PREFACE.

THE "Brief Account of Corpus Christi College," drawn up by John Josselin, Fellow of Queens' College, which has hitherto been accessible only through the somewhat faulty transcript of Baker, is here printed for the first time.

In estimating the value of the work, it must be borne in mind that it does not pretend to be a detailed history of the College. It may rather be described as a sketch of the acquisition of the site, and the origin and progress of the buildings: as, in fact, one of the earliest attempts to write the architectural and social history of a College. The few historical facts narrated all bear more or less directly upon this main object; or upon another which was evidently almost equally dear to our author, namely, the exhibition of his patron, Archbishop Parker, as the wisest of administrators, the most generous of benefactors, as almost the second Founder of the College. It is curious that Parker should have permitted such undisguised flattery of himself to appear in a treatise composed at his own desire, and for his own use, as the author informs us, § 65. It was, however, probably not intended for publication.

The account of the College buildings, which appears to have been drawn up about 1569 (§ 73), is the most interesting and valuable portion of the work. The author goes through them, room by room, recording that the walls were plastered by one occupant, the floor laid by a second, the ceiling added by a third, and so on. These changes, of most of which he must have been an eye-witness, were all introduced during the first half of the sixteenth century. From the serious way in which they are chronicled, we may safely conclude that before that time the occupants had been content with open rafters, mud floors, unplastered walls, and unglazed windows; and that what we regard as the most ordinary necessities, were in those days noteworthy innovations.

I have divided the history into sections, numbered for facility of reference. An account of the three MSS. on which the text has been based is given in the notes, which otherwise are chiefly occupied by illustrative documents, hitherto unprinted, to the exclusion of information that can be obtained from books.

I have to thank the Rev. S. S. Lewis, M.A., Fellow of Corpus Christi College, for his trouble in trying to find the MSS. belonging to his College, and for his assistance in enabling me to incorporate in my text their readings when found; and still more Henry Bradshaw, M.A., Fellow of King's College, for much kind advice, and not a few corrections.

JOHN WILLIS CLARK.

Quo factum est vt illi fratres qui in sanctorum Benedicti ac Botulphi parochiis habitabant, diuersa tenementa et domos non ita dissitas vico illi qui dicitur Luthburne Lane contiguas habentes, suas ipsorum habitationes demolirentur, et vt inde collegium edificarent summa consensione satagerent, acquisitis una quibusdam tenementis ibidem sitis que ad Academiam iure spectabant. vacuum habebant et paratum quantum nunc temporis intercapedinis est inter anteriorem portam et hortum magistri; quamvis postea, partim acquirendo, partim permutando, tantum solo amplitudinis, quantum hodie conspicitur, adiecerant.

§ 3.] Iam vero fraternitas Gilde sancte Marie, dum quam nihil ipsa posset in hoc genere beneficentie cerneret, ac honestissimum alterius Gilde fratrum sororumque studium perspiceret, magno inflamata est desiderio sese corporis Christi Gilde vniendi. In quam sententiam ab Aldermanno et fraternitate facile pedibus itum est, hoc presertim nomine, quod predicta Gilda beate Marie a rege¹ Edwardo anno septimo eiusdem Regis licentiam manus mortue pro reditu annuo viginti librarum acquisivisset. Denique, quum iam vna illa utriusque partis sese vniendi sententia valuisset, communi consensu per amicos suos apud predictum Regem Edwardum egerunt, tam pro se vniendi facultate, quam pro Collegio suo, quod in opere erat et ad calcem fere perductum, Regio diplomate confirmando; prudenter in hoc mature prospicientes, vt, quum alii quidam fundatores Collegia sua que edificabant priuata auctoritate (bullis solis contenti papalibus) stabilirent, que nec nisi multis interiectis annis Regie confirmationis robur acceperunt, ipsi Regia auctoritate muniti collegii privilegia securius tuerentur, ac omnem aduersarie cavillationis occasionem amputarent. Quamuis nec ipsis papalibus confirmationibus omnino destitutum² fuit collegium: quas tamen oppidani, seditiose in collegium irruentes, tempore Regis Ricardi secundi (vt postea copiosius referetur) flammis absumpserunt; alias etiam cartas et monumenta permulta scriptis comprehensa eodem incendio involuentes. Aldermannus igitur et fratres predicti voti compotes facti sunt; hac clausula in cartis Regiis comprehensa, vt pro ipso etiam et Philippa uxore sua regina preces offerrent; vt ex iisdem cartis dicti Regis (datis septimo die Nouembris, anno regni sui vicesimo sexto) manifestum est. Quarum in altera non solum concessa potestas stabiliendi et ornandi collegii, sed etiam stabiliendi per manum mortuam advocationem ecclesie sancti Benedicti, quam olim acquisierunt a Johanne Dargentem milite, Henricus de Tangmere, et Willelmus Horwode, Willelmus de Wymlingham¹ clericus, et alii. Quam quidem aduocationem dominus Edwardus de Cantabrigia et mater eius quondam dederunt sancto Albano, vt in Registro quodam² monasterii eiusdem fol. 102 apparet.

The united Gilds devote themselves with energy to the work of establishing the College. They appoint a Master and two fellows (to whom two chaplains are added by John de Cambridge), and make statutes.

§ 4.] Prædictæ itaque fraternitates sic vnite in exedificandum, ornandum, ac stabiliendum sic ceptum commune Collegium communem operam et industriam summa cum alacritate contulerunt.

Magistrum igitur constituerunt, ac socios numero tantum duos tunc temporis, quamuis non ita multo post dominus Johannes de Cantabrigia miles (cuius multa extitere singularia in hoc collegium beneficia vt postea docebitur) numerum hunc auxerit, sacellanis videlicet duobus additis. Paulo ante hoc tempus Aldermannus, (cuius officium erat annuum, vt predictum est) et fratres, sanctiones quasdam legesque ferebant, quibus tam illius societatis fratres, quam collegii scholastici futuri commodius regerentur; atque harum auctoritas aliquot ibidem annos sacrosancta permansit. Inter cetera hoc statutum est, ut sacellani, defuncto aliquo fratrum aut sororum, ad parochialem ecclesiam, in qua funus eiusdem habebatur, se conferrent, ritus et exequias suas, prout ius ferebat, ibidem peracturi; quamuis alias in collegio se continerent, ac in parochiali ecclesia sancti Benedicti fere celebrarent: iuxta morem receptum per aliquot annos priusquam due Gilde vnirentur.

A second body of statutes is made, and confirmed by various persons.

§ 5.] Paulo uero postquam due Gilde sic vnite sunt, alia statuta composuerunt ad collegii gubernationis rationem magis accommodata, que diuersis temporibus ac per diuersas personas confirmata sunt; primum vero per Thomam Eliensem episcopum solum, anno consecrationis sue primo; secundo per eundem episcopum anno consecrationis sue octauo, et per capitulum eiusdem Eliensis ecclesie; tertio per sigillum fraternitatis cum ordinationibus et statutis prioribus vna cum aliis cartis et monumentis in prima edificatione collegii, cum codicillis de ratione dati et expensi &c., vt registra et peculiaria quedam scripta in collegio testatum reliquerunt, quamuis ipsa originalia scripta vt plurimum vel negligentia¹ perierint, vel flammis per oppidanos conflagrata sint. Predictus igitur Aldermannus et fratres honestissimi sui studii complures in aula Regia fautores habuerunt et amicos: in quorum numero facile princeps erat Philippa regina Gu'elmi comitis Auonie filia, eiusdem Edwardi tertii vxor, femina probatissima: que (iuxta Polidorum) in hanc curam non minus sancte quam serio incumbens, vt iuventutem Anglicam suis opibus ad virtutem et literarum studia excitaret, Collegium quoddam Oxonie anno Domini 1340 (Collegium Reginale appellatum) statuit et fundauit. Cuius etiam (teste Fabiano) summa extitit erga Canonicos sancti Stephani Westmonasterii munificentia. Hec itaque cum nobilibus quibusdam aulicis et aliis probis viris sic egit apud predictum regem anno regni eius² 26 vt quam facillime ab eodem licentiam impetrarint, sumptibus tamen et expensis duarum Gildarum que iam tum vnite fuerant et coniuncte.

Quo quidem tempore Thomam de Eltisley legum baccalareum et rectorem de Lambehith³ in Comitatu Surrey sacellanum quondam Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, eiusdem domus siue collegii custodem seu magistrum iterum per electionem constituerunt et stabilierunt, itemque duos elegerunt socios siue scholares (vt predictum est) videlicet D. Joannem Rayson de Fulborne⁴ et D. Thomam Camps, nec eo tempore plures: propterea quod annui redditus Collegii non pertinebant ad eam summam vnde commode magister et plures socii cum scholasticis et Henry Duke of Lancaster is elected Alderman of the united Gilds. He confirms their statutes, which are afterwards confirmed by the Bishop of Ely, the united Gilds, and the University, A.D. 1355.

§ 6.] Postquam igitur Aldermannus et fratres predicti quod petierant a Rege impetrassent, tanto propensius ad ceptum collegium exornandum ditandumque intenti erant, adeo vt eodem anno summam fere manum externis edificiis imposuerint; et quia adhuc opus eis fore videbatur ampliori potestate a Rege impetranda, partim ad vberiores redditus acquirendos, partim ad alia collegii negotia obeunda, contendebant ab illustri viro Henrico Darbie et Lancastrie comite, qui anno Edwardi tertii vicesimo octauo circa festum Pentecostes in Parlamento apud Westmonasterium dux Lancastrie creatus est (Polidoro, Fabiano, et aliis chronographis attestantibus), vt Aldermannus eorum fieret; quo mediante, res suas ad optatos possent exitus deducere; hoc precipue nomine illum summa apud Regem gratia pollere credentes, quod ipse eiusdem Regis antea per etatem non sui iuris tutelam gerebat. Quocirca proximo corporis Christi festo hunc sibi Aldermannum delegerunt. Ille igitur breui postea in scripto quodam suo, non ut dux, vel sigillo ducatus sui, vel sigillo suo priuato (ad arma vt vocant) sed tantum vt Aldermannus per sigillum eiusdem Gilde, vnanimi fratrum accedente consensu, vicesimo primo die mensis Martii (qui Diuo Benedicto sacer est) proxime sequenti, predictum Collegium, magistrum, ac socios confirmavit. Atque etiam liber ille statutorum Collegii (cuius supra mentio facta est) per eundem ducem eodem tempore rursus confirmatus est, vt postea adhuc semel non solum statuta, sed collegium quoque, rata sunt per Thomam episcopum Eliensem, et per sigillum Gilde Corporis Christi ac beate Marie, perque Priorem cathedralis ecclesie Eliensis et per sigillum Vniuersitatis Cantabrigie. Que quidem confirmationes omnes in eodem instrumento contente sigillis cuiusque partis appositis date sunt anno 1355. Postremo constitutiones et statuta predicta ad maiorem comprobationem firmata sunt per Academie cancellarium et per magistrum ipsum sociosque collegii predicti Anno domini 1356, ac in communibus scholarum arcis posita.

Also by the Chancellor and the College, 1356.

§ 7.] Circa quem annum magister et socii adiunxerunt collegio fundum illum, qui nunc magistri siue custodis hortus est. Nec indignum scitu est, quod pars inde tenebatur a Domo Prioris et alborum Canonorum Cantabrigie per redditum trium solidorum et duorum denariorum; qui quidem redditus nuper in vsum collegii acquisitus est.

About the same time the ground is bought which is now the Master's garden. Beyond this are the three tenements which (Jan. 28, 1347) Edmund Gonville bought for his students.

Iam vero silentio pretereundum non est quod inter hortum magistri et murum loco illi adiacentem etc.¹ qui dicitur Penfarthinge lane erant tria tenementa, que Edmundus de Gunwell Rector de Terington in comitatu Norfolcie acquisiuit in vsum studentium ibidem, videlicet iuxta Luthburne lane, anno 1347 et 28 die Januarii, vt per scriptum ipsius patet; pro quibus quidem tribus tenementis, vna cum pomario, persolvebantur annui redditus nomine 20 solidi; eademque tenementa ad partem orientalem adiacebant loco dicto Luthborne² lane; ad partem vero occidentalem cimiterio sancti Botulphi, in quod porta illorum anterior se pandit. Concessaque est prefato Edmundo collegium viginti quatuor scholasticorum ibidem edificandi licentia, et quodcunque vellet nomen eidem imponendi, ac prout ei propria³ suggessit mentis devotio dedicandi. Itaque anno sequenti, viz. 1348, feria quinta Pentecostes per scriptum suum eodem tempore datum, Annunciationis beate Marie nomen ipsi indidit: constituitque primum magistrum eiusdem collegii Johannem de Colton, (qui eidem Edmundo successit in rectoriam de Terington), et quatuor socios elegit, deditque eis statuta, suo et Academie Cancellarii sigillo confirmata.

He calls it the Hall of the Annunciation of S. Mary, 1348.

val by Urban IV.

Quamuis autem dicte processionis solemnitas abolita tunc fuerat, vt superius ostendimus, tamen ipsum corporis Christi festum magna veneratione per vniuersam Angliam celebrari non desiit. Author huius festi fuit Vrbanus papa quartus circa annum Domini 1264, hoc vt faceret rogatus² ab Eua quadam femina reclusa; idque ostendunt ipsius Urbani litere ad eam scripte, date 6 idus Septembris, pontificatus sui anno tertio. Quod quidem festum instituit feria quinta post festum Trinitatis quotannis celebrandum, cum facibus conopeis et processionibus: eiusdemque festi cultoribus maximas concessit indulgentias. Cuius diei officium Thomas Aquinas Dominicanus ex figuris veteris testamenti consarcinauit.

In vltima huiusmodi processione per magistrum sociosque collegii celebrata, proxime ante dissolutionem eiusdem, inter eundum, priusquam domum reuerterentur, conopeum ignibus conflagrauit, vtrum id fortuito¹ tediferorum incuria an immisso data opera desuper a quopiam igne factum sit, non plene² potuit perquiri.

In the last procession held in Cambridge the canopy caught fire.

Tandem etiam ipsius festi celebrandi mos vi edicti cuiusdam sub rege Edwardo sexto promulgati antiquatus est. Cuius Regis anno 3^o, anno Domini 1549, venerunt Cantabrigiam visitandi gratia Thomas antistes Eliensis; Nicholaus tunc temporis Roffensis episcopus; Gulielmus Pagettus sacri ordinis garterii miles, et familie regie Antigrahus; Thomas Smythe miles, primariorum regis secretariorum alter; clarissimi viri Gulielmus Maye decanus sancti Pauli, et supplicum libellorum regis magister; Thomas Wendye medicus Regius; et Johannes Chekus. Quo tempore 20 die Iunii, die Jouis, eodem ipso die quo festum corporis Christi celebrari solebat, dicti legati a meridie hora prima disputationem preceperunt in communibus scholis philosophicis, in qua he due questiones tractate sunt; Quod transubstantiatio non potest probari ex apertis verbis scripturæ, neque inde necessario colligi, neque veterum ante mille annos orthodoxorum consensu confirmari. In cæna nulla est alia Christi oblatio, nisi mortis eius commemoratio, et gratiarum actio.

Celebration abolished by commissioners of Edw. VI. 1549.

Festum hoc igitur sic abrogatum restitutum est a Maria Regina Anglie anno 1555, et solennis ista processio rursus reuocata anno Domini 1556 per legatos a Maria regina visitandi gratia Cantabrigiam destinatos, videlicet Cuthbertum Scott episcopum Cestrensem; Nicolaum Ormanetum Italum, Archipresbiterum Bodoloni Veronensis dioceseos, in vtroque iure professorem; Thomam Watson Lincolnie electum; Johannem Christofersonum electum Cicestrensem; et Henricum Cole Collegii Etonensis prepositum. NOTES.

John Joscelyn, or Josselin, was Fellow of Queens' College, and Latin secretary to Archbishop Parker. The scanty incidents of his life are narrated in Cooper's "Athenæ," ii. 366, where a list of his works, in which, however, the 'Historiola' is not included, is given. That the 'Historiola' is his work is however proved by a note appended to the Life of Archbishop Parker in the Corpus MS., B. After the concluding words the copyist adds 'Hanc historiolum a pagina .71. conscripsit (suo iudicio vsus) in testificationem obseruantiae suæ Iohannes Iosselinus artium magister et Thomæ Iosselini militis filius, predictique reuerendissimi a lingua latina amanuensis et etiam ab eadem secretarius.' That the Life was written by the same person as the 'Historiola' is certain, for the first sentence of the Life runs as follows: 'Quamquam multa enarrauerimus quæ de statu Collegii Corporis Christi et de rebus gestis quorundam prefectorum duximus commemoratione maxime digna, superest vt narrationem hanc protrahamus paulo prolixius eius predicti Matthei Parkeri gratia, de quo ea adhuc diximus que solum gessit ad propagationem et vtilitatem Collegii prefati cui preerat.'

The text of this edition was derived in the first instance from a copy preserved in the Registry of the University, which has almost the authority of an original, to judge from the evident age of the handwriting, and from the presence of Parker's initial letter bearing the date 1568 on the first page. I next collated with this the transcript by Baker (MSS. Vol. xxii.) which, as he tells us at the end, was

"Desumpt: ab exemplari M^{ri} Mickleborough¹ Coll. Corp. Chr. Socii. Suspitor mendas aliquas subesse, quas transcribere malui, quam ex conjecturâ corrigere."

Below this he has added, apparently at a different time, for the words are written in another and paler ink,

1. Registrum Chronicarum, &c. continet folia 326 &c: numero 100."

This volume could not then be found in either the Library or the Treasury of Corpus Christi College, although diligent search was made for it in both places. I felt sure, however, that it must be still in existence, for Masters mentions (p. 99) that in his time there were two copies in the College, one older than the other, besides the one belonging to the University, and it seemed most unlikely that either of them should have been lost or destroyed since.

One of them, that designated C, was found in the Lodge by the late master, Dr Pulling. It is written in a hand closely resembling that of the copy in the Registry, and has Parker's initial letter, as the former has, but coloured and gilt. It is valuable, because it differs from the others in several places, and usually gives a less incorrect text. It is however only the work of a copyist, and that not a learned one, as is proved by the frequent insertion, by way of correction, in a different hand, of necessary words above the line or in the margin. The other copy is alluded to twice in a marginal reference "Vide alterum MS." After the death of Dr Pulling the second MS. was at last found in the Lodge. It had probably been overlooked in the first search from being lettered 'Statuta' on the back. The volume is apparently in the same condition as when Baker saw it. It is to be regretted that he did not make his copy directly from it, rather than from Mr Mickleborough's transcript, to which we may charitably ascribe the innumerable mistakes, of which he was himself cognizant, and which render his work of very little value. The MS., like the other, C, is the work of a copyist; and mistakes in orthography and in the position of words have been corrected in another but a contemporary hand. The various readings, however, shew that it has not been derived from the same original as the former. For instance, the account of the benefits conferred upon the college by the Duke of Lancaster, § 11, is much less favourable to him in B than in C.

The MS. mentioned by Masters (p. 99) as in the possession of the City of Norwich, cannot now be found.

A few extracts from the "Historiola" occur in a MS. in the University Library (Gg. 4. 8), entitled "Documents relating to Corpus Christi College," but they are of little value. They were probably made for Strype¹.

The Rev. Robert Masters speaks very disparagingly of Josselin's labours ("History of Corpus," 1753, p. 98). After enumerating the works of Archbishop Parker, he proceeds: "To all these we may add...the Historiola Collegii, drawn up by his order from divers Writings and Monuments therein by his Secretary above-mentioned: wherein, for the better preservation of the memory of its Benefactors &c., a succinct account is given of their Transactions from the time of the Foundation to the year 1569; in this however are not a few Mistakes, and so little regard is had to Method and Chronology, that where any other Information could be had I have sparingly made use of it; and when no other could be obtained, have scarce ventured to assert anything positively upon its authority only." This unfavourable opinion however has not prevented him from taking the whole work and inserting it piece-meal into his history without any acknowledgement whatever, making use not merely of the facts, but the reflections. Compare for instance the following passages:

JOSSELIN.

§ 1. Que ut situ et appellatione diverse fuerant ac diuise: ita studio ac sollicitudine une videbantur ac unite. Nam de propagando honore sue cuiusque societatis magno utrinque contentionis ardore desudatum est. Quemadmodum igitur societas Gilde Sancte Marie terras ac tenementa in manu mortua (quam vocant) acquirendi studio flagrans ad sacellanorum quorundam sustentationem, qui pro animabus sue fraternitatis in ecclesia Beate Marie celebrarent: pari ratione Aldermanus, fratres, et sorores Gilde Corporis Christi non minorem operam posuerunt in terris ac tenementis acquirendis, unde sacerdotibus quibusdam victus suppeteret pro animabus fratrum et sororum eiusdem Gilde in parochiali ecclesia Sancti Benedicti celebraturis. P. 11. The two forementioned Societies, although situated in different parts of the Town, and distinguished by different Names, yet seem to have been united in the same pursuit, each striving to promote its own honour and credit with the greatest earnestness. With which view that of St Mary was desirous of holding Lands and Tenements in Mortmain, for the support of Chaplains to pray for the souls of the Fraternity in St Maries Church, whilst that of Corpus Christi was not less eager of acquiring the same for the maintenance of Priests to pray for the souls of their Fraternity in St Benedicts Church. Several Licenses for holding such Lands, as each of them should piously devote to the forementioned uses, were accordingly obtained of Edward the sane fraternitati potestatem fecit Edwardus tertius partim undecimo, partim vero decimo sexto ac vicesimo annis regni sui terras eiusmodi ac tenementa mortizandi, que alterutra pars (suggerente pietatis sue affectu) in usus predictos conferre vellet. Qua in re acriter utrinque certatum est, paribus sane studiis, at euentu longe dispari: nam quo maior ad Gildam Corporis Christi, tum quoad fratrum numerum, tum quoad redditus terrarum facta est accessio: tanto maior ad Gildam Sancte Marie horum omnium diminutio.

§ 3. Denique, quum iam una illa utriusque partis sese uniendi sententia valuisset, communi consensu per amicos suos apud predictum regem Edwardum egerunt, tam pro se vniendi facultate, quam pro collegio suo, quod in opere erat ad calcem fere perductum, regio diplomate confirmando; prudenter in hoc maturè prospicientes, vt, quum alii quidam fundatores collegia sua que edificabant, priuata auctoritate (bullis solis contenti papalibus) stabilirent, que nec nisi multis interiectis annis regie confirmationis robur acceperunt, ipsi regia auctoritate muniti collegii privilegia securius tuerentur, ac omnem aduersarie cavillationis occasionem amputarent.

These parallel passages might be multiplied almost indefinitely: and, indeed, it is almost impossible to imagine any other source from which Masters could have derived the facts of the early history, except from Josselin, whom he has thus tried so ungenerously to discredit.

§ 3. The Charter of Edward III. is printed in Commiss. Docts. ii. 445, and also in Masters, App. No. 4. The Bishop of Ely's Confirmation of it, dated "Downham, Feb. 3, 1352," is copied in MSS. Baker vi. 19.

third: in which business there was a zealous emulation betwixt them, wherein although the Contest was pretty equal, yet the Event was very different, for in the same proportion as the number of Brethren and Revenues of the latter increased, so were those of the former diminished."

P. 12. "At length when this Union was agreed to by both Parties, they thought it adviseable to apply to the King by their common Friends for a faculty for perfecting thereof, and for the better establishing the College, which was then in building and pretty far advanced, prudently using this precaution in the affair, to the end that they might the more securely enjoy their Privileges, and cut off all occasion of debate; whereas some other Founders built Colleges upon the strength of Papal Bulls only (of which this was not entirely destitute) whose Foundations did not receive the Royal Confirmation for many years after, by which neglect they were subjected to many inconveniences."

The deed of donation of the advowson of S. Benedict's Church is preserved in Corpus Christi College Treasury, Box 31, No. 71. The names of the Aldermen and Brethren who were parties to it are not noted.

"Sciant.....quod nos Aldermannus et fratres Gilde corporis christi et beate marie Cantebr' dedimus.....magistro et scolaribus domus corporis christi et beate marie Cantebr' et successoribus suis quoddam mesuagium iacens in lorteboroulane Cantebr' iuxta cimiterium ecclesie sancti Benedicti Cantebr' cum aduocatione dicte ecclesie sancti benedicti cum pertinenciis suis, habend' etc. Dat' apud Cantebr' die sancti benedicti Abbatis Anno Regni Regis Edward tercii post conquestum vicesimo septimo." [March 21, 1353.]

The name Dargentem is merely a misreading of Dargentein, the universal way of spelling the name at that time. Their seat was at Melbourn: see Lysons's Cambridgeshire, p. 234.

The conveyance mentioned in the text has been preserved by Cole (Add. MSS. Mus. Brit., 5807). It is in French, dated 10 October, 24 Edw. III. (1351), from 'Johan Dargentein' to Guy de Sencler, Henry de Tangmer and others, probably officers of the Gild. The advowson was held as part of the dowry of Agnes 'de ma heritage,' wife of Johan de Mautravers, Chevalier, with remainder to Johan Dargentein. The conveyance is accompanied by a release from the lady's husband, also in French.

This Church was used by the University from very early times, as appears from the following deed. (Hare, i. p. 28. Paper copy in the Registry of the University.)

Compositio inter Cancellarium et Rectorem ecclesie sancti Benedicti super pulsacione campanarum.

In dei nomine. Amen. Cum inter dilectos filios Cancellarium et universitatem Cantebr' ex una parte, Et Alanum Rectorem ecclesie sancti Benedicti ex altera, super eo quod dictus Rector non permiserit pulsari campanam in ecclesia sua predicta ad convocandos clericos ad lectiones extraordinarias quedam discordia fuisset exorta; tandem nobis H. [Hugo de Balsham, 1257—1286] dei gratia Eliensi episcopo mediantibus, et vtriusque partis tranquillitatem non mediocriter affectantibus, ne per appellationes et execrabiles litis amfractus honori studentium aut commodo detrahatur, et ipsius Prioris quieti similiter derogetur, dicta discentio in hunc modum conquievit: Videlicet quod dictus Rector ob nostri reverentiam et honorem et favorem vniversitatis eiusdem, concessit et promisit quod suo perpetuo pulsetur civili et honesto modo in ecclesia sua prefata pro huiusmodi convocacionibus imposterum faciend' sicut hactenus inibi fieri consuevit, dum tamen clerico eiusdem ecclesie pro pulsacione huiusmodi more solito satisfiat. Nos igitur huiusmodi compositionem acceptantes, ipsam auctoritate pontificali confirmamus et sigilli nostri appositione communimus. § 5. The Bishop of Ely referred to is Thomas L'Isle—consecrated 1345, died 1361.

The Charter of Queen's College, Oxford, is dated Jan. 18. 1340. The founder was Robert Egglesfield, Chaplain and Confessor to Queen Philippa, who assisted him to build his College, and became patroness of it after his death.

§ 7. The ground laid out as the Master's Garden, was only held on lease, and did not pass into the absolute possession of the College till May 18, 7 Edward VI.

The site of the Hall of the Annunciation, commonly called Gonville Hall, as transferred to Corpus Christi College, was bounded by Lurteburgh Lane, now Freeschool Lane, E., S. Botolph's Lane S., the Churchyard of S. Botolph and certain tenements W., and ground which soon afterwards became the property of Corpus Christi College, N. It was 140 feet broad, and about 200 feet long, as far as can be reasonably conjectured. Of the four parcels of ground composing it, the southernmost (A) belonged to the Hospital of S. John, and was conveyed to the Hall of the Annunciation after Gonville's death, which took place in 1350. It occupied the corner between Luthburne Lane and S. Botolph's Lane. The next tenement to the north (B) was conveyed by John, son of William de Brunne, to Edmund Gonville in 1347. It abutted on the Lane E., and on the Churchyard and a tenement belonging to the Vicar of S. Botolph W. North of this again were two tenements (C) with a garden detached from them, conveyed to the same, at the same time, in one deed, by Daniel de Felstede. Their eastern abuttal is the same, their western a tenement belonging to the same Daniel. This piece of property and the last formed the 'tria mesuagia et vnum gardinum in vico vocato Lurteburghlane,' which Gonneville was allowed by royal license, dated 28 January, 22 Edward III. to assign to his students "pro mora et inhabitacione sua" (Caius College Treasury, I. 6): and which in the similar license of Thomas Morys who owned the property in capite "per fidele seruicium sex denariorum per annum," dated "in festo Sancti Nicholai Episcopi Anno regni regis Edwardi tertii post conquestum vicesimo secundo" [6 December, 1348] is described as

"in vico vocato Lurtoburghlane in villa Cantabr' iacent' inter tenementum fratrum sancti Johannis ex parte australi, et mesuagium Johannis de Lenna ex parte boreali; et capud occidentale abuttat super tenementum Danielis de Felstede et vicar' ecclesie Sancti Botulphi; et capud orientale super Regalem viam." [Caius College Treasury, I. 4.]

In the conveyance of the site by Gonneville to the first Master of the Hall, John de Coltone de Tiryngtone (Caius College Treasury, I. 7), dated June 4, 1349, it is further described as

"in parochiis ecclesiarum sancti Benedicti et sancti Botulphi...in vico vocato Lorteburghlanestrate."

The remaining piece (D), to the north of those already described, was that belonging to the University, called "the Long Entry," § 8, as stated in No. III. of the following deeds, which extended like the others from the lane E. to Felsted's property W. It was conveyed to the Hall of the Annunciation, 2 March, 1352; and to Corpus Christi College, 2 December, 1353. The house belonging to John de Lenna must have become the property of the Hall of the Annunciation before this, but the deeds relating to it have been lost.

Of the following deeds I. refers to B, II. III. to C, IV. to A, V. VI. to D.

The horn is still preserved with the greatest care in the Treasury of Corpus Christi College, and has sustained no damage except the loss of its cover. A description and figure of it will be found in the Archæologia for 1773, iii. 19: and in the "Cambridge Portfolio," p. 296.

§ 11. In the Corpus MS. (C) a piece of paper, of the same quality as that upon which the rest of the MS. is written, has been fastened over the upper portion of the page containing the latter half of this section. The handwriting upon this slip is the same as that of the rest of the text. The correction which is the reading of B, R, is as follows:

"collegium tenebatur; vt patet ex inquisitione quadam Scaccarii Regii, et ex instrumento manus mortue, in quo mentio fit precum pro Rege et Regina persoluendarum. Quantum autem ad illud manerium etc."

§ 13. This Cup, about 18 inches high, made of an Ostrich's egg supported on a silver stem, is still preserved. The egg is cracked, but the pieces are held together by a silver rim supported on slips of the same metal rivetted into one stem, and thence passing round the egg. Maptit or Moptyd, was Master, 1553—57, Porie, 1557—69. The hall mark however  gives the year 1592—93, according to a distinguished authority on plate, Mr Wilfrid Cripps ("Old English Plate," 8vo., London, 1878, p. 278). This date confirms a suggestion of Masters ("History of Corpus," p. 21) that the Cup was restored at the expense of Richard Fletcher, when Bishop of Bristol (1589—92).

§ 14. The commission of Edward VI. with an account of the proceedings of the Visitors, is printed in Cooper's Annals, II. 23: that of Mary, ibid. 112. The incidents here narrated are confirmed by the Diary of J. Mere, Esquire Bedell, printed in Dr Lamb's 'Documents.'

§ 16. By comparing what is said here with § 39 we shall find that the 'communis latrina' was at the S.W. external angle of the College. The

'Christopher' seems to have been used as College rooms from the following inventory existing in Corpus College Library. (Miscellaneous letters and papers, No. 45.)

Botwright's 'liber albus' still exists, bound in the original white parchment, and is a most curious and interesting volume. It is entitled "Memoranda Collegii Corporis Christi et beate Marie Cant' edita per Magistrum Iohannem Botwright sancte theorie professorem et capellanum domini Regis Henrici VI^a, Rectorem de Swafham Market, Magistrum siue Custodem Collegii predicti, electum in festo sancti Marci Evangeliste Anno Domini 1442."

§ 18. The conveyance (Corpus Christi College Treasury, Drawer 31, No. 28) unfortunately gives us no information respecting the precise situation of this hostel. Simon Heynes (President of Queens' College 1528—1537) sells to William Sowode 'pro certa summa pecunie'

"unum Tenementum voc' Barnardi Hostell ... situat' et iacent' in parochia sci Bothoi ... inter Tenementa predicti Collegii Corporis Christi ex partibus borialibus et australibus. Et abuttat ad unum caput super Gardinum predicti collegii ... versus orient', et aliud caput inde abutt' super regiam viam voc' Altam stratam versus occident'..."

2 July, 26 Hen. viij. [2 July, 1534.]

Further information respecting the site of this Hostel will be found in "the History of the Queens' College of S. Margaret and S. Bernard" by W. G. Searle, p. 67.

The royal permission to Corpus to sell to King's is in King's College Treasury, A. 125, dated 2 Feb., 26 Hen. VIII. (1535.) The property is there described as

"quandam parcellam terre cum omnibus et singulis suis edificiis super edificatis situat' et iacent' in parochia sancti Benedicti...inter venellam vocat' Nutlane sine Plutlane...ex parte australi et terram prepositi et scolarium Collegii nostri Regalis...ex parte boriali; que abuttat super viam regiam ex parte orientali, et terram ipsorum Prepositi [etc] ex parte occidentali et continet in longitudine per venellam predictam vocat' Nutlane...quater viginti et sex pedes et ex altera parte per terram dictorum Prepositi [etc] centum et octo pedes."

§ 19. The arrangements of these rooms will be best understood from the accompanying section of the gallery and other buildings between the College and Bene't Church. It is supposed to be made along a line drawn through the centre of the buildings from north to south.

- A. Chapel next the parish Choir.
- B. Lower Gallery.
- C. Archway into the Churchyard.
- D. Upper Gallery.
- E. Upper Chapel.
- F. Chancel of the Parish Church.
- a. Door into the Choir.

- d. Door from the College into the Gallery.
- ee. Stair from the upper Gallery to the lower Chapel.
- f. Door leading into the lower Gallery from the lower Chapel.
- g. Door from the upper Gallery into the upper Chapel, made larger 1569.

The 'sacellum parochiali choro proximum' is the room on the ground-floor (A), approached from above by a turret staircase (ee). It originally communicated with the parochial chancel (F) by a door (a), and with a long narrow room (B), the 'parvum ambulatorium adiacens,' by a second door (f). The archway (C), beyond this room to the south, was the original church-way for the parishioners of S. Bene't when the porch was on the south side of the church. Above the chapel on the ground-floor (A), there was a second or upper chapel (E), of the same size, approached from the College by a long narrow gallery (D). This upper chapel may be identified with the room that Josselin calls 'interius' or 'priuatum sacellum'; and the alteration mentioned by him consisted in making the opening (g) from the gallery as wide as the whole distance between the side-walls. By this means those who sat at the north end of the gallery, 'ambulatorium exterius,' or 'testudo,' would be able to see and hear what was going on inside the chapel, which seems to have been used as a Lecture Room, as well as for devotional purposes.

For further remarks on this subject, see Prof. Willis's "Architectural History," etc., Corpus Christi College, Chap. iv., from which the diagram has been borrowed by the kind permission of the Syndics of the University Press.

§ 23. A similar grille was placed by Dr Caius within the gate of entrance to Gonville Court from Michael House Lane. See Prof. Willis's History, etc., i. 169.

§ 24. As one more instance of the shameless way in which Masters has plundered Josselin without acknowledgement, compare this passage with p. 66 of his work :

"The Lodge and Fellows Chambers which were hitherto very plain, and seem to have been open to the Roof, with bare Walls and ordinary Windows, such was the frugality of our Ancestors ! began in this Master's time to be better fitted up and glazed by the several Inhabitants."

§ 27. The changes that have taken place in the buildings of the College have rendered the task of reconciling the measurements of the garden-walls here given with those of the ground on which they stood quite impossible. The print in Loggan, taken about 1688, shews Parker's wall bounding the Master's garden on the south ; and the Fellows' garden occupying the S. E. angle of the College ground. Between the two a third garden is shewn, which must be the one described in the following document (Corpus Christi Treasury, Box 31, No. 40).

This Indenture made the xxvjth day of February in the yeare of the reigne of our Sovereigne Ladye Elizabeth...the ninetenth Betwene Robert Norgate Bachelour in divinity and master or keper of the Colledge of Corpus Christi...on the one partye And Richard Willoughby master of Arts and one of the ffellowes of the same College in Cambridge on the other partye Witnesseth that the sayd master or keper...have demised granted and to ferme Let...unto the sayd Richard Willoughby...one parcell of theyr orchyard next adioynning unto the Masters garden of the sayd Colledge on the south and west parts of the sayd garden and the Masters gallery w^{ch} parcell of thyer sayd orchyard conteyneth in bredth in the east and therof towards Luthborne Lane fourtye eight foote and in Length from the sayd east end unto the west yt conteyneth in Length fyve score eightene foote and in bredth at y^e west end from y^e gate w^{ch} leadeth into y^e common orchyard towards the tennis court three score eleven foot of the standyard. Also the sayd master or keeper and ffellowes...do covenant ...wyth the sayd Richard Willoughby that they...at theyr proper costs and charge shall build a wall of tymber and claye and overcast the same with morter, to...sever the foresayd parcell of ground from the other part of the common orchyard...

[26 February, 1577.]

§ 29. The accompanying plan of the old court (Miscell. Letters, etc., No. 138) will make this description intelligible. Josselin begins with the rooms numbered 4 on the plan. The subject is fully discussed in Prof. Willis's work, History of Corpus Christi College, Chapter 2.

§ 46. The Statute referred to is to be found at the end of the Statutes of the College, in the copy in the Registry of the University, after the confirmation by the Commissioners of King Edward the VI. and Queen Elizabeth. It is entitled De iuramento officioque magistri Statutum Nouum.

In Dei nomine Amen. Nos magister Richardus billingford magister siue Custos Collegii siue domus scholarium corporis christi et beatæ mariæ Vniuersitatis Cantabrigiensis Eliensis Dioceseos præbiter socii et scholares eiusdem vnanimi assensu habito inter nos tractatu solempni et diligenti, videlicet in domo nostræ congregationis solita, A.D. 1416 Februarii 6^o statuimus et ordinamus vt si contingat de cætero quod idem magister vel quiscunque successor suus aliquid receperit ab aliquo vel aliquibus nomine dicti collegii per se seu per alium siue pecuniam siue iocalia siue quodecunque fuerit, siue per uiam donationis aut legati seu alio quocunque modo in quibuscunque rebus existat, applicabit communitati siue communi cistæ prædictæ domus siue collegii infra spacium quindecim dierum a tempore receptionis huiusmodi continue numerandorum retentis sibi moderatis et necessariis expensis ad huiusmodi negotium faciendum. Item statuimus et ordinamus vt magister prædictus vel quiscunque successor suus non habeat potestatem aliqua bona dicti collegii alienandi siue aliquibus conferendi siue fuerint spiritualia siue temporalia nec ad firmam per aliquod tempus dimittendi nec habeat potestatem pecuniam seu alia bona dicti collegii alienæ personæ extraneæ mutandi vltra spacium trium mensium continue numerandorum. Nec habeat potestatem aliquid de bonis dicti collegii expendendi nisi circa negotia dicti collegii ad vtilitatem illius nec de bonis dicti collegii aliquid alicui conferendi siue donandi vltra summam duorum solidorum. Nec habeat potestatem aliquem non socium siue extraneum clericum vel laicum ad faciendum moram in collegio prædicto vltra mensem admittendi seu recipiendi. Nec habeat potestatem aliquos famulos communes et dictæ communitati deservientes admittendi, nec eos a seruitio remittendi siue præsentia et consensu maioris partis sociorum tunc in dicto collegio præsentium.

Hæc omnia et singula magister collegii futurus in admissione sua tactis Sacrosanctis Euangelis se firmiter observaturum iurabit, nisi aliter pro maiori bono et commodo collegii per maiorem partem sociorum ex scripto constitutum fuerit.

§ 47. The Corpus MS. C adds by way of note.

“Hic Richardus Treton fuit Rector de Tindel et executor predicti Roberti qui fuit principalis iusticiarius, et postmodum regni cancellarius, qui contulit pro anima eiusdem per vices ad diuersa opera in Monasterio Sancti Albani sexties viginti marcas.”

§ 53. The Inn called “Cardinal’s Cap,” or “Cardinal’s Hat,” was situated in Trumpington Street, on part of the ground now occupied by the University Press. The earliest of the Title-deeds, now in the Registry of the University, is dated 1670. The property was then in the tenure of Cornelius Austin, Joiner, a name which occurs frequently in College accounts. Among other works executed by the Austins may be mentioned the canopies to the stalls in King’s College Chapel, the panel work eastward of the stalls, and the wainscoting of the Combination Room at Clare Hall. The “Cardinal’s Cap” still existed as an Inn down to 1821, when it was sold to the University for the enlargement of the Press.

§ 56. In the Corpus MS. C § 58 ends at the bottom of a page, of which the reverse is left blank, and on the following page § 56, § 57, § 58 are repeated. In § 56 the sentence “multa scitu dignissima memorie prodidit ad statum collegii pertinentia, atque in eodem libro,” and the word ‘etiam’ after ‘summam’ are erased with a red chalk pencil, thus producing the reading of R: “quo quidem in libro summam conscripsit omnium in collegio chartarum.” In § 57 the words “nec silentio pretereundum est” are similarly erased. In MS. B the words “multa scitu—libro” and ‘etiam’ are equally left out.

§ 74. The Life of Archbishop Parker, mentioned at the beginning of these notes, is inserted in MS. R at the end of this section. The same tract occurs in the other MSS., but rather differently placed. As it contains nothing relating to the University of Cambridge, or that cannot be found elsewhere, it has been omitted.

§ 75. The Statutes of the College that are bound up in the same volume as the MS. (B) have the original signatures of the visitors of Edward VI. and Elizabeth appended to them.
