The image shows a close-up of a book cover or endpaper. The majority of the surface is covered in a traditional marbled paper pattern, often referred to as a 'stone' or 'shell' pattern. This pattern consists of dense, horizontal, wavy bands of color, including shades of brown, tan, blue, and red, creating a complex, organic texture. On the left side, there is a vertical strip of dark, textured material, likely leather or cloth, which serves as the spine or a half-binding. In the bottom-left corner of this dark strip, the text '220. b.' is printed in a gold, serif font. A thin, horizontal gold line is visible just above the text.
