them, as Dr. Johnson would have expressed himself, pages of puerile vanity and intellectual imbecillity.

---

SOFT is the voice of FLATT'RY! sweet her song!

Ah, much too sweet for man, vain man, I fear!

Her oil of fool, too fluent, glides along,

And winding, drops with death, into his ear.

O PORTEUS, of the WARBURTONIAN School,

Meek, modest, generous, diffident, and humble,

'Tis said that sometimes SAGES play the fool;

But when they stumble, with a vengeance stumble.

Though form'd to brighten all the human race,
 Rare flint and steel, illumining the dark !
 Though, like an egg, so full of faith, and grace,
 Like thy great * PROTOTYPE of PRYOR Park ;

Thou bravely furious for the fight, to tame
 OLD NICK, and eke his dirty MOTHER SIN,
 With every sort of weapon one can name,
 Ev'n from the thundering cannon to a pin ;

Yet, PORTEUS, though a giant with thy blows,
 That SIN's and SATAN's hides with glory baste,
 A dwarf art thou, in fields of Verse and Prose—
 A very pigmy in the realms of TASTE.

What tho' thou rhyme hast made, it does not follow,
 The CRITIC's laurel must thy temples shade ;
 A man may be descended from Apollo,
 And yet a novice in the critic trade.

Nay, man may scarce be equal to a pun ;
 Yet sprung from PHŒBUS, but without his art :
 Less fit to guide the chariot of the SUN,
 Than that more humble vehicle, a cart.

* The late Bishop Warburton, of lamb-like memory.

With sighs I tell thee of MISS HANNAH MORE,
 A MIGHTY GENIUS, in thy CHARGE display'd!
 Know, I have search'd the DAMSEL o'er and o'er,
 And only find MISS HANNAH, a good MAID.

Oft by my touchstone have I try'd the LASS,
 And see no shining mark of gold appear;
 No, nor one beam of silver; some small brass,
 And lead and glittering mundic, in thine ear.

A sorry Critic, THOU, in prose and metre,
 Or thou hadst judg'd her pow'rs a scanty rill;
 Which, if thou wilt believe the word of PETER,
 Crawls at the bottom of th' Aonian hill.

Twice can't I read her labours for my blood,
 So simply mawkish, so sublimely sad!
 I own MISS HANNAH's life is very good,
 But then her verse and prose are very bad.

No MUSE e'er touch'd MISS HANNAH's lips with fire;
 No fountain hers of bright imagination:
 So little doth a genuine MUSE inspire,
 That GENIUS will not own her a Relation.

MISS HANNAH's graces dazzle not the view—

No bonfire she—no SUN's meridian blaze:—

A rush-light 'midst th' illuminating FEW ;

A farthing rush-light, with its winking rays.

MISS HANNAH has no eagle-wing to flee,

Whom thus thine adulation can befool:

Alas! a poor ephemeron is SHE!

A humming NATIVE of a Bristol pool.

ARGUMENT.

---

---

 ARGUMENT.

PETER forely complaineth of Miss HANNAH's cracked instrument—announceth Women superior to Miss HANNAH.—Miss HANNAH laugheth in her sleeve at the BISHOP's praise.—PETER thinketh that MOUNT PARNASSUS would have shed no tears, had Miss HANNAH never written—he blameth the BISHOP for making a show of Miss HANNAH.—PETER exhibiteth his candour, in condemning rather the flattery of the Bishop, than Miss HANNAH's literary imbecillity.—PETER rippeth up the BLUE-STOCKING CLUB, for their foolish exhibition of Miss HANNAH—he acknowledgeth the power of NOVELTY, particularly with respect to a Pamphlet of one of the smaller Rats of the QUEEN's Clofet, called MATHIAS—he giveth the little ANIMAL a good drubbing.—PETER hinteth at some of Miss HANNAH's Clerical Friends in the Reviews—sensibly animadverteth on the varnish-eating power of Father TIME.

---

INDEED, Miss HANNAH has a so-so lyre ;

So out of tune, it murders all the NINE ;

She really playeth not with taste or fire :

No, DOCTOR PORTEUS, no, thou GREAT DIVINE !

Know, PORTEUS, we have WOMEN of renown,

· Miss HANNAH's equals, or my judgments fail :

Nay, numbers, I aver it ! of whose gown

MISS HANNAH is not fit to hold the tail.

With smiles her eulogy MISS HANNAH hears ;
 Laughs in her sleeve at all thy pompous praise :
 In silence wrapp'd, perceives the ass's ears,
 And sits complacent while her STENTOR brays.

Had WISDOM crush'd MISS HANNAH's forward quill—
 Had SILENCE put a gag on HANNAH's tongue—
 No crape had mourn'd upon the MUSES' hill,
 Nor PHOEBUS blubber'd for the loss of song.

Hadst THOU not fondly dragg'd MISS HANNAH forth,
 Plac'd her on high, and cried, "Behold a wonder!"
 No soul had scrutiniz'd the Woman's worth ;
 Safe from the world her weakness, and thy blunder.

Thy praise of HANNAH is a pillar fair,
 A lofty pillar, but supporting what?
 Why, on its head, supporting high in air
 A mole, a grasshopper, a mouse, a rat.

Calm, but for thee, had HANNAH pass'd along ;
 OBLIVION ready, with her shroud and spade,
 To sink her with a prose and rhyming throng
 In sacred silence, and eternal shade.

But

But no ! the BISHOP stops her on her way ;
 Ah, wherefore?—GOD ALMIGHTY only knows !
 To gibbet her amid the blaze of day,
 A piteous carcase for the critic crows.

People should not run riot with applause ;
 But ah ! how many praise without pretence :
 Bawl for a WORK with wide extended jaws ;
 Of words a deluge, and a drop of sense !

I censure not MISS HANNAH for sad prose—
 I censure not MISS HANNAH for sad rhymes :
 God sees my heart ! I only censure those Whose flatteries damn the judgment of the TIMES.

The BAS-BLEU CLUB, grave GREYBEARDS, these old
 DAMES

All-righteous, cramm'd to mouth with heav'nly manna,
 Ambitious of a WIT among their names,
 Into their magic-lantern clapp'd MISS HANNAH :

Then bade the Bishop look with wond'ring eyes—
 The Bishop's wond'ring orbs enjoy'd the sight—
 " A Giants of Genius !" PORTEUS cries, Forgetting it a literary Mite.

Yet

Yet NOVELTY shall lead the world astray,
 And turn ev'n Bishops off from WISDOM's bias ;
 A Mouse shall start the Lion of the day—
 Witnesses that miserable imp MATHIAS.*

Behold ! this human snake, or human toad,
 Sly, 'mid the windings of his murky hole,
 Pour'd on the shrinking world his pois'nous load,
 And on the sighs of MERIT fed his soul.

But lo, of short duration was his date !
 Soon stopp'd the torrent of his wounding lust :
 JUSTICE stepp'd forth to give the FIEND his fate,
 And crush'd him 'midst the Reptiles of the dust.

Though HANNAH's prose present us nothing new—
 Though HANNAH's verse be lame, insipid stuff ;
 Some sable CRITIC, in some kind Review,
 Shall give the little paper-kite a puff.

* This poor little WRETCH, whose pamphlet, misnomered PURSUITS of LITERATURE, but whose true appellation should have been PURSUITS of RANCOUR, dared not acknowledge his own work.—The enormity of its falsehood and impudence was quite a novelty, and, in spite of its contemptible imbecillity, gained the attention of the PUBLIC.—This, MATHIAS mistook for Fame : still he denied any connexion with the pamphlet—every paltry subterfuge was made use of, to escape detection. At length a few LITERARY HOUNDS seriously pursued him, hunted him fairly to his hole, and put the vermin to death.

At

At length comes TIME, with TRUTH's pervading ray,
To separate the Living from the Dead ;
Clears the dark clouds of PREJUDICE away,
And roasts the varnish off, by FLATT'RY spread.

And lo, this varnish, with thy daubing brush
Smear'd o'er MISS HANNAH, must by TIME be roasted ;
The Nymph in all her nakedness will blush,
And courtly PORTEUS, for a Flatterer posted.

ARGUMENT.

---

 ARGUMENT.

PETER fancieth that he hath put the BISHOP in a passion—he giveth his opinion of a Book called STRICTURES UPON FEMALE EDUCATION, with MISS HANNAH'S name annexed—he subtracteth greatly from the merit of MISS HANNAH in those Volumes.—PETER describeth MISS HANNAH'S mode of manœuvring, by two apt and beautiful comparisons, Hemp and Leather—he likeneth MISS HANNAH unto a Hen, who hatcheth the eggs of another Bird—he confesseth her exemplary piety and snow-like appearance, but severely reprimandeth her uncharitableness towards the FRAIL-ONES of her own sex—PETER praiseth his own celestial disposition in favour of fallen Beauty—he addresseth the barbarous part of the Female Creation; asserting that Love and an old Lady are not incompatible—he giveth the Judges a stroke for their amorous faces on trials of RAPE and CRIM. CON.—PETER windeth up sublimely and charitably.

---

NOW, PORTEUS, I behold thee in a passion,
 And thus exclaiming—"What! MISS HANNAH MORE
 " No GENIUS! what is then her EDUCATION,
 " So prais'd and echoed o'er and o'er and o'er?"

I'll tell thee, PORTEUS, what.—MISS HANNAH'S
 STRICTURES
 Are decent things—perhaps MISS HANNAH'S plan;
 But, trust me, they are all some PARSON'S pictures:
 These, HANNAH never drew, nor colour'd, man!

At

At times she finds of hemp a little wad,
 Begs some young LEVITE spin it :—nothing loth,
 He adds large quantities of flax, kind lad,
 And with the mixture fabricates a cloth.

Again—MISS HANNAH finds a scrap of leather,
Horse-skin—and, slyly, to some CRISPIN goes:
 CRISPIN adds calf-skin—puts them both together,
 And makes a tolerable pair of shoes.

MISS HANNAH may be aptly term'd a Hen,
 Who sits on PHEASANT's eggs, to kindness prone;
 Hatches the birds, a pretty brood; but then,
 Weak vanity, she calls the CHICKS her own.

MISS HANNAH's piety we all admire,
 Her life a field of Alpine snow so white!
 And what our good opinion must inspire,
 With BISHOPS she could talk from morn to night.

Oh, had good HANNAH been not so severe
 On each young victim of her tempting bloom!
 Instead of sarcasm dropp'd a pitying tear,
 And with a beam of comfort cheer'd her gloom!

I cannot

I cannot drag the NYMPH to grinning day!

I cannot curse the NYMPH of yielding charms!
 Instead of casting the poor Girl away,
 Lord! I would rather clasp her in my arms!

Hang on her lip, bestow the generous kifs;
 Catch the pure drop that leaves her liquid eye:
 And gently chiding the unlicens'd blifs,
 Reclaim the beauteous MOURNER with a figh.

O think of LOVE, ye LADIES of hard hearts!
 Lo, NATURE weaves it close in ev'ry cranny!
 Ev'n from OLD WOMEN rarely it departs,
 The subject sweet of many a shaking GRANNY.

Ev'n Judges for their gravity rever'd,
 I've seen upon CRIM. CON. with passion gape;
 With wanton questions wag the watering beard,
 Point the hot eye, and chuckle at a RAPE.

PRUDERY, I hate the hag, whose breath would blight
 The opening buds of gentle MAY and JUNE;
 Blest to spread darkness, like the cloud of night,
 That hangs, a dirty malkin, on the moon!

Oh,

Oh, be the wounded Prude who dares reprove,
And furious charge the feeble MAID or DAME,
A NYMPH, who, cautious of the Torch of LOVE,
Has never finged her honour at its flame.

ARGUMENT.

---

 ARGUMENT.

PETER declareth that he liketh literary emulation amongst the SEX, but contendeth for fair play—that is to say, People should publish their own works.—PETER knoweth MISS HANNAH's havage, knoweth all her points, and pronounceth her unqualified for a first-rate Racer, whatever her powers amongst the Ponies.—PETER elucidateth the frauds in Literature, by a SMOCK race.—PETER turneth to the BISHOP, and asketh a shrewd question.—He solemnly calleth on the BISHOP's attention, and sayeth oracular things!—PETER supplicateth the BISHOP to think charitably of his rhyming intentions—he dreadeth the fatal effects of his flattery of MISS HANNAH; making her hold up her nose in contempt of the Under-World, knowing none but Quality.—PETER asserteth such flattery to be a Sin, as it stirreth up Pride, which every body knows ruined the DEVIL.—PETER citeth a Proverb taken from HELL—he again beggeth the BISHOP to think well of his intentions—proclaimeth his Love for BISHOPS, perhaps equal to that of the unbeneficed Clergy.—PETER draweth a parallel between BISHOPS of old, and BISHOPS of the present day—a terrible portrait of the OLD SCHOOL!—a most engaging one of the NEW.—PETER piously concludeth with a prayer for BISHOPS.

---

I LIKE a rivalship in art, I own—

Yes, let there be a spur to emulation :
 But let fair JUSTICE fit upon her throne,
 And keep a little decent regulation.

Lo,

Lo, for the laurel prize MISS HANNAH starts !
 But NATURE, to MISS HANNAH's heels unkind,
 The hopes of honour and of glory thwarts !
 Left is MISS HANNAH's far, yes, far behind.

MISS HANNAH's heels are greasy, let me say ;
 MISS HANNAH's joints are very stiff indeed :
 Her form is rather fitted for the dray,
 Than on NEWMARKET turf to show a speed.

Some years ago, I saw a female race ;
 The prize a shift—a Holland shift, I ween :
 Ten DAMSELS, nearly all in naked grace,
 Rush'd for the precious prize along the green.

SYLVIA, a charming lass (who, if an air
 And face had been permitted to contend,
 Had carried all before her) luckless FAIR !
 Was to her SISTER RACERS forc'd to bend.

When ORSON mounted on a goodly MULE,
 Whose love for SYLVIA to her cause inclin'd him,
 In spite, ye Gods, of ev'ry racing rule,
 Whipp'd up the Damsel on the Beast behind him.

Then off he gallop'd, pass'd each panting MAID,
 Who mark'd the cheer with disappointed eyes;
 Soon brought her in, unblushing at his aid,
 And for his FAV'RITE boldly claim the PRIZE.

O fay, has nought been very like it, here?
 Did no kind SWAIN his hand to HANNAH yield—
 No Bishop's hand to help a HEAVY REAR,
 And bear the NYMPH triumphant o'er the field?

Lift to the Oracles I now advance:—
 A man stark blind should never races run;
 A cripple never should pretend to dance;
 A head of wax should court the SUN.

Then bid MISS HANNAH MORE her pen confine:
 Repress the vainly rhyming, profling rage,
 That makes us sinful damn the nerveless line,
Un-JOB-like curse the pen'ry of the page.

Good PORTEUS, think not ENVY prompts my strain;
 'Tis PITY, PITY bids me verse compose.
 Thy flattery's fumes must turn the VIRGIN's brain;
 So fierce its incense burns beneath her nose.

Oh,

Oh, hadst thou crawl'd a Curate, let me say,
 Harmless thy flatt'ry then had spent its breath;
 Just whisper'd to the world, and died away,
 Like thy own Sermons, and dead Lines on DEATH.

MISS HANNAH's head is now among the clouds,
 Borne by thy necromantic art of praise!
 The NYMPH from vulgar eyes her glory shrouds,
 To mix with high-ton'd quality her rays.

TO THEM MISS HANNAH, strutting forth so fine,
 In all thy gaudy flow'rs superbly drest.
 Must raise a smile on graver mouths than mine;
 Such seeming mock'ry—such a solemn jest!

An Oracle behold MISS HANNAH grown!
 Each Child of title lisps MISS HANNAH's name;
 A Bishop's plaudit sanctifies a Joan:—
 What better passport to the house of Fame?

Thus then, O MAN of GOD, thy flattery fins;
 For thou hast conjur'd up the Woman's vanity—
 Bestow'd false consequence on heads of pins,
 And giv'n (O blush!) a substance to inanity.

Thus then thy praises of MISS HANNAH's head
 To Pride, that pitfall of old SATAN, win her!
 PORTEUS, there is a proverb thou shouldst read,
 "When FLATT'ERS meet, the Devil goes to dinner."

Deem not, good PORTEUS, that in this my song
 I mean to harrow up thy humble mind,
 And stay that voice in London known so long;
 For balm and softness an Etesian wind.

My love for Bishops is proverbial grown:
 Sweet is the race, and so MISS HANNAH says:
 Where'er I wander, lo! I make it known!
 How different from the tribes of distant days!

Long were a BISHOP's tusks in times of yore,
 His gaping gullet flam'd the track of Hell;
 Loud as the Lybian Lion's was his roar,
 His frowns like lightning, blasting where they fell.

Then PERSECUTION rais'd her Iron crow,
 And saw, with dotting eye, her power display'd;
 Enjoy'd the flying brains at ev'ry blow,
 And blest'd the knives and hooks with which she flay'd.
 Grill'd,

Grill'd, roasted, carbonaded, fricasseed

Men, women, children, for the slightest things ;

Burnt, strangled, glorying in the horrid deed ;

Nay, starv'd and flogg'd GOD's great VICEGERENTS,
KINGS!

But things are chang'd—assume a different tone,

The teeth of BISHOPS are a gentle set ;

Content, if nought is near, to pick a bone ;

So little pamper'd with delicious meat.

How sweet the smile, when Bishop, Bishop greets !

How flow the honey'd streams of salutation,

Ev'n in the middle of our London streets :

Rich lessons of good-will to all the Nation !

No scorn now frowneth from a Bishop's eye,

No founts of anger from his lips escape ;

Save on a Curate's importuning sigh,

Save on the penury of ragged crape.

Now God preserve the Bishops, every skin,

To blaze like beacons to the darken'd Nations ;

To roast old SATAN, knock down GAMMER SIN,

And for a pack of rascals hang the PASSIONS.

Thus ends my song, perhaps a child of FAME.—

And now, for Justice' sake, let me petition:
Should FORTUNE chance to give thy CHARGE a name,
Omit Miss HANNAH's in the next Edition.

MISS HANNAH MORE having, with unmerited severity, nay, illiberality, attacked the poor Poets en masse, alias in a lump, in the following terms, viz. "The Poets again, who, to do them justice, are always ready to lend a helping hand when any mischief is to be done;" I have, unlike MISS HANNAH, preserved a Christian spirit on the occasion, a spirit which she every where so fervently recommends, and meekly made my complaint in poetical expostulation, hoping that she will, with the usual assistance of her good friends the CLERGY, vouchsafe me an answer, in some measure to justify the slander, or expunge it in the next Edition of what are called her STRICTURES ON FEMALE EDUCATION.*

 ARGUMENT.

The Poet begs to be informed of the cause of Miss HANNAH's Wrath—he praiseth the mildness of the POETS—he putteth fly and shrewd Questions to Miss HANNAH.—PETER complaineth of Miss HANNAH's general sarcasm on himself and Brother Bards.—PETER puffeth himself—boasteth of the ROYAL ATTENTION to his Works—also of one of the PRINCESSES, all the favourites of PETER, whom PETER admireth and laudeth—also of Miss TYRON, late Maid of Honour, and the present Maids of Honour—likewise of the immortal KOTSCIUSKO.—PETER with his accustomed liberality exhibiteth the reverse of the medal, describing the unfavourable opinion entertained of HIM by the BLUE-STOCKING CLUB—he giveth the anathema of a LITTLE old MAN in petticoats, called URGANDA, an important Membres of the Society, and much attended to in the Debates.—DAME URGANDA calleth upon Miss HANNAH to be the little DAVID of the Club, and stay GOLIAH PETER.—PETER cannot account for Miss HANNAH's attack on the POETS—He maketh Miss HANNAH a grand offer of composing a glorious panegyric on her splendid genius, the very instant Miss HANNAH informs him where it is to be found.

EXPOSTULATION.

SAY, angry HANNAH, on a gentle THRONG,
 Why boils thus o'er the cauldron of thine ire?
 A dove-like offspring are the SONS of SONG,
 A cherub race the CHILDREN of the LYRE.

POETS

POETS were ever deem'd a sacred Band,
 Abounding with much virtue, meekness, grace;
 Indeed a peaceful treasure to the Land,
 The ROBIN RED-BREASTS of the human Race.

Oh! has no Bard to HANNAH pour'd an air;
 With HANNAH'S beauty bid no stanza glow;
 Her cheek's warm roses, and her flaxen hair,
 The lip of purple, and the neck of snow?

Oh! hast thou past through life without a rhyme?
 No sweet acrostic on thy liquid name?
 No rebus, no conundrum's happy chime,
 Proclaiming graces, and a hopeless flame?

Tell me, did no fond LOVER ever write
 A decent distich on his fav'rite MAID?
 Not to his dear LUCRETIA once endite?
 For sonnetearing is the LOVER'S trade!

Somewhat has wounded thee, 'tis very plain!
 REVENGE, I fear, lies rankling in thine heart;
 Then say thy cause of anger and disdain—
 Why on poor POETS hast thou been so tart.

Much for the Poet's character I feel—

And me a POET, MAJESTY will own;

Nay, nay, my glory why should I conceal?

My works, morocco-gilt, are near the Throne.

The charming PRINCESSES who court the NINE,

Whom TASTE delighted proudly leads along—

THESE, with a smile, have read my early line,

And with their names shall grace my latest song.

MISS TRYON, MAID of HONOUR to the QUEEN,

In rich Morocco bid my works be bound :

Beneath the pillows of the rest, I ween,

The Works of PETER PINDAR may be found.

Me KOTSCIOUSKO deems a BARD DIVINE;

My works illum'd his dungeon * of affright :

'Twas there the HERO read my Lyric line,

Yea, read my lucubrations with delight.

TO ME the HERO rich FALERNIAN sent,

To soothe the horrors of our gloomy weather ;

TO HIM in LEICESTER-FIELDS with joy I went ;

For BARDS and HEROES pair like Doves together.

* When a prisoner in Ruffia.

Yet let me say, be done fair Justice too,
 Some damn in toto my poor thoughts and style;
 The toothless gums of half the grave BAS-BLEU,
 Watering, and wondering how the world can smile.

URGANDA, with more beard than female grace,
 If old Urganda has not learnt to shave,
 Makes, at my name, most horrible grimace,
 Screaming, "I'd buy a rope to hang the knave."

"My dearest, sweetest PANEGYRIST, MORE,
 "Pray, pray oblige me with your flippant pen;
 "Lord! you have so much wit—yes, such a store!
 "Pray, HANNAH, cut us up this worst of men.

"Oh, cut the fellow into mince meat, pray!—
 "Whene'er I hear his name, I'm in a stew:
 "He's worse than JOHNSON, ten times, let me say,
 "Who gave himself such airs on the BAS-BLEU.

"O Lord! O Lord! what is PARNASSUS now?
 "A dismal, barren, melancholy waste;
 "Brambles, and weeds, and briars on the brow;
 "No fruit—no fruit, to gratify the taste.

In

- “ In short, this once great celebrated Hill
 “ Exhibits only children at the nipple;
 “ A hospital indeed that Idiots fill,
 “ And every fort of lame and hopping cripple.
- “ On YOU, our little DAVID, mind, we call,
 “ To knock this vile GOLIAH on the head:
 “ Down with him!—like a bullock let him fall;
 “ Down with him!—Lord! I long to see him dead!
- “ Then, then, the horrid monster grins no more;
 “ Then at our Club the owl no longer hoots:
 “ Thus shall our Club the glorious deed adore.”—
 Thus spoke the little proud old Puss in boots!

But now to thee, fair HANNAH, to return,
 For much I long thy fury's cause to know;
 Nought have I done to bid thine anger burn;
My ink can never blot the vest of snow.

Lo! to do justice,—with a liberal spirit,
 I'm now on tip-toe, to begin my lays!
 Hint to the POET but thy various merit,
 I'll make PARNASSUS thunder with thy praise.

HOW

HOW unlike the Bishops of old are our modern men of lawn ! Formerly they were all pride, hypocrisy, insolence, and rapacity; but behold! the present race are mild, affable, charitable, and generous; and though so eminently exalted above their half-starved Curates, appear to have been bred (gentle Doves) in the bosom of HUMILITY.

---

DUPLICITY, OR THE BISHOP OF OLD.

A BISHOP, not a British Bishop,—no—
(Ours are a sweeter set of Saints, I trow)

Was by his SOVEREIGN sent to rule abroad:

Immediately upon the news

Of his arrival, came some Jews

To compliment the mitred MAN of GOD.

“ Jews!” bawl’d the Bishop, in the direst passion,

“ D’ye think I’ll see that vile apostate Nation?

“ Run, PIERROT—drive them off—run faster, faster;

“ Tell them they crucified my HEAVENLY MASTER.”

“ But SIR, but SIR,” quoth PIERROT, stepping back,
Devoutly whispering in the Bishop’s ear—

“ These Jews bring PRESENTS! Lord! at least a sack.”

“ Ah! ah! replied the Bishop—less austere—

“ These people could know nothing of the sin—

“ Poor creatures! well, well, PIERROT, let ’em in.”

SIMPLICITY,

SIMPLICITY, OR THE CURATE.

HOW difficult, alas! to please mankind!

One or the other every moment mutters:
This wants an eastern, that a western wind;
A third, petition for a southern, utters.

Some pray for rain, and some for frost and snow:
How can Heav'n suit all palates?—I don't know.

Good LAMB, the Curate, much approv'd.
Indeed by all his flock belov'd,

Was one dry summer begg'd to pray for rain:
The PARSON most devoutly pray'd—
The pow'rs of pray'r were soon display'd;
Immediately a torrent drench'd the plain.

It chanc'd that the Churchwarden, ROBIN JAY,
Had of his meadow not yet sav'd the hay:

Thus was his hay to health quite past restoring.
It happen'd too that ROBIN was from home;
But when he heard the story, in a foam
He fought the PARSON, like a lion roaring.

“ Zounds!

“ Zounds! PARSON LAMB, why, what have you been doing?

“ A pretty storm indeed ye have been brewing!

“ What! pray for rain before I fav'd my hay!

“ Oh! you're a cruel and ungrateful man!

“ I that for ever help you all I can;

“ Ask you to dine with me and MISTRESS JAY,

“ Whenever we have something on the spit,

“ Or in the pot a nice and dainty bit;

“ Send you a goose, a pair of chicken,

“ Whose bones you are so fond of picking;

“ And often too a cag of brandy!

“ You that were welcome to a treat,

“ To smoke and chat, and drink and eat;

“ Making my house so very handy!

“ You, PARSON, serve one such a scurvy trick!

“ Zounds! you must have the bowels of OLD NICK.

“ What! bring the flood of Noah from the skies,

“ With my fine field of hay before your eyes!

“ A numscull, that I wer'n't of this aware!—

“ Curse me but I had stopp'd your pretty pray'r!

“ Dear

“ Dear MISTER JAY! (quoth LAMB) alas! alas!

“ I never thought upon your field of grafs.”—

“ Lord! PARSON, you ’re a fool, one might suppose—

“ Was not the field just underneath your nose?

“ This is a very pretty losing job!”—

“ Sir,” quoth the Curate, know that HARRY COBB

“ Your Brother Warden join’d, to have the pray’r.”—

“ COBB! COBB! why this for COBB was only sport:

“ What doth COBB own that any rain can hurt?”

Roar’d furious JAY as broad as he could stare.

“ The fellow owns, as far as I can larn,

“ A few old houses only, and a barn,

“ As that’s the case, zounds! what are show’rs to him?

“ Not NOAH’s flood could make his trumpery swim.

“ Besides—why could you not for drizzle pray?

“ Why force it down on buckets on the hay?

“ Would I have play’d with your hay such a freak?

“ No! I’d have stopp’d the weather for a week.”

“ Dear MISTER JAY, I do protest

“ I acted solely for the best;

“ I do

- “ I do affirm it, MISTER JAY, indeed.
“ Your anger for this once restrain,
“ I’ll never bring a drop again
“ Till YOU and ALL THE PARISH are agreed.

ARGUMENT.

PETER addresseth the old LITERARY LADIES with much poetical solemnity—beggeth their pardon for taking liberties with MISS HANNAH MORE, one of the Columns of the BLUE-STOCKING CLUB—he hinteth to them that MISS HANNAH's last Book is not MISS HANNAH's.—PETER illustrateth MISS HANNAH's manœuvres by a sublime comparison of an old MOUSER and her DAUGHTER.—PETER indulgeth himself in another apt comparison of a Fish-theft, thinking MISS HANNAH may, in a sly way, have borrowed her last PUBLICATION; and adviseth the restoration to the Proprietor.

OLDCRITICS—GAMMER WISDOMS—sapient DAMES,
Who, fond of being deem'd illustrious Names,
Proudly o'er MOUNT PARNASSUS cast your shoes;
In grave Divan, who most sublimely fit,
Pronouncing judgment upon works of WIT,
Indeed on all the labours of the MUSE!
Accept a little Ode from PETER,
Who charms you seldom with his metre.

Wife

Wise DAMES, I know your motley CLUB
 Has met with many a wanton drub
 From that fly PROTEUS, clepped RIDICULE;
 Whose talent is to sneer and laugh,
 To call important matters raff,
 And lower WISDOM sometimes to a fool.

Now, Ladies, don't be in a passion,
 Because I've treated in such fashion
 MISS HANNAH, whom you idolize and foster:
 I do assure you, SOLEMN DAMES,
 MISS HANNAH with no merit flames,
 No! she's a little bit of an Impostor.

I know you call the Nymph, the SUN so bright:
 Now, she's MISS MOON—and borroweth all her light.

Who has not seen a kind old MOTHER CAT
 Deliver a dead bird, or mouse, or rat,
 To her young kitten, MISS GRIMALKIN?
 Miss catches it with raptur'd claws,
 Locks it at once within her jaws,
 Round with cock'd tail, and round triumphant walking;

So carefully her treasure holding, watching,
And proudly purring "This is all my catching."

Has not MISS HANNAH been the kitten here?
Too strongly she resembles it, I fear!

Believe me, your MISS HANNAH MORE,
As I have somewhere said before,
Starts like the COUNTRY LASSES for the shift;
And just like SYLVIA left behind
By rivals, much against her mind,
Who stole before them by a lucky lift.

MISS HANNAH, too, a LUCKY lift has had
On some kind Priest's—perchance a Bishop's pad!
MISS HANNAH'S Work, so much beprais'd,
By Flattery's puff so highly rais'd;
I say MISS HANNAH'S pretty EDUCATION-book,
Of fishing parties starts a story,
Where one shall steal another's trout or dory,
And slyly pull it in on his own hook.

Now, LADIES, as your honours are at stake,
I beg you, for your reputation's sake,

To

To fift this petty larceny of the pen;
And as ye probably may find it out,
Confront Miss HANNAH—kick up some small rout—
And make her give the man his fi/h again.

SWEET MINSTRELS of the founding choir,
Your ditties soothe, delight, inspire ;
That wake the echoes from their deep repose ;
    Soft echoes dying through the Dome,
    (As though from SPIRITS of the tomb)
Soon as your voices sink in plaintive close !

Again, O ! lull me with your lay,
And let it never die away.
How welcome rise your hymns to Heav'n,
In gratitude so simply giv'n !
CELESTIALS smile upon your songs of praise :
    For to the chaste angelic ear
    The grateful voice is ever near,
But loath'd the sounds that AFFECTATION brays ;
And yet how many a voice, and pipe, and chord,
Brays to the praise and glory of the LORD !

Hark !

Hark! hark! what rude discordant sounds!
 A jail broke loose!—a pack of hounds!
 No, 'tis a BISHOP, DEAN, and bawling BOYS!
 What uproar wild! The wolves of Thrace
 Howl to the moon with sweeter grace;
 Ev'n LYBIA'S Lions make not half the noise,

What human brain the thunder bears;
 A kingdom for a pair of patent ears!

Yet while they deal these direful sounds;
 Din that disturbs, affrights, astounds;
 How merciful is HEAV'N, to bear the bother,
 And not knock one thick scull against the other!

Yet to the praise and glory of the Lord,
 As oft they ope the volume of their throat,
 Their gullets gape not of their own accord:—
 'Tis money, money only, prompts the note.
 Heav'n's Cherubs blush, and burning Seraphs stare,
 To think that bribes must purchase praise and pray'r.

Sweet RACE, to you I turn again!
 Now all the ear-distracting TRAIN

Has left the dome, the cherub PEACE restor'd.—
 How different your delighting throats!
 How different all your liquid notes!

How different too your merits with the LORD!
 For how can Heav'n with venal sounds be taken,
 Tainted with ale and gin, and eggs and bacon?

Yes! all is hush'd the vault along!
 Resume, resume the choral song,
 And make atonement for the horrid cry.
 Lo! in her shroud, near yonder tomb,
 A gentle SPECTRE breaks the gloom!
 She listens!—lo! she listens with a sigh!
 Ah! bid your airs divinely flow,
 And, soothing, steal a tear from woe.

The deep'ning shades of NIGHT prevail,
 They wrap the hollow-sounding aisle,
 And steal each column from the eye:
 What solemn solitude around!
 Here NATURE's true Sublime is found,
 Hence THOUGHT should travel to the sky!

Mild tenants of the FANE, farewell!
At early dawn I quit my cell,
And haste, a PILGRIM, to these shrines again:
SIMPLICITY will join my way,
And listen to your mingled lay,
And, list'ning, learn a lesson from your strain.

POSTSCRIPT.

POSTSCRIPT.

---

AS I am destitute of friends among the periodical REVIEWERS of LITERATURE, I confess my fears of foul treatment, and tremble for this my youngest offspring; which, in a moment of spleen or ignorance, may be put to death by the tomahawk of CRITICISM. Now, as charity begins at home, and as every man is entitled to as much justice from himself as from his neighbour, I have, sans cérémonie, given a free and impartial account of my own Pamphlet; thus anticipating the REVIEWERS, and at the same time hanging out a sort of beacon to guide them, when it shall become the subject of their sage animadversion. In my discussion I have adopted the aristarchal style of the day, and personated a REVIEWER totally unconnected with the Author; by which means I have avoided an egotism, so apt to gall the withers, or to use a more fashionable phrase, to wound the amour-propre of every candidate for a niche in the TEMPLE of FAME.

NIL ADMIRARI, &c.

Works of real genius are such rare aves, such literary phenomena, that it is with the utmost pleasure we embrace every opportunity of relaxing from the severity of criticism, to offer the meed of honest praise.

The present subject of our critical animadversion is founded on that part of the BISHOP of LONDON's Charge to the Clergy which celebrates MISS HANNAH MORE in the highest strain of panegyric for her literary achievements. The BISHOP's encomium created a risible effect on his AUDIENCE. The POET, among
the

rest, surveying it in a ridiculous point of view, thought it a fair object of attack; in consequence, he has produced a SMILE at the expence of the BISHOP and his fair Protégée. It is with the most sincere satisfaction that we can pronounce that PETER's Pegasus has rather improved than lost its speed, nothing yet appearing of the peccet ad extremum ridendus—PETER is still HIMSELF—The same fire, the same originality, the same poignant irony, the same vivida vis animi, the same luxuriancy of imagination, the same powers of pathos and sublimity which so eminently distinguish him from contemporary authors, characterise the present performance.—Such a combination of various and opposite talents we never witnessed in the same writer—to use an elegant and nervous expression of his own, “he can be one minute an eagle sublimely sweeping the Heavens with his pinions, and the next, a little elegant wren twittering on the humble myrtles.” Indeed, we may say of his works what the brave MARSHAL SAXE asserted of the behaviour of the British troops at Fontenoy, “It is an action we all must admire, but dare not imitate.”

The number of literary abuses that are continually taking place most certainly demands a reform. To beg a friend to correct the errors of inadvertence, or even now and then suggest an idea, is certainly not illaudable; but for an Author to send his bantling to people, to add and alter in such a manner as that scarcely a single lineament of the original features shall appear, certainly requires all the severity of reprehension. PETER seems more than to suspect that MISS MORE has been too much obliged to somebody; and really there is such a wonderful difference between this last Performance and several other pieces of this Lady's pen, that we must confess our astonishment at seeing her name prefixed to a work seemingly so much beyond her powers of accomplishment, though not entitled to that tor- rent

rent of applause poured on it by the BISHOP of LONDON in his Charge to the Clergy. Indeed his Lordship's praise is of the most fulsome nature; and did we not know his Lordship's most ingenuous and disinterested disposition, we should have been tempted to suspect an interested alliance between BISHOP and BOOKSELLER.

The EXPOSTULATION is a fair Piece of Satire, and executed in the Poet's happiest manner; pleine de bonnes plaisanteries de tours heureux, d'esprit, de bon goût, enfin de toutes les graces de la POESIE, as a French critic would have expressed himself on the occasion.

The Tales of the BISHOP and CURATE are told with neatness, precision, and humour.—The Author seems to have combined the closeness of ÆSOP with the elegance of PHÆDRUS and naïveté of FONTAINE.

The ODE to the BLUE-STOCKING CLUB is rather severe in some parts, but tempered with a pleasantry that tickles even while it seems to wound.

The ODE to some ROBIN REDBREASTS in a Country Cathedral possesses an uncommon portion of poetical merit; displaying, at the same time, such a benevolence and sweetness of disposition (truly characteristic of the Author) as must make ample atonement for all the sins of his SATIRES.

It is with reluctance that we are obliged to censure our BROTHER LABOURERS in the field of CRITICISM, for endeavouring by the most illiberal methods to obscure this POETICAL STAR of the first magnitude. Think, indignant READERS, of their either loading him with rancourous abuse, or hiding his classic name amongst

amongst Bug-Doctors, Quacks, and Rat-catchers; bringing at the same time forwards mounted on the highest pedestal of their Reviews, miserable ABORTIONS clothed in all the gold-laced frippery of adulation, from which the PUBLIC must turn with contempt, disgust, and disappointment. Instead of coming forwards, as the fair and candid INTERPRETERS of the MUSES, they are too many of them the partial TRUMPETERS of their own pigmy pretensions; or despicable PIMPS, hired to debauch the PUBLIC TASTE, and mislead the judgment; to displace the statues of GENIUS, to make room for those of ARROGANCE and FOLLY.

The MUSES love thee dearly, PETER,
And eke the merry GOD of Metre,
Who gracious gave thee such a charming tongue :
We thought that AGE had quench'd thy fire,
Or LAW's rude hammer crush'd thy Lyre,

PRELIMINARY DISCOURSE.

---

IT were needless, O ILLUMINATED READER, to inform thee, that the hint of the TALES of the HOY is borrowed from CHAUCER, who borrowed his hint from the DECAMERON of BOCCACE, who borrowed his hint from the CENTO NOVELLE ANTICHE. Thou wilt perceive that I have deviated from my merry PREDECESSOR, by omitting a PRIZE-SUPPER for the best STORY-TELLER. I have also deviated, by introducing Ballad, Dialogue, &c. by way of taking off a fatiguing monotony; thus enlivening the scene by diversity, which possesses a charm for the world in general.

Mine HOST of the HOY also differs from the HOST of the TABARD, by delivering his opinions in prose, a more natural mode of communication, though not so difficult, and consequently not so ingenious; difficulty and ingenuity being, in the present age, considered as synonymous, by a number of profound Thinkers! It would be thought presumptuous, perhaps, to draw a parallel between HARRY BAILY, the HOST of the TABARD, and CAPTAIN NOAH, our Host of the Hoy; but I must confess that I would rather be CAPTAIN NOAH than HARRY BAILY; not that HARRY BAILY was not a clever fellow—indeed he had humour, added to a shrewdness of observation; but HARRY BAILY had scarcely ever been out of the smoke of his own chimney: whereas CAPTAIN NOAH has been, like ULYSSES, a great Traveller; has sailed to various parts of the Globe; was on board the very Ship of War with Mr. GEORGE ROSE, our present great and excellent SECRETARY of the TREASURY, when he was only a poor Purser's Mate, and was with him too when he was elevated, by Parliamentary Interest, to the rank of PURSER; and well remembers that he has often d-mned Mr. ROSE's rotten peas, ropy small beer, hopping biscuit, and horse-beef. CAPTAIN NOAH was likewise with SIR JOSEPH BANKS at Otaheitee, when that great man, for the honour of his country, was tattoo'd and lost his breeches in the boat with QUEEN OBEREAH. CAPTAIN NOAH also can play a country-dance on the fiddle, and dance the hays at the same time—nay, so far from being illiterate, he has published an Acrostic in Mr. JOHN NICHOLS's Magazine; nay, CAPTAIN NOAH has actually given literary hints to MESSIEURS RIVINGTONS and their WIVES, of St. Paul's Church-yard, who preside over the poetical part of a REVIEW called the BRITISH CRITIC, and before whose AWFUL TRIBUNAL this very work of mine, The TALES of the HOY, must one day appear, and, like themselves, at the day of judgement, be saved or damned!

CAPTAIN NOAH possesses a more original cast of character, a richer vein of humour, and a more universal knowledge; resembling too very strongly my late ingenious Friend GAINSBOROUGH, of painting excellence; that is to say, is desultory in his conversation, despising the cold phlegmatic form of connexion, and taking a hop, step, and jump over things—to borrow an image from the CAPTAIN's favourite and congenial element, making ducks-and-drakes with discourse. By the introduction of Dialogue, my WORK assumes a pretty dramatic form; and which, with the leave of our present PETRONIUS ARBITER of PLAYS, the accomplished LORD SALISBURY, may one day make its appearance on our Theatres; be honoured with the ROYAL PRESENCE and smile, perhaps; and prove that a PIECE may obtain success without the most distant obligations to FLAMES and SPECTRES.

'T WAS in that month when NATURE drear,
With sorrow whimpering, drops a tear,
To find that WINTER, with a savage sway,
Prepares to leave his HALL of STORMS,
And crush her flow'rs delightful forms,
And banish SUMMER's poor last lingering ray ;

'Twas in that season when the men of flop,
The JEW and GENTILE turn towards their shop,
In alley's dark of LONDON's ample round ;
From MARGATE's handsome spot, and HOOPER'S-HILL,
And DANDELION, where, with much good will,
Of butter'd rolls they swallow many a pound ;

I too, the BARD, from THANET's pleasant isle,
Where at a Lodging-house, I liv'd in stile,
Prepar'd with GENTILE and with JEW to wander ;
So pack'd up all my little odds and ends ;
Took silent leave of all my MARGATE Friends,
And fought a gallant Vessel's GREAT COMMANDER ;

Who, proud of empire, rul'd with conscious joy
His wooden Kingdom, call'd a MARGATE HOY!

Lord! how my gaping READERS long to know,
Which gallant Vessel's valiant LORD!

(A natural curiosity I trow!)
Hail'd the GREAT POET and his TRUNK on board!
If KYDD, who nicks the passage to an inch,
Or HE, his high and mighty rival, FINCH!

No matter! Be it known to my Readers, that, on the day of my departure, on the green lap of MOTHER
EARTH, on HOOPER'S-HILL, looking towards dear
DANDELION of dancing memory, I thus broke forth into the Praise of MARGATE.

THE PRAISE OF MARGATE.

---

DEAR MARGATE, with a tear I quit this isle,
 Where all seem happy--sweethearts, husbands, spouses:
 On ev'ry cheek, where PLEASURE plants a smile,
 And PLENTY furnishes the People's houses.

What's BRIGHTON, when to thee compar'd!--poor thing;

Whose barren hills in mist for ever weep;
 Or what is WEYMOUTH, tho' a QUEEN and KING
 Wash, walk, and prattle there, and wake, and sleep?

Go bid the WHITING's, the boil'd WHITING's eye,
 In brightness with the Gem of IND compare;
 Or bid the skipping JACK-O'-LANTERN vie
 With heav'n's keen flash that lights the realms of air:

Go bid the humble THORN, the CEDARS ape,
 That to the stars their tops sublimely spread;
 Go bid a CURATE in his tatter'd crape,
 Like DOCTOR PORTEUS lift the lofty head.

Bid * ROSE'S Sun like SOL with lustre shine ;
 Or bid that thing misnomer'd the TRUE BRITON,
 Like brother Papers yield a decent line—
 Poor dying IMPS, whom TRUTH and GENIUS spit on.

* A GREAT MAN, who deemed it politically necessary to create a couple of NEWSPAPERS to vouch for his good deeds, and varnish others. The consumptive state of his two miserable Bantlings, which GEORGE weakly imagined would prove to be a pair of ATLASSES to support his World of Character, gave birth to the following ODE of CONDOLENCE.

 ODE OF CONDOLENCE

TO
 GEORGE ROSE, ESQ.

*On his two NEWSPAPERS, most unfortunately baptised, "The SUN," and
 "The TRUE BRITON."*

FORBEAR thee, GEORGE, such whining, puling, sighing,
 Because thy poor consumptive BRATS are dying—
 By thee begotten,—how could they be strong?
 So very like thyself in all their features !
 Unhappy, miserable, dismal creatures,
 The world now wonders they have liv'd so long.
 What but insanity could well expect
 Perfection from such radical defect?
 A sow's ear cannot make a purse of silk ;
 We cannot to a whale convert the shrimp.
 What folly too to put out each poor IMP
 To NURSES yielding not one drop of milk.
 Then prithee for thy Papers sigh no more—
 So worthless, for OBLIVION they are ripe ;
 Peace to their slumber, as their date is o'er—
 Peace to their ashes, as they light my Pipe.

What

What too thy reputation's wing will raise,
 And with a bush of laurel deck thy name ;
 Lo! I, the sweetest BARD of modern days,
 Admiring turn the STENTOR of thy fame.

No sooner had I finished this pretty, plaintive, poetical encomium, but, in a tender dove-like strain of delicate sensibility, very much like the HEBREW BARD weeping over his favourite JERUSALEM, I thus again broke out:

Whate'er from dirty THAMES to MARGATE goes ;
 However foul, immediately turns fair !
 Whatever filth offends the LONDON nose,
 Acquires a fragrance soon from Margate Air.

Ev'n ROSE'S NEWS-HUNTERS, his scandal-CRIMPS,
 Are chang'd to Wits, so great are Margate-Pow'rs ;
 Yes! his poor Trumpeters, the noisy IMPS,
 Become sweet Philomels, in Margate Bow'rs !

The TAYLOR here, the port of MARS assumes ;
 Who cross-legg'd sat in silence on his board—
 Forgets his goose and rag-besprinkled rooms,
 And thread and thimble, and now struts a LORD !

Here CRISPIN too forgets his end, and awl—

Here MISTRESS CLEAVER with importance looks!
 Forgets the beef, and mutton on her stall,
 And lights and livers dangling from the hooks.

Here MISTRESS TAP, from pewter pots withdrawn,
 Walks forth in all the pride of paunch and geer;
 Mounts her swoln heels on DANDELION'S lawn,
 And at the ball-room heaves her heavy rear.

Chang'd by their travels—mounted high in foul,
 Here SUDS forgets whate'er remembrance shocks;
 And MISTRESS SUDS forgetteth too the Pole,
 Wigs, bob and pig-tail, hafons, razors, blocks!

Here too the most important DICKY DAB
 With puppy-pertness, pretty, pleasant PRIG,
 Forgets the narrow, fishy house of CRAB,
 And drives in Jehu-stile his whirling Gigg!

And here 'midst all such consequence am I,
 THE POET! semper idem—just the same—
 Bidding old SATIRE'S hawk at follies fly,
 To fill the shops of BOOKSELLERS with game.

Now in sorrow did I descend to the Pier, along-side of which Pier was the Vessel ordained to transport me from MARGATE.

In sorrow let me say, I descended, to go on board the VESSEL,

Which like gilt gingerbread did ride,
(How garish on the silver tide!)

To whose smart ribs was golden varnish giv'n!
Her blushing ensign proudly waving—
Her pendant now in Ocean laving,

Now sportive floating on the breeze to heav'n;
Like GAUDY MORTALS, steady now, now tripping;
Now in the Zenith—now to Nadir dipping:

At length I got me on board the Ark, where Master NOAH, alias the CAPTAIN, was busy, amidst scores of Passengers, of different faces, quality, and dispositions, in getting ready for the Voyage.—The anchor was soon apeak, the sails filled, and we were under way.

Now, as our immortal MILTON sublimely would have sung:

“ With dewy gems adorning herb and flow'r,

“ Mov'd meek-eye'd EVENING on the western hills

“ With modest mien, and on the calm expanse

“ Of

“ Of OCEAN’S mirror look’d, and looking ting’d
 “ Its heaving bosom with a roseate blush !
 “ A blush empyreal!—

Or, as the no less immortal Author of HUDIBRAS
 would have quaintly said ;

“ Now MADAM EVE, with gown of pink,
 “ Stepp’d down to NEPTUNE’S tap to drink,
 “ Where PHŒBUS just before had been
 “ At his old fam’d Salt-water INN,
 “ (To end the labours of the day)
 “ And give his horses, oats, and hay,
 “ And bed, and clear their hoofs from gravel,
 “ To fit them for next morning’s travel.”

Again, as the illustrious BUTLER would have said,
 or sung :

NIGHT, in her weeds, with bats and owls
 (Her usual equipage of fowls)
 Came forth ; and changing colour, DAY,
 (According to her vulgar way)
 Like healthy FELONS hang’d, alack !
 Turn’d from deep red to dismal black.

And

And now CAPTAIN NOAH, with a voice more like that of the RAVEN than the NIGHTINGALE, most audibly yet civilly vociferated, "LADIES and GEMMEN of the best CABIN! please to walk below!" At such summons we descended, where our PALINURUS thus began:

"LADIES and GEMMEN, you are all welcome on board; and as we shall not reach LONDON till to-morrow, in God's name let us drown old CARE in the BOWL.—Here's a pretty little Pond of punch; and when we suck that dry, we'll fill another and another; so God prosper the Vessel, and send us a pleasant passage! Long may we live, and merry be our hearts! Down with the French! and damn BUONAPARTE! Cheer up, lads and lasses! While we live, let us live! We must all go at last to DAVY JONES's Locker—no help for it, all must go down—fortune de la guerre! We shall never be a day younger! May we kiss whom we please, and please whom we kiss! Love and opportunity! Liberty and property! Come, LADIES and GEMMEN, take your places around the old table—dip your whiskers in the nectar! Drown old CARE, as I said before! A light heart and a thin pair of breeches! There's a good God over our head! OLD ENGLAND for ever! Come, LADIES and GEMMEN, I'll be TOAST-MASTER. Here's my CHAIR of state, and here's my HAMMER. I'll be the MISTER JUPITER TONANS of the night, as some Latin men have christened me, with your leave—so, LADIES and GEMMEN, please

to obey my orders. A TOAST-MASTER, LADIES and GEMMEN, is the greatest man in the world—no appeal from a TOAST-MASTER. He is despotic—like our PRIME MINISTER, scorns to give a reason for what he does. LADIES and GEMMEN, a TOAST-MASTER is all-wise; let me wickedly say, omnipotent, for the CHAIR must be supported; and therefore he can command every thing. A TOAST-MASTER may say, ‘MOAB shall be my washpot, and over EDMON will I cast out my old shoe.’ A TOAST-MASTER is the first man in the world—Were his MAJESTY of ENGLAND here now, in this very Cabin here (GOD bless him), and refused his glass, or contradicted me, or asked a reason, I would order him a half dozen bumpers; if not contented with that, a pint of salt water; and were his MAJESTY to demand of my MAJESTY a reason for such proceedings, then should my MAJESTY order his MAJESTY a pottle; which if he refused, he should be sent to Coventry before he could say ‘Peas.’” The Captain ended; when the dark SOLEMNITY which saddens the faces of Englishmen who happen to be strangers to one another, was converted into a smile that instantaneously ran over every countenance, by a sort of happy contagion.

Thus oft it happens that the sky
Throws horrid glooms upon the eye;

Breeds

Breeds clouds like malkins—old, black rags indeed!

The lands below look dismal, drear!

When suddenly, see SOL appear!

He pushes boldly through the DARK, his head!

At once the shadows to his glories yield,

And cheerful radiance flies from field to field.

CAPTAIN NOAH now mounted his large ELBOW-CHAIR, assumed his SCEPTRE, alias HAMMER, and, commanding silence, entered upon his song.

SONG.

AGAIN we begin to be BRITONS, my boys:

While united, success we command:—

Lo! each Tar on the OCEAN a triumph enjoys,

And Laurels shall cover the LAND.

Though surrounded by foes that in legions arise,

And cry for our ruin aloud,

The GENIUS of ENGLAND their fury defies,

And bursts like the SUN from a Cloud!

May the KING live for ever, the friend of our ISLE,

That revolts at the name of a SLAVE;

Whose eye for fair MERIT possesses a smile,

And a tear for the tomb of the BRAVE!

No

No Man to his Mistress or Wife will return,
 And say:—" I have fled from the Foe ;
 " My honour is gone, in the grave let me mourn
 " A disgrace that no BRITON should know."

FRANCE, the beggar shall be of the year fifty-eight,
 When for mercy she put up her pray'r;
 With nought but her perfidy left, and her spite,
 And her pride, to console her despair.

The SPANIARD too late shall his folly confess,
 When his Indies no longer remain;
 And the DUTCHMAN, a Frog in the Days of QUEEN BESS,
 Shall croak in his ditches again.

But how needless to talk of our prowess in WAR,
 And proclaim what a Universe knows !
 Let LANGARA, DE GRASSE, and DE WINTER, declare
 What it is to have BRITONS for Foes !

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Mrs. BLISS, my good old acquaintance, here's success to you and your pretty little white-legged chicken!
 A Song if you please! LOVE, almighty LOVE, I suppose

pose, will be the subject. All alive! nymphs and shepherds—God's Lambs will play!

MISTRESS BLISS.

Indeed, CAPTAIN, my Song will be a serious one—nothing more nor less than an Epitaph on my poor dear Girl, CORINNA; the best creature in the world, as well as the most beautiful—she was cruelly used! she died a martyr to the TENDER PASSION.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

O! I recollect her. Poor CORINNA!—I could cry for her, MISTRESS BLISS—a sweet creature! so kind! so lovely! and so good-natured!—she would not hurt a fly! LORD, LORD! tried to make every body happy. Gone! ha! MISTRESS BLISS? Gone!—poor soul! Oh! she is in heaven, depend upon it—nothing can hinder it—O LORD, no!—nothing—AN ANGEL, an ANGEL by this time—for it must give GOD very little trouble to make her an Angel, even if it were a First-rate—she was so charming.—Such terrible figures as my LORD C—D—N, or my LADY MARY, to be sure, it would take at least a month to make such ones any thing like Angels—but poor little CORINNA wanted very few repairs—Perhaps the sweet little soul is now seeing what is going on in our Cabin—who knows? Charming little CORINNA! Lord, how funny it was! for all the world like a rabbit, or a squirrel, or a kitten playing with its tale! Gone! as you say, gone! Well, now for her Epitaph.
 2 world

CORINNA'S EPITAPH.

HERE sleeps what was innocence once, but its snows
 Were sullied and trod with disdain ;
 Here lies what was beauty, but pluck'd was its rose,
 And flung like a weed to the plain.

O PILGRIM, look down on her grave with a sigh,
 Who fell the sad victim of art ;
 E'en CRUELTY'S self must bid her hard eye
 A pearl of compassion impart.

Ah! think not, ye PRUDES, that a sigh, or a tear,
 Can offend of all Nature the GOD:
 Lo! VIRTUE already has mourn'd at her bier,
 And the LILY will bloom on her sod.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Very pretty! very clever! thank ye, MISTRESS BLISS rather doleful—very pretty though—touching and tender—it would do for my wife Mrs. NOAH, very well.
 I wish

I wish Mrs. NOAH could have it. Have you nothing a little more lively, Mrs. BLISS? Come, come, something giggish—something merry—Poor sweet CORINNA! Yes, something alive. Have you not a what-d'ye-call-it about ye, a bit of gaiety or so? We must not be always at a funeral—must have a courtship and a wedding sometimes—it would be a dismal world else. Come, Mrs. BLISS, let us have something in the tol-de-rol-lol-way—funny—hang dismality—leave that to Parsons. I don't admire Parsons—a Parson in quest of preferment too is one of the saddest dogs in the world—you never have his opinion! so sanctified too! demure as an old Bawd at a Christ'ning! O, d-mn it! and then a Parson on board ship is the Devil!—I never failed with one but we had a storm. Well, Mrs. BLISS! one more, and then I shall call on my little Sprig of Parnassus, MASTER TAGG.—Silence, Ladies and Gentlemen!

SONG.

WHEN WILLIAM first woo'd, I said yes to the swain,
 And made him as blest as a LORD—
 For ye VIRGINS around, in my speech to be plain,
 That NO is a dangerous word!
 The Girl that will always say no, I'm afraid,
 Is doom'd by her Planet to die an Old Maid.

The Gentlemen seem one and all to agree,
 That we're made of materials for kissing—
 And if so, for I really believe it, good me!

What joys through one no might be missing!
 Since the Girl that will always say no, I'm afraid,
 Is doom'd by her Planet to die an Old Maid.

Say yes, and of courtship ye finish the toil—

Whole mountains at once ye remove—
 You brighten the eyes of the Swain by a smile,
 For smiles are the sunshine of Love!

Say yes, and the world will acquit you of art,
 Since the Tongue will not then give the lie to the Heart.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Very true, Mrs. BLISS—very true Song—very good
 —no is a dangerous word—and yet a Bishop always says no, and is never disappointed. Mr. BUCK, you are called on—Silence!

BUCK.

Mine is "The Widow of Ephesus," Captain—an old Tale.

CAPTAIN

CAPTAIN NOAH.

A good subject to work on—a WIDOW—a nice bit of stuff—“WIDOW of EPHEsus,” ha? Aye, aye,—a Greek Gentlewoman!—I have been in her country when we failed up the Arches—pretty Girls—Greek Girls! I used to get their little sweet velvet skins cheap. Whip up their veils! Board their juicy lips! and give them a good British smack, that you might hear a mile! Oh, the Arches beat the LONDON MARKET all to pieces! Ladies and Gemmen, “The WIDOW of EPHEsus”—Silence!

THE WIDOW OF EPHEsus.

A T A L E.

BALM are the sighs for breathless Husbands shed!
And Pearl the eye-drops that adorn the DEAD!

At EPHEsus (a handsome town of Greece)
There liv'd a LADY—a most lovely PIECE!

In short, the charming toast of all the town:
In Wedlock's velvet bonds had liv'd the Dame—
Yes! brightly did the torch of HYMEN flame;
When DEATH, too cruel, knock'd her husband down.

This was indeed a lamentable stroke !

PRUDENTIA'S gentle heart was nearly broke !

Tears pea-like trickle, shrieks her face deform—

Sighs, sighs succeeding, leave her snowy breast—

Winds, call'd hysterical, expand her chest,

As tho' she really had devour'd a form.

Now, fainting, calls she on her poor dead LOVE,

How like the wailings of the widow'd Dove !

All Ephesus upon the wonder gaz'd !

Men, women, children, really were amaz'd.

'Tis true, a few OLD Maids abus'd the pother—

“ Heav'ns ! if one husband dies, why take another !”

Said they—contemptuous cocking up the nose :

“ Ridiculous enough ! and what about ?

“ To make for a dead husband such a rout !

“ There are as fine as he, one might suppose.

“ A body would presume, by grief so mad,

“ Another husband was not to be had;

“ But man are not so very scarce indeed—

“ More than are good, there are, God mend the breed !”

Such

Such was the conversation of old Maids,
 Upon this husband's visits to the shades.
 At length her SPOUSE was carried to the tomb,
 And poor PRUDENTIA mop'd amid the gloom.

One little lamp, with solitary beam,
 Shew'd the dark coffin that contain'd her DEAR,
 And gave a beauteous sparkle to each tear,
 That rill-like dropp'd—or rather like a stream.

Resolv'd was SHE amid this tomb to figh ;
 To weep, and wai' and groan, and starve, and die—
 No comfort ! no ! no comfort would she take :
 Her Friends beheld her anguish with great pain,
 Begg'd her to try amusement, but in vain—
 “ No ! she would perish, perish for his sake ! ”

Her flaxen tresses all dishevell'd flow'd—
 Her vestments loose—her tucker all abroad,
 Revealing such fair swelling orbs of woe !
 Her lids in swimming grief, now look'd on high,
 Now downward droop'd, and now she pour'd a sigh
 How tuneful, on her dear pale Spouse below.

Who would not covet death for such sweet fights,
And be bewail'd by such a pair of eyes?

It happen'd that a Rogue, condemn'd to death,
Resign'd (to please the Law) his roguish breath;
And near the vault did this same felon swing:
For fear the ROGUE's relations, or a friend,
Might steal him from the rope's disgraceful end,
A smart young SOLDIER watch'd the Thief and string.

This SON of MARS, upon his silent station,
Hearing, at night, a dismal lamentation,
Stole to the place of woe—that is, the tomb—
And, peeping in, beheld a beauteous face
That look'd with such a charming tragic grace,
Displaying sorrow for a husband's doom.

The YOUTH most nat'rally express'd surprise,
And scarcely could he credit his two eyes:
“ Good God, MA'AM!—pray, MA'AM, what's the “ matter here?
“ Sweet MA'AM be comforted—you must, you shall!
“ At times misfortunes, ev'n the best, befall—
“ Pray stop your grief, MA'AM, save that precious tear.”
“ Go

“ Go, Soldier, leave me !” figh’d the FAIR again,
 In such a melting melancholy strain,
 Casting her eyes of woe upon the YOUTH—
 “ I cannot, will not live without my love !”
 And then she threw her glitt’ning eyes above,
 That swam in tears of constancy and truth.

“ Madam !” rejoin’d the YOUTH, and prefs’d her hand,
 “ Indeed you shall not my advice withstand ;
 “ For heav’n’s sake don’t stay here to weep and howl !
 “ Pray take refreshment !” Off at once he set,
 And quickly brought the MOURNER drink and meat ;
 A bottle of Madeira, and a fowl ;
 And bread and beer,
 Her heart to cheer.

“ Ah ! gentle YOUTH, you bid me eat in vain !
 “ Leave me ! oh, leave me, SOLDIER, to complain !
 “ Yes, sympathizing Youth, withdraw your wine !
 “ My sighs and tears shall be my only food—
 “ Thou knewest not my Husband kind and good,
 “ For whom this heart shall ever, ever pine !

And then she cast upon the YOUTH an eye
 All tender ! saying, “ SOLDIER, let me die !”

And then she press'd his hand with friendship warm.
 " You shall not die, by heav'n ! the Soldier swore ;
 " No ! to the world such beauty I'll restore,
 " And give it back again its only charm !"

Such was th' effect of her delicious hand
 That charm'd his senses like a wizard's wand !

" What ! howl for ever for a breathless clod !
 " Ma'am, you shall eat a leg of fowl, by G— !"
 With that he clapp'd wine, fowl, bread, beer and all,
 Without more ceremony, on the pall.

" Well, SOLDIER, if you do insist," quoth she,
 All in a faint-like, sweet, complying tone,
 " I'll try if GRIEF will let me pick a bone !
 " Your health, SIR"—" Thank you kindly, Ma'am," quoth he.

As grief absorbs the senses, the fair Dame
 Scarce knew that she was eating, or yet drinking !
 So hard it is a roaring grief to tame,
 And keep the sighing, pensive soul from thinking ;

So that the fowl and wine soon pass'd indeed—
 Quickly away too stole the beer and bread

All

All down her pretty little fwelling throat :
 And now, whate'er philofophers may think,
 SORROW is much oblig'd to meat and drink,
 Whofe fothing virtues ftop the plaintive note;

And, fays the anatomic ART,
 " The ftomach's very near the heart."

PRUDENTIA found it fo : a gentler figh
 Stole from her lovely breast—a fmaller tear,
 Containing lefs of anguish, did appear
 Within the pretty corner of her eye ;
 Her eye's dark cloud difperfing too apace,
 (Juft like a cloud that oft conceals the Moon),
 Let out a brighter luftre o'er her face,
 Seeming to indicate dry weather foon.

Her tongue too fomewhat loft its mournful ftyle ;
 Her rofe-bud lips expanded with a fmile ;
 Which pleas'd the gallant Soldier, to be fure—
 Happy to think he fav'd the DAME from death—
 Yes, from his hug prefero'd the fweteft breath,
 And to a wounded heart prefcribed a cure.

Now

Now MARS'S SON a minute left the Dame,
 To see if all went well with Rogue and rope;
 But ere he to the fatal gibbet came,
 The Knave had deem'd it proper to elope.

In short, attendance on the LADY'S grief
 Had lost him his companion, the hang'd Thief,
 Whose Friends had kindly filch'd him from the string.
 Quick to the LADY did the Soldier run:
 " Madam, I shall be hang'd, as sure's a gun!
 " O Lord! the thief's gone off, and I shall swing!

" Madam, it was the royal declaration,
 " That if the ROGUE was carried off,
 " Whether by soft means or by rough—
 " No matter,—I should take his situation."

" O Lord, O Lord! my fate's decreed!
 " O MA'AM, I shall be hang'd indeed!

" O Lord! O Lord! this comes of creeping
 " To graves and tombs—this comes of peeping—

" This

“ This is th’ effect of running from my duty!

“ O curse my folly! What an ape

“ Was I to let the Thief escape!

“ This comes of fowl, and wine, and beer, and beauty!

“ Yet MA’AM, I beg your pardon too,

“ Since, if I’m hang’d, ’twill be for you!”

“ Cheer up my gallant Friend,” reply’d the Dame,
Squeezing his hand and smoothing down his face—

“ No, no, you sha’nt be hang’d, nor come to shame,

“ My husband here shall take the Fellow’s place—

“ Nought but a lump of clay can he be counted!

“ Then let him mount”—and lo! the Corpse was mounted;

Made a good thief—nay, so complete,

The people never smelt the cheat.

Now from the Gibbet to the Tomb again,

Haste, arm-in-arm, the SOLDIER and the FAIR;

T’exchange for kisses, and the Turtle’s strain,

Sad hymns of Death, and ditties of Despair.

CAPTAIN

CAPTAIN NOAH.

There was a d-mned Jade for ye! What a sniveling huffey! It was a devil of a trick, to be sure; but, "A living Dog is better than a dead Lion," as the saying is. The young SOLDIER, to be sure, was not much to blame; for who would not rather be pressing a little warm, beautiful flesh and blood, and ogling lilies and roses, than gaping in the cold all night at a dead Thief? LADIES and GEMMEN, silence! Now, MASTER TAGG, make me an extempore on this little drunken dog of a FLY, that I have just helped out of the Punch—there he is, rubbing his nose with his two long arms, and rolling about like a ship in a storm! Come, fire away! and I will afterwards tip you a specimen of my LORD SALISBURY'S poetry on a FLY that pitched on the cheek of a pretty woman at Hampton-Court. My Lord's Butler, who was my passenger the last trip, shewed it to me as a great curiosity—The KING and QUEEN have seen it, and admired it. All the servants agree that he is a pestilent man for a rhyme—O Lord! there's a deal of genius among the Quality now—much improved of late—could not read nor write formerly, I've been told—now they write verse and prose like mad—and then there's my LORD CARLISLE can tip ye a hundred rhymes in half an hour—but my LADY does not like his verses; for he scrawls the chairs and tables over, and walls, whenever the Poetry-fit is upon upon him—and then he makes up such wry mouths, and grins when he is going to be delivered of verses, as though he was bewitched. My LADY watches his face like a cat, and stalks behind him, with a bit of wet sponge, to rub all out again, that the furniture mayn't be disfigured and spoiled. The servants are ordered too, by my LADY, to take notice of his rhyming tantarums, and be ready to rub. But, MASTER TAGG, the extempore—the extempore on the FLY, or you sha'nt have your passage for nothing!

THE DRUNKEN FLY.

POOR little reeling, thoughtless foul,
To tumble drunk into the bowl!

DEATH to thy thread had clapp'd his knife;
Go, wipe thy nose and wings and thighs,
And brighten up thy maudling eyes,
And thank the CAPTAIN for thy life.

In future, get not quite so drunk!
Thy girl, perhaps a Lass of spunk,
May wish thy amorous pow'rs to prove;
And shouldst thou, drunk, the WANTON chase,
Ebriety may be bring disgrace;
And who would look a fool in Love?

CAPTAIN

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Very well, very arch, MASTER TAGG—a sly hint—modest hint to certain young valorous, braggadocio, and tipling Fornicators. Now for my LORD SALIS-BURY'S FLY!

Verfes on a Fly that pitched on the Cheek of a moft beautiful young Lady. By LORD SALISBURY.

HAPPY, happy, happy FLY!
 Were I you, and you were I!
 But you will always be a FLY,
 And I remain LORD SALISBURY!

Ladies and Gemmen, a very pretty thought! tender and fentimental, and touching. You fee that my LORD is a dab at a diffich. MASTER BARNACLE, a Tale or a Song!

MR. BARNACLE.

Both in one, CAPTAIN NOAH, and fet to mufic by a charming fellow, WILL SHIELD, whom every body knows, and on whom fome queer Genius wrote verfes, juft after poor SHIELD'S brains were almoft knocked out by the fall of the ftatue of an Apollo on his head, from the fummit of the organ, as he was playing.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Repeat them ! repeat them !

Verfes on the Fall of the Statue of APOLLO from the Summit of the Organ, on the Head of SHIELD, as he was playing.

ON a day, on SHIELD's crown,
 APOLLO leap'd down,
 And, lo! like a bullock he fell'd him !
 Now was not this odd ?
 Not at all—for the God
 Was mad that a mortal excell'd him !

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Funny, funny, funny ! Fine man, SHIELD ! Great at the Gamut—an Angel in his Airs—deep—deep Musician ! He carried me to the OPERA once, and told me all about the Singers—Signor this, and Signor that, who squalled away at a most cat-like rate ! I was not much pleased with that ; but a thought struck me that pleased me wonderfully—it was to think that the descendants of those Rogues, the ROMANS, who beat us poor BRITONS about like so much stockfish, a thousand or two years ago, should be forced—hæ ! LADIES and GEMMEN—come, I must be decent—to lose, to lose—I mean to be made Eunuchs ! and come a thousand miles to squawl to us. Great change ! wonderful change

change in the world! What ups and downs! Poor fellows! I pity them too—never have any children, I'm told—all dead men—blanks! blanks! cut off from the LADIES—great misfortune that! all done when young too—infants—babies! Were I served the trick, I'd go to the world's end to cut their throats, whoever did it—father or mother—uncle or aunt—godfather or godmother—I'd eunuch them, with the Devil to 'em!—horrid, horrid, horrid! Mr. POPE, the great Poet, hath wrote upon that Loufyweefy, or what is the young Lady's name, and Ablard—very fine, but I don't understand the whole, it is so wrapped up; but I guess, guess—a very peppery poem—and yet all young LADIES know it by heart—yes, yes, leave them alone to find out what's what!

JOAN of NAPLES used to have a bath under her window for the young men, where she sat and picked out those for her pleasure that she liked best—bad, bad—she should have been put into the pillory! LADIES and GEMMEN, to order! A Song from Mr. BARNACLE!

POOR TOM.

NOW the rage of Battle ended,
 And the FRENCH for mercy call,
 DEATH no more in smoke and thunder
 Rode upon the vengeful Ball.

Yet,

Yet, what brave and loyal HEROES
 Saw the Sun of morning bright—
 Ah! condemn'd by cruel FORTUNE
 Ne'er to see the Star of NIGHT.

From the main-deck to the quarter
 Strew'd with limbs and wet with blood,
 Poor TOM HALIARD, pale and wounded.
 Crawl'd where his brave Captain stood.

“ O, my noble Captain! tell me,
 “ Ere I'm borne a corpse away,
 “ Have I done a Seaman's duty
 “ On this great and glorious day?

“ Tell a dying Sailor truly,
 “ For my life is fleeting fast;
 “ Have I done a Seaman's duty?
 “ Can there ought my mem'ry blast?”

“ Ah! brave Tom!” the Captain answer'd,
 “ Thou a Sailor's part hast done!
 “ I revere thy wounds with sorrow—
 “ Wounds by which our glory's won.”

- “ Thanks, my Captain ! life is ebbing
“ Fast from this deep-wounded heart ;
“ But, O grant one little favour,
“ Ere I from the world depart :
- “ Bid some kind and trusty Sailor,
“ When I’m number’d with the dead,
“ For my dear and constant CATHERINE
“ Cut a lock from this poor head !
- “ Bid him to my CATHERINE give it,
“ Saying, Her’s alone I die !
“ KATE will keep the mournful present,
“ And embalm it with a sigh.
- “ Bid him too this letter bear her,
“ Which I’ve penn’d with panting breath :
“ KATE may ponder on the writing,
“ When the hand is cold in death.”
- “ That I will,” reply’d the Captain,
“ And be ever CATHERINE’s friend.”
“ Ah ! my good and kind Commander,
“ Now my pains and sorrows end !”

Mute

Mute towards his Captain weeping,
 Tom uprais'd a thankful eye—
 Grateful then, his foot embracing,
 Sunk, with KATE on his last sigh!

Who, that saw a scene so mournful,
 Could without a tear depart?
 He must own a savage nature—
 PITY never warm'd his heart!

Now in his white hammock shrouded,
 By the kind and pensive Crew,
 As he dropp'd into the Ocean,
 All burst out—" Poor Tom, adieu!"

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Charming, charming! a thousand pities such a fine fellow should be meat for the sharks! BROOKE-WATSON-legs are good enough for them! Pity! pity! but it ca'n't be helped—a man is no more than a sparrow with GOD! A strange world this! very bad world indeed in some parts—hogged the moment it was launched—a number of rotten timbers! I think it must have been built by contract—yes! in some private Dock or other, sure as fate! But we can't help it—if the ship be leaky, we must keep the pumps agoing! All's one a hundred hence! What business have we to die? Fine fellow XERXES, when he cried to think that in a few years not a man of all his armies would be alive. Fine thought—pretty thought—natural too! I should like to have shaken a paw with XERXES, poor fellow—but then I should not have been here, LADIES and GENTLEMEN, to enjoy your good company! To order! to order!—MASTER SQUIBB, tumble up! examine your wallet, and give us something good!

SQUIBB.

My dear Friend, my hearty honest host of the Hoy, principal Proprietor of the Prince of Packets, upon my soul I have nothing to offer—not a bit of a Ballad—not a slice of a Song—nor a tittle of a Tale, to enliven the evening, and conjure up conviviality.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

What! not you, SQUIBB? the PRINCE of PARAGRAPH-MAKERS! the NABOB of NEWS! the IMP of invention! the LION of LEARNING! and the very PAPER-KITE of POLITICS! What, you aground?

SQUIBB.

Let me perish, my dear Friend, if I possess a particle of power; I really, my dear Friend, am as stupid as that stupid stock, my hum-drum CHUM, BARNABY BUFFLEHEAD, who never so much as blundered on a bon-bot!

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Come, come, no palavering me over, with my dear Friend, and dear Friend: I hate the word, there's so much hypocrisy in the world. Friendship is a silent Gentlewoman—makes no parade. The true heart dances no hornpipes on the tongue—a p-x on palaver, say I—so give us something, MISTER MODESTY, if you please.

SQUIBB.

Upon my honour, Captain Noah.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

A bumper of salt water for Master Squibb!

SQUIBB.

Captain Noah! Captain Noah!

CAPTAIN NOAH:

Two bumpers of salt water to Master Squibb!

S 3

SQUIBB.

SQUIBB.

Upon my soul, Captain Noah, this is a very ferious affair, d-mme!

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Three bumpers of salt water to Master Squibb—and then hey for Coventry!

SQUIBB.

Well, I'll fing! I'll fing!

SONG.

DEAREST creature,
Of all nature;
Oh! die, I faint! &c.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Stop, for God's sake, SQUIBB! I excuse the rest, No pig hung in a gate ever made a more dismal noise—no dog ever bayed the moon so frightfully! Why, zounds! my cur Dumplin should howl more musically; and then the words, they put me in mind of that most maukish of all maukish stuff, the SORROWS of the HEART, baptised a novel. O the cursed trash! Poor SQUIBB!
Why

Why, what a difference between thee and a Brother QUIDNUNC that failed with me last trip—I mean BRASS WILDFIRE, a piece of an Editor—a fine News-hunter—would spin ten paragraphs out of one. Oh! a Dare-devil—he told me all the secrets of his Pandemonium. He showed me his Pocket-book—rich lessons of Roguery!

SQUIBB.

Then he was a rascal.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

He was, he was, SQUIBB; but this must be said in his favour, he had candour enough to confess it. No hypocrite, no—no hypocrite. He never wanted a bit of scandal—nor a breakfast—nor a dinner—nor tea—nor supper. He was a pensioner upon almost every profession; he kept his feet dry by puffing a shoemaker; his legs warm by puffing a hofier; his rump and back by puffing a taylor and mercer; his head by puffing a hatter; and, being able to swill porter with the gullet of a whale, he had always a pot ready for his maw, by immortalising an alehouse. Lord, Lord! he frightened all the actors and actresses out of their senses, and got half their salaries for puffs! and then for the fingers, he made their notes tremble again, poor little nightingales

SQUIBB.

A scoundrel !

CAPTAIN NOAH.

True, SQUIBB—He used to get away all their trinkets from them—watch-seals, rings, etwees, and sometimes a whole watch—orders for the Play and Opera, which he either made presents of for future dinners, or sold for ready-money.

SQUIBB.

A villain !

CAPTAIN NOAH.

True, SQUIBB—He never wanted news at a pinch; would spring from Dan to Bersheba in a twink. To enliven the paper he would fly to Constantinople, rouse the Janissaries, hang up a Bashaw of three tails, poison the Grand Mufti, set fire to the Saraglio, make the Ladies scamper forth in their smocks, and the Grand Signor run like a lamplighter in his shirt.

SQUIBB.

Fie ! Captain Noah.

CAPTAIN

CAPTAIN NOAH.

True as the gospel, SQUIBB—At another time he would jump to Algiers, put out the eyes of a young Dey, step a hundred miles into the country that refused tribute, and bring home a hundred hogsheds of ears—step away into Egypt and overturn a pyramid with an earthquake—then hey for Smyrna, and kill a million or two with a plague.

SQUIBB.

Captain Noah! Captain Noah!

CAPTAIN NOAH.

True, SQUIBB—If he wanted a piece of Indian news—presto, be gone! He murdered a whole ship's crew in the Straits of Malacca—put a ship for a fortnight on her beam ends in the Straits of Sundry—then faced about to Bengal and Madras, hopped to Seringapatam, shook down the palace about Tippoo's ears, tumbled Tippoo over the Gauts, and put out his eyes amongst the Marattas.

SQUIBB.

Shameful, Captain!

CAPTAIN

CAPTAIN NOAH.

All his own confessions, SQUIBB—Then he would set off for Bombay, sink the Island of Elephanta in a volcano, dart through the Straits of Babelmandel, cut through the Red Sea, murder a few hordes of Arabs on the banks, demolish Suez, dash through the Desert, plunge into the Mediterranean, and set all the Islands of the Archipelago in open rebellion.

SQUIBB.

O! Captain.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

True, SQUIBB—If he wanted to fill up, and wished for a bit of news from Jamaica, he would conjure up his old friend, the Yellow-fever, and lay you dead thirty thousand pounds-worth of officers in one room—set the council, assembly and governor, by the ears, and transfer the seat of government from Spanish-Town to Kingston—hop up amongst the Blue Mountains, infect young King Cudjoe with rebellion, and give the Island to the Negroes.

SQUIBB.

Captain Noah, fie!

CAPTAIN

CAPTAIN NOAH.

True, SQUIBB—A rare fellow ! He put a fine parcel of money into the pockets of the Proprietors—quite a FILCH ! Oh, a blessed Babe of Grace ! Did a family refuse to take in the Paper to which he was a Hack, he would make the father a bankrupt, the mother a bawd, the fons swindlers, and the daughters bastards, big with child by the footmen or stable-boys.

SQUIBB.

Such a fellow ought to be hanged, my dear fellow.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

He did, SQUIBB—If an author did not advertise in his Paper, he was sure to be loaded with abuse—was a dull hound—a thief :—then, as for scandal, he would invent a vile tale—put it into his Paper—get the abused parties about him—“ It could not be helped, he had a handsome sum for inserting it. He must live—family of children—hard times—Open to all parties—nothing could be fairer ; but if an answer were wished, it should be put in.” Well, an answer is inserted—he answers the answer with blacker inventions ; goes to the house of the scandalized party, sympathizes, promises, dines, sups, tries to debauch the wife or daughter, empties their pockets, moves off, and laughs at them as fools for not suspecting him to be a villain!
 5 and

SQUIBB.

Is it possible?

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Yes, very possible, SQUIBB—It is surprising that JUSTICE COLQUHOUN, who has written so much upon abuse, should omit this Giant of nuisances, this d-mned plague to society; but he was afraid, afraid, I suppose, of being stung to death by a hornet or two.

SQUIBB.

But we are not all alike, Captain!

CAPTAIN NOAH.

No, no, God forbid! God forbid! some pigeons, and many crows, I presume—My little lovely LUCY LANGUISH, a Song from thy sweet lips! Ladies and Gentlemen, Miss LANGUISH's Song—Silence!

THE

THE SHEPHERD'S PIPE.

LO ! the Pipe of poor COLIN, mute, mute, how it lies !

No more to be swell'd by his hopes, or his sighs !
"Go, leave me !" said he, "since unpriz'd by the Fair."
Then he wistfully flung it away in despair.

Who, like COLIN, could give it of rapture the sound,
Which the echoes with raptures repeated around ?
Or give it, like COLIN, a soul to complain ?
And who like the SHEPHERD e'er gave it in vain ?

'Twas here, at the peep of the morn, that he stray'd
To soothe with its music the ear of the maid !
'Twas here that he wak'd its sweet voice, to delight
(Not Philomel's sweeter !) her slumber at night.

But vain were his vows, and the voice of his reed ;
The heart of poor COLIN was fated to bleed !
See his grave ! near yon tree his pale relicks are laid,
'Mid the bow'r that he planted, of silence and shade.

Ah !

Ah! blame not the NYMPH who was deaf to his tale,
 Since her heart was betroth'd to a YOUTH of the Vale.
 Come, VIRGINS, we'll gather the flow'rs of the grove
 And strew on the victim of SORROW and LOVE.

CAPTAIN NOAH.

Poor fellow! poor fellow! terrible disorder, LOVE!
 I think I see him now, just like PATIENCE on a monument, smelling at grief, as the Scotchman said—yes, drooping, sleeping, nodding; like the swallows in winter on the bushes of the Thames, preparing to take a journey under water. Strange! strange! that men and women only should die for Love! Dogs and cats, and other animals, never feel the passions so sensibly.—LADIES and GEMMEN, suppose we adjourn the court for a handful of minutes, take a peep at MISTRESS MOON, and put a few questions to the weather.

To this proposal we all agreed, CAPTAIN NOAH leading the way up to the deck.

Thus, as the FLOCKS amid the valley feed,
 Behold! the BELLWEATHER, the ROVER,
 Like mortals, fickle, takes it in his head
 To taste a neighbouring field of clover!
 He dares th' opposing hedge, he beats it hollow—
 Mounts, leaps, and all the tribes of fleeces follow!

PROLOGUE.

I HATE most COURTIERS, from my soul!
Upon each other how they scowl!
Yet all politeness—wonderful good-nature—
Each tries to get the first employ,
By ev'ry engine to destroy,
Yet bozws, and smiles, and still persists to flatter;
And when his rival he has sent to hell,
Kind whispers—"Sir, I hope I see you well."

How like old OCEAN the old knave!
This moment placid, smooth, a bright expanse—
The next he thunders, raises every wave,
Roars, riots, tumbles, kicks up such a dance,
Booms o'er the ship with such a shock,
And heaves her on the fatal rock!

Within a little hour, one little hour,
No more his foamy billows tow'r;

But all so crouching, humble, gentle, rot 'em!
 With timid motion they advance,
 Seem sorry for the sad mischance,
 And, winding round the wreck, they kiss its bottom.

Reader, didst ever scald thy mouth with custard?
 Then thou hast curs'd it twenty times, or more,
 Or, didst thou ever to a Cat give mustard?
 If so, GRIMALKIN scratch'd, and spit, and swore.

Thus at my rhymes our COURTIERS swear and spit,
 Ready to slay me—tear me bit by bit.—

I dearly love to hitch the rogues in rhyme,
 And tell the world each various crime;
 And folly too, ah, often felt and seen!
 Indeed the act of many a COURT
 Would yield the Nation charming sport,
 And chase the gloomy cloud of SPLEEN;
 But that this folly mingles with much harm—
 Aye, there's the rub!—the rub, too, to alarm.

But,

But, Sirs, I'll have my thoughts, and speak them too,
In spite of Ministerial chains :
If a Court Scoundrel meet my view,
I'll laugh at penalties and pains ;
Smile at the Ribbands that their shoulders deck,
And wish them good tight ropes about their neck.

I'll have my thoughts, and print them too,
Ev'n should there be an Imprimatur ;
Sing what is what, and who is who,
And, Independent, scorn to flatter.

There may be Ministerial chains,
Not only for the tongue, but brains :
The time may come when Ministerial sway
Makes despotism the order of the day—
Still will I talk and write as I think fit,
Whether MAN John be ADDINGTON or PITT.

ODE II.

TO THE K——

Written immediately on Mr. PITT's Retreat from Administration.

---

AN'T please your M——y, I'm very glad,
 And so are all of us (of late so fad),
 That you have thrown the JONAS overboard.
 See! see the drowning cat! he spreads his claws!
 Quickly, for God's fake, Sir, chop off his paws!—
 He dies, by not a single sigh deplor'd.
 To DAVY JONES's locker let him go,
 And with old NEPTUNE booze below—
 Bad stuff though, NEPTUNES maukish brine!
 He'd rather touch DUNDAS's wine.

PITT, Sir, has been a shocking steward,
 And made us all, poor creatures, chew hard:
 We scarce can put a mouse into the pot;
 And yet he leaves behind, I fear,
Something that will not touching bear,
 Like powder of a post that has the rot.

And

And FAME each day sings louder, Sir, and louder,
 " State-pillars will be made of this same powder."
 Now rotten wood, according to my nouse,
 Is bad material to support a house.

PITT deem'd himself an Eagle—what a flat !
 What was he?—a poor wheeling, fluttering Bat—
 An Imp of Darkness—busy catching flies !
 Here, there, up, down, off, on—shriek, shriek—
 snap, snap—
 His gaping mouth a very lucky trap,
 Quick seizing for his hungry maw—Supplies.

PITT makes, 'tis true, a monstrous noise—
 He who's seduc'd must be befotted.
 The sound may fright the ears of boys—
 A cannon's thunder, but not shotted.

No FARMER with more true delight
 E'er saw a faucy, soaring KITE
 Fetch'd by a leaden messenger to ground,
 Than WE, when MAJESTY thought fit,
 And wisely too, to humble PITT,
 Headlong into the gulf profound,

Sunk him to hell—at least his lowest hell,
Where PRIDE's prick'd bladder could no longer swell.

No FARMER with a greater glee
Beholds a dying FOX, than WE
Mark'd the last struggles of poor BILLY PITT:
On every visage see a smile!
Joy triumph's through the echoing isle!
Upon his name POSTERITY shall spit.

Poor banish'd LIBERTY again
To BRITAIN's fair and wide domain,
Shall bring her throne, her sacred throne:
The voice that long has learnt to mourn,
Shall hail with rapture her return,
And change for sounds of joy the hopeless groan.

Well, SIRE, whatever be th' event,
You do things with the best intent;
Distress'd when FORTUNE mars a patriot plan:
And know, each true-born Briton sings,
“ Health and long life to virtuous Kings!
“ We love the MASTER, but detest the Man.”

POSTSCRIPT.

POSTSCRIPT.

SIRE! if your MAJESTY so please,
And, SIRE, it may be done with ease,
I'll make a bargain.—Keep out PITT for ever,
My song shall be the song of praise;
To Kings an altar will I raise;
And never tear it down—no, never, never.
And should it please th' ALMIGHTY to take PIE,
SIRE, I'm your Bard—your Laureat—I—yes, I!

I think this must be some temptation,
Considering my vast reputation.

ODE III.

TO LORD H——Y.

SWEET is the MUSES's voice to me!
 Nothing so clever, nought more mighty,
 For taking from the heart ennui,
 The spleen, blue devils, tædium vitæ.
 Sweet also is the sweet CREMONA's tongue.
 Making the hours dance merrily along.

But, ah! not sweet indeed to me,
 Are sounds in Parliament from thee:
 Through my whole frame such torpors creep—
 I stretch, gape, yawn, and fall asleep.

Surely our men of worship should be wise,
 Think deeply, and with speech surprise:
 But titles only the mad MILLION hails!
 Just like BIRD-fanciers, heedless of the song,
 Who ask what feathers to the birds belong,
 That, Bashaw-like, gain glory by their tails.

Thou

Thou deem'st thyself a first-rate SHIP of WAR—

Inform one, H—KSB—Y, art thou mad?

What says each honest, grinning TAR?

“ O, d—n my eyes! this is too bad!”

Then flings his quid away, and raves,

“ A goose-feather upon the waves!”

Now let me own, JACK's cat is much too smart:

'Mid the loud storm, and on the ocean's swell,

H—KSB—Y, I'll tell thee truly what thou art—

A simple COCKLE-SHELL!

Slipp'd from a stubborn rock into the sea.—

“ Ah,” thou exclaimest, “ who's that stubborn rock?”

“ I wonder who that rock can be!”

PITT! PITT!—Lord, thou art stupid as a stock!

H—KSB—Y, amid this boisterous gale,

Since thou art mounted upon high,

On pinion wild with dauntless eye,

Let me instruct thee with a Tale.—

'Tis of an Owl,

A solemn fowl,

And very much conceited—much like thee:

Excuse this quaker-proneness to be free.

AN

AN OWL, a bachelor of no great soul,
 Nor intellect, but very, very proud,
 The tenant of a little dirty hole,
 Wish'd from obscurity to clear the cloud :
 Yes, OWL must have his fails unfurl'd,
 And mount majestic on the world.

Close to his ivy-house liv'd CROW,
 Who on his errands us'd to go.
 " CROW," said the OWL, upon a day,
 " I'm sick of solitude and gloom :
 " A bird of my deep sense and plume
 " Should mount amid the blaze of day.
 " In short, dear CROW, I wish to wed,
 " And, mind me, take unto my bed
 " A BIRD of birth, the EAGLE's daughter,
 " MISS EAGLET."—" Ah," replied the CROW,
 Ready to split his sides with laughter,
 " Indeed ! and are things really so ?
 " Right, Sir, to alter your condition—
 " O Lord there's nothing like ambition !"

" Well, CROW, you'll quickly seek the realms above,
 " With my proposals to the BIRD of JOVE."

CROW

CROW takes his leave, ascends the skies,
 And to the EAGLE's palace flies
 The black AMBASSADOR from OWL ;
 Delivers his credentials to his GRACE,
 With AUCKLAND's diplomatic face,
 Conceiving, like a penetrating fowl,
 How politics would go above ;
 What answer leave the BIRD of JOVE.

Thus spake the Royal Bird :—" SIR CROW,
 " To my LORD OWL be pleas'd to go,
 " And tell him that I like the match :
 " I'm much oblig'd to him, indeed,
 " For honouring the Eagle breed :
 " I've been a good while on the watch
 " To throw a little lustre round my house :
 " Commend me to the THUNDERBOLT of MOUSE.

" MISS EAGLET is at his command—
 " Shall join his LORDSHIP in the straw ;
 " Who such alliance cannot well withstand ;
 " Happy to take him by the claw.
 " Bid him ascend sans cérémonie—free,
 " And pick his mouse to-day with me."

OF

Off flew at once the fable fowl,
 And quickly reach'd the house of OWL,
 And told him all that he had seen and heard,
 OWL instant comb'd, and wash'd his face,
 Cut all his claws to such a grace,
 Trimm'd all his feathers nicely—clipp'd his beard;
 Bid to his humble hole good-night,
 And rose amid the realms of light.

Mounted a mile or two, behold,
 The sun's bright blaze of burnish'd gold
 Flash'd on the OWL's poor weak and watering eyes:
 Just like a paper-kite, whose string
 Deserting, leaves him on the wing,
 To totter, dip, mount, fall agen, and rise;
 So shuffled OWL, lost, reeling blind,
 The sport of every gust of wind,
 Till down he fell with phiz of woe,
 The jest of ev'ry bird below.

Now, H—KSB—Y, tell the Man of Rhyme,
 How feelest thou thy flight sublime?

Thy

Thy weak eyes seem already winking.

Poor Bird! I fear 'tis quickly over!

Yes, yes, already I discover

Symptoms of sinking.

PITT's mouth may make a little blast—

The PAPER-KITE comes down at last,

And sharply watching are we all;

And when laid flat upon the ground,

Thy paper stuff we shall surround,

And make us merry at thy FALL!

Remember Icarus's height—

Perhaps the observation stings;

Thou shouldst have ask'd, before thy flight,

DAME WISDOM for a pair of wings.

ODE IV.

TO THE CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER.

PRAY MISTER ADDINGTON, go out—
 Your change on madnesf seems to border.
 You're a good School-mistrefs no doubt,
 To keep the noisy Brats in order.
 But to be Minister!—God blefs ye!
 Why, what the Devil could possess ye?

Pray, MISTER ADDINGTON, go out,
 And let some abler man come in—
 Such child's play!—What are you about?
 The NATION's really in a grin;
 And yet it ought to cry, Heav'n knows!
 So nearly going to the crows.

Good MISTER ADDINGTON, go out—
 Go calmly out, nor make a pudder;
 And don't like GRENVILLE push your snout
 Beneath the good old STATE-Cows udder.

POOR BEAST ! She can't thy thirst supply !
 PITT's famish'd Calves have suck'd her dry.

And hear me, Sir—learn some small wit—
 Don't be the dirty tool of PITT :

Think on a Tale—the MONKEY and the CAT.

Chestnuts were roasting in the fire :

JACK's jaws both water'd with desire ;

He begs MISS PUSS to lend her pretty pat ;

Then handy, as the handiest stroker,

He makes her velvet paw a poker—

And stirs away at such a rate !

PUSS squalls—but what is that to PUG ?

He holds poor MISS GRIMALKIN snug,

And gets the chestnuts from the grate :

JACK grins—indulges his rogue jaws—

PUSS goes in mourning for her claws.

NOW MISTER CHANCELLOR will say I squint ;

That as to my surmise there's nothing in't :

NOW MISTER CHANCELLOR, I call no names ;

But lo ! the FATHER OF REFORM

Will take you by persuasion, or by storm,

And put your pretty fingers in the flames.

He

He wants that organ in your mouth call'd Tongue ;
 And, like an organ in the House of God,
 With deep-ton'd energy, divinely strong,
 That fills with holy awe the dread abode :
He wishes your's to stun SAINT STEPHEN's sphere,
 And get him some ten thousand pounds a year !

Yes, you must thunder for a pension !
 For services of high pretension ;
 For HIM who, lab'ring with the happiest pains,
 Sav'd ENGLAND's life by dashing out her brains.

ODE V.

TO GEORGE ROSE, ESQ.

---

FORC'D from affairs of State, GEORGE ROSE,
 With pretty Treasury pickings, goes ;
 In humble hut, on SCOTIA's plains,
 To feast upon his honest gains.

Thus with a dainty heap of apples,
 With teeth and claws, a HEDGE-HOG grapples,

The

The epicure, and eats his fill :

Yet on the heap behold him roll,

And loaded steal into his hole,

A golden pippin on each quill.—

Thus loaded into Scotland goes

Ex-Secrétaire GEORGE HEDGE-HOG ROSE.

Fed like a horse in a King's stable,

GEORGE didst thou happy rise from table,

As Horace says, "Uti conviva satur?"

I really think 'twas no such matter.

Forc'd from the ven'son of the State ;

Forc'd to desert a well-cramm'd plate ;

Forc'd from the trifles, and the jelly ;

Forc'd from a thousand sweet nick-nackeries,

Prettily made by State-Cook quackeries,

To fill each crevice of thy bloated belly—

Looking a downright foot-ball by its tumour,

I think thou gottest up in a bad humour—

Yes, GEORGE, thy stomach it is such,

It thinks it cannot have too much.

Yet, why art thou not dubb'd a LORD,

To rise with lustre from the Board,

As title much the vulgar world bewitches?
 Then mayst thou seek the barren heath,
 Or dell, where first thou drewest breath,
 And blaze the JACK-O'-LANTERN of the ditches!

JOAN JENKINSON, and MADGE, and BET,
 And PEG, and NAN, a sav'ry SET,
 Have ris'n to Ladyship in this kind reign:
They ride to Court, obtain a smile,
 Make dips and curtsies all in style,
 And carry off kind nods from Q— and K—.
 Now this was all old JENKY's doing,
 By dint of labour and Court-wooing.

Haft thou not too some poor relations
 Wishing to change their ragged stations,
 And on the bright Court hemisphere be stars?
 If favour will not gain it—buy,
 And hoist thy COUSIN JOANS on high,
 Upon the virtuous plunder of our wars.

Sure, thou mayst do all this with ease,
 As honours are as thick as fleas,

Pitching

Pitching on this man's shoulders, now on that.

As HERALDRY has wond'rous charms,
HEARD shall invent a coat of arms,
And to a TYGER turn a mangy cat.

ODE VI.

WHEN PITT was out of office push'd,
What horror smote the LEVEE MOB!
Mad into Street of Downing rush'd
His minions, always ready for a job :

A most obsequious stud of hacks,
Who bore him on their humble backs
Through dirty lanes, through thick and thin :
No matter what the object, no ;
When PITT commands—it must be so ;
Whether to clothe the naked Realm, or skin.

MUSE, would it be too harsh to say,
The tumult on that kick-out day

Was mob-like at a house on fire ;
 Where friends, amid the conflagration,
 With a kind thief-acceleration,
 Whip off the goods they guarded by desire.

Unfeeling as a stone, or harder,
 In rush'd Lord G—— to the Larder,
 Caught up a goose for self and wife :
 In ran DUNDAS with hungry paunch,
 Snatch'd up a turbot and a haunch :
 In bounc'd CHARLES LONG, and, with his butcher's
     knife,
 (For in the plunder he must also join)
 And cut off slices from a fat sirloin.

In scamper'd WYNDHAM—"Where's my share ?
 " I must be partner in the spoils :"
 Then up he caught an old jack hare,
 A proper present for his toils.

" I must have something," CANNING cries,
 And fastens on some rich mince pies,

As

As dext'rous as the rest to rifle :

Ecod ! and he must something do
For Mother and for Sisters too,
So steals some syllabubs and trifle.

But where was JUSTICE all the while,
That things were going off in style ?
Poor Gentlewoman ! she was gagg'd and bound ;
Her even scales, alas ! abhorr'd,
In pieces broken with her sword ;
Nor were the faves to be found.

Such were the Guardians of the State.
Just like a shoal of sharks who swam in,
With maws as wide as the Park gate,
To fave (by eating us) from famine !

Some syllabubs and trifle.] With a ministerial fortune by matrimony ; with Sinecures, &c. to a large amount, squeezed from the vitals of the Nation ; this modest and generous Youth could not afford to yield his poor Mother, MISTRESS HUNN, alias MISTRESS REDDISH, alias MISTRESS CANNING, a pittance.—No ! the Kingdom must be saddled with Five Hundred Pounds a year for her support. Such is the laudable distribution of public treasure ! such are the DEPOSITARIES of the national confidence ! and of such we are ordered not to complain, for fear of the imputation of Jacobinism !!!

ODE VII.

POSSESS but faith, 'twill move a mountain:
 Thus says the Bible, the great fountain,
 The sacred fountain of immortal truth.
 There are who say that BILLY PITT
 In this dear war has shown his wit—
 Lord! what a statesman!—what a clever youth!
 Keen as the keenest eagle's view,
 There's nothing that he cannot do.

Yes, have a portion of credulity,
 And claw a pyramid, you'll pull it t' ye.

Credulity's a pretty sand
 To blind the people of the land:
 O yes, it blinds weak women, and weak men,
 Much like the sand that boys, in fun,
 Fire from an engine called a gun,
 To knock down a poor humming-bird, or wren.

THE

THE DOCTORS:

A TALE.

A FELLOW troubled with the itch
 (Like Courtier-men) of getting rich,
 And learning that a Doctor, (not a Quack),
 By means of a most potent pill,
 Did verily and truly fill
 Full many a time with gold his sack—
 Resolv'd, by pill, to make a fortune too,
 So fet about it without more ado.

Hoist but the standard, folks will come,
 With heads as empty as the drum.
 The Quack puffs off his pill—none doubt him,
 And numbers quickly flock'd about him:
 A BUMPKIN came among the rest,
 And thus the Man of Pill address:

“Zur, hearing what is come to pass,
 “That your fine pill hath cur'd the KING,
 “And able to do every thing,
 “D'ye think, Zur, that t'will make me vind my Ass?
 “I've lost my afs, Zur, zo should like to try it:
 “If this be your opinion, Zur, I'll buy it.”

U 4

“Undoubt-

“ Undoubtedly !” the Quack replied,
 “ Yes, MASTER HOB, it should be tried :”
 Then down HOB’s gullet, cure or kill,
 The grand Impostor push’d the pill.

HOB paid his fee, and off he went;
 And trav’ling on about an hour,
 His bowels fore with pains were rent;
 Such was the pill’s surprising pow’r.

No longer able to contain,
 HOB, in a hurry, left the lane:
 How decent !—what can decency surpass ?
 And fought the grove—where HOB’s two eyes,
 Wide staring, saw with huge surprise
 His long-ear’d servant JACK, his ASS !
 Ye Gods ! how happy was the meeting !
 HOB kissing Jack, and Jack, HOB greeting.

“ Adzooks ! a lucky pill !” quoth HOB:
 “ Yes, yes, the pill hath done the job.”
 PILL grew the subject of the village tattle :
 At last it gain’d a heap of fame ;
 Not only good for blind and lame,
 But good, too, for recovering all stray’d cattle.

Now

Now ponder well, ye Parents dear—

PITT's no Catholicon, I fear:

PITT is a violent cathartic,

Creating very grievous gripes

(In butcher phrase) among our tripes,

Making the stomach, head, and heart sick:

Producing much evacuation

Unto a poor consumptive NATION,

That wants restoratives called Pounds,

To give her strength, and heal her wounds.

Though clever in his Treasury rostrum,

PITT never yet possess'd a nostrum

For bringing all stray'd Millions back again:

The Guineas he sent out, we find,

Were like so many beetles, blind,

Rambling the Lord knows where, like show'rs of rain,

Making the German regions smile,

Instead of ALBION's famish'd Isle.

THE HEDGE-HOGS:

A FABLE.

THE Hedge-hogs in a war most fatal,
 A war commenc'd with the Dog-Nation,
 Like us, unlucky, losing each land-battle,
 And trembling all for their salvation,
 Agreed to furnish contribution,
 With patriotic resolution,
 As much as every Hedge-hog could afford:
 One of the tribe, no Hedge-hog subtler,
 AN ELWES or a SIR JOHN CUTLER,
 And master of a comfortable hoard,
 Affected to be scarcely worth a crown,
 Therefore unable to come down.

The Hedge-hog Council sent to let him know
 The tide could never be so low:

“Enter my house, and be convinc'd,” quoth he.
 The Messengers stepp'd in, and pry'd about:
 Appearances left not a doubt—
 Of wealth a vestige not a soul could see:

In full conviction then they left the door :
 “ ’SQUIRE HEDGE-HOG certainly is very poor.”

As from the door, the humble door
 Of our ’SQUIRE HEDGE-HOG all so poor,
 Fully convinc’d, they pass’d along ;
 A hillock of fresh earth appear’d,
 Seeming but very lately rear’d :
 This hatch’d suspicions somewhat strong.

With teeth and claws they op’d the mound—
 Where such a treasure soon was found !
 Forth trots the poverty-struck ’Squire,
 Begging and praying beyond measure,
 They would not take away his treasure :
 “ Was sorry he had been so great a liar ;

“ Was ready with his quota to the State,
 “ T’ assist the war and give the Dogs their fate.”
 But, no—it was against the laws : they found
 He could not have it—no such thing,
 As treasure under ground
 Belong’d of right unto the King.

Thus

Thus was 'SQUIRE HEDGE-HOG very fairly bit.
Now to apply this fable to 'SQUIRE PITT :—

PITT, canst thou say with a good grace,
That thine is not a hedge-hog case ?
Believe me, thou'rt not poor in purse,
However thou mayst be in spirit :
Thine income, for the NATION'S curse,
Is much, I fear, beyond thy merit.

The Cinque Ports, with a few remunerations,
Prove to JOHN BULL some trifling obligations,
Which WYNDHAM cheese-parings might call ;
Which cheese-parings, if in my paw'r,
Should, in the space of half an hour,
Return to where they started, like a ball.

Had JUSTICE nicely weigh'd thy true desert,
What had she giv'n?—I'll tell thee what—
The DAME had giv'n to please thy lofty heart,
Just half enough to feed a Rat :

An

An animal of vicious nature,
 Who, after breakfasting, and dining,
 And supping in a house, and undermining,
 Leaves it a prey to fire and water,
 (As soon as all the plunder ceases),
 To tear it in a thousand pieces.

---

ODE VIII.

TO PITT.

“ BLESSED are those who nought expect,
 “ For they shall not be disappointed ;”
 But thou didst hope a grand effect—
 Great fightings from the LORD’S ANOINTED.

Strong was thy hope that MAJESTY would send,
 Of terror full, to his good friend
 Of DOWNING STREET poste-haste away,
 Petitioning—“ PITT, all is over,
 “ The FRENCH will quickly land at Dover,
 “ And no one to oppose and slay :

Of

“ Of strength thou art a mighty tow’r :
 “ Come, come, and all thy thunder pour ;
 “ Without thee, England meets her fate—
 “ Haste, haste, and save a sinking State !”

Such were a very flattering sound !
 How had the echoes rung around !
 But no such voice, alas ! was ever heard !
 No thunder roll’d, no tempest blew ;
 But easy quite as an old shoe,
 SAINT JAMES’S for thy loss appear’d.
 Soft as a cat’s, indeed, was thy retreat,
 That moves down stairs upon her velvet feet.

But prithee swallow, PITT, a question,
 That mayn’t agree with thy digestion :
 Where was the blush, the blush of shame,
 When, to exalt the blind and lame,
 Thou gav’st of eloquence that dainty dish ?
 Yet people will in answer say,
 “ ’Tis the world’s way—
 “ We never hear a man cry, ‘ STINKING FISH ! ’ ”

STINKING FISH.]—A few of his fellow-labourers in the political vineyard, that remained after his expulsion. Mr. PITT’S eulogium on those rags of his Administration produced a universal smile, even from his own Party.

TO PITT, IN CONTINUATION.

'TIS whisper'd thou wert turn'd to door,
Most Job-like, very, very poor.

Poor man ! poor man ! ah, what a pity !

Farewell to dinners in the city !

Farewell to GROCERS ev'ry one—

OTHELLO's occupation's gone !

Yet greater men than thee have fall'n from glory :

Witness the following little story.

THE SULTAN AND THE DOG.

A MIGHTY SULTAN of the East,

On every dainty us'd to feast :

(How different from the beggar and his bone !)

Who drank, too, Burgundy, I ween :

For every thing in style was seen,

Becoming one who sat upon a throne.

It chanc'd that WAR, all powerful war,

So apt the wisest schemes to mar,

And

And change the master to the humble slave,
 Fix'd on the SULTAN his steel claws,
 Clapp'd an embargo on his jaws,
 And words, hard words, instead of victuals, gave.

The KING was beat—to prison sent, in short—
 Coarse was his fare, the coarsest sort :
 A jug of milk was sent to him for dinner :
 Enter a dog, who, while the KING
 Was musing on some lofty thing,
 Stole slyly to the milk, the thievish finner ;
 Forc'd in his head, and lapp'd each drop, no doubt,
 But could not get his head felonious out.

So off, with his jugg'd jowl, the rascal ran.
 The Monarch, smiling, mark'd the theft,
 And of his dinner though bereft,
 With much good-humour thus began :

“ FORTUNE'S a fickle DAME : but yesterday
 “ AN HUNDRED CAMELS scarce could bear
 “ My quantities of kitchen-ware,
 “ And now a Cur can carry it away !”

O, with

Oh, with a disposition soft as filk,
 So humble, affable and mild ;
 Art thou reduc'd, too, to a jug of milk,
     Sweet NATURE'S CHILD ?
 Speak—Did the famish'd wolves, alas !
 Eat all the flesh of the dead Ass,
     And leave thee nothing but the bones ?
 Say, hadst thou not the face to mump
 One steak, from the poor NATION'S rump,
     To calm gaunt FAMINE'S hollow moans ?

Ah, me ! we all are very poor ;
 Tax'd to the very eyes, I'm sure !
 Where is the article that pays no duty ?
 Nought 'scapes !—not WOMAN'S fascinating beauty !

Lo, many a little charming PHILLIS,
 For vending roses sweet, and lilies,
 And love-inspiring, luscious, balmy kisses ;
     Although the growth of their own cheek ;
     Although the growth of their own neck ;
 Although the growth of their own lip, sweet MISSES ;

Are forc'd to BRIDEWELL's horrid fare,
 For dealing in unlicens'd ware—
 Spoil'd all their pretty hops, and skips, and glee,
 Because the JUSTICE had not got his fee.

ODE IX.

TO PITT AGAIN.

---

SAY, PITT, dost thou so easy part
 With pow'r, the idol of thy heart,
 And, philosophic, yield to thy disgrace;
 Leave Downing-Street and stately rooms,
 For secrecy and spectre glooms
 Of solitary, poor PARK PLACE;
 To live within a little hole,
 As melancholy as a mole?

Thou thoughtest we should all wear mourning,
 Black, weeping all for thy returning—

All with white handkerchiefs to catch wet sorrow :

Ah, know there are not ten who care

Five farthings were they now to hear

That thou wert in a jail to-morrow.

PITT, thou hast been in office long enough :

Yes, thou hast had a handsome fiving ;

Thy hide, too, like a bull-hide tough,

Has met, indeed, with many a sting,

Or dart, that must have kill'd all but the man

Whose modesty not only took our flour

(The conscientious Miller of the hour),

But made its bow, too, to the bran :

Nay ready, too, upon its back,

To carry off the very sack !

Suspended on a bit of steel,

Employ'd in sniggling,

A large and slippery EEL,

The world seems glad to see thee wriggling.

How hast thou work'd for life and foul,

To slip again into thy hole !

Aye, gape, and writhe, and spread thy fin,

POOR MASTER FISH, you won't get in.

A bungling Chemist, thou hast manag'd badly;
 Manag'd the State-alembic fadly,
 With all thy cunning and thy pains:
 The finer parts are off! in air!
 Howe'er thine ignorance may stare,
 And nought but caput mortuum remains.

So much, PITT, for our sublimed constitution,
 The subject of thy fierce and ceaseless fires!
 And, lo, by dint of time and resolution,
 Thou hast well crucibled thy COUNTRY 'SQUIRES;
 And MOTHER BANK, the blindest of old CRONES,
 Extracting heaps of gold from STOCKS and STONES.

When ye began this righteous war,
 Where was your tutelary star?
 Ye never dreamt of danger till too late.
 "A war with FRANCE! oh, that's soon o'er;
 "A fox-chase, fox-chase, nothing more;
 "Fun, fun—just coursing a poor hare, or cat."

Such was your speech: but, Sir, it doth appear,
 That this fame cat is now become a Bear,
 Whose claws have lately held you snug,
 And giv'n a cursed Cornish hug.

ODE X.

TO HENRY DUNDAS, ESQ.

FOR a great Empire, fast undoing,
 Something indeed should have been brewing,
 Better than brandy and strong beer :
 Something was wanting, to my humble thinking,
 Besides good eating and hard drinking,
 To keep the leaky ship from foundering clear :
 Yet 'tis well known that e'er the VESSEL'S funk,
 The failors commonly get drunk.

Now thou art off, I long to see,
 In thine own language, "Wha wants me ?"
 It will not be at all surprizing
 To catch thee, HARRY, advertizing.
 If mad to face a second storm
 Take an Advertisement in form.

ADVERTISEMENT.

A steady MAN, near sixty years of age,
 Would very willingly engage
 As Butler to a MINISTER of STATE,
 And overlook the Plate.

But should the Plate by chance be carried off,
And not a hoghead or a bottle left;

He begs to say, he won't be fool enough
To answer for the leakage, or the theft.

If wanted, he can have, by God's good grace,
An exc'lent character from his LAST PLACE.

Please to direct to MISTER H. DUNDAS,

A MORAL CONCLUSION.

IN this world's wild, uncertain chase,
What strange events at times take place!
Some bright with joy, some black with sorrow!

Omnium est rerum vicissitudo!

To day what wonders I and you do,
That happen not again to-morrow!

HAWKSB'RY and WYNDHAM, CANNING, LONG,
Were under-strappers to WILL PITT;

Forerunners, oft they gave their tongue
Before the GREAT MAN pour'd his wit.

Thus

Thus PAUL's four small clock-quarters ('prentice boys)
 Instruct their mighty Master when to found :
 PAUL solemn listens to the tinkling noise,
 Then breaks in thunder to the world around !

But Herald Understrappers now no more,
 PITT out of office, the broad farce is o'er ;
 Flung from his pedestal amid the rabble,
 Deep thundering PITT is—poor old GOODY GABBLE.

Ah me ! sic transit gloria mundi—
 Such things will be 'till moon and sun die,
 And EARTH our ashes, our pale embers cover :
 And really, when we fum up all,
 What's life ?—A blast—a little squawl.—
 DEATH's calm must come at last, and all is over—
 All in our tombs in peace—not one
 To read "Hic jacet" on the stone !

THE VICTIM OF LOVE;

A PASTORAL BALLAD.

*Illa mihi sancta est; illius dona sepulchro,
Et madefacta meis,serta feram lacrymis.*

TIBULLUS.

From mem'ry, nought shall force her form away,
For ever sacred and for ever dear:
I'll seek her tomb at morn and closing day,
And wet each flow'r I offer with a tear.

---

---

J U L I A,
OR,
THE VICTIM OF LOVE.

---

SHE is dead, who gave life to the groves,
And covers our valley with gloom!
She who led all the Pleasures and Loves,
Now joins the pale band of the Tomb.

She whose beauty commanded the heart,
So prais'd, so ador'd, so desir'd;
Sunk, the innocent victim of art,
And the passion her beauty inspir'd.

Yet silent was she on the Swain
Whose cruelty doom'd her to mourn;
In secret her soul would complain,
In secret her anguish would burn.

Tho' faint was the blush on her cheek,
And deep in her bosom the thorn;
A smile 'midst her sorrows would break,
Like a ray through the clouds of the morn.

She

She would sit near yon willow and sigh,
 And pant in the shade of the trees :
 “ Sweet ZEPHYR, bring health,” she would cry ;
 But HEALTH never came with the breeze.

And oft she would drink of the brook,
 But HEALTH never came with the rill ;
 Then around on the heights she would look,
 But HEALTH never came to the hill.

On her Dog she look'd down with a tear,
 And sigh'd as she patted his head,
 “ Poor FIDELLE! thou wilt suffer, I fear,
 “ When thy Mistress, who loves thee, is dead.

“ Thou hast ever been constant and kind ;
 “ My fondness ne'er met with a slight :
 “ In thee a firm friendship I find ;
 “ How unhappy when out of my sight!

“ When with speed I could travel the plain,
 “ With thy Mistress to sport was thy pride ;
 “ And now I am weak and in pain,
 “ Thou art heartless and dull by my side.

“ When

- “ When I’m gone, thou, poor fellow, wilt pine,
 “ And seek me, uneasy, around ;
 “ Beseeching the swains, with a whine,
 “ To tell where thy Friend may be found.
- “ Shouldst thou find my cold dwelling at last,
 “ Near my sod thou wilt mope the long day :
 “ Nor the night, nor the rain, nor the blast,
 “ Nay, nor hunger will force thee away.”

Thus she spoke to her Fav’rite, whose eye
 Was fix’d upon those of the MAID :
 Then he lick’d her fond hand at her sigh,
 As if conscious of all she had said !

Sweet Nymph! what a sudden decay!
 Now her limbs she could scarcely sustain ;
 Now her head would sink feebly away,
 Like the lily press’d down by the rain.

At length on her pillow she fell ;
 In silence we watch’d her last breath :
 When she bade us for ever farewell,
 How divine, tho’ the whisper of Death !

No struggle in dying she knew,
    Life pass'd with such sweetness away !
So calm from the world she withdrew,
    Her last sigh seem'd the zephyr of May.

Beneath a plain stone she is laid,
    For needless of praise is the tale ;
Since the virtues that shone in the MAID,
    May be seen in the tears of the VALE.

TO THE READER.

---

THE unfortunate subject of this ELEGIAC BALLAD was a young LADY, possessed of uncommon beauty, united with a highly-cultivated intellect, and the most fascinating manners. A tender attachment, terminating in disappointment, so affected her spirits as to occasion a fatal decline. Her LOVER, from whose professions of regard she expected every happiness, deserted her almost in the hour of leading her to the Hymenæal altar : deluded by the idea of immense riches, he gave his hand to another; thus sacrificing peace, honour, and humanity, at the tinsel shrine of Fortune. His marriage, as might be expected, commencing with infamy, terminated in sorrow, and shortened a life, that seemed to possess a claim to longevity. His last hours were those of repentance and horror : before his death he frequently visited the grave of his beloved but deserted JULIA, and strewed flowers, mingled with sighs, on her sod ; and if a long and unfeigned contrition might be allowed to atone for the insanity of a moment, his tears must have obliterated his offences. Naturally of a poetical turn, he wrote a number of what he modestly called his love trifles, and sent occasionally to his Mistress during the paroxysm of his passion, some of which we have subjoined, that seem to breathe a spirit of sincerity, whose foundation one would imagine could never have been shaken by the feeble arm of a puerile ambition.

ELEGY

ELEGY I.

He despairs of obtaining the smiles of his Mistress.

WHAT are the thunders of the ruthless wind?
 And what the billows that tumultuous roll?
Calms to the raging tempest of my mind,—
Rills to the restless surges of my soul.

Intent to please, I vainly urge my toil;
 No hopes, alas! the VIRGIN'S looks impart:
 O tell me, JULIA, what can win thy smile?
 O speak, and heave the mountain from my heart.

What can I do to win a cruel maid?
 The front of DANGER willing would I brave:
 No coward terror can this heart invade,
 Whose chiefest glory is to be thy slave.

FATE holds no horror while I please my FAIR;
 Then, JULIA, bid me my fond passion prove:
 All, all thy rigour can command I dare,
 But lose thine image, and forget to love.

ELEGY

ELEGY II.

Instead of composing for fame, he resolves to write the praises of JULIA.

NO more I'll idly pour the line for praise :
 Far loftier hopes my glowing fancy move ;
 I ask the MUSES for their sweetest lays,
 To tell a beauteous MAID how much I love.

Vain are our vows to FAME ! alas, how vain !
She waits to see us on the mournful bier ;
 Before she yields of eulogy the strain,
 What cruel mockery to the lifeless ear !

To JULIA's hand I own my wish aspires :
 Mean are my merits—hers how far above !
 Yet can I boast what only she requires,
 A heart to guard her, and a soul to love.

Tho' Courts admir'd, the modest JULIA chose
 The silent shade, remote from public view :
 How like the berry that in secret glows,
 And hides beneath a leaf its blushful hue !

Few are the wishes of the constant PAIR :

What tho' no gold their humble cot displays?

CONTENT, their guest, thus cries with careless air,

“ Go, leave us, WEALTH, and palaces emblaze.”

In rural bowers CONTENT delights to dwell ;

To cull the sweets of NATURE's simple vale ;

To join the hermit in the mossy cell,

And join the nymphs and shepherds of the dale.

To FORTUNE's tinsel shrine let others bow,

And to their wishes rear the golden pile ;

To one fair VIRGIN while I breathe my vow,

And let my only treasure be her smile.

---

ELEGY III.

He complains of JULIA's not keeping her appointment to meet him.

WHAT demons keep my soul's delight away,

And cruel thus my fondest wish invade ?

Alas! I tremble at the setting ray !

Pale EVENING waves around an envious shade !

How expectation loads th' important hour !
Impatience wilder with each moment grows !
Thou loit'ring FAIR ONE, blest th' appointed bow'r,
And snatch thy lover from a thousand woes.

From vale to vale my eager gaze I strain ;
From glade to glade with wild emotion move ;
Now turn and sigh, now move and turn again,
Devour each sound, and chide my ling'ring love.

Desponding, now upon the ground I lie,
And, anxious, murmur to the desert air ;
Now call on slumber to my closing eye :
But slumber lights not on the lids of care.

Dark as the bosom of the stormy deep,
Wild as its waves my thoughts succeeding roll ;
Cool reason vainly soothes the wretch to sleep—
Oh ! what is reason to the love-sick soul ?

Ye sweet companions of my lonely bow'r,
Whose simple melodies my shades inspire :
Oh, that my bosom felt your happy hour !
Oh, that my voice could join your cheerful choir !

Light as your wing that skims the midway sky,
 From joy to joy my heart so lately flew :
 With me my moments never left a sigh,
 Nor bath'd my lids in sorrow's baleful dew.

Hate to the nymph I vow, and cold disdain ;
 Yet at each idle sound alarm'd, I start ;
 To meet her, panting, every nerve I strain,
 And show too plain her triumph o'er my heart.

Where is my love ? alas ! my transports die :
 My cheek, that redden'd with deipair, turns pale ;
 With disappoinment drops my clouded eye,
 Each pining feature tells a mournful tale.

See, see, the fun descends beneath the deep ;
 Behold the melancholy bird of night !—
 In vain along the winding gloom I weep,
 And wish in vain to stay the parting light.

ELEGY IV.

Disappointed at not meeting JULIA, he accuses her of inconstancy.

FAIN'T as the lustre of a lonely star,
That sheds through night's abyss his distant fire.
HOPE feebly glimmer'd on my heart's despair:
Behold, behold, at length her lamp expire!

KNOW, lovely VIRGIN, thy deluding art
Hath lodg'd a thousand scorpions in my breast,
Oh, say what happier rival wins thy heart?
Say, am I there no more a welcome guest?

To a false FAIR-ONE have I told my tale?
For a false FAIR-ONE fondly sigh'd so long?
Why, dear deceiver, did thy charms prevail?
Thy charms the subject of my ev'ry song.

Ye swains who heard so oft my raptur'd lays,
False is the damsel that your wonder drew;
Ye nymphs who listen'd to the lavish'd praise,
My soul's soft idol proves at length untrue.

NYMPHS of the vale, for me your pity spare ;
 Let not my fate, ye SWAINS, your pity draw
 Alas ! for faithless beauty drop the tear,
 And grieve so fair a diamond holds a flaw.

Can FALSEHOOD's stain that dove-like heart defile ?
 Ah, see the tear by blushing HONOUR shed !
 Lurks perfidy beneath that heavenly smile ?
 See LOVE with horror mark the guilty maid !

Yet, yet the tyrant of my breast she reigns :
 Restless for her it heaves with constant sighs ;
 My wounded heart of cruelty complains,
 Yet softly pleads her pardon while it dies.

ELEGY V.

He condemns the licentiousness of the age.

TO false delights the YOUTH of BRITAIN fly,
 Who court for happiness the WANTON's arms ;
 Who darts on all the fond inflaming eye,
 And choicelss yields to all, for gold, her charms.

When in the SYREN's fond embrace you sigh,
 And on her lips impress the burning kiss,
 Doth FRIENDSHIP mingle with th' unhallow'd joy,
 Or LOVE's pure spirit swell the surge of bliss ?

When

When droops enjoyment, what is then the Fair?

A flow'r that blooms, but quickly doom'd to fade;
 A sun that pours a momentary glare,
 And 'mid the tempest sinks o'erwhelm'd in shade.

O swains, to MODESTY's fair daughters turn:

By mental beauty let your hearts be led:
 Bid by your flight the venal FAIR-ONE mourn,
 And press in tears her solitary bed.

When round your neck her fondling arms she glues,

And, bent to please, exhausts each winning art;
 With false delights she shamefully subdues,
 And leads the PASSIONS captive, not the heart.

Their midnight orgies whilst they madly hold,

I of a tender MAID shall be possess:
 What bliss her tender beauties to enfold,
 And soothe my slumbers on her faithful breast.

TIME from her bosom all its snows may steal,

His iron hand her cheek's pure blush invade;
 Still to my JULIA will I fondly kneel,
 And love her most when all her roses fade.

Who spurns the weeping FAIR-ONE from his breast,
 Hard is his heart—in ev'ry virtue poor :
 Hard is his heart to wound the fair DISTREST,
 Who sighs that she can charm his eye no more.

Cruel to bid with grief her bosom heave,
 Because her cheeks no longer glowing warm :
 Base, to forget the joys her beauty gave—
 And oh, forget it faded in his arms !

---

SONG.

FROM her, whose ev'ry smile is love,
 I haste to some far distant cell :
 My sighs too weak the maid to move,
 I bid the flatterer HOPE farewell.

Yet, as I quit her vale, my sighs
 At ev'ry step for JULIA mourn ;
 My anxious heart within me dies,
 And, panting, whispers, "O return."

Deluded

Deluded heart ! thy folly know,
Nor fondly nurse a fatal flame :
By absence thou wilt lose thy woe,
And only flutter at her name.

---

SONG.

O SUMMER, thy presence gives warmth to the vale ;
The song of the warbler enlivens the groves ;
The pipe of the shepherd too gladdens the gale :
Alas ! but I hear not the voice of my love.

The lilies appear in their fairest array ;
To the vallies the woodbines a fragrance impart ;
The roses the pride of their blushes display ;
Alas ! but I meet not the nymph of my heart.

Go, shepherds, and bring the sweet wanderer here,
The boast of her sex, and delight of the swains ;
Go, zephyr, and whisper this truth in her ear,
That the PLEASURES with JULIA are fled from the plains.

If

If thus to the maid thou my wishes declare,
 To the cot she has left she will quickly return;
 Too soft is her bosom to give us despair,
 That sooner would sigh than another's should mourn.

---

SONG.

ON JULIA.

ERE 'witching love my heart possest,
 And bade my sighs the nymph pursue;
 Calm as the infant's smiling rest,
 No anxious hope nor fear it knew.

But doom'd, ah! doom'd at last to mourn,
 What tumults in that heart arose!
 An ocean tumbling wild, and torn
 By tempests from its deep repose.

Yet let me not the virgin blame,
 As though she wish'd my heart despair;
 How could the maid suspect a flame,
 Who never knew that she was fair?

TO JULIA.

FROM her whom ev'ry heart must love,
And ev'ry eye with wonder see ;
My fad, my lifeless steps remove—
Ah ! were she fair alone for me !

In vain to solitudes I fly,
To bid her form from mem'ry part ;
That form still dwells on mem'ry's eye,
And roots it's beauties in my heart.

In ev'ry rose that decks the vales,
I see her cheek's pure blush appear :
And when the lark the morning hails,
'Tis JULIA's voice salutes my ear.

Thus let me rove the world around,
Whatever beauty's charm can boast,
Or soothe the soul with sweetest sound,
Must paint the idol I have lost.

SONG.

SONG.

BY JULIA.

WHEN love hath charm'd the virgin's ear,
 She hides the tender thought in vain ;
 How oft a blush, a sigh, a tear,
 Betrays the sweetly-anxious pain !

Dear youth ! a mutual flame I own :
 The sorrows of thy breast are mine ;
 Thy virtues all my heart have won,
 That boasts a passion pure as thine.

No more shalt thou my coldness mourn—
 I trust the drop that dims thine eye ;
 I see fair Truth thy lips adorn,
 And hear her voice in ev'ry sigh.

---

---

 TO JULIA.

WRITTEN NEAR HER GRAVE.

MUCH-injur'd MAID, who liest pale below,
 To thee a PILGRIM sad I steal away ;
 In mournful silence steal, o'erpower'd with woe,
 To bathe with floods of penitence thy clay.

Oh !

Oh! can thy gentle ghost the wretch forgive,
 Who seeks thy fod at this lone hour of night—
 A wretch, whose greatest hardship is to live,
 Who, dead to pleasure, fickers at the light?

Oh! if my grief could soothe the sweetest SHADE,
 And pardon gain, which JUSTICE must deny;
 Near JULIA'S ashes should this FORM be laid;
 Its crimes forgotten—then what blifs to die!

Tir'd of the world, my heart no longer prays
 (What others covet) for extended years:
 For who would madly court a length of days,
 To count (alas!) the moments by his tears?

---

ELEGY.

TO JULIA.

Detained in Italy by contrary winds, he expresses his ardent desire for sailing for England.

FAR from my JULIA'S arms I lonely sigh,
 And wish to clasp thy beauties, but in vain;
 The furly winds my only wish deny,
 Yet would I dare the dangers of the MAIN.

Ye

Ye wind and waves, how cruel to combine !

O let my pray'rs your rude rude pity prove ;
 Think of the gloomy moments that are mine !
 Alas ! ye know not what it is to love !

To stately structures now I urge my way,
 And weakly think the minutes to beguile ;
 But anxious LOVE will not be led astray :
 LOVE goads my bosom for the virgin's smile.

Now where the PAINTER shews his mimic art,
 I strive to free my soul from LOVE's alarms ;
 Lo, ev'ry VENUS but augments my smart,
 And to my view presents thy brighter charms.

To MUSIC now fatigu'd I yield my ear,
 But MUSIC cannot the dull hours controul ;
 With cold indifference ev'ry chord I hear,
 While not a sound descends into my soul.

Oft as I mark the tribes of air, I cry,
 " How with your pinions would I mount the wind !
 " Oh ! with what rapture lifted, cleave the sky,
 " And, turn'd to Britain, leave my cares behind !"

In

In wishes thus, I daily waste my breath,
 Chain'd by the tempest to this hated shore ;
 When shall I leave, alas! this land of death,
 For life and thee, to part, my LOVE, no more ?

---

ELEGY.

To a Friend, describing the horrors of his situation after the death of JULIA.

FRIEND of my bosom, all my joys are o'er—
 Peace, gentle Peace, alas! no longer mine :
 Since JULIA, once my idol, lives no more,
 To gloom and solitude I steal to pine.

There, as I sit upon the sod, and sigh,
 I hear reproof from every happy dove ;
 In fancy's ear they cooing seem to cry,
 “ We know not of inconstancy in love.”

Lo, darkness, tenfold darkness suits my soul !
 The haunts of spectres let me court to weep ;
 The beach where black with fate the billows roll,
 And tempests raise the thunders of the DEEP.

Thou

Thou tellest me that TIME a balm will bring,
 Soothe ev'ry sigh, and calm my keenest woes :
 Go, seek in winter's wild the blooms of spring ;
 Go, whisper to the restless surge, repose !

Love, injur'd LOVE, a sure revenge can boast ;
 Love hears my groan, and mocks my soul's despair.
 "Bleed, VICTIM, bleed," he cries—"thy all is lost ;
 "Such be their portion who deceive the FAIR !"

I thought that GRANDEUR with a liberal hand
 Could strew my path of life with sweetest flow'rs ;
 That WEALTH omnipotent could TIME command,
 And from his pinions pluck his whitest hours.

Constant in MEM'RY'S eye her form appears—
 Where'er I tread, a source of woe I find ;
 In ev'ry rill methinks I see her tears,
 And hear her sighs in ev'ry passing wind.

What now remains, my horrors to beguile ?
 Away, ye dreams of grandeur, wealth, away !
 Who cannot give my cheek one little smile,
 Nor bribe a single moment to be gay.

ORSON AND ELLEN.

CANTO I.

“TURN, FARMER, turn thy horse’s head,
“And taste my ale so bright,”
Cry’d BONIFACE, whose sign display’d
The LION in his might.

Yet how unlike the ROYAL BEAST,
Who for his phiz ne’er fat?
Wherefore deriding tongues did call
The sign, the OLD red CAT!

Yea, much unlike indeed was it!
JOVE’s Eagle and a Gander,
MATTHIAS and the tuneful POPE,
Lord RÖLLE and ALEXANDER.

“Who boasts such ale?” quoth BÖNIFACE;
“No Landlord that draws breath.
“A gallon I could fairly drink,
“Ev’n in the pangs of death!”

Young ORSON from his horse leap'd off,
And shook the Landlord's hand,
Then sought a room to taste this ALE,
The best in all the land.

The Landlord had a red round face,
Which some folks said, in fun,
Resembled his Red Lion's phiz;
And some, the rising fun.

Large slices from his cheeks and chin,
Like beef-steaks, one might cut;
And then his paunch, for goodly size,
Beat any brewer's butt.

This Landlord was a boozier stout,
A snuff-taker and smoker;
And 'twixt his eyes a nose did shine
Bright as a red-hot poker.

Were gunpowder put on his snout,
Nor flint it would require,
And steel, to make the fable grains
Flash off in sudden fire.

Thus

Thus when we see a nose so red,
It is as day-light clear,
That ruby nose is not maintain'd
On water or small beer.

Young ORSON was a comely youth,
Stout as an oaken tree;
A farm he had in TAUNTON VALE,
And money, too, had HE !

Whene'er he spy'd a buxom LASS,
His chops began to water ;
And as the kites on pigeons pounce,
The Rogue was sure to pat her.

But he his neck to Wedlock's yoke
Would not consent to bow ;
Quoth he, " The man who milk can buy,
" Should never keep a cow !"

Of lovely Maids at least a score
Did rue his wanton tricks !
A mournful band ! a fable list !
Like moles between cleft sticks !

Now at the table BONIFACE

And ORSON fat them both,

While 'twixt the twain a pewter-pot

Did mantling foam with froth.

Now ORSON rais'd the pewter-pot,

And blew the froth away !

And having drank, he smack'd his lips,

And cheerily did fay ;

“ OLD BONIFACE, thou'rt in the right !

“ Thy taste is found enough ;

“ I wish my cellar now could boast

“ A tun of such rare stuff !”

Sweet ELLEN gave the pot with hands

That might with thousands vie ;

Her face, like veal, was white and red,

And sparkling was her eye.

Her shape the poplar's easy form,

Her neck the lily's white,

Soft heaving like the summer wave,

And lifting rich delight.

And.

And o'er this neck of globe-like mould,
 In ringlets wav'd her hair:
 Ah, what sweet contrast for the eye,
 The jetty and the fair!

Her lips like cherries moist with dew,
 So pretty, plump, and pleasing!
 And like the juicy cherry, too,
 Did seem to ask for squeezing.

Yet ELLEN modest was withal,
 And kept her charms in order;
 For BEAUTY is a dangerous gift,
 And apt to breed disorder.

Yet what is Beauty's use, alack!
 To market can it go?
 Say, will it buy a loin of veal,
 Or rump of beef? No, no.

Will Butchers say, "Choose what you please,
 Miss NANCY and Miss BETTY?"
 Or Gard'ners, "Take my beans and peas,
 "Because ye are so pretty?"

Too oft alas! a DAUGHTER'S charms
 Increase a PARENT'S cares;
 For daughters and dead fish, we find,
 Were never keeping wares.

Yet spotless was this virgin's heart—
 Quite spotless, too, her fame!
 And if a swain but kiss'd her neck,
 It show'd the blush of shame!

For once a faucy Oxford youth
 Dar'd kiss it to a glow—
 How like the modest blush of morn
 Upon a hill of snow!

Yet blushes are exceeding scarce;
 The GREAT FOLK scorn to name 'em,
 Since FASHION, ruling with strong sway,
 Has bid all COURTS disclaim 'em.

Yes, yes! a blush is vastly scarce!
 O fie, O fie upon't!
 And when it glows, lo! FASHION calls
 The VIRTUE, mauvaise honte!

Oh! can the GREAT for MODESTY

Not care a single rush!

Ah! never be a BRITISH MAID

A stranger to a blush!

Ah! who can pierce the simple heart,

Give modesty a fear—

Raise with rude hands the burning blush,

And force the pearly tear?

Yet there are Demons who delight

Her panting heart to wound,

Darken with sorrow's cloud her eye,

And force the groan profound.

Ah! wanton FASHION, thou loose Dame,

Who biddest ev'ry Man see

The charms which darkness should conceal,

And Man should only fancy.

The ankle, nay, the knee and thigh,

Are secrets now no more!

God blefs us! every day, of each

A man may see a score!

The

The BISHOP was not in the wrong,
 But really in the right,
 Who at the Opera saw such things
 As shock'd his holy fight.

Yet some have said, yea, loudly said,
 With many a scornful jeer—
 “A poor old wither'd blinking fool,
 “What business had he there?”

“If BISHOPS and their WIVES will leave
 “Their CHURCH for wanton places;
 “'Tis rank hypocrisy to make
 “A set of prudish faces.”

Now ORSON's eyes forfook the pot,
 And mark'd the Maid with fire,
 For ELLEN's fair and artles look
 Did kindle high desire.

For BEAUTY doth possess the charm
 To pull abroad men's eyes,
 And wake the wishes of the soul,
 And bid the PASSIONS rise.

For

For why? Because 'tis NATURE's plan
The world should be supported ;
Therefore, wherever BEAUTY smiles,
It will be prefs'd and courted.

Thus amber doth attract the straws,
The loadstone draws the needle ;
And drawn, too, are the female heels
By tabor, pipe, and fiddle.

Now ORSON whisper'd to himself,
“ Gad's bob ! if things go right,
“ With that nice GIRL who gave the pot
“ I'll sleep this very night !”

O monstrous thought ! O wicked wish !
O foul destroying fin !
Yet for his soul (O graceless youth !)
He did not care one pin.

Thus on the dolphin's beauteous scale !
The shark he opes his jaw !
Poor fish ! who, ere he danger feels,
Is in the tyrant's maw.

Thus

Thus SPIDERS when they see a FLY,
 How bailiff-like they watch it!
 And ere, poor imp, he thinks of harm,
 The grimly rascals catch it.

---

CANTO II.

FAIR ELLEN liv'd with BONIFACE,
 Nor Scorn'd her humble sphere ;
 And with unfullied fame she drew
 Her customers their beer

How neat was ELLEN in her drefs !
 As neat as a new pin !
 By this she brought full many a pound
 To BONIFACE'S inn.

Thus goldfinches, in fields well plac'd
 The distant birds engage,
 And by their dainty forms and voice
 Invite them to their cage.

And

And thus the PASTRY-COOKS should do,
To sell their tarts and pies;
Put in their shop some pretty LASS,
To hook in passing eyes.

For many a man, whose appetite
Desires nor pie nor tart,
May like to squeeze a charming girl,
And ogle for her heart.

Nay, MILLINERS should do the same,
For custom if they hope ;
And many a trade besides should keep
A nice TIT in the shop.

And let me own, in times of yore,
When love was feldom quiet,
But quicken'd night and day my blood,
And bred a constant riot ;

I bought my garters and my gloves,
Wherever beauty shone ;
When UGLINESS was in a shop,
I let that shop alone.

For

For beauty may be well compar'd,
I think, unto a hook ;
Which, baited with a lady-bird,
Draws fishes from the brook.

ELLEN was chaste as new-fall'n snow,
And modest in her air ;
Unlike some lasses, common known
As is a BARBER'S chair.

Of goodly parents she was born,
But in disguise did rove,
Because a YOUTH to her was false—
She left her vale for love.

Six years she pass'd in servitude,
At last forgot the sigh ;
Her Lover's image forc'd no more
The pearl-drops from her eye.

Yet many a month she ceas'd to smile,
And droop'd the languid head ;
And many a lonely walk she took,
The secret tear to shed.

“ Ah!

“ Ah! happy birds,” she oft would sigh
 “ Amid the tuneful grove—
 “ You bear no guile within your hearts,
 “ You break no vows of love.

“ Alas, 'tis Man alone deceives :
 “ He wins the wileless heart ;
 “ Then meanly treads it in the dust,
 “ And triumphs in his art.”

Thus in her solitary walk
 Would ELLEN say and sigh ;
 And then sweet ditties she would sing,
 Of MAIDS for love that die.

For SORROW listens with fond ear
 To MUSIC's plaintive flow ;
 Devours the sweetly-dying strain,
 And feeds on tales of woe.

The PARISH 'SQUIRE, though wedded HE
 Unto a LADY fair,
 Hath often at the LION stopp'd,
 On ELLEN's charms to stare.

For

For married eyes, if not well watch'd,
 Are very apt to fray ;
 For which some ladies give their lords
 A lesson night and day.

And very properly, I wot ;
 For eyes of married men
 Should only on one object look,
 Whereas they stare on ten.

A married man should winkers wear,
 Like coach-horses and cart ;
 To rule the eyes, those squinting pimps,
 That oft seduce the heart.

For so deprav'd our sex, I've known
 A man deep read in books,
 Who had a jewel of a wife,
 Yet kifs'd his greasy cooks.

And what did make it ten times worse,
 T' increase his lady's woes ;
 He kept the bastards of those cooks
 All underneath her nose ;

Who,

Who, if she dar'd to speak or weep,
 He instantly would kick her ;
 And oft (to use a Devonshire phrase)
 The gentleman would lick her.

Ah ! MATRIMONY, thou art like
 To JEREMIAH's figs ;
 The good were very good, the bad
 Too four to give the pigs.

Now to fair ELLEN to return—
 The PARSON of the parish,
 Although his mouth was most devout,
 His eyes were oft vagarish.

For oft on BONIFACE he call'd,
 The news to ask or tell ;
 Hoping his ale was fresh and good,
 And that his hogs were well.

And was fair ELLEN in the way,
 He catechis'd the MAID ;
 " Hoping she always went to church,
 " And like a christian pray'd."

And gently would he squeeze her hand
When nobody was near;
And kindly pat her rosy cheek,
With many a holy leer.

And when the PARSON took a draught,
He did persuade the LASS
To wet her lovely lips, and leave
A kifs within the glafs.

For ev'n the graveſt of DIVINES
To BEAUTY'S empire yield;
And ſpite of all their zeal and grace,
OLD NICK hath won the field.

Lo! BISHOP KEPPEL felt the charm,
And waver'd from his duty:
Confirming once a nice young MAID,
He gave up GOD for BEAUTY;

So preſſ'd her head with amorous hand,
When lo, two large black pins,
That ſlily lurk'd within her hair,
Attack'd him for his fins.

Deep

Deep in his flesh they urg'd their way:

When, starting, the DIVINE
Exclaim'd, "G—d d—mn the head! I think
"The girl's a porcupine."

OLD SNUFFLE too, the Parish Clerk,

Did sometimes call for ale;
And knew not (when the MAID was near)
If mild it was, or stale.

Of spectacles that rode his nose,

He wink'd through each horn'd glafs;
And goat-like, lick'd his watering lips,
That long'd to buss the lasfs.

Than o'er his Bible in the pew,

Of pounds I would lay ten,
Old SNUFFLE would much rather say,
O'er ELLEN's lips, amen.

The dullest eye can beauty see,

'Tis lightning on the fight;
Indeed it is a general bait,
And man, the fish, will bite.

A a 2

Now

Now BONIFACE talk'd of LORD ROLLE,
 A LORD in fight so frisky;
 Who made an old DAME* prisoner,
 And took away her whisky.

And eke on trav'ling corpses seiz'd,
 As fierce as any shark;
 And bullied, like a thunder-storm,
 The Parson and the Clerk.

And now they talk'd of SUNDAY SCHOOLS,
 Once deem'd a glorious thing;
 Prais'd and supported by the GREAT,
 Admir'd by QUEEN and KING.

But now 'gainst Sunday schools, alack,
 The great folk turn their faces;
 For fear the Poor, by learning, should
 Grow wiser than their Graces.

For no great man indeed can bear
 That man of low degree
 Should read and write, since that poor man
 May be as wise as HE.

* Actually in IRELAND, where his Lordship performed prodigies of valour.

There

There is a lofty Dame call'd PRIDE,
 With corns upon her toes;
 On which the mob is apt to tread,
 And very oft, God knows.

Now this high Dame companion is
 Of Lords, and Dukes, and Kings;
 And Duchesses, and eke of Queens,
 Indeed, and such like things.

And lo! she whispers to the GREAT
 To keep themselves aloof;
 Nay, crush the poor like some sad worm
 Beneath a horse's hoof.

And lo! the GREAT her counsel take,
 And ears of poor folks crop;
 Nay, flog the poor at times, poor souls!
 As schoolboys flog a top.

Now of a Princess sweet they talk'd,
 And pitied her hard fate;
 "O Lord! O Lord!" said BONIFACE,
 "Heav'n keep me from high state!"

“POOR LADY!” ORSON pitying said,
 “I’ve seen her many a time;
 “And seen the BABY too with tears,
 “And ask’d about her crime.

“However people may invent,
 “Whatever folks shall say,
 “I won’t believe—but think her still
 “A JEWEL flung away.”

“Such sweetness never could offend—
 “Then what’s her guilt?” I cry’d;
 “But folks seem’d all afraid to speak,
 “And shook the head, and sigh’d.”

Then ELLEN said, “I would not be
 “A PRINCESS, for the world.”—
 “Thou’rt more,” quoth ORSON, “or may I
 “To Old Nick’s house he hurl’d!”

“Thou art a QUEEN,” exclaims the youth;
 And for a kiss he starts—
 “Who! I?” rejoin’d th’ astonish’d MAID—
 “Yes, thou—the queen of hearts.”

The MAID receiv'd the YOUTH's salute
 With such a modest air,
 As though from MISTRESS STEVENSON'S,*
 The EMPRESS of Queen's-square.

Now, gentle Reader, with thy leave,
 I'll rest my tuneful tongue ;
 And shun of nightingales the fate,
 Who die by too much song,

---

CANTO III.

AND now they talk'd of good great men,
 Who by their merits rise ;
 When BISHOP PORTEUS was the theme ;—
Great, though of little size :

Who, though before the CHANCELLOR
 He humbly bore the mace,
 Did at the last a mitre wear ;
 Such friends are FAITH and GRACE.

* A lady who keeps a boarding-school.

Now BONIFACE did loud exclaim,

For wond'rous proud was he :

“ D'ye know that this same BISHOP's wife

“ No better was than me ?

“ No better, though the lofty wife

“ Of this most grand DIVINE !

“ Her father did an alehouse keep,

“ No better, man, than mine !

“ There Madam PORTEUS, a young maid,

“ Did draw the ale and beer ;

“ And drew good customers, 'tis said,

“ Indeed from far and near.

“ When Parson PORTEUS trudg'd that way—

“ Now see how things may hap !

“ And, sweating, took a pint of flout

“ From this young MAIDEN's tap.

“ Now LOVE within the pewter pot,

“ So wond'rous is his art,

“ Lurk'd sly, and as the PARSON swill'd,

“ Slipp'd down into his heart.

" At once he glow'd with furious flame,
 " And ey'd the comely SHE ;
 " And very foon he squeez'd her hand,
 " For wounded much was HE.

" Thus, when the linnet flies to drink
 " To some fair crystal spring,
 " By lime-twigs quickly is he caught,
 " And cannot move a wing.

" Now foon as the young girl's PAPA
 " The courtship did explore,
 " He took them by the shoulders both,
 " And shov'd them both to door.

" As ADAM and his dearest EVE
 " Left Eden with a tear;
 " So PORTEUS with his sweetheart left
 " The tap-room and the beer.

" Forth wander'd they in homely plight,
 " Griev'd that their plan miscarried ;
 " But foon in spite of poverty,
 " The loving pair were married.

" Nor

“ Nor proud is MISTRESS PORTEUS now,
 “ Though lofty is her lot ;
 “ For glad is she old friends to see,
 “ And eke a pewter pot.”

Thus ended BONIFACE ; and now
 They talk'd of HANNAH MORE,
 Whose fame the Bishop's trumpet sounds,
 That makes a mighty roar.

Then on each other they did wink,
 Which thus might be translated ;
Some people may a mitre wear,
 And yet be shallow-pated.

And now they prais'd the BISHOP'S care,
 Who makes it all his pride
 To see the CLERGY well behave,
 And on their CURES reside,

For, lo ! the BISHOP finds it hard
 Unto their Cures to pull 'em ;
 Tho' he, good man, for reasons wise,
 Doth seldom preach at FULHAM.

“ I fear

“ I fear some Bishop’s are in fault,”
 Quoth BONIFACE, and sigh’d—
 “ They are a proud and haughty set.”—
 “ Too true,” the youth replied.

“ Over poor Curates’ backs, alas,
 “ How Jehu-like they drive !
 “ And, Lord ! how these old drones will suck
 “ The honey of the hive !”

Of Dame RELIGION now they talk’d,
Belov’d by each DIVINE ;
 Who thinks their wealthy Patroness
 All in a deep decline.

To bring her back to health again,
 Of recipes a score
 Good Doctor PORTEUS jointly wrote
 With Parson HANNAH MORE.

For, lo ! the DAME with those great folk
 Has always been in favour ;
 For which they both for her would fight,
 And risk their all to save her.

Most

Most grossly she was us'd in FRANCE;
Most cruelly, alack!
Her pockets pick'd, and her best clothes
All pilfered from her back.

The FRENCH swore she a bastard was
Of some old canting FRIAR;
And from her childhood known to be
A hypocrite and liar.

Her rings they robb'd, and di'monds too;
Her gold they stole by tuns;
With which they shot and powder bought,
Swords, muskets, and great guns.

Not only this, indeed, was done
By this same rabble rout;
They broke the bones of SAINTS, and kick'd
The SAINTESSES about.

Such was their treatment by the mob,
Such rage did Hell inspire;
If gold, they coin'd them; and if wood,
The put them in the fire.

Old

Old jawbones of the fainted tribes,
 Old teeth, old nails, old noses,
 Old toes, old shoes, that wonders work'd,
 As every one supposes.

Old wigs, and night-caps, gowns, and rags,
 Spoon, trencher, knife and fork,
 Pap-spoon, and frying-pan, and spit,
 That many a marvel work.

“RELIGION was a gentle maid,”

Quoth BONIFACE agen—

“In the year one; but since she's spoil'd

“By wicked artful men.

“The BISHOPS taught her to be proud,

“And heap of wealth a store;

“To paint her cheeks, and wear the garb

“Of some fad tawdry w——.

“I think she is too well dress'd out

“By ev'ry great Divine.”—

“Indeed,” quoth ORSON with a sigh,

“I think she goes too fine.”

Of

Of PETER PINDAR now they talk'd,
 Who so divinely fings;
 Renown'd from pole to pole for ODES,
 And compliments to KINGS.

Then, raptur'd, on his works they dwelt,
 And on his high pretension;
 Lamenting much he had not got
 From MAJESTY a pension:

While PARASITES, and PIMPS to Lords,
 Enjoy'd their wealth and state;
 While he, poor foul, did make wry mouths
 Upon an empty plate.

On which they sagely did remark,
 That slight was Merit's meed;
 And that the SUN, for one fair flow'r,
 Did foster many a weed.

"I have his works," quoth BONIFACE,
 "This moment in my house;
 "Pray, FARMER, did you ever read
 "His POEM on a LOUSE?"

"And

“ And APPLE DUMPLINGS, and choak'd SHEEP,
 “ The PILGRIMS and the PEAS ;
 “ The BRICK-KILN, BREWHOUSE, PARSON YOUNG,
 “ And SONGS that Ladies please ?”

“ This GREAT MAN's Poems I have read ;
 “ Yes, over, Sir, and over,”
 Quoth ORSON with a wink and smile
 That pleasure did discover.

“ But then,” said he, and gave a shrug,
 “ Some ALDERMEN and MAY'R
 “ Swore that his impudence is such,
 “ It bristled up their hair :

“ Said that he grins too much at COURTS,
 “ And never would refrain ;
 “ And in respect of titled folk,
 “ Was wicked as TOM PAYNE.

“ They call'd him ev'ry name that's bad,
 “ Turk, Infidel, and Jew ;
 “ And wanted, when they burnt his books,
 “ To burn the Author too.”

“ O shameful ALDERMEN and MAY’R,

“ To burn so sweet a bard !”

Cry’d BONIFACE—“ alas ! alas !

“ ’Twas very, very hard.

“ The JUSTICE too, I do suppose,

“ Did hate him from his marrow ;

“ And with as much good-will would shoot

“ The Poet as a sparrow.

“ I hope this wond’rous man of verse

“ Is steel’d with resolution ;

“ As virtuous people, in all times,

“ Have suffered persecution.”

And now they talk’d of one GEORGE ROSE,

Who, born in low estate,

Did mount to worship and to wealth—

So very blind is FATE.

Of GEORGE’S Mother then they talk’d,

Her hut, and dirty geer ;

And said, that GEORGE allow’d his DAM

But thirty pounds a year.

Poor

POOR CRONE, who fwore she would have more,
 Or, lo ! his pride to sting,
 She'd run to London in her rags,
 And show them to the KING.

BUT GEORGE disliketh much to hear
 About his Scottish home ;
 Thus scabby heads, the proverb fays,
 For ever hate a comb.

And now of HAWKESBURY they talk'd,
 Who wrote in Mags for hire :
 Whose works, till in the chimney put,
 Ne'er felt one spark of fire.

Of taxes now they talk'd, and curs'd
 The EMPEROR o'er and o'er ;
 And then on PAUL they pour'd some gall,
 And very loudly fwore.

“ The GAME LAWS too,” quoth BONIFACE,
 “ Provoke me to the quick ;
 “ We must not knock a pheasant down,
 “ Although 'tis with a stick.

“ Curse on the JUSTICES, the thieves,

“ That fend a man to jail,

“ For touching, with an inch of gun,

“ A partridge or a quail :

“ Who threat my licence too to take,

“ And ding, and huff, and vapour,

“ Because I won't be humm'd, and buy

“ GEORGE ROSE'S stupid PAPER !” *

Now talk'd they of the PRINCESSES

ELIZABETH and MARY,

Whose taste in all the polish'd arts

Is most extraordinary.

* Which of the two Papers is meant by BONIFACE, we cannot ascertain; as the SUN was accustomed to lick up the leavings of the poor dead or dying TRUE BRITON, and disgorge for the benefit of the PUBLIC; either of those Newspapers, therefore, may be alluded to by the Landlord, as their respective merits are rather beneath the dignity of criticism. We must say, indeed, that every exertion has been made, particularly by the POST-OFFICE, to cram their trash down the throats of the nauseating PEOPLE of ENGLAND. A newspaper is made the test of our political principles.—Is the MORNING POST, or the COURIER, or the MORNING CHRONICLE called for, the man is branded with the odious name of Jacobin. Yet who reads of a defeat in these Ministerial hirelings? Pæans are for ever sung: British Laurels neither decrease nor fade—all alive and blooming! VICTORY attends the chariot of every British Mars—and the fool's cap which the conquering and contemptuous enemy now and then clapped on the heads of some of our Generals, has been, by the hocus pocus of a misrepresenting newspaper, converted into a TRIUMPHAL CROWN.

Then of the sweetness of their looks,
 Their manners all so mild ;
 That win, where'er they pass, the heart
 Of man, and maid and child.

And let me also join my praise,
 Before I further sing ;
 The MUSE with rapture oft hath mark'd
 The daughters of the KING.

And if her voice could pour a strain,
 To yield their hearts delight ;
 Lo ! all PARNASSUS with their names
 Should ring from morn to night.

---

CANTO IV.

NOW NEGRESS NIGHT came solemn down
 To put to roost the fowls ;
 To bid her bats a hunting go,
 And likewise all her owls.

B b 2

And

And eke she op'd the dreary tombs,
T' enjoy her spectre races;
Unlocking GHOSTS, to frighten folk
With shrouds and mealy faces.

And now amid the hags and owls,
And gliding spectres pale,
Mute SILENCE, with her feet in felt,
Did stalk from vale to vale.

The birds their thatch and bushes sought,
Forfaking trees and springs,
To hide their slumbering heads beneath
Those downy quilts, their wings.

Now DARKNESS, with her pinions black,
All waving wide outspread,
Mov'd solemn, and with HORROR join'd,
Did wrap the world in shade.

Now THEFT and MURDER fly stole forth
From caves of DREAD and DEATH,
In quest of damned deeds, to roam
The wild and spectred heath;

To

To meet some WANDERER of the shade,
 And make his life their food ;
 To seize his throat with ruffian grasp,
 And plunge their knives in blood.

And now amid the London streets,
 Poor outcasts from their home,
 The female bands, ah ! lost to fame,
 (Sweet BEAUTY'S wrecks!) did roam.

For these, let PITY heave the sigh,
 And PRUDENCE stay her rage ;
 And rather curse seducing pimps,
 The G—FF—DS of the age :

Who prowl where INNOCENCE appears,
 And watch for BEAUTY'S smile ;
 To tear the rose-bud from its bed,
 Then stamp it in the foil.

Now artfully, with rueful face,
 Did ORSON, cunning spark,
 Step to the door, and cry, " It rains—
 " And, Lord ! how dismal dark !

" And then the wind it is so high,
 " That I can scarcely stand ;
 " And then the sky's like murder black,
 " I cannot see my hand."

" Sleep here, my friend," the LANDLORD said :
 " A bed, but not of flocks,
 " Is thine—of feathers nice and soft,
 " Pick'd all from hens and cocks.

" Fine too the sheets—like lilies white,
 " And warm too is the rug ;
 " And trust me that it has not got
 " A single flea or bug.

" A little supper we will have ;
 " And, if I'm not mistaken,
 " Thou likest meat—now what dost say,
 " My friend, to eggs and bacon?"

To which the smiling YOUTH reply'd,
 " I'm vastly fond of hog ;
 " And when 'tis fry'd with eggs, I vow
 " I know no prettier prog."

Now

Now ELLEN, with a knife so keen,
To slice the flesh began ;
And then she broke twelve new-laid eggs,
And put them in the pan.

But growing warm against the hog,
The eggs unpleasant mutter'd ;
While, waxing hotter 'gainst the eggs,
The hog with fury sputter'd.

Alas! how much like man and wife!
What pity such things be !
Who at each other fiercely spit,
And often disagree.

The eggs and bacon soon were fry'd,
And plac'd upon the table ;
When ORSON and the LANDLORD eat
As much as they were able.

And now the merry mug went round,
And many a tale they told ;
And many a wanton joke they crack'd,
Some new, and others old.

B b 4

While

While ELLEN, busy at her work,
 Seem'd not one word to hear;
 But not a serious word or joke
 Escap'd the MAIDEN'S ear.

For where is she, the MAID, I wot,
 'Mongst high or humble folk,
 That liketh not a merry tale,
 Nor yet a wanton joke?

Now BONIFACE to ORSON said,
 " As we no longer munch,
 " Suppose, my friend, with this our ale,
 " We take a glass of punch?"

To which the YOUTH did answer make,
 " Dear friend with all my heart;
 " And ELLEN shall the lemons squeeze,
 " And likewise take a part.

" And ELLEN too with us shall fit,
 " And take her cheerful glass;
 " For what is meat, and drink, and life,
 " Without a charming lass?"

Now

Now ELLEN did the lemons squeeze,
 The sugar put, and rum in ;
 And made what e'en a King would call
 A bowl of liquor humming.

“ LANDLORD,” quoth ORSON, “ with your leave,
 “ And ELLEN’s too I mean,
 “ I’ll take a kifs from her nice lips,
 “ That would adorn a QUEEN.”

“ Aye,” cry’d the LANDLORD, “ kifs her, man,
 “ She’s sweeter than the rose ;
 “ A kifs can do no mighty harm ;
 “ So, GIRL, hold up thy nose.”

Then from those cherries of delight
 He kiffes took a score ;
 And, but for decency, the rogue
 Had ravish’d twenty more.

For kiffes are the food of love,
 Well known in ev’ry nation ;
 And such a dainty dish, indeed,
 Will ne’er be out of fashion.

And ladies lips the out-works I
 To ladies hearts may call ;
 Soon as the first are storm'd, the last
 Most nat'rally will fall.

“ Now sing a song,” said BONIFACE,
 “ Thy best, and do not grudge it.”
 “ Yes, that I will,” the YOUTH reply'd,
 “ I've many in my budget.”

Then ORSON op'd his throat, and sang,
 Both loud, and sweet, and clear,
 A song that much the LANDLORD charm'd,
 And caught fair ELLEN's ear.

---

SONG,

BY ORSON.

I OWN I am fickle : to PHILLIDA's ear
 I first told the story of Love ;
 Kifs'd her hand, prefs'd her lip with what ardour
 sincere !
 And declar'd that I never would rove.

But

But my sighs were scarce breath'd when CHLOE tripp'd by:

The NYMPH was no longer my boast ;
From PHILLIDA'S beauty away went the sigh,
And my heart to sweet CHLOE was lost.

Could I dream of a change, when CHLOE was mine ?

“ No, no,” I a thousand times swore ;
“ My heart cannot rove from a girl so divine ;
“ No, no, it will wander no more.”

But FATE, who delighted to laugh at the SWAIN,
Presented a damsel more fair ;
My heart ! the sad rogue, turn'd inconstant again,
And sigh'd to CORINNA his pray'r.

With CORINNA I swore, “ Ev'ry hour must be blest ;
“ These eyes shall no other pursue ;”
When agen, to alarm with new tumults my breast,
Thou, SYLVIA, beam'ft full on my view.

But, SYLVIA, I'm sure thou hast nothing to fear,
That my heart for another can pine ;
Since, to make it a traitor, a GIRL must appear
Whose beauty is equal to thine.

“ Now .

“ Now sing thy song,” the lark-like YOUTH
To BONIFACE did say ;
When BONIFACE most loudly sung
This merry roundelay.

---

SONG,

BY BONIFACE.

TOPER, drink, and help the house—
Drink to ev'ry honest fellow ;
Life was never worth a louse
To the man who ne'er was mellow.

How it sparkles ! here it goes !
Ale can make a blockhead shine ;
Toper, torch-like may thy nose
Light thy face up, just like mine !

See old SOL, I like his notion,
With his whiskers all so red ;
Sipping, drinking from the ocean,
Boozing till he goes to bed,

Yet

Yet poor beverage to regale !

Simple stuff to help his race—

Could he turn the sea to ale,

How 'twould make him mend his pace !

Now BONIFACE to ELLEN said,

“ Now for thy roundelay ;”

The DAMSEL blush'd, and hemm'd, and blush'd,

And then she fung away.

SONG,

BY ELLEN.

ADIEU to the grotto and glade !

Adieu to the song of the grove !

Since COLIN is gone from the shade,

Adieu to the valley of LOVE !

When a garland he wove for my hair,

When he gave me his hand at the file,

How buxom and sweet was the air !

How the fields were all cloth'd with a smile !

But

But NATURE seems chang'd to my mind—
 The fields are all dark on my eye ;
 Each song is a dirge on the wind,
 And the flowers seem all drooping to die.

All alone must I wander at morn,
 And lonely at eve a poor ghost ;
 While each object around me forlorn,
 Will pity the peace I have lost.

Then ask me not, virgins, to stay ;
 With a sigh seems the zephyr to blow ;
 And the runlet that murmurs away,
 To wind with a murmur of woe.

O ye virgins ! O shepherds ! farewell !
 I wander in secret to pine ;
 May content be the guest of your cell,
 Who has long been a stranger to mine !

---

The YOUTH upon her tuneful lips
 Did full of rapture glote ;
 And seem'd so pleas'd as though he could
 Have gallop'd down her throat.

He.

He look'd and sigh'd, and sigh'd and look'd
With longing wishful eye ;
And felt his heart all flutt'ring beat,
And gues's'd the reason why.

For who can see the lovely MAID,
And feel not sweet desire ?
With him may LIFE's fair prospect's fade,
And HOPE itself expire !

The CLOCK, the cryer shrill of time,
That tick'd behind the door,
Now with his hammer struck the bell
Twelve times, and lo ! no more.

And now the fire was all put out,
Which BONIFACE did water ;
For fear a spark might burn the house,
And make a serious matter !

For fire, permitted once to rule,
Consumeth all it handles ;
Ev'n from the palaces of kings,
Down to a pound of candles.

The

The cat amid the ashes purr'd
 (For paws to cats belong);
 While chimney-minstrels, crickets call'd,
 Did join GRIMALKIN's song.

O gentle CRICKETS, to your airs
 I've listen'd o'er and o'er
 O lucky IMPS, where'er ye dwell,
 That house is never poor.

Old TOWZER too lay stretch'd along,
 And yelping much did keep;
 And with his trembling joints did chase
 The rabbits in his sleep;

Eager he seem'd to hunt indeed
 The nibblers to their holes:
 Thus dogs can dream like gentlemen,
 Although they have no souls.

Now BONIFACE said, "Sir, good night,"
 And shook young ORSON's fist.
 "Good night," agen young ORSON said,
 And then he ELLEN kifs'd;

And

And on her pouting lip he left
 A thousand wanton wishes :
 “ Good night,” quoth he, “ fair MAID, whose eyes
 “ Eclipse thy pewter dishes.”

Yes, 'twas a kifs!—a kifs indeed!—
 A very wanton kifs!
 Which seem'd upon her mouth to say,
 I long for higher blifs.

---

CANTO V.

Now all was mute as death, and still,
 As still as any mouse;
 Save the red nose of BONIFACE,
 That echo'd through the house.

Lo, noses are on various scales,
 Some long, and others short;
 Those silent letting in the air,
 While these as loudly snort.

Now all, I say, was hush, except
Old BONIFACE'S nose;
When ORSON, softly, left his bed—
With keen desires he rose.

For youth and health too oft, alas!
A lawless love suggest:
His pulse beat high and quick, his heart
Did bump against his breast.

Now ORSON, soft as mousing cats,
To ELLEN'S room did steal;
All in his shirt he stole, and found
His mouse—a lovely meal.

Much like a gliding ghost he look'd,
That nightly mortal scares;
Or parson, with his surplice on,
Beginning to say prayers.

MISS MOON, as though on purpose, rose,
Resolv'd to make him blest;
And through the casement bright did shine
On ELLEN and her nest.

Her

Her bosom like the lily fair,
    Within her linen white,
Heav'd up and down like gentle waves
    Amid the silver'd night.

Her cheek was like the rose in dew ;
    Her lip with moisture glow'd ;
And o'er her iv'ry neck her hair
    In ringlets easy flow'd.

Calm as the cradled infant's breath,
    Her breath the DAMSEL drew ;
While dreams unto her sleeping eye
    Presented swains to view.

Through country scenes she seem'd to walk,
    And now she cross'd a stile ;
And to her LOVER stretch'd her hand,
    And gave it with a smile ;

When suddenly she drew it back,
    And wak'd with dread and fear ;
And cry'd, in sweet astonish'd tone,
    " O gemini! what's here ?"

“ My dearest GIRL,” then ORSON said,
 And clasp’d her in his arms ;
 “ No harm, my Love,” and then he clasp’d,
 And clasp’d agen her charms.

And then she lost her strength, poor MAID ;
 Her struggles soon were o’er ;
 Her voice too, sinking, died, and lo,
 She word spake never more !

*Hiatus maximè deflendus * * * * **

Thus TARQUIN stole, in dead of night,
 To fair LUCRETIA’S arms ;
 And, to her vast astonishment,
 Did rifle all her charms.

In vain the struggling DAME preferr’d
 Her chastity to death ;
 The TYRANT still rush’d on, and, lo,
 With kisses stopp’d her breath.

What VIRTUE well could do, she did
 Amid this wild love-storm ;
 But sweet TEMPTATION swell’d his lust,
 For BEAUTY stamp’d her form.

Thus

Thus was LUCRETIA'S lustre loft,
 The DAME indeed undone ;
 And thus, a simile to use,
 A cloud eclips'd the sun.

Yet Beauty is a 'witching thing,
 And mocks the wisest plan ;
 The PASSIONS, lo, wild horses too,
 That gallop off with man.

Man is a cock-boat in a storm,
 When OCEAN makes a pudder ;
 Tofs'd like a cockle-shell about,
 That cannot rule its rudder.

But soon ADULTERY * shall die,
 For soon the law begins ;
 And FORNICATION too, 'tis hop'd,
 Will suffer for her sins.

* Here I reckoned without mine host, LORD AUCKLAND'S pious endeavours having miscarried. The BISHOPS, however, full of zeal and good works, since the expulsion of the sacred ORDER from France, still vow vengeance on horns.

And MODESTY, a banish'd lass,
 Despis'd by nine in ten,
 Shall leave her flocks and humble vale,
 To visit COURTS again.

Now to fair ELLEN to return,
 Who now fat up in bed,
 And, sighing sweet, on ORSON's breast
 Did lean her blushing head:—

“ O cruel, cruel, cruel YOUTH,”
 The gentle ELLEN cry'd;
 “ My virgin treasures ere you robb'd,
 “ I wish that I had dy'd.

“ Ah! to what SWEETHEART can I say,
 “ Should I e'er chance to wed,
 “ I come unspotted to thy arms,
 “ A virgin to thy bed?

“ Can I, with guilt within my heart,
 “ To his careffes turn;
 “ Receive his love who thinks me pure,
 “ And kifs for kifs return?

“ Avaunt,

“ Avaunt, Deception! come, DESPAIR!

“ My innocence is gone!

“ And thou, my SPOILER, leave to tears

“ And sighs a wretch undone.

“ O! had the YOUTH that once I lov'd

“ Within these arms been prest;

“ Then should I have no cause to mourn,

“ For then had I been blest.

“ O dearest YOUTH! farewell, farewell!

“ Ah! woe, ah! woe is me!

“ I never now can be thy bride,

“ And far am I from thee!”

Now tears did trickle down her cheek—

“ Adieu,” quoth she, “ adieu;

“ Though thou inconstant was to me,

“ To thee I prov'd most true.”

Then ORSON said, “ What YOUTH is this,

“ For whom thou sighest now?”

“ A YOUTH,” said she, “ who lives afar,

“ Who love to me did vow.

" But riches forc'd me from his arms,
 " And men do wealth adore ;
 " And thus he left my heart to pine,
 " For I was very poor.

" A DAMSEL richer far than me
 " Did win his heart away ;
 " At which I left my native vale,
 " For there I could not stay.

" For who can bear the scoffs and jeers,
 " That bitter flow like gall ?
 " So, when I lost my SWEETHEART'S love,
 " Alas! I lost my all.

" Yet was I pure, unlike the girls
 " Who, long before they wed,
 " Submitting to a LOVER'S pray'r,
 " Consent to go to bed.

" Where now he is, God only knows :
 " Five years it is, and more,
 " That here in HAMPSHIRE I have dwelt,
 " And here my love deplore.

" Me-

“ Methought that when the mug of beer

“ This very night I drew,

“ The YOUTH I fondly thought my own,

“ Did much resemble you.

“ Did ORSON know but half my foul,

“ He fure would pity give ;

“ But I am ruin'd now, alas!

“ And am not fit to live.”

“ My ELLEN fweet,” the YOUTH reply'd,

And hugg'd her to his heart ;

“ Behold the ORSON thou haft loft,

“ And we will never part.

“ I am not married—no, my dear,—

“ To wed I now am free ;

“ And I have fearch'd half England through,

“ Again to look on thee.

“ But thou wer't gone the Lord knows where,

“ And wer't not to be found ;

“ But all the neighbours faid with fighs,

“ That furely thou wer't drown'd.”

“ O ORSON dear ! (the MAID reply'd)

“ And am I in thine arms ? ” —

“ Thou art, thou art ! ” rejoin'd the YOUTH,
And closely prefs'd her charms.

“ How was't I knew thee not ? ” quoth she —

Quoth he, “ I wasn't so big ;

“ For now thou see'st I wear my hair,

“ And then I wore a wig . ”

“ Ah me ! I recollect , ” she said,

“ Full well thy natty bob ;

“ And then I only wore my hair,

“ But since I've worn a mob . ”

“ Ah ! ELLEN , ” cry'd the raptur'd YOUTH,

“ The reason now is plain ;

“ The mob and ribbon were the cause

“ I knew thee not again . ”

Now in each other's warm embrace,

They kiss'd with fond delight :

For, lo, the greatest bliss on earth

Is LOVE's delicious rite !

Now MORNING peep'd upon the house ;
And now, with cheerful ray,
Upon the window blaz'd the sun,
And all the world was gay.

The chirping sparrows came in flocks,
And linnets with a tune,
And round the house in gambols flew,
To hail the honeymoon.

The wrens delighted cock'd their tails,
And twitter'd many an air ;
And robins trilling, through the panes
Peep'd in upon the pair.

The cocks and hens display'd their flames ;
And ev'ry duck and drake,
And goose and gander, on the morn
Did love delicious make :

And eke the pigeons, birds of love
Did wanton on the thatch ;
And coo'd and bill'd, and flapp'd their wings,
In honour of the match.

And

And lo! as though they knew th' affair,
All frisky was the lambs;
And dancing, full of life, the ewes
Made merry with the rams.

And now of love they took their fill,
Nor for the Parson tarried;
But lo, next day they went to church,
And decently were married.

NEW - OLD BALLADS.

---

Written by QUEEN ELIZABETH, during her Imprisonment at Woodstock.

AH! woe is mee, who fighe forlorne,
Sith woe has fixed depe his thorne
    In thys poor harte !
The milkmaids songe when morne doeth smyle,
And Phebus gildeth fielde and style,
    Doth greefe emparte.

I envy birdes that cleave the skye :
Ye live in freedom, imps! I fighe,
    Then droppe a teare :
And eke I cast an envious looke
Upon the little babbling brooke
    That runneth neare.

Like the fwete brook I wish to flee
From fielde to fielde in merry glee ;

But

But my poore harte doth pant in vayne
To joine the milkmayde on the plaine,

Who seems so blest!

Dispayre approaches, and thus cries:

“ To FREEDOM cease to turn thine eyes,

“ Sith I’m thy guest.”

O drear companion! ah, most drear!

Whose voice is horror to mine ear!

TO THE GLASS.

GIVE me the glasse that felt her lippe,

And happy, happy shall I sippe:

And when is fled the daintie wyne,

Something remaineth still divyne.

Heaven’s dewes that on the flower doe falle,

Make them to smyle and fayre withal;

And thus the dewe of her sweet kisse

Doth bathe my heart with balmy blisse:

But dewes to vapoure flye awaye,

While her rich fragrance lasts for aye.

TO

TO THE DAISIE.

O MODEST flower! thou tellest of the Springe!
 Welcome unto this little fielde of myne!
 With joy I see thee from the green earth springe,
 And smiling in thy silvery vesture shine!

Ah! nought disturbeth thy fayre tender frame;
 Zephyrus kiffeth thee, and tastes thy sweet:
 Thou dost not chide the wanton rogue—no blame,
 Nor biddest him fighe lowly at thy feet.

Agayne he whispereth love; and now agayne
 He tasteth of thy honey'd leaves, and sighs!
 And though he wantons, thou dost not complayne;
 Thy little snowy bosom nought denies.

O gentle Daisie! speak to her I love
 When she doth come, and casteth looks on thee;
 Persuade her my pure passion to approve,
 And not with coldness from her shepheard flee:

But imitate thy ways, and learne thy smyle,
 When I, like Zephyrus, doe prefs her cheke ;
 Then may no tempest rude thy form defyle,
 And of thy snowy beauties make a wreck !

A PRAISE OF FAYRE GERALDINE,

BY LORD SURREY.

I SIGHE mournfulle for GERALDINE,
 For lovelie GERALDINE I playne ;
 And oft I wish her harte was mine ;
 But vaine are fighes, and teares are vaine.

But she perchance mote cruel be,
 Aud flighten of Cupid the bande,
 Because she may not fynde a he
 That meriteth her lilled hande.

Ah me! sith none but such may wooc,
 And turn to her with hope his eyes ;
 Far hence fayre GERALDINE must goe,
 And seek a lover in the skyes.

BALLADE OF LOVE.

THOU art the loadsterre of my love,
 Which love doth many tempests fynde ;
 But thou canst all the stormes remove,
 And whisper calme unto my mynde.
 Thy balme breathe can fille the fayle,
 And blefs me with a prosperous gale.

But, no—for this I may not hope ;
 On rocks thou doonest me to mourne :
 My vessel without maste or rope,
 All on the black rock piece-meal torne :
 And there I wis without a fighe,
 Thou lettest my poore vessel lye.

But if thy smile would fix on me,
 A safe porte then my shippe may fynde ;
 Then Phœbus' beams break out, I see,
 And leave the tossing waves behinde.
 With jocund heart then I do prove,
 Thou art the loadsterre of my love.

BALLADE OF GRIEF.

I KNOW not joy, when far from thee,
For thou art all the world to me :

Then come away.

Though thou art farre, yet Love's fwift darte,
For ever flying, wounds my harte,
From day to day.

I feeke to flepe away the hours,
But thy image my calme devours,
And kepes me waking :
And when, alack ! I clofe myne eye,
I starte, and with keene anguish fighe,
“ Thour't me forsaking !”

Then come, fayre Mayde, and with thee bringe
In thy twin cheeks the bloffom'd Springe,
And Sommer's gold
In thy twin eyes, that I may find
The Sommer's beam within my mind,
Not Winter's cold.

THE

THE PETITION OF THE LOVER.

AH ! fay not " No," unto my pray'r,
 For I have loved thee full long ;
 To these twin eyes thou art most fayre,
 Surpassing praise of sweetest song.
 Then fay not " No" unto my prayer,
 But be so kynde as thou art fayre.

Why art thou with rare beauty blest ?
 Only to blefs mankynde, I wifs ;
 Not for to robbe the harte of rest,
 But fill it with a sea of blisse.
 Then fay not " No" unto my pray'r,
 But be so kynde as thou art fayre.

The sunne was made to warme the earte,
 And plenty make, and kepe off blite ;
 So should thy beauty's sunne give birthe
 To our fouls harvests of delyte.
 Then fay not " No" unto my prayer,
 But be so kynde as thou art fayre.

ON AN INCONSTANT.

THOSE peerless lips are both forsworne ;
 Those lips that roses blooms adorn,
     Ah, too deceiving fayre !
 I thought no guile upon thy tongue,
 I thought that mouth could fay no wrong,
     Nor lay for hearts a snare.

But now I see thy vaine, vaine mind,
 And now thy cruelty I find
     That taketh pride in woe ;
 In every sigh thy guile I hear,
 And see my wrongs in ev'ry tear
     Which Sorrow bids to flow,

Where'er I go, I hear thy name,
 And hear fierce Anger cry out " Shame !"
     On beauty so renown'd.
 Know, beauty was design'd for joy,
 Which thou dost cruelly employ
     To give the world a wound.

THE

THE LOVERS PITYE.

MY lute, who makedst sweetest sound,
 Awake thee now, alack ! to playne ;
 Sith my poore harte doth feel a wound,
 And never may rejoyce again !
 Oh, let thy sounds with my sighs flow,
 For her who lies in deth below !

O lute ! how jocund was thy voice
 When she did make thy chords rejoyce,
 When roses blushed on her cheek !
 But now that she in deth lies pale,
 Thy voice must tell a doleful tale,
 And every harte with sorrow breake !

My lute, thou must no more be gladde,
 But tune to dying straines and fadde,
 And think no more of jouissance.
 Griefe openeth of myne eyes the springes,
 And oft my teares will wet thy stringes,
 And make thee mourne our dread mischance.
 Then list to me, my favourite lute—
 Be fadde, or lye for ever mute !

TO A FLY,

BY THE PRINCESS ELIZABETH, IN PRISON.

THOU little animal, I wifs,
Thou seemest me a child of blifs,
And runnest, fleest here and there
Withoute a pang, and eke a tear ;
While, borne to thinke of scepters, I
Do envy thee, thou little Fly !

Fortune doth make small giftes to me,
But what is mine I give to thee :
The bread, the wine upon my boarde,
I yield to thee with much accorde.
Come when thou list, and to thy mynde
Thou something to thy taste shalt fynde.

Though gladde thou friskest to and fro,
Thy life, poor worme, is shorte, I know ;
A little while thy legs outspread,
I see thee on the table ded ;
And, while thou art at peace, I wail,
And think on thy lyfe's little tale.

But

But while thou canst my crumbs enjoy,
 Thou here may hum withoute annoy;
 Runne here and there, and spread thy wing,
 And with thy own companions fing,
 Though man be cruel unto me,
 My hand shall give delyte to thee.

---

ON THE FAYRE GERALDYNE.

GOE, Muse, to HUNSDON, and espye
 What giveth to myne harte a fighe;
 And yet to every other harte
 Bright floodes of joyance doeth emparte.

There may thou see a funne that cloude
 Didde never yet with darknes shroude;
 And straunge, no mortals on that funne
 Withouten hurte may looke uponne.

Now, Ladye Muse, should it be so,
 Thou doest not this my loadsterre knowe,
 Goe unto HUNSDON, caste thyne cien
 On all the world's fayre GERALDYNE.

THE

THE BRENNED MOTH,

A BALLADE.

AH! filly Moth, what has thou done?
 To such mishap why didst thou runne?
 Brent be thy legges, and eke thy wings,
 And fate doth pierce thee with his stings.

What folly could thy mynde perfwade
 To leave thy fields of dew and shade,
 Where glow-worms light with lanterns sheen
 The little elves that prounce the green?

There mightest thou on pennons light
 Enjoy the filence of mute nighte,
 And flicker hill and vale around,
 Withoute a foe—withoute a wound.

Poor fly!—but why thy folly blame?
 We, wifer mortals, act the same!
 On mad ambitious fires we gaze,
 And, doating, perish in the blaze.

WYATT

WYATT

TO BRYAN, FROM HIS PRISON.

THE summer of my hope is ded,
 Whyche made my daies so passing fayre :
 Now HOPE no more may lift her hed,
 Sore chilled by wynter of despayre.

But, BRYAN, my dark prison doore
 Doeth boast of lyght when thou dost come ;
 Syth FRIENDSHIPP's sun hath beames a store,
 To make a palace of a tombe.

Then come, and FRIENDSHIPP's beame y spred,
 And I'll forget that HOPE is ded.

---

 WYATT

TO POINS, IN PRAISE OF LIBERTY.

TO crawle in courtes is bondage harde !
 For who y chooseth chaines I wot ?
 Yet some, for pleasures of rewarde,
 Wi flatter—and blow colde and hot.

But

But Liberty will I emplore,
Though Poverty knock at my doore.

What be our wants?—some thinges, not all.

Contentment lyeth not in heaps;
Who hath a littel field, though small,
It grete is, if enough he reaps.

Then Liberty will I emplore,
Though Poverty knock at my doore.

---

SIR T. WYATT.

Retired to the Country, to ARLINGTON, where he passed a life of tranquility: he despised HARRY the EIGHTH'S Court.—WYATT boasts of his liberty.

FREE am I nowe—I courtes do follow not,
But myne own pleasure dayly I persue;
I ask aboute no courtiers—no, God wot,
Sith I to courtes have bidden longe adieu:
For when at Courtes, on hands and knees they crawl,
Like whipped dogs, and be for aye inthrall.

When morne doth glister, oft bayte I myne hook,
And forthe I go the rivers banke besyde ;
And there I privilye do searche the brooke,
And trye if fish unneath the surface glyde.
And often do I bring them to the lande,
And then unhook them with a happy hande.

She whoame I love doth sumtime straye,
And fees me dragge the prif'ner from the floude ;
And that it is most cruelle, she doth faye,
To spille of little fishe the harmlesse bloode.
“ Eche little fish,” she telleth with a teare,
“ Which thou dost kille, perchaunce hath got his dere.”

And oft she pulleth a fish from my hande,
And putteth him agayne into the brooke ;
Sayinge, “ Go fishe, thyne liberty commande,
“ And learne t'avoide, poore foole, the hyden hooke.”
And then she smylinge doth a moral fynde,
And lykeneth fishe betray'd to woman-kynde.

A BALLADE OF PRAYER,

BY SIR JAMES MELVILLE.

Addressed to QUEEN ELIZABETH, on his presuming to listen privately to Her Majesty while she played on the Virginals.

DELIVERED BY LORD HUNSDON.

OH! in your gracious goodnesse deigne
To pardon mee, most mighty Queen,
Who dared (not to be forgeven)
To heare on erth the songes of heaven!

I strofe to flye from soche swete sounde,
But nail'd was I unto the grounde;
My feet, entraunced, could not move,
And all my mynde was lost in love,

What punishment your gracious sence
Ordaineth for my rude offence,
Yet be it grate, and life destroye,
It may not equal my past joye.

If

If you would more than cruel be,
 Deth must not be devis'd for me ;
 But take my ears quick sence away,
 When you, grate QUEENE, shall singe and playe.

BALLADE,

BY VERE, EARL OF OXFORD.

WHERE is the MAYDE that erst was myne,
 Who did with love myne harte begile ?
 No more on me doeth beauty shine,
 No more I proudly boaste her smile.

The roses of her cheek so bright,
 Her lippe of berries purple hue,
 No more for me may blush delyte ;
 To them may Fansie fay adieu.

When I did first her lookes beholde,
 Me seemes 'twas summer in her eve ;
 Me seemes I mark'd two funnes of golde,
 Upon her face's smiling skye.

Me

Me seemes that on her roseate cheeke
 I spyed the season of the SPRINGE ;
 And when that she did courteous speke,
 The feather'd minstrels seem'd to finge.

But all is past and gone, I weene :
 From her I meet with icy cold :
 I marke no more her eyes bright sheen,
 Nor marke her funnes of brightest golde.

Sadde is the chaunge sith she's unkynde :
 Now cloudes all mirkie darke my daye ;
 For ZEPHYRUS blow wynter wyndes,
 And frost hath kill'd the gentle MAY.

---

BALLADE.

COULDST thou looke into myne harte,
 Thou wouldst see a mansion drear ;
 Some old haunted tower aparte,
 Where the spectre bands appear :
 Sighing, gliding, ghostly forms,
 'Mid the ruin shook by storms.

Yet

Yet my harte, whiche Love doth flighte,

Was a palace passing fair;

Which did hold thyne image bright,

Thee the QUEEN of BEAUTY rare;

Which the laughing Pleasures fill'd,

And fair Fortune's sunne did gild.

When shall my poor harte, alas,

PLEASURE's palace be againe ?

That sweete MAYDE, may come to pass,

When thou ceapest thy disdaine :

For thy smiles, like beams of day,

Banish spectre forms away.

---

A BALLADE.

THE maid who pants for lover's sighs,

Doth lay for her own peace a snare ;

She rues the conquests of her eyes,

And mourns that she was ever fair :

Then, lasses, mind the proverb well,

“ Too oft the pitcher went to well.”

Where BEAUTY doth display its rose,
 In tribes the busy swains are found ;
 And where the richest nect'rine grows,
 The hungry flies will buzz around :

Then, lasses, mind the proverb well,
 " Too oft the pitcher went to well."

---

THE THREAT OF OBERON THE FAIRY.

MAIDENS fair, attend to me :
 Constant to your shepherds be :
 If ye break your vows of love,
 Ye my rage will forely prove.

I know all your dreams by night ;
 Therefore fear, O MAIDS, my spite :
 All your secret thoughts I know ;
 Fear then my sharp anger's blow.

And, O MEN ! I pray, beware ;
 Do not harm the MAIDENS fair ;
 Sigh not love, and then betray,
 If ye wish my rage away.

By

By the moon's pure beam I swear,
If I mark a virgin tear,
I will give the SHEPHERD dread
And will tear him from his bed.

If I hear a SHEPHERD sigh,
MAIDS, in jeopardy ye lye;
Spoil'd will be the dimple sleek,
Breast of snow, and rosy cheek.

LOVE our Fairy train delights,
While we sport in moony nights;
Eke our elfin KING and QUEENE,
As they gambol on the greene,

LOVE was sent to soften woe,
Sent to bless the world below;
Full of smile, with roses crown'd:
Why should LOVE then feel a wound?

A BALLADE OF WYNTER.

LOUD blowe the wyndes with blustering breath,
And snows fall cold upon the heath,
    And hill and vale looke drear ;
The torrents foam with headlong roar,
And trees their chilly loads deplore,
    And droppe the icy tear.

The little birdes, with wishfull eye,
For almes unto my cottage flye,
    Sith they can boaste no hoarde :
Sharpe in myne house the pilgrims peep,
But Robin will not distance keepe,
    So percheth on my boarde.

Now on the cradle doth he hye,
And kenneth down, with connyng eye,
    Upon my babe below ;
And finding comfort in my cote,
He tweedles forth a simple note,
    And shakes his wings of snow.

Come in, ye little minstrels fwete,
And from your feathers shake the fleete,

And,

And warme your freezing bloode :
 No cat shall touch a fingle plume ;
 Come in, sweet choir—nay, fill my room,
 And take of grain a treat.

Then flicker gay about my beams,
 And hoppe and doe what pleafaunt seemes,
 And be a joyfull throng,
 Till Spring cloath the naked grove ;
 Then go and build your nests, and love,
 And thank me with a fong.

---

TO HER HIGH MAJESTY,

On her vouchsafing to reward her humblest of Servants,
 EDWARD FAIRFAX.

BRIGHT SUN of ENGLAND, nay, a SUN
 That hath so bright a cercle run,
 And on far realms doth spread a blaze !
 The humblest servant of your isle
 Doth thank your beauty for the smile
 That graceth me with golden rays.

E e 3

Though

Though homely be my Muse's speche
 And poore, your praise can make it rich,
 Such is the power of your high name.
 What you, greet QUEEN, may deign to praise,
 Altho' a dwarf you to a giant can it raise,
 Sith your voice is the voice of FAME.

With a Gyfte of a GLOW-WORM to the fayre GERALDINE in the Country.

FAYRE GERALDINE, behold, I bring
 This elfin IMP that gildeth night;
 So beauteous was it 'mid the shade,
 So calm, so mild its lonely light,
 The insects of the dew-dropp'd field
 To its pure beame did homage yelde.

When first I didde this worm espye,
 Aloude I said, and with a fighe,
 " Oh, little IMP of night, I see
 " Semblance of GERALDINE in thee."
 Amid the shade as it doth shyne,
 So fares it with fayre GERALDINE.

This

This worm beneath the leaf doth hyde,
 Defying not to be espied ;
 Natheles it yieldeth all so brighte
 A Jewel to emblazon night :
 And thus on this dark worlde do shyne
 The wit and charmes of GERALDINE.

BALLADE ON THE VIOLET.

SWEETE infant of the felde, myne eye
 Doth joye thy modest form to meet,
 For thou goode news doth say ;
 How WINTER, with his horrid yell,
 Hath bid at laste his rode farewell,
 And borne his blasts away.

While WYNTER his wilde rule did spread,
 Thou couldst not show thy tender head,
 But from his rage didst hide ;
 And golden cup, and primrose pale,
 Did peeping tremble in their vale,
 And eke the daisie pied.

The furly wight your robes had torne,
 And on his wings of tempest borne,
 And scatter'd through the skies ;
 But now the gentle Zephyr's breath
 Doth whisper, " There's no dread of death,"
 And bids you fearless rise,

Sweet is thy lot, O little flower !
 Like man thou dost not life devour,
 Well pleas'd on dews to dine—
 Of heaven's pure balm to make thy fayre ;
 What pity 'tis we cannot share
 An innocence like thine !

BALLADE.

TO A FISH OF THE BROOKE.

WHY flyest thou away, with fear?
 Trust me, there's nought of danger near,
 I have no wicked hooke,
 All cover'd with a snaring bait,
 Alas ! to tempt thee to thy fate,
 And dragge thee from the brooke.

O harm-

O harmless tenant of the flood,
 I do not wish to spill thy blood;
     For Nature unto thee
 Perchance hath given a tender wife,
 And children dear, to charm thy life,
     As she hath done for me.

Enjoy thy streame, O harmless fish;
 And when an angler, for his dish,
     Through gluttony's vile fin,
 Attempts, a wretch, to pull thee out,
 God give thee strength, O gentel trout,
     To pull the raskall in!

---

TO THE LARK.

O LITTLE harbinger of day,
 Who welcomest the blushing light!
 With glee I lift thy cheerful lay,
     Sweet recompence for dreary night.

O'er fair ASTRÆA's rosy bow'r,
 Go, tuneful sprite, and wave thy wing;
 Go, charm ASTRÆA's morning hour,
     To her thy choicest ditties sing.

For,

For, if thou please that peerless Queen,
 Thrice lucky were thy little voice ;
 For when ASTRÆA gladde is seen
 Her smile doth all the world rejoice.

ANCIENT SIMPLICITY.

FOLK be too fond of mounting FORTUNE'S wheel;
 And though she humbleth thousands in the muck,
 Ambition's flame their brenning bosoms feel,
Pardie ! they must crawl up, and try their luck.

But when aloft—themselves they scarcely know,
 Despitfull squinting on the world below ;
 But when they tremble, none lament their thrall,
 But grin, and point their finger to their fall.

To shew that I am now not uttering lies,
 I'll tell a little tale in Æsop guise.

THE YOUNG CROWS AND THE YOUNG WRENS.

A TALE.

A Crow upon a lofty tree
 Did build her sticky nest ;
 And younglings did she bring to light,
 In number five at least.

One morning, on a summer's day,
 Did peep eche youngling Crow,
 And spied upon a brambling bush
 Some youngling Wrens below.

These simple Wrens in happy glee
 Did spread their little wing ;
 And lightsome, hopp'd from bush to bush,
 And merrily did sing.

“ Poor humble creatures,” cry'd the Crows,

“ Eche is a beggar wight ;

“ Look up to us, and see our state,

“ Our houses lofty hight.

“ We look into the beamy skies,

“ While you through hedges wade ;

“ We gaze upon the morning sun,

“ While ye are lost in shade.

“ Poor

“ Poor imps, departe, nor here offend ;

“ Take off eche felie face ;

“ This hill was only made for crows,

“ Then do not us disgrace.

“ If you do not this region quit,

“ We’ll dung upon you foon.”

The smiling Wrens made answer none,

But trill’d their little tune.

Short time had pass’d, when suddenly

Grim BOREAS ’gan howl ;

The thunder crack’d, the lightning flash’d,

And frighted man and fowl.

While thus the dreadfull thunder crack’d,

And lightning broad did flash ;

The limb whereon the Crows were perch’d

Did give a sudden crash.

Down came the limb, and with it down

Did tumble eche young Crow ;

Some broke their legs, and some their wings,

And doleful look’d below.

’Twas

'Twas now the time for Wrens to jeer;
So forth did fly the train,
And, twittering, saw with smiles the Crows
All sprawling on the plain.

Then taunting an arch Wren began :

“ Sir Crows, of high renowne,
“ Ye came, by this your dirty trim,
“ All in a hurry down.

“ And by the looke of all your limbs,
“ And feathers fous'd with rain,
“ It will be some small time before
“ Your Graces mount again.

“ Proud fooles, how selie ye descend
“ From skies to dirty fens !
“ Thank Heaven, with hedges we're content,
“ And happy to be Wrens.”

To AUTHORS that indite on the passion of LOVE.

YE who do songs of love indite,
 Knoweth not well of that ye write,
 Sith ye nere with the passion strove;
 Go moan, and hide in groves, and fighe,
 Adore her name, and wish to dye,
 And then ye well may wryte of love.

But ye may answer make, and cry,
 " Where is the object for our figh?
 " Who is the mayde may make hearts pine?"
 Ah, did ye never marke a mayde
 That wandereth in WINDSOR shade,
 Then larne—it is fayre GERALDINE.

BALLADE.

WHEN SUMMER'S bloome did paynte my cheeke,
 I thought of FRIENDSHIP'S tye;
 Of frendship I could onely speke,
 Unweting so was I.

But now I find this grievous truthe,
 That frendship is the dream of youth.

Although

Although I lov'd the fayrest MAYDE,
 My ladye I would yield,
 To give a frend a hand of aid,
 And be that frend's bold shield.

But now I fynde, etc.

Alas, I mete with no return,
 For love I mete with hate ;
 Instead of smyle myne eyes do mourne
 With early tears and late !

But now I fynde, etc.

FRIENDSHIP's a funne, I whilom fayd,
 That warmeth every harte ;
 But now that hartes of ice are made,
 Whiche winter's colds emparte ;

But now I fynde, etc.

FRIENDSHIP, fayd I, a forme doth boast,
 A gyant's forme, I ween ;
 But now I see him, a poore ghost,
 With pale and dreary mien.

But now I fynde, etc.

Then

Then let no MYNSTRELL, in his song,

Of FRIENDSHIP take the parte;

Syth 'tis a vertue of the tongue

But never of the harte.

But now I fynde, etc.

TO CYNTHIA IN TOWN.

CYNTHIA, the DRYADS are in tears,
Because thou visit'st not their groves ;
The GRACES grieve, and CUPID swears,
And very fullen look the LOVES.

The NAIADS through the vales declare,
No rill of theirs shall purl away ;
The LARK too scorns to mount in air,
And vows to keep his nest all day.

The SUN resolves to hide his head,
And blot his lustre from the skies ;
Yet that were little loss indeed,
While we possess'd that pair of eyes.

Well then, to pique thee, from each lay,
From all my lines I'll blot thy name.
“ Aye, do,” I hear thee smiling say,
“ And blot what only gives them fame.”

ODE.

The POET describeth the former and present state of his wishes.

Tempora mutantur.

COURTIERS are just so many goats—that leap
 From rock to rock, upon the cloud-capp'd steep,
 That overhangs a sea that foams around ;
 Slip but a foot ! fouse ! down they are, and drown'd :
 Yet how folks scramble, one and all,
 To mount the ridge, and get a fall !

I own'd I've listen'd to AMBITION's tales,
 Sigh'd for LIFE's mountains, and disdain'd its vales ;
 My youngling ears most greedy drank her story !
 With KINGS and QUEENS, Lord ! how was I in love !
 Tried to make wings, (alas ! I vainly strove)
 Poor fly ! to buzz within their orbs of glory.

Yes, vain were my endeavours all,
 And still am I ordain'd to crawl !
 Although so lofty in my rhyme.
 Heavens ! how my fibres felt the rack,
 When PYE obtain'd the royal sack,
 And PARSONS smooth'd the ODE with chime !

Thus can't I to the PALACE go, alack!
 All the COURT CRAWLERS would be on my back;
 Biting and scratching, nibbling, swarming—
 A circumstance, alas! alarming.

There would be LIVERPOOL, I do suppose,
 And CARDIGAN, and SALISB'RY, and ROSE,
 Making a diabolic rout:
 "Off with him—turn the fellow out!"

Cut off from CÆSAR and his WIFE,
 I pass of solitude a life;
 To CYNTHIA'S beauty tune the willing lyre;
 And while I gain her lovely smile,
 (The sweetest that adorns our isle!)
 I feel for COURTS no more a fierce desire:

So little raptur'd with a royal mien,
 I would not give one pin to kiss a Queen.

ODE

ON THE ANCIENTS.

" ALL has been said—the world has nought to yield:
 " Alas! there's nothing new beneath the SUN:
 " The ANCIENTS with their hooks have reap'd the " field;
 " All that can be imagin'd has been done,
 " The ANCIENTS for the MODERNS were too stout;
 " Yes! the deep mine of knowledge is work'd out."

So cries the world! but who are these that speak?
 Men of no nouſe, moſt wonderfully weak!
 If things are ſo, why, what a fate is mine!
 Lord help the MUSE! ſhe never penn'd a line.

Reap the whole field! not half on't, I'll be ſworn:
 They've only taken a few ſheaves of corn.
 The mine exhausted! Poh! I'll hear no more—
 They've only gather'd a few grains of ore.

Appear but GENIUS, GENIUS ſoon will find
 New matter to improve and charm mankind;

Teach

Teach on the wildest heath the rose to blow :
 GENIUS, the rod of MOSES at the rock,
 Shall, by a magical and happy stroke,
 Bid the rich stream of wit and wisdom flow.

The brains of men, in general, are a pool,
 Wrapp'd in death-stillness, comfortably dull ;
 Like motionless poor LETHE, void of spirit.
 But now and then (like MILTON, for example,
 Or SHAKESPEARE, each indeed a beauteous sample,)
 Into existence pops a WIGHT of merit :
 An OCEAN, lo, his brave ideas rise,
 That mounts, and with its thunders shakes the skies !

ODE

TO AN UNFORTUNATE PRINCESS.

SHALL VIRTUE feel the cruel blow,
 Her tears to earth unheeded flow,
 Her soul unheard complain ?
 Say, will no MUSE proclaim the wrong ?
 Why sleeps the thunder of her song,
 While PITY mourns in vain ?

With every beauty to inspire
Of LOVE the soft and chaste desire,
    And bless the nuptial tie ;
With every gentler charm of mind,
Can FATE, to peerless worth unkind,
    Condemn thy heart to sigh ?

Without a friend, in soothing strain,
To steal thy bosom from its pain,
    I hear thy plaintive voice ;
And hear the snakes of ENVY hiss,
While, happy at thy vanish'd bliss,
    The imps of HELL rejoice.

Yet through the cloud that hides thy head,
By CALUMNY's foul venom spread,
    I mark a golden ray ;
TIME on his wing, (for JUSTICE reigns)
To calm thy life's tempestuous scenes,
    Shall waft the smiles of MAY.

Hark ! to suppress the swelling tear,
A voice prophetic hails thine ear :

“ Thy

" Thy BABE shall rule ador'd ;
 " On BRITAIN's throne, to crown her fame,
 " The shouts of millions shall proclaim
 " ELIZA's reign restor'd."

ODE TO ST. CECILIA.

O GODDESS of the tuneful quire,
 Upon my knees I must desire
 You'll give your INSTRUMENT a smart jobation :
 Happy am I a BAND to meet,
 To give my ears a pretty treat,
 And fill my heart with sweetest animation.

I like an OVERTURE, I needs must own—
 Of music 'tis a very noble dish :
 But here's the devil—while some with solemn groan,
 Bawl flesh, lo, others are exclaiming fish ;
 Bending with sounds of BABEL our poor ears,
 Much like the noises of the BULLS and BEARS.*

Proud on his nimbler neighbour to advance,
 Like elephants that fain would learn to dance,

* At the Stock Exchange.

The DOUBLE BASS attempts his aukward jigs,
Grunting and snuffing like a sow and pigs.

Ambitious, this most lab'ring BASS
Gives to the VIOLINCELLO chace,
Who on the TENOR presses like the wind,
Who presses closely on the SECOND FIDDLE,
Who presses sharply on FIRST TWEEDLE TWEEDLE,
Who leaps the bridge, and leaves them all behind.

Alas! are these the modes to melt the soul,
Soothe ev'ry sigh, and ev'ry care controul?
If this be music, let me leave the riot,
And be the world of quavers ever quiet!

PETER'S TRIUMPH.

TO THE MUSE.

MUSE, we have finish'd now our ODES,
And verily the songs of GODS:

But let me tell thee, MUSE, and much it pains,
That those great traffickers in words,
Those high and mighty pompous LORDS,
The BOOKSELLERS, will barely give me grains

“ Hogs wash is good enough”—they cry :
Thus can I neither roast nor fry.

'Tis hard that my poor mental mill
Is never suffer'd to lie still ;
Such, such indeed the avarice of the clan :
Forc'd, ev'ry minute of the hour,
To grind, forsooth, for them the flour,
And feed myself, alas ! upon the bran.

Hard is their bridle—Lord ! with pains I shrink ;
Too hard upon my bleeding jaws they pull !
What shame that they, the lazy imps, should drink
Claret and Burgundy from my poor skull ;
And, with a faucy mortifying sneer,
Bid me be happy upon dead small beer !

I boast one consolation, I allow—
My name will never be forgotten :
When to POSTERITY I make my bow,
Those rogues are in oblivion rotten.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income.

The second section focuses on the classification of these transactions. It provides a detailed breakdown of how different types of activities should be categorized into specific accounts. This helps in analyzing the financial performance of the business over time and identifying areas for improvement.

The third part of the document addresses the issue of reconciling the books. It explains the process of comparing the internal records with external statements, such as bank statements, to identify any discrepancies. This step is crucial for ensuring that the books are balanced and that there are no errors or fraud.

Finally, the document concludes with a summary of the key principles of bookkeeping. It reiterates the importance of consistency, accuracy, and transparency in all financial reporting. It also provides some practical tips for managing the bookkeeping process efficiently and effectively.

A
POETICAL EPISTLE
TO
BENJAMIN COUNT RUMFORD,

KNIGHT OF THE WHITE EAGLE, &c.

-----

MUSE, at the sound of RUMFORD, raise thy voice
And bid our kitchen furniture rejoice !
Though scant our store, a hempen string, alack !
(The simple substitute for spit and jack)
A knife and fork, a dish, a spoon, and platter,
Shall stir their stumps, and make a jovial clatter ;
The broom shall hop, as merry as a grig ;
And, pleas'd, the dainty dishclout dance a jig.

EPISTLE

TO

COUNT RUMFORD.

THE BARD whose harp immortaliz'd the louse
For which he ne'er receiv'd a single louse ;
Prais'd MADAM SCHWELLENBERG in lofty style,
For which he never gain'd a single smile ;

Prais'd MADAM SCHWELLENBERG.]—Though I have here accused this Lady of ingratitude ; perhaps, if her last Will and Testament were to be seen, I might alter my opinion.—Where is this WILL, I wonder ?—Why does it not appear at Doctors' Commons ?—Is it ashamed to shew its face ? What has it done with the pearls and diamonds, presents from the poor persecuted family of the HASTINGS ?—Is it with the TAYLOR in PIMLICO, to whom her poor body was sent about an hour or two after the soul had forsaken its tenement ?—Should not this Will be publicly advertised ?—Am I certain that it doth nor contain some handsome bequest ; at least a tender memorial to me, who (she very well knew) must lose much by her death ?—Is this an unreasonable conjecture ? I know the Will has been read, and I know parts of it.—O ye poor relations of MADAM SCHWELLENBERG, now crawling in piteous plight in obscure holes in GERMANY, must ye forfeit the little pittance bequeathed, if ye dare approach GREAT BRITAIN ? Such was a cruel clause of the Will !—Had ye enough to purchase mourning, O ye poor disappointed relations of MADAM SCHWELLENBERG ? Perhaps ye might have been troublesome, had ye come to England—if so, things are best as they are.

Gave

Gave to eternity the SHAVEN GROUP,
 Yet never saw a ladlefull of soup;
 Prais'd thankless Lords besides, and Knight and Squire—
 Now to a YANKEY tunes the willing lyre :
 Spite of th' ingratitude of COOKS and . . . .
 Strikes to COUNT RUMFORD'S tuneful name the strings,
 Who from his fav'rite little RUMFORD came,
 To build on smoke his fortune, and his fame.

MUSE, at the sound of RUMFORD raise thy voice,
 And bid our kitchen furniture rejoice !
 Tho' scant our store, a hempen string, alack !
 (The simple substitute for spit and jack)
 A knife and fork, a dish, a spoon, and platter,
 Shall stir their stumps, and make a jovial clatter ;
 The broom shall hop, as merry as a grig ;
 And, pleas'd, the dainty dishclout dance a jig ;
 Expressing thus in gratitude their souls
 To HIM whose wisdom saves us pecks of coals ;

His favourite little Rumford.]—Once an obscure village, in North America, but fortunately illuminated by the nativity of the COUNT, who indeed drew his first breath there, and afterwards, in quality of a pedagogue, immortalized it by his Abecedarian power, teaching little children to read, spell, and write, with the most consummate ability.

And

And means (for PITT's d-mn'd taxes this require)
 To teach us soon to roast without a fire.
 Friend to thy fame (and may it last thee long!)
 Though G— and BANKS grow jealous of the SONG;
 Howe'er its praise may wound some COURTLY FOLKS
That SONG shall thunder to the MAN of SMOKE!

KNIGHT of the DISH-CLOUT, wherefoe'er I walk
 I hear thee, RUMFORD, all the kitchen talk:
Note of melodious cadence on the ear,
 Loud echoes RUMFORD here, and RUMFORD there!
 Lo, ev'ry parlour, drawing-room I see,
 Boasts of thy stoves, and talks of nought but thee.
 Yet, not alone my LADY and young MISSES,
 The Cooks themselves could smother thee with kisses!
 Yes! MISTRESS COOK would spoil a goose, or steak,
 To twine her greasy arms around thy neck.
 Through newspaper, through magazine, review,
 Happy mine eyes thy splended track pursue—
 Thy sage opinion in each journal read—
 A vein of silver 'midst a load of lead!

High o'er the wondering world VANBUTCHELL tow'rs
 And on the ruptur'd mob his truffles pours:—

High mounted KATERFELTO and his CAT,
 Proud of the voice of FAME, in glory fat:—
 High o'er the world the mighty MERLIN fits,
 Though much of gall his jealous mouth emits!
 Endeavouring, lo, thy name's bright beam to shade,
 The WIZARD swears that thou hast stol'n his trade;
 Learn'd from his matchless art to conjure up,
 From shades below, a shilling's-worth of soup;
 And mean'st on other tricks to put thy pats;
 Plunder chair-yelping curs, and squawling cats;
 With all their love-songs of sweet execution,
 To please and lull the ROYAL INSTITUTION.—

High o'er the world SIR JOSEPH soars sublime,
 The great and fertile subject of my rhyme:—
 Yet higher thou shalt mount, whose angry toe
 Kick'd from thy shop the HERO of SOHO;

Stol'n his trade.]—Indeed Mr. MERLIN has seemingly just cause of complaint: but as the minds of those GREAT MEN are surprisingly similar, why may not a coincidence of thought occasionally take place, and produce similar discoveries?

Kick'd from thy shop.]—Sir J. BANKS is bonâ fidé ousted; and poor GARNET, a most ingenious chymist, was attacked for a difference in opinion.

And

And aiming, too, at GARNET's luckless crown,
 Didst, with thy leaden journal, knock him down :
 For who with sage opinion, dares appear,
 While RUMFORD's mouth of oracles is near?
 Behold th' ELECTOR bowing to his merit !
 BAVARIA owns his beggar-hunting spirit ;
 Who, when poor MUNICH trembled, almost lost,
 With god-like ardour pierc'd th' EGYPTIAN Host,
 And seiz'd (which history must ever note)
 And seiz'd !—a daring GIPSEY by the throat ;

And

A GIPSEY by the throat.]—Here I must beg pardon of my readers for violating history.—The COUNT slightly says, that at the head of the ELECTOR's troops he made but one Gipsy his prisoner, and that he only tapped him on the shoulder.—Such is the COUNT's modesty.—A HERO is the last man in the world to speak of his own exploits ; but let me quote the COUNT's own words, who, like Cæsar, can write as well as fight.

“ NEW-YEAR'S DAY (says the COUNT in his history) having from time immemorial been considered in Bavaria as a day peculiarly set apart for giving ALMS, and the BEGGARS never failing to be all out on that occasion ; I chose that moment, as being the most favourable to MY OPERATIONS. Early in the morning of the first of January, ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED and NINETY, the OFFICERS and NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS of the three regiments of INFANTRY in garrison were stationed in the different streets, where they were directed to wait for further orders.

And gave him (what such bravery can reward !)
 And gave him !—to the SERJEANT of the GUARD—

“ Having in the mean time assembled at my LODGINGS the FIELD OFFICERS and all CHIEF MAGISTRATES of the town, I made them acquainted with my intention, to proceed that very morning to the execution of a PLAN I had formed, for taking up the Beggars, and asked their immediate assistance.

“ To show the PUBLIC that it was not my wish to carry this measure into execution, by military force alone (which might have rendered the measure odious), but that I was disposed to show all becoming deference to the CIVIL AUTHORITY, I begged the MAGISTRATES to accompany me, and the FIELD OFFICERS of the garrison, in the execution of the first and most difficult part of the UNDERTAKING, that of ARRESTING the BEGGARS. This they most readily consented to, and we immediately sallied out into the street, MYSELF accompanied by the CHIEF MAGISTRATE of the town, and each of the FIELD OFFICERS by an INFERIOR MAGISTRATE. We were hardly got into the street, when we were accosted by a BEGGAR, who asked us for ALMS. I went up to him, and laying my hand gently on his shoulder, told him, from henceforwards begging would not be permitted in MUNICH. I then delivered him over to the ORDERLY SERJEANT; and then turning to the OFFICERS and MAGISTRATES who accompanied me, I begged they would take notice that I had MYSELF, WITH MY OWN HANDS, arrested the first Beggar,” &c. &c. Vide the COUNT'S ESSAYS, Vol. I. p. 41. third Edition.

Such is the COUNT'S elegant and nervous narrative of that glorious day which emancipated MUNICH from the Tyranny of the BEGGARS ! With the Hero of Antiquity, the COUNT RUMFORD may not only say, Veni, vidi, vici, but moreover add SCRIPSI, to encrease the catalogue of his wonders.

For which th' ELECTOR deck'd the MAN of STOVE,
 With true blue RIBBONS, and the BIRD of JOVE!
 GREAT MAN! whose pow'r inventive daily rakes
 Balm from a bog, and dinners from a J—kes!
 GREAT MAN! whose fertile genius could contrive
 To soften rocks, and flay the flints alive;

And

Balm from a bog.]—His first and grand object being to complete the sum total of human happiness, by a prudent attention to economy, he shows how from the  $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{recre} \\ \text{excre} \end{array} \right\}$  mentitious parts of human food and fuel, as well as from many hitherto shamefully neglected natural productions, to derive a wholesome and pleasing and nutritious diet.—There is a filthy old proverb (that I cannot repeat) instructing people how to grow rich;—and which proverb, though treated as ludicrous by our ancestors, will be soon pronounced a serious economical maxim. After many labourious days and sleepless nights, the COUNT has at last succeeded in the detection of that grand desideratum, before and since the days of the great MARTINUS SCRIBLERUS, viz. the extraction of sunbeams from cucumbers; so that any gentlemen may store up heat and light for the winter, in the same way ice is preserved for the summer. This fortunate discovery (it will be observed) supercedes all his former methods of saving fuel, and consequently precludes all further researches in the consolidation of smoke and the conversion of soot into sea-coal.

Flay the flints alive, &c.]—With a machine which the Count invented on the Continent, he flays flints, and by an Alkali sui generis converts them into palatable soups and jellies; and he is now carrying on a process for preparing their skins to make purses for such as have money, and tobacco-pouches for such as have none.

And make (though ENVY unbelieving grins)
 Pouches, and handsome purses of their skins ;
 Nay more (but yet, methinks, a dangerous hint)
 To perfect jelly turn the hardest flint ;
 For, hence an inconvenience may arise—
 To this discovery ROGUES will turn their eyes :
 The FELONS dread, for robbery, murder, rape,
 Will eat their various dwellings, and escape ;
 Taught by thine art of turning stones to jellies,
 Fly with the walls of NEWGATE in their bellies.

The PHILOSOPHICAL TINKERS and BELLOWS-MENDERS, whose ideas he has generously adopted, make kettles, faucepans, frying-pans, salamanders, skillets, stewers, roasters, toasters, &c. &c. of the most astonishing and unheard-of powers ; some of these utensils rendering shoe-leather as masticable as beef-steaks, and the toughest horse-hide as tender as the best veal in Leadenhall Market. By a little higher charge of heat ; bones, hair, horns, hoof, shells and claws, are reduced to a jelly ; and chopped straw, bean-husks, potato-skins, &c. are turned into palatable spoon-meat. The extensive use and application of these inventions, especially in the present times of famine, must be obvious to the intelligent.—Already the workmen are so far reconciled to this new species of food, that they begin to make themselves comfortable messes of their old aprons and leather breeches. In short, the COUNT is not without hopes of introducing the animal food of the ancient and modern SCYTHIANS, and the more cooling vegetable diet of KING NEBUCHADNEZZAR.

GREAT

GREAT MAN! whose TINKERS form, from various metals,

Grillers and broilers, salamanders, kettles!
Steamers and bakers, frying-pans and stewers,
Skillets and faucepans, roasters, toasters, brewers.
Some, blest indeed with such stupendous pow'r,
Shall change old shoes to beef in half an hour;
And turn, amidst the wonders of the shop,
The Tinker's apron to a mutton-chop.
Bones, oyster-shells, and hair, and hoofs, and claws,
Shall form, too, jellies for the nicest jaws:
Thus shall the cuckold, who his honours scorns,
Bless his dear wife, and fatten on his horns!

GREAT KING of FIRE, who know'st the pow'rs of meat,

And know'st how necessary 'tis to eat;
And yet, not only eat, but eat with pleasure,
Without one bit of bolting—quite at leisure!
By which slow movement in the mastication,
Millions may soon be sav'd to this poor Nation!
What gratitude, what thanks, to thee are due,
Instructing a great empire how to chew!

In work-houses, where ignorance abounds,
 And all the Poor, voracious, feed like hounds,
 Sharp Overseers shall at the table stand,
 And give the word, with Serjeant-like command:
 Thus will their crackling jaws in concert chime,
 And, like a fiddler's elbow, move in time.
 Oh! if I, too, might cater for the belly,
 Old fiddle-strings should make us vermicelli;
 Cockchaffers, with a very trifling art,
 Compose a pie—at least a pretty tart;
 Soap-suds to syllabubs and trifles change,
 And bullocks lights and livers to bla'mange;
 And sheeps-dung, without quantities of studying,
 Glean'd from the field produce a fine plum-pudding.
 A wool-stuff'd pin-cushion would make a puff,
 And tripe start forth from breeches of old buff;
 And, with SIR JOSEPH'S leave, with fish might pass
 His fleas, his fav'rite fleas, for lobster-sauce.
 But what an insolence in me to prate!
 Pretend to him to open WISDOM'S gate,

Oh! if I, too, &c.]—The EXPERIMENTAL DINNERS promised by the COUNT, are expected by the Members of the R. I. with great avidity.—Grass broth, flint soup, fricassed leather-breeches, stewed old shoes, &c. &c. will soon be forth-coming, set on the table too by AUTOMATICAL WAITERS, to the vast surprise and instruction of all BEHOLDERS!!!

Who

Who spurns advice, like weeds, where'er it springs,
 Disdaining counsel, though it comes from Kings.
 Yet say, why PHYSIC from thy house exclude?
 On PHYSIC, ponder—what a public good!
HYGEIA weeps, poor NYMPH, to be neglected—
 Shame on thee! let the FAIR-ONE be protected.—
 Of PHYSIC didst thou never own the skill?
 Say, did thy purity ne'er need a pill?
 Go, go! harangue the MEMBERS—goad 'em, goad 'em!
 And make them send away for DOCTOR BRODUM;
 Or DOCTOR MEYRSBACH, who with sapience sees
 A mighty Empire fall by toasted Cheese:
 Or doughty DOCTOR SOLOMON invite,
 Who cuts the talons of DISEASE, the KITE,
 That hovering, threat'ning, spread abroad, prepare
 To lug us Goslings to the fields of Air.

Disdaining counsel.]—Here I must beg leave to quarrel with the COUNT.—Although a man may, like the COUNT, possess extraordinary intellect, and although a man may be the best judge of himself, nevertheless it is indecorous to treat the opinions of others with contempt.—The COUNT's constant assertion is, “I never was yet in the wrong—I know every thing.” Granting this to be true, the declaration is nevertheless arrogant and supercilious.

Yet say, why Physic.]—“All discussion relative to Religion and Medicine will be carefully avoided.”—Journal of the Royal Institution of Great Britain.

And

And why DIVINITY be banish'd, pray?
 Souls are of some importance, let me say.
 In GOD's name, send a card to ROWLAND HILL,
 Who to a tittle knows his MAKER's will:
 The film of darkness banish'd from his eyes,
 He kens the darkeſt ſecrets of the ſkies;
 Of CHERUBIM and SERAPHIM the Hoſt,
 As though they wrote the PARSON ev'ry poſt.
 HILL knows what SATAN does, and means to do;
 Knows all the plottings of th' infernal CREW;
 The tools, the tortures for a ſinful foul;
 And what the fire to roaſt it—wood or coal!
 Oh, while MECHANICS hold with thee a ſway,
 And Blackſmiths, Tinkers, hammer it away—
 While ſuch obtain thy ſmile, a lucky lot,
 Let not ingenious ARIS be forgot!
 To ſhine a worthy member, ARIS fighs—
 Aloft his Excellency lifts his eyes:
 PITT's boſom friend, O grant him then his pray'r,
 Whoſe gags and hand-cuffs, wond'rous worth declare;
 Whoſe whips of thong, to radiant wire allied,
 Tickled with neateſt touch the human hide.
 With rapture have I viſited thy HOUSE,
 And marvell'd at thy vaſt extent of nouſe.

Thanks

Thanks to thy care that, 'midst its ample round,
 Soup, tea and toast, and coffee, may be found,
 And wine, and punch, and porter, fresh'ning draught,
 Mending the monstrous wear and tear of thought.—
 Thus a new birth shall RUMFORD'S glory tell,
 And from its bowels spring a GRAND HOTEL!

Yet 'mid thine HOUSE'S philosophic glooms,
 Since CONVERSATION has its private rooms,
 Extend the thought by love delicious led;
 And give of GRAHAM the celestial Bed!

Soup, tea and toast, &c.]—"To render the House of the Institution more pleasant and agreeable to such Proprietors and Subscribers as frequent it, an additional room has been lately set apart for their private and exclusive use:—this has been called the Conversation Room, and is distinguished by an inscription over the door. As conversation in the Reading Rooms could not fail to interrupt those who read, the Managers are confident, that all those who frequent the House will be so sensible of the reasonableness of the regulation, as to abstain from conversation in the Reading Rooms when any person engaged in reading is present.

"To render the Conversation Room still more useful and agreeable, it will be furnished with a collection of good Maps; and, as soon as some necessary previous arrangements (which are now actually making) shall be finished, those who frequent this Room will be furnished, at the most reasonable prices, from the Housekeeper's Room below, with Soups of various kinds, Tea, Coffee, Chocolate, and other refreshments."—Vide the Count's Journal.

In,

In, would subscriptions like a torrent pour!
 NYMPHS of delight would leave each CYPRIAN
 BOWER—

The BOND-STREET LOUNGERS to thy call repair,
 And form, like SMITHFIELD, a perpetual Fair.
 Say, canst thou make (whose brains have not their fellow's)

Fire blow itself without a pair of bellows?
 Soon shall we see a HAUNCH, with equal wit,
 Turn round and roast itself without a spit;
 Fish without frying-pans come hot and hot,
 And dumplings boil themselves without a pot;
 Nay more, Automata shall rise!—I see
 A pin pursue, and pierce the nimble flea;
 Now in the bedstead old, or in the rug,
 Pluck from its lurking hole the wounded bug:—
 Untouch'd, the handkerchief shall wrap the nose;
 Untouch'd, the penknife, cut the corn-clad toes;
 Untouch'd, the comb the vermin tribe assail,
 And scissars opening clip the finger nail—
 The soap unaided the rich suds shall spread,
 And razors trimly shave the beard and head:
 Formal as PITT the Treasury Bench shall rise,
 And bowing ope the budget for supplies;

The

The Church's desk put forth its pious pray'rs,
 And LINCOLN'S PULPIT preach like PARSON NARES.
 Great Man! the culinary tactics studying,
 Instructing worlds to eat a HASTY PUDDING—

Preach like PARSON NARES.]—A staunch stickling PARSON for preferment, the salvation of souls and the State.—Newspapers, pamphlets, magazines, reviews, ballads, &c. proclaim the merits of our LINCOLN'S-INN PREACHER.—The pulpit itself is a weekly witness of his various enthusiasm—He does not yet deem himself properly remunerated—Is there nothing more for the poor gaping Priest?

HASTY PUDDING] —“ The HASTY PUDDING being spread out equally on a plate, while hot, an EXCAVATION is made in the middle of it, with a SPOON; into WHICH EXCAVATION a piece of BUTTER, as large as a NUTMEG, is put; and UPON IT, a SPOONFUL of BROWN SUGAR, or, more commonly MELASSES. The BUTTER being soon melted by the heat of the PUDDING, mixes with the SUGAR, or MELASSES, and forms a SAUCE; which being confined in the EXCAVATION made for it, OCCUPIES the MIDDLE of the PLATE. The PUDDING is then eaten with—a SPOON, each SPOONFUL of it being dip't into the SAUCE, before it is carried to the MOUTH; care being had, in taking it up, to begin on the OUTSIDE, or near the BRIM of the PLATE; and to APPROACH the CENTRE by regular ADVANCES, in order not to demolish too soon the EXCAVATION which forms the RESERVOIR for the SAUCE.”

Such are the COUNT'S culinary tactics in regard to the siege of a HASTY PUDDING. Nobler Generalship perhaps was never exhibited by MARLBOROUGH, TURENNE, or even BONAPARTE himself.

To

To thee poor Poets shall their offerings bring,
 Who roast, like me, their victuals by a string,
 All struggling with a laudable intention,
 Who best shall praise thee for thy vast invention.
 And since thy skill (believe me not in joke)
 Contriveth traps to catch our London smoke;
 Soon, very soon, mayst thou proclaim aloud,
 (Rare news for Farmers) traps to catch a cloud—
 Quick on his pris'ner HOB will lay his hands,
 And tap his watery belly for the lands;
 And thus our Parsons will be fav'd the pain
 Of putting Heaven in mind to send down rain.

O why will SCANDAL thus let loose her tongue,
 And call the voice of KNOWLEDGE, FOLLY'S song?
 Great are the beauties of association!
 What charming union, soup and conversation!
 Assisting each the other with delight;
 Thus BABES are pleas'd their alphabet to bite;
 And thus, without the harmless fraud discerning,
 With gingerbread the urchins swallow learning.—
 I know that ENVY turns her head away,
 And calls the INSTITUTION puppet play;
 But ah! in censure people should be mild;
 PHILOSOPHY herself was once a child:

Yet still those rude sounds stab mine ear's poor drum ;

“ A bite—palaver—nonsense, fudge, a hum.”

In vain WITS call thee (blasting thy machines)

“ A walking bundle of old Magazines.”

Believe me, immortality is sure :

Long as thy chimneys shall thy praise endure ;

OBLIVION ne'er shall swallow RUMFORD's name,

Aloft ascending, lo, thy radiant Fame,

With thy own curling clouds of smoke shall rise,

And sun-like give them lustre on the skies !

I know they mock thee, (in their laughter loose)

Because thou sweep'st a chimney with a goose ;

I know the world a jealous spirit fosters,

And christens thee the weakest of Impostors ;

Stead of a war-horse, one of FOLLY's hacks ;

The Prince, the King, the Emp'ror of the Quacks.”

Sweep's a chimney with a goose.]—The COUNT certainly lays claim to the invention of sweeping chimneys with a goose, by forcing down the animal alive, with a string about its neck, from the top of the chimney ; when the poor creature, by flapping its wings, as it is pulled up and down, sends the soot about its business : but it is really an Irish discovery, used also to extinguish fires in chimneys, by which means the goose becomes roasted at no expence. No bad hint this, for the COUNT's economical system !

Sir

Sir JOSEPH of thy journals makes his sport ;
 Laughs at thy DINNERS, keeps thee from our COURT,
 Or long, long since hadst thou receiv'd commands
 To come and lounge at levees, and kiss hands.
 Yes! to eclipse thy blaze, behold him strain,
 And rummage the dark coal-hole of his brain ;
 But not one nob is in it, do not doubt :
 All, long ago, (believe me) all burnt out !
 Too plain I see him (jealous of thy name,)
 Try ev'ry jockey-trick to pass thy fame :
 In vain ! the fates against the KNIGHT combine—
 Strive as he list, the glorious race is thine :
 To snap more snakes, SIR JOSEPH means, I know,
 And swallow alligators in SOHO :
 More tadpoles down his cable gullet pour,
 And frogs, and butterflies, a mealy show'r :

Laughs at thy Dinners.—Take, gentle Reader, the COUNT's own words from his own Journal, on the subject of what he calls EXPERIMENTAL DINNERS—“ In order that the Proprietors and Subscribers may be enabled to judge, from actual experiment, of the merit of any new method of Cooking, or of any new dish that may be proposed, a Dining-Room has been built, and will soon be ready for use, at the house of the Institution, in which the Managers will occasionally order Experimental Dinners, to which the Proprietors and Subscribers will be invited, in as far as the accommodation will admit ; the expence of such dinners to be defrayed by those who partake of them.”

From

From hieroglyphics a new name he seeks,
 And tastes and pores on Babylonian Bricks :
 Still, with his SQUIRE, the KNIGHT in fancy fees ;
 Fame in his blankets—lobsters lodg'd in fleas ;
 And swearing that in future nought shall foil 'em,
 Has oder'd honest JONUS to reboil 'em.

Unrivall'd RUMFORD, ere I close my song,
 Hear, hear an oracle from PETER's tongue :
Great scholarship with wisdom link'd are rare ;
 Yet these unite in THEE, I do declare—
 For scholars seldom are the most discerning :
 'Tis true, each PRISCIAN swallows loads of learning ;
 Yet a poor moth, (that paper idolizer)
 Devouring wit, but not a whit the wiser.

O since, from every corner of our ISLE,
 Books court thy hand to gain thy gracious smile ;
 Regard my offer, nor the trifle flight ;
 Receive a Poet's solitary mite ;

Still with his Squire.]—Honest JONAS DRYANDER, the sine quo non
 of SIR JOSEPH.

A little incense to embalm thy shrine;

A LIFE exceedingly resembling thine;

The HIST'RY of that HERO with a hunch—

The laughable, the immortal MISTER PUNCH.
