A DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF THE PRINTED MAPS
OF WILTSHIRE FROM 1576 TO THE PUBLICATION
OF THE 25in. ORDNANCE SURVEY, 1885.

By T. CHUBB, of the Map Room, British Museum.

PREFACE.

Thirty years' experience in the Map Room of the British Museum has shown me the great need of county bibliographies of maps. A good start in this direction was made by Sir Herbert George Fordham with his "Hertfordshire Maps," published in the Transactions of the Hertfordshire Natural History Society and Field Club, 1901—7, and issued as a complete work in 1908. This was followed by his "Cambridgeshire Maps," which, after appearing in the Communications of the Cambridge Antiquarian Society, was also separately published in 1908. In the meantime, Mr. William Harrison produced his useful "Early Maps of Lancashire and their Makers," which appeared, in 1907, in vol. 25 of the Transactions of the Lancashire and Cheshire Antiquarian Society. As far as I am aware, no other serious attempt has been made to grapple with the subject.

I have, therefore, attempted to supply the want in the case of Wiltshire, the county of my birth; and I am hopeful of being able to deal with the rest of the counties as opportunities arise.

Looking backward to the infancy of the art of cartography, the first place is taken by the "Peutinger Table," made, probably, in the 12th century. This is the earliest existing map showing any part of Great Britain, but it only represents the South-East Coast of England, which portion was reproduced in Gough's British Topography, 1780.

In the 13th century, Richard of Cirencester made a map of Britain; and, in a manuscript of Matthew of Paris' History, written about the middle of the 13th century, is a map bearing the title: "Britannia, nunc dicta Anglia, quæ complectitur Scociam, Galeweiam & Walliam." This also was reproduced in Gough's British Topography.

Apart from the various editions of Ptolemy's Geography,
The earliest engraved map of the British Isles, as a whole, is one by George Lilly, son of the grammarian, which was published in 1546, at Rome, where Lilly had lived some years with Cardinal Pole.

The first engraved map of England and Wales is one by Humphrey Lloyd, published in Abraham Ortelius' Additamentum Theatri Orbis Terrarum, 1573; but the first survey of the English Counties was made by Christopher Saxton, whose work was published in 1579; and the next important atlas was that issued by John Speed in 1611.

Early map makers based their productions upon those of Saxton and Speed down to 1773, when their work gave place to that of Andrews and Dury, until the publication of the one-inch Ordnance Survey in 1817.

Returning to the subject of this catalogue, it should be explained that the arrangement pursued is chronological, according to the dates of the maps themselves—not the dates of the works in which they appeared. When, however, the map is undated, the date followed is that of the work in which it occurs. Reprints and later editions are given under the year in which they were issued, and take precedence of the new maps of that year.

Except where otherwise indicated, each map has been examined and systematically described. The title, the names of the author and engraver, the scale, and the imprint, are given exactly as on the plate: also the actual size of the map in inches. A detailed description follows giving all other particulars appearing on the plate; and any text at the back of the map is noted.

Last of all, except where a map has been separately published, the full title of the work in which it appeared is given; and occasionally, a biographical note has been added. The titles, being given in detail, incidentally furnish a complete record of the Atlases of England and Wales.

The majority of the maps are in the British Museum; but I am indebted to Mr. George Goode, of the Cambridge University Library, for the description of a number of maps of Wiltshire under his charge; and I have availed myself of information contained in the valuable catalogues of Sir H. G. Fordham.

My work terminates at the publication of the 25-inch Ordnance Survey, 1885, there being nothing of antiquarian interest after that date.

The tabular index, in which the maps are arranged under the names of authors, engravers, and publishers, shows at a glance the whole of the work for which each individual is responsible, and, more especially, the life of any particular map—its various editions, its different forms, and the works in which it has appeared.

Wiltoniæ Comitatus (herbida Planitie nobilis) hic ob oculos proponitur. Anno Dni. 1576. Christophorus Saxton descripsit. Remigius Hogenbergius sculpsit. 18¾in. × 16¼in.

In [AN ATLAS OF ENGLAND AND WALES, BY CHRISTOPHER SAXTON, LONDON.] 1579. fol.

Shows the towns, villages with the churches, hundreds, and forests. The rivers are a prominent feature. The hills are shown pictorially. In spaces in the ornamental margin are: "Septentrio," "Oriens," "Meridies," "Occidens." Top left-hand corner, the royal arms with supporters, with E on the left side of the crown and R on the other.

Below, an elaborate cartouche encloses the title; and, in a smaller one, appear the arms of Thomas Seckford, Master of the Requests to Queen Elizabeth (Thomas Seckford was patron of Saxton's work of surveying the whole of the country). In left-hand bottom corner, an open pair of compasses stands upon a scale of ten miles. Saxton's name is printed within the compasses, above the scale, and Hogenberg's name below.

Christopher Saxton was a topographical draughtsman, born at Tingley, near Leeds. He was educated at Cambridge, but at what college is not known. Afterwards he came to London and was attached to the household of Thomas Seckford, at whose instigation and expense, and with the authority of Queen Elizabeth, he surveyed and drew maps of every county of England and Wales.

This was the first survey of the counties of England and Wales. The dates of the maps range from 1574 to 1579. They were drawn by Saxton and engraved by Augustine Ryther, Remigius Hogenberg, Cornelius Hogius (or Hogins), Nicolas Reynolds, Leonard Terwoort, and F. Scatter. The complete atlas was issued in 1579. Copies are now very rare, and one sold at Christie's, in 1901, realised £90.

The date of Saxton's death is uncertain; but he was alive as late as 1596, when he surveyed and described the town of Manchester.

Wiltoniæ Comitatus herbida planicie nobilis, vulgo Wiltshire pars olim Belgarum. Guiliam Kip sculp. Scala miliarum, 5 [=1 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.] 14in. × 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ in

In BRITANNIA SIVE FLORENTISSIMORUM REGNORUM ANGLIÆ, SCOTIÆ, HIBERNIÆ GUILIELMO CAMDENO AUTHORE.
LONDINI, IMPENSIS GEORGI BISHOP JOANNIS NORTON, 1607. fol.

Based upon Saxton's Map of Wiltshire. With text in Latin on back. Shows towns, villages, hills, trees, enclosed parks, and rivers with the bridges. The relative importance of the towns and villages are indicated by the towers and spires of the churches. The hills are greatly exaggerated.

Top left-hand corner, the title enclosed in an ornamental cartouche. Bottom left-hand corner, a pair of open compasses standing upon a scale of five miles, and the engraver's name given in a small panel attached on the right. Bottom right-hand corner, an indicator of the cardinal points.

A reprint of the 1607 map.

In [PHILEMON HOLLAND'S TRANSLATION OF CAMDEN'S BRITANNIA] 1610. fol.

The compass indicator has been altered by the addition of an intermediate point and a ring enclosing the whole, and there is no text on back.

Wilshire. Performed by John Speed, and are to be sold in Popes head alley against the Exchange, by John Sudbury and G. Humble. The scale of English miles, 10 [=3 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches]. 20 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. × 15in.

Shows towns, villages, enclosed parks, rivers, bridges, and hills. An engraved boundary line marks the hundreds. Stonehenge is shown as being enclosed. The hills are somewhat coarsely drawn.

Top left-hand corner, a plan of the city of Salisbury. To the right of this, the title in a small cartouche. Below the plan, in two columns, "The Arms of the Earls of Wilshyre & Salesburye." Top right-hand corner, a view of Stonehenge. Below, an ornamental panel containing a description of Stonehenge, and, suspended from this, an indicator of the points of the compass. On the right, enclosed by a double line joining the border, the imprint. Below the imprint and compass indicator, the scale of ten miles. At the top of the panel containing the title, "21 Gradus Longit." Above the view of Stonehenge, "22 Grad. Long." Just above the imprint, "Minuta 10 ultra 51 grad. Latitudinis." The border is formed by a double line, a space of $\frac{1}{8}$ inch, and a second double line marked off into minutes and seconds of latitude and longitude. Between the border lines, "Septentrio," "Oriens," "Meridies," "Occidens," and on the east and west, a double spiral device.

An impression before the engraver's name was added.

Wilshire. Performed by John Speed. . . Jodocus Hondius cælavit. Anno 1610.

In THE THEATRE OF THE EMPIRE OF GREAT BRITAIN
PRESENTING AN EXACT GEOGRAPHY OF THE KINGDOMS OF ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, IRELAND, AND THE ILES ADJOYNING . . .
BY JOHN SPEED. IMPRINTED AT LONDON, ANNO 1611. fol.

Another edition of the preceding map by J. Speed. It has certain additions and corrections: the latitude and longitude are erased and the ornamental border continued along the top and bottom; the cardinal points are given in English instead of Latin; in the margin of the inset plan of Salisbury, "The forme of the Counsel House" has been added; the note on Stonehenge has been extended; reference letters are added to the various shields and coats of arms; and the engraver's name has been added at the bottom of the map. The map occupies two pages, being 25 and 26 of the atlas. Printed on the back (page 25): "Book I. Wiltshire. Chap. 14," followed by ten paragraphs of text; and (page 26) "Book 1., Chap. 14," followed by a list of the Hundreds in seven columns.

John Speed, an historian, was born at Farndon, Cheshire, in 1552. His father was a member of the Merchant Taylors' Company, and, following his father's trade, he himself was also admitted to that Company in 1580. He took a keen interest in the antiquities of his country, and Sir Faulk Greville discovering this, made him an allowance in order that he might be free to devote his whole attention to study.

Between 1608 and 1610 Speed published a set of fifty-four maps of England and Wales. These maps were probably issued separately. Some were printed before the plates were finished, as evidenced by the blank cartouches on them, while on others the engravers' names are wanting. Both omissions were rectified in later copies. A collection of the early impressions is in the British Museum.

The first complete atlas published by Speed was his Theatre of the Empire of Great Britain, London, 1611—12, fol., which was issued as part of Speed's History of Great Britain. The first three books bear the date 1611; book IV., Ireland, being dated 1612.

Another edition of Speed's Atlas.

Referred to by Sir H. G. Fordham. The map of Wiltshire would probably be an unaltered impression of the 1611 map.

1616.

In [A LATIN TRANSLATION OF SPEED'S ATLAS, BY PHILEMON HOLLAND,] 1616. fol.

With the addition, at back, of a Latin text.

I have not been able to examine this edition; but there is a copy in the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris.

1617.

Wiltonia. Scala miliarum, 10 [=1½ inches]. 4¾in. × 3½in.

In GUILIELMI CAMDENI, VIRI CLARISSIMI BRITANNIA . . .
IN EPITOMEN CONTRACTA A REGNERO VITELLIO . . . AMSTEL-
REDAMI, EX OFFICINA GUILIELMI JANSONIJ, 1617. obl. 8vo.

Another copy of the previous map.

The text written on a separate leaf, and omitted from the back. It forms one of a collection of Peter Keer's maps of the counties of England and Wales, in the Manuscript Department of the British Museum, which were probably printed before those in Camden's Britannia, 1617.

1620.

Reprint of the 1617 map engraved by P. Keer.

With the addition of the figure "12" in the bottom right-hand corner, and text in English at the back under the heading "Wiltshire Chapter XII."

In ENGLAND, WALES, SCOTLAND, AND IRELAND, DESCRIBED AND ABRIDGED WITH Y^E HISTORIE RELATION OF THINGS WORTHY MEMORY FROM A FARR LARGER VOULUME DONE BY JOHN SPEED.

The title page of the British Museum copy has been cropped, and the date sacrificed, but it is believed to have been 1620.

Wiltshire. The scale of miles [$10 = \frac{7}{8}$ of an inch.] $4\frac{3}{4}$ in. \times $3\frac{3}{8}$ in.

In THE ABRIDGMENT OF CAMDEN'S BRITANIA. WITH THE MAPS OF THE SEVERALL SHIRES OF ENGLAND AND WALES. PRINTED BY JOHN BILL . . . 1626. obl. 12mo.

A small map, very similar to the one by P. Keer, of 1617; but some of the names are spelt differently, and, owing to the engraving being of a lighter character, it appears less crowded. Shows towns, villages, hills, and rivers. Top left-hand corner, a small cartouche, with title, merged into the border lines. Bottom left-hand corner, another cartouche encloses the scale. It has a plain double-lined border with the latitudes marked outside the left border, and the longitudes at the bottom. On the back a description, in English, of Hampshire.

A reprint of J. Speed's map of 1611.

In THE THEATRE OF THE EMPIRE OF GREAT BRITAIN . . . BY JOHN SPEED. LONDON, 1627. fol.

1635.

Wiltshire. [Engraved by Jacob van Langeren. Scale, about 40 miles to the inch.] $\frac{3}{4}$ in. \times 1in.

In A DIRECTION FOR THE ENGLISH TRAVILLER (PLATE 40) BY WHICH HE SHAL BE INABLED TO COAST ABOUT ALL ENGLAND AND WALES. AND ALSO TO KNOW HOW FARRE ANY MARKET OR NOTEABLE TOWNE IN ANY SHIRE LYETH ONE FROM ANOTHER, AND WHETHER THE SAME BE EAST, WEST, NORTH OR SOUTH FROM Y^E SHIRE TOWNE . . . ARE TO BE SOLD BY MATHEW SIMONS, AT THE GOLDEN LION IN DUCKE LAINE. A^o. 1635. JACOB VAN LANGEREN SCULP.

A "Thumb-nail" map. Shows the rivers, and the towns are indicated by capital letters. Lines, showing the points of the compass, radiate from the bottom of the map. Below the map, in the right-hand corner, a pair of open compasses stands upon a scale of 10 miles. Around the map: "Glocester North." "Hantshire & Bark. E." "Dorset & Hant. So." "Somerset West."

Engraved on the bottom right-hand corner of a plate measuring 4in. \times 4in.; the other portions of which are occupied by a triangular table of distances. Above this table, twenty-six names of towns and villages, beginning with Salisbury. Down the left-hand side a list of twenty-six towns and villages, beginning with "Steple Ashto. NW." The plate is surrounded with a single border line.

1636.

A reprint of the previous map.

1637.

A reprint of the 1607 map.

In [CAMDEN'S BRITANNIA, TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH BY P. HOLLAND.] 1637.

With the plate number "6" added in left-hand bottom corner.

A reprint of Saxton's map of 1576.

In THE MAPS OF ALL THE SHIRES IN ENGLAND AND WALES . . . BY C. SAXTON. AND GRAVEN AT THE CHARGES OF A PRIVATE GENTLEMAN FOR THE PUBLICKE GOOD. NOW NEWLY REVISED, AMENDED, AND REPRINTED . . . BY WILLIAM WEB, AT THE GLOBE IN CORNHILL, 1645.

With the date altered to 1642, and the Royal Arms changed to those of Charles I., but with the original initials, "E. R.," retained.

Wiltshire. [Scale about 20 miles to the inch.] $1\frac{1}{4}$ in. \times $1\frac{3}{4}$ in.

In A DIRECTION FOR THE ENGLISH TRAVILLER . . . SOLD BY THOMAS JENNER, AT THE SOUTH ENTRANCE OF THE EXCHANGE, 1643.

An enlarged copy of the "Thumb-nail" map of 1635. Produced from the same plate, but after it had been hammered out and re-engraved. The map is drawn on twice the original scale, and consequently fills up the south-east angle of the plate. The rivers are shown and the towns and villages marked with their names in full. The scale and compasses have been placed on the bottom border line, near the centre of the plate. An additional line of figures has been added to the table of distances.

A reprint of Speed's map of 1611.

In [PHILEMON HOLLAND'S LATIN TRANSLATION OF SPEED'S THEATRE OF THE EMPIRE OF GREAT BRITAIN,] 1646. fol.

With Latin text on the back.

I have not seen this map, but it is probably an unaltered impression of the 1611 plate. A copy is in the Bodleian Library.

Wiltonia sive comitatus Wiltoniensis. Anglis Wilshire. Amstelodami. Apud Joannem Janssonium. [Scale] Milliaria Anglica 6 [=2 inches.] $19\frac{5}{8}$ in. \times $15\frac{5}{8}$ in.

In JOANNIS JANSSONII NOVUS ATLAS, SIVE THEATRUM ORBIS TERRARUM . . . TOMUS QUARTUS. AMSTELODAMI. APUD JOANNEM JANSSONIUM. 1646. fol.

Shows towns, villages, hundreds, hills, enclosed parks, forests, rivers, and bridges.

Top left-hand corner, eight shields supported by a band of ribbon held by three cherubs. Bottom left-hand corner, two figures, one with a pair of compasses pointing to the scale which is enclosed in an oblong cartouche. Top right-hand corner, seven shields supported by a band of ribbon held by four cherubs. Bottom right-hand corner, against a background of trees, a cartouche bearing the title, as given above, supported by labouring men and sheep. In the middle at the bottom, the imprint. On the back, in Latin, a description of Wiltshire.

Jan Jansson was born at Arnheim c. 1596, and died at Amsterdam in 1664. He was a famous publisher of Amsterdam and the contemporary and rival of Jan Blaeu; and was admitted to the Printers' Guild in 1618. He married the daughter of Jodocus Hondius, the partner of Gerard Mercator, and his son (Henry Hondius) subsequently succeeded to the business, which at his death was acquired by Jansson together with the plates of the atlas.

In 1636 Jansson issued his Appendix to the atlas published by Mercator and Hondius, being the second volume of that atlas, and in 1642, the third volume. In 1646, he brought out the fourth volume, which contained the description of England, in Latin, by William Camden, accompanied by maps of the counties of England and Wales. Several editions were subsequently issued, in French, Latin, and German.

Another copy.

Wiltonia sive comitatus Wiltoniensis, Anglis Wilshire. Milliaria anglica 5 [=2 inches.] 19½ in. × 16 in.

In TOONNEEL DES AERDRUICK OFTE NIEVWE ATLAS . . . DOOR WILHELM EN JOHANNEM BLAEU. AMSTERDAMI, APUD JOHANNEM GUILJELMI F. BLAEU. ANO. 1648—50. fol. Vol. 4 bears the following title:—VEIRDE STUCK DER AERDRYCKS-BESCHRYVING, WELCK VERVAT ENGLANDT. AMSTERDAMI, APUD JOANNEM BLAEU 1648.

A beautifully-engraved map showing the towns, villages, hundreds, enclosed parks, hills, woods, rivers, and bridges.

Top left-hand corner, a cartouche encloses the title, and is supported by two figures, the whole resting upon two ornamental columns extending to the bottom of the map. Between the columns, fourteen coats of arms of the nobility of the county, two of the shields being blank. Top right-hand corner, the Royal Arms with pennons bearing the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew. Below the Royal Arms, a shield, with the cross of St. George, rests upon a cartouche which encloses an account of burials at Stonehenge. Bottom right-hand corner, a small scalloped cartouche with the scale. Near by, a nobleman on horseback, a surveyor with a plane table, and a child with a measuring chain. The border is formed by a double line, a space of 3/16 of an inch, another double line, and thicker line outside. Within the space in the border, "Septentrio." "Oriens." "Meridies." "Occidens." At the back, a text in Dutch, and the numbers "111" and "112."

William Blaeu, a surveyor and publisher, was born at Alkmaer, in 1571, and died at Amsterdam 21st October, 1638.

In 1599, he was employed in making globes. In 1628 he surveyed the entire coast between the Texel and the Meuse. In 1612 he set up as a printer and bookseller at Amsterdam. The business was carried on under the name of Guilielmus Janssonius, with the result that he was often confounded with his rival, Jan Jansson, another famous publisher in the same city.

His son, Johann Blaeu, was born at Amsterdam, 23rd September, 1596, and died there 28th December, 1673. He studied law while continuing the business of his father. After travelling in Italy he returned to Amsterdam and established a printing house, in which he was actively engaged as early as 1637. He soon made a great reputation and is even thought to have taken precedence of the rival establishment of Jansson. His first publication was the first and second volumes of his father's atlas:—Theatrum Orbis Terrarum, sive Atlas Novus . . . Amstelodami, apud Guilielmum Blaeu, 1638. After his father's death, in conjunction with his brother Cornelius, whom he had taken into partnership in 1640, he brought out the third volume of the atlas, the remainder of the work being issued after the death of Cornelius in 1642. His most finished and complete atlas was published in 1662, with Latin text, under the title of Atlas Major, sive Cosmographia Blaviana, Qua Solum, Salum, Coelum, Accuratissime Describuntur. It consists of eleven volumes, each of which has its own distinctive title page and the date 1662. In 1664—5 a French edition was published, and, in 1672, a Spanish edition. The last is now extremely rare.

Blaeu had an extensive foreign business, and, in 1663, is known to have possessed a second establishment in Vienna. On the night of February 22nd, 1672, his printing house at Amsterdam was destroyed by fire, and with it perished the greater part of his publications and nearly all the plates belonging to his geographical works.

1673.A Mapp of Wiltshire wjts [sic] jts Hundreds. By Rjc. Blome, by his Matys command. A scale of 5 miles [=1½ inches]. 10in. × 12½in.

In BRITANNIA, OR, A GEOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION OF THE KINGDOMS OF ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, AND IRELAND . . . ILLUSTRATED WITH A MAP OF EACH COUNTY OF ENGLAND. [BY] RICHARD BLOME, LONDON, 1673.

A poorly drawn, and sketchy map, copied from Speed's map of 1611. Shows the towns, villages, enclosed parks, hills (greatly exaggerated), rivers, and some of the bridges.

Top left-hand corner, some flowing drapery, suspended on three nails, forms a cartouche for the title, ; just below, a small compass rose. Bottom left-hand corner, dedication to, and arms of, the Rt. Hon. William Viscount Brouncker.

The bottom right-hand corner, the scales.

The border is formed by a single line.

Richard Blome, a publisher and compiler of some celebrity, aided by subscriptions, issued many splendid works. Originally he was a ruler of paper, and afterwards a heraldic painter. His Britannia is described by Bishop Nicholson as "a most entire piece of theft out of Camden and Speed." He died in 1705.

In A COLLECTION OF THE COUNTY MAPS OF THE KINGDOME OF ENGLAND AND PRINCIPALITY OF WALES. BY JOHN SELLER [LONDON 1680].

John Seller, Hydrographer to Charles II., was a publisher, and compiler of maps and charts. For many years he lived at the Hermitage, Wapping, and also had a shop in Exchange Alley, Cornhill.

His principal publications consisted of maritime atlases and charts. In 1671, he published the English Pilot, and in 1675, the Atlas Maritimus. The charts in these works were taken, mainly, from Dutch publications, and some were actually printed from the original plates, with the Dutch title erased, and an English title, with Seller's name, substituted. On March 16th, 1671, privilege was granted by the King, for the protection of Seller's atlases and charts, for thirty years.

The maps in the Atlas of the Counties of England and Wales, issued by Seller, are chiefly reprints from Bassett and Chiswell's edition of Speed's Theatre of the Empire of Great Britain, 1676.

Wilt Sh. [Scale,] 10 miles [= $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch]. $2\frac{1}{4}$ in. \times $2\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In A POCKET BOOK OF ALL COUNTIES OF ENGLAND AND WALES
. . . SOLD BY ROBERT MORDEN, [LONDON, 1680.] 8vo.

A small map showing the main roads with a double line, and the less important roads with a fine single line. The towns and rivers are given, but the scale is too small to allow of details.

Top left-hand corner, a compass indicator. Bottom left-hand corner, an open pair of compasses standing upon the scale.

The border is formed by a plain double line. Outside the border, at the top, "Wilt Sh.," and, at the bottom, "Length—52; Breadth—38; Circumference—140. Salisbury { D. from Lon.—70, 83.
Latitude—51. 4."

Some of the maps in this atlas are embellished with portraits of notable people, at the right-hand top corner; and others have large Roman numerals. But the map of Wiltshire in the British Museum has been badly cropped and it is impossible to distinguish its decorative numeral.

1681.

A Mapp of Wiltshire with its Hundreds. R. P[almer] sculp. A scale of 10 miles [= $1\frac{7}{8}$ inches.] $9\frac{3}{4}$ in. \times $7\frac{3}{4}$ in.

In SPEED'S MAPS EPITOMIZED; OR THE MAPS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND, ALPHABETICALLY PLACED. LONDON, PRINTED ANNO DOM. 1681. 8vo.

This is one of a set of forty-one county maps engraved by W. Hollar and R. Palmer for Richard Blome (about 1667 to 1671), and, according to Sir H. G. Fordham, published in England exactly described or a Guide to Travellers . . . Printed coloured and sold by Tho. Taylor, etc. [1671]. 8vo.

Shows towns, villages, hundreds (the names being indicated by numbers), hills, enclosed parks, and rivers.

Top left-hand corner, an ornamental cartouche enclosing the title. There is evidence of Richard Blome's name having been erased from the title and replaced by a double twisted line. Below the title is a small compass rose, and a cartouche with the arms of Thomas Thinn and dedication "To the Worshipfull Thomas Thinn, of Long Leate, Esqr. This Mapp is D D by R. B." Bottom left-hand corner, "A Table of the Hundreds in Wilt Shire," numbered 1 to 29.

Right-hand bottom corner, the scale, and "R. P." sculp.

R. P. no doubt stands for Richard Palmer, an engraver and stationer, who lived in Fullwood Rents, Holborn, and engraved maps for John Seller. His dates range from 1667 to 1705.

Wiltonia sive comitatus Wiltoniensis. Anglis Wilshire. Amstelodami apud P. Schenk et G.
Valk. 19 $\frac{5}{8}$ in. \times 15 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

A reprint of Jansson's map of 1646 with Jansson's name expunged and that of "P. Schenk et G. Valk" substituted, and the addition of the words "cu Priv." The back is plain.

Pieter Schenk, an engraver and publisher, was born at Elberfeld in 1645. He commenced business as an engraver of topographical works, in which he was assisted by Gerard Valk, who afterwards taught him the art of mezzotint. In 1683-4, Schenk and Valk became partners, and it is difficult, after that, to distinguish their individual work. Augustus II., Elector of Saxony and King of Poland, appointed Schenk engraver to his court. Schenk died at Amsterdam about 1715. Schenk and Valk were succeeded by R. and J. Ottens.

Strutt, in his Biographical Dictionary of Engravers, London, 1785, vol. 2, page 373, under the heading "Gerard Valk," says: "He worked some time for David Loggan and he also assisted Peter Schenk in Publishing the large Dutch Atlas in two volumes, 1683." Fol.

This is probably the original from which was printed the Atlas Anglois, ou Description Generale de l'Angleterre . . . a Londres, chez Joseph Smith . . . 1724. Fol.

I am unaware of the existence of a copy of this atlas of 1683.

1689.

Wiltshire, wth Salisbury City & Stonehenge described A^o. 1689.

In THE SHIRES OF ENGLAND AND WALES DESCRIBED BY CHRISTOPHER SAXTON. BEING THE BEST AND ORIGINAL MAPPS; WITH MANY ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS BY PHILLIP LEA. SOLD BY PHILLIP

LEA AT THE ATLAS AND HERCULES IN CHEAPSIDE, NEAR FRIDAY STREET, AND AT HIS SHOP IN WESTMINSTER HALL NEAR THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, ETC. [1690.]

A reprint of Saxton's map of 1576, with considerable alterations, by Philip Lea, who issued a reprint of Saxton's atlas, about 1690. The map of Wiltshire was probably published in 1667, as the date has been altered, there being evidence of the 8 having been 6 and the 9 a 7.

The whole of the design on the left-hand side of the original plate, consisting of the Royal Arms, cartouche with the title, and the arms of Thomas Seaford, has been expunged, and replaced by plans of Salisbury and Stonehenge as given in Speed's map of 1611. Below these have been added six shields of the Earls of Wiltshire, and eight of the Earls of Salisbury. The scale and compasses, in the bottom left-hand corner, remain as in the original; but there has been a slight alteration in the position of the word "of" and the letter "t" in Somerset.

On the right-hand side, just above Hungerford, two shields of the Earls of Marlborough have been added, and, a little below these, are added the Royal Arms with the initials C. R. The latter addition explains the earlier date which was erased, and shows that the map was first issued in the time of Charles II.

Bottom right-hand corner, two shields of the Earls of Clarendon have been added.

In the map itself an important innovation was made by the introduction of the names and divisions of the hundreds, and the principal roads, which constitutes this the first map of the county showing roads.

Philip Lea was a bookseller and publisher, from about 1680 to 1700, at the Atlas and Hercules in the Poultry, and at Westminster Hall. He published a large number of maps—mostly copies or reprints. On some of his maps he calls himself "Globe maker at the Atlas and Hercules in Cheapside." In 1703 his widow published A New Map of the French lines in the Province of Brabant.

Wiltshire. By Robt. Morden. Scale of miles, 6
[=2 inches.] Sold by Able Swale, Awnsham &
John Churchil. 16¼in. × 13½in.

In CAMDEN'S BRITANNIA, NEWLY TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH
. . . BY EDMUND GIBSON . . . LONDON, 1695. fol.

A delicately engraved map, showing towns, villages, parks, hills, woods, hundreds, roads, rivers and bridges.

The greater art of the plate on the left is bare, except for the names of the adjoining counties. Bottom left-hand corner, the imprint. Top right-hand corner, a cartouche with the title. Bottom right-hand corner, the scale.

The border is of two plain lines with degrees and minutes. In top border the minutes of time are marked in Roman numerals—"V., VI., VIII., IX., X." (VII. is not given, as the map comes up into the margin where it should appear). In bottom border the longitude is marked.

Gibson states in his preface that: "The maps are all new engrav'd either according to surveys never before publish'd, or according to such as have been made and printed since Saxton and Speed. Where actual surveys could be had, they were purchas'd at any rate; and for the rest, one of the best copies extant was sent to some of the most knowing gentlemen in each county, with a request to supply the defects, rectifie the positions, and correct the false spellings. And that nothing might be wanting to render them as complete and accurate as might be, this whole business was committed to Mr. Robert Morden, a person of known abilities in these matters, who took care to revise them, to see the slips of the engraver mended, and the corrections return'd out of the several counties, duly inserted. Upon the whole, we need not scruple to affirm, that they are by much the fairest and most correct of any that have yet appear'd. . . ."

The Robert Morden referred to by Gibson was a geographer, who began business in London as a map and globe maker, in 1668. He was in partnership with Thomas Cockerill, at the Atlas, in Cornhill, in 1688, and published a considerable number of maps and works on geography, including Geography rectified, 1688, Maps in Geography anatomized, or, a complete Geographical Grammar, 1693, and The New Description and State of England, etc. He died in St. Christopher-le-Stocks, London, 1703.

In ANGLIA CONTRACTA, OR A DESCRIPTION OF THE KINGDOM OF ENGLAND . . . BY JOHN SELLER. [London.] 1695.

A clearly engraved map showing the towns, villages, hills, rivers, and bridges.

Top left-hand corner, a cartouche, with the title. Bottom right-hand corner, the scale of 10 miles.

The design of the map reaches the top and bottom border; but the sides are bare, with the exception of the names of the adjoining counties. The border is formed by three plain lines.

In THE NEW DESCRIPTION . . . OF ENGLAND CONTAINING THE MAPS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND AND WALES, IN FIFTY-THREE COPPER PLATES, NEWLY DESIGN'D BY MR. ROBERT MORDEN. THE SECOND EDITION. LONDON, 1704. 8vo.

A small map very similar to Morden's large map of 1695. Shows towns, villages, hills, parks, rivers, and bridges. The main roads are shown by a fine line, and the boundaries of the hundreds are indicated by numbers referring to the list of their twenty-nine names, which are given on the right-hand side of the lower half of the plate.

Top left-hand corner, a cartouche with title. Bottom right-hand corner beneath the names of the hundreds, the engraver's name.

A small and somewhat confused map, engraved in rather a sketchy manner, occupying about two-thirds of an octavo sheet, and surmounted by an ornamental panel containing "The Road from London to Weymouth cum Dorset," etc.

Shows towns, villages, hundreds, woods, hills, rivers, bridges, and the main roads. Top left-hand corner, the number "134." Top right-hand corner, divided off with a double line, a description of the county. Bottom right-hand corner, a list of the hundreds, numbered 1—29, and by the side of the list, the scale printed horizontally.

At the bottom, in the middle, enclosed with a single line, the title.

The border is formed by two lines with ornamentation between. On the back, "133," and maps of the roads, from Tittleshal to Newmarket, and Wells to Kenford, in four strips.

ORDER AND FOR USE OF HIS LATE MAJESTY KING GEORGE I. FOR HIS INTENDED TOUR THRO. ENGLAND AND WALES. BY THOS.
BADESLADE, SURVEYOR, AND ENGRAVED BY W. H. TOMS.

A small map showing the towns, the more important villages, and the rivers. The latter are greatly exaggerated, and altogether out of proportion. The principal roads are shown by double lines. Salisbury Plain is marked as south of the Nadder. Clarendon Park is the only one shown. Asterisks are placed near some of the towns to indicate the number of members returned to Parliament.

Top left-hand corner, a compass indicator. At bottom, in the middle, the scale.

On the left-hand side, a section of the plate, divided from the map by a single line, contains a list of the principal towns with the dates of their markets and fairs.

The space surrounding the map is stippled and shaded, which has the effect of throwing it into relief.

The border is formed by a plain double line. Outside of it, at the top, "Wilt Shire. West from London"; bottom left-hand corner, "T. Badeslade delin." Right-hand corner, "W. H. Toms sculp"; and in the middle, the imprint.

Unfortunately, the title-pages of the two copies of this work in the British Museum, have been cut so closely, that it is impossible to say whether they ever bore a date. Sir H. G. Fordham, however, possesses a copy in which the maps are dated 1741 ; but he is evidently of opinion that they were not published, collectively, till 1742.

Top left-hand corner, the arms of Wiltshire. Bottom left-hand corner, the scale. On the East and West in places, the detail reaches up to border. Top right-hand corner, the outlines of a portion of Oxfordshire are shown. Bottom right-hand corner, Southampton Water. At the top outside the border, "Wilt Shire."

Shows towns, villages, hills, parks, rivers, and principal roads.

Top left-hand corner, indicator showing the points of the compass. Right-hand side, just below the middle of the map, a square ornamental frame, containing the title. Bottom right-hand corner, the scale of 10 miles. The border consists of a single line with a double inner line marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Outside the border, at the top right-hand corner, the number "39."

In THE SMALL ENGLISH ATLAS, BEING A NEW AND ACCURATE SETT OF MAPS OF ALL THE COUNTIES IN ENGLAND AND WALES. LONDON, PUBLISHED BY MESSRS. KITCHIN & JEFFERYS, 1749, ETC.

Shows towns, villages, enclosed parks, rivers, bridges, and the main roads. The number of members returned to Parliament is indicated by asterisks. The shading around the plate has the curious effect of making the map look like an island.

In middle, on the right-hand side, an indicator of the points of the compass. Bottom right-hand corner, the scale of twelve miles. The border is formed by a plain line, with a double inner line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Outside the border, at the top, the title. At bottom, three columns of information concerning the county towns.

This map bears some resemblance to the one issued in Chorographia Britannicæ by T. Badeslade, in 1742.

1750.

Wilt Sh. [Scale,] 10 miles [= $\frac{3}{8}$ of an inch.] $2\frac{1}{4}$ in. \times $3\frac{5}{8}$ in.

In A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF ENGLAND AND WALES; CONTAINING A PARTICULAR ACCOUNT OF EACH COUNTY . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR H. TURPIN, NO. 104, ST. JOHN'S STREET, WEST SMITHFIELD, [1750]. 12^{mo}.

A small sketchy map, the size of a playing card. Shows towns, rivers, and two main roads, one from Salisbury to Exeter, the other from Marlborough to Bath. The border has a double line on the North, East, and South, and a single line on the West. Above the map is a space of $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch, enclosing the title, on the right of which is "VI" and, on the left, a small "6." At the bottom there is a similar space, in which the length, breadth, circumference, and latitude of the county are given; and the distance from London to Salisbury.

The set of maps to which this belongs appears to have been made for some kind of game. Some have large Roman numerals in the top right-hand corner, the numbers being duplicated in many instances; and others have medallions of men and women, in place of the numerals, and a crown in the centre of the plate.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL COUNTIES IN SOUTH BRITAIN; CONTAINING ENGLAND AND WALES. LONDON: SOLD BY G. BICKHAM, JUNR. . . . MARCH 29TH, 1750. Fol.

An idealized view looking west as if from some eminence on the borders of Hampshire. Showing the principal towns, rivers, and hills. In the foreground, a river named "Ises River" is seen, crossed by a bridge of four arches with a tower at each end. A barge lies in the stream, with a boat between it and the shore. Four figures are standing together, apparently engaged in an altercation about the loading, or unloading, of the merchandise. A short distance away two men (one sitting on the bank) are watching the altercation.

PAUL'S CHURCH YARD ; AND ROBERT SAYER, AT THE BUCK, IN FLEET-STREET," 1758.] fol.

Shows towns, with market towns indicated by means of signs, villages, churches with signs to show whether in charge of a Rector or Vicar, boundaries of the hundreds with their names in large type, rivers and bridges, the main roads with distances between market towns marked in miles, parks enclosed with palisades, and hills.

Borough and market towns are distinguished by the engraving, and the number of members returned to Parliament is indicated by asterisks. Religious Houses, Charity Schools and Post Stages are shown by signs. Salisbury Plain is marked in the extreme south of the county, in the Hundred of Cawden and Cadworth, six miles south of Salisbury, and the part of the Plain lying north-west of Stonehenge is named "Black Heath."

Top left-hand corner, the words "Part of Gloucester Shire." Between "Part of" and "Gloucester," a note referring to "Selbury Hill" ; and, between "Gloucester" and "Shire," two notes describing "Troubridge" and "Lavington West." Below these, descriptive notes of Marlborough and Ramsbury, followed by "Part of Somerset Shire" with a note in reference to Westbury interpolated between "Part of" and "Somerset" ; and, between "Somerset" and "Shire," a list of the Earls of Wiltshire, and seats of the Nobility &c., the latter being continued below "Shire" ; and followed by the titles of four baronets, and "Explanation."

The border is formed by two single lines, the inner one being marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude; the minutes being numbered in fifths. In the margin, at the bottom, "Longitude from London." The imprint is given in the middle of the left-hand half of the plate, below the border.

Top left-hand corner, a compass indicator. Bottom left-hand corner, "Remarks." Top right-hand corner, cartouche with the title. Bottom right-hand corner, the scale of ten miles, and just below, "Longt. from London." This is all practically the same as Kitchin's map. At the bottom, in the middle, the engraver's name. Outside the border, at the top right-hand corner, the number "45," and at the bottom, the imprint.

Wiltshire. Size of page, $4\frac{1}{2}$ in. \times $7\frac{5}{8}$ in.

In [A COLLECTION OF MAPS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND, 1766.]

A small clearly engraved map; but with very little detail, and only the principal places named. The chief feature of the map is the rivers, which are clearly shown and named. The "Chicklade Hills" are shown, but no others. Salisbury Plain is marked as extending to the southern borders of the county. The county boundary is shown by a fine dotted line. There is no border line; but, surrounding the map, are the names of the neighbouring counties of Gloucester, Berkshire, Hampshire, Dorsetshire, and Somerset.

KITCHIN, NO. 59, HOLBORN HILL. fol.

This map resembles the large map of Wiltshire by E. Bowen, 1755. Shows towns, villages, hundreds, parks, rivers, bridges, and main roads. Salisbury Plain is shown as being to the south of Salisbury, in the hundred of Cawden and Cadworth.

Top left-hand corner, the explanation of the signs used on the map, and below, a note referring to Ramsbury. The detail comes nearly to the border at the sides. Bottom left-hand corner, a compass rose. At top, in the middle, a descriptive note of the county. Top right-hand corner, an ornamental cartouche enclosing the title; and below, two notes referring to Marlborough and Trowbridge. On the right-hand side, in the middle, the map projects over the first border line.

In the lower half of the plate, on the right-hand side, two notes referring to Devizes and Stonehenge. Bottom right-hand corner, the scale of twelve miles.

The border is formed by a single line, with a double inner line, marked off into degrees and minutes. Between the border lines, at the bottom, "W. Long: from London."

The plate is crossed by lines of latitude and longitude 5' apart, broken at intervals by the geography. Outside the border, at the bottom, the imprint.

The atlas is not dated; but as E. Bowen is described, in the title, as "The late," it could not have been issued before 1767, the year of his death.

A Topographical Map of Wiltshire, on a scale of 2 inches to a mile from an Actual Survey, by John Andrews & Andrew Dury in the year 1773. To Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders of the County of Wilts. This map is inscribed by their most obedient and devoted Servants John Andrews & Andrew Dury. Published according to Act of Parliament Augt. 1773, & sold by A. Dury in Duke's Court, St. Martin's Lane, & Jno. Andrews, No. 5, Bridge Court, Westminster Bridge. N.B. The said Jno. Andrews Surveys & neatly Draws Noblemens & Gentlemens Estates, Plans, etc., on moderate terms. Eighteen sheets, each measuring $24\frac{3}{4}$ in. \times 18in., not including the border. When mounted as a whole, 6ft. 3in. \times 8ft. $11\frac{1}{2}$ in., including the border.

An index map was furnished bearing the title : A Map of Wiltshire (Taken from Actual Survey), being the Index Map to the large one. N.B. This map is divided into 18 Squares, each containing one sheet of the large map . . . A scale of British Statute miles . . . 10 [=5 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches]. Published . . . 1st Jany. 1773, by J. Andrews & A. Dury, in Duke's Court, St. Martin's Lane, London.

Andrews' map is the finest map of the county produced before the Ordnance Survey. It is on the same scale as the first Ordnance Survey, which was made on the scale of two inches to the mile ; but reduced for publication to one inch to the mile.

Andrews' map shows towns, villages, hamlets, hundreds, hills (which are named), barrows, downs, parks, ponds, wells, mansions (with names of occupiers), rivers, mills, and bridges. All the roads are clearly shown with the direction posts at the cross roads. The distances from London on the main roads are given, and also from town to town, both on the main and cross-roads.

Top left-hand corner and the western side of the plate are bare, except for the names of the adjoining counties.

Bottom left-hand corner an elaborately engraved symbolical picture showing the produce of the county. An oak tree forms the background of the picture, in the front of which a child is milking a cow. The forepart of the cow is hidden by a female figure holding, in her left hand, an oval shield containing the dedication given above, and in her right hand a spear. The foreground on the left is occupied by a sheaf of wheat, and on the right by three sheep, a stag, and a bale of cloth. Below the picture, "G. B. Cipriani inv. J. Caldwell sculp." A little to the right, the scale of four miles. Top right-hand corner, the title plainly engraved in six lines including the scale. Immediately below the title, a note referring to the hundreds followed by a "List of Subscribers" printed in double column.

The eastern margin of the plate is bare except for the names of the adjoining counties.

On the middle bottom sheet, No. 17, a compass indicator, formed by two crossed lines, the northern point having an arrow-head, the others, E., S., W.

The border is formed by a thickly-engraved line, with double lines within, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Between the border lines on Sheet 18, at the bottom, "Minutes of Longitude East from the Meridian of the Cathedral of Salisbury." Below the border, in the left-hand corner, "J. Andrews, sculp." The imprint is given below the border on Sheet 17.

John Andrews, geographer, surveyor, engraver, and map-seller, was born in 1736, and died at Kennington, Surrey, in 1809. As a business man he is said to have been a failure, and this is rather borne out by the numerous addresses from which his various ventures emanated.

In addition to his map of Wiltshire, he surveyed the county of Hertford, assisted by Andrew Dury and William Herbert. The work was published by A. Dury and W. Herbert in 1766.

In 1797 Andrews published Historical Atlas of England : Physical, Political, Astronomical, Civil, and Ecclesiastical, . . . from the Deluge to the present time . . . London : Printed by J. Smeeton : sold by the Author No. 211, Facing Air Street, Picadilly . . . 1797.

There are twelve maps in this work, which was, apparently, never completed. The maps were "drawn and engraved by J. Andrews."

Andrews' assistant, Andrew Dury, was a publisher and bookseller at Duke's Court, St. Martin's Lane, from which address he issued maps from about 1732 to 1777. He appears to have been a surveyor as well as a bookseller, as he assisted John Andrews in surveying Wiltshire, Hertfordshire, Kent, and the Environs of London.

In 1769 A. Dury and W. Herbert published a map of Kent made from a survey by J. Andrews, assisted by A. Dury and W. Herbert. A second edition was issued in 1780. In 1771 Andrews issued A Collection of the Plans of the Capital Cities of Europe . . . in 2 volumes by Jno. Andrews, Surveyor. The forty-two plates in this work were engraved by Andrews, and sold by him at No. 5, The Fish Market, Westminster Bridge.

In 1776 appeared A Map of the Country sixty-five miles round London from actual Survey by J. Andrews and A. Dury. [Scale, $1\frac{2}{3}$ inch to the mile.] 20 Sh. It was published by J. Stoke: London, 20th June, 1776; and a second edition was issued by John Stockdale in 1809.

Andrews published the four middle sheets of his map of the Environs of London under the title:—A New and Accurate Map of the Country twenty-five miles round London . . . by John Andrews . . . September 10th, 1777. Sold by J. Andrews, at Mr. Blisset's, No. 29, Long Acre, etc.

Wiltshire. By John Cary, Engraver. Scale of statute miles . . . 10 [=1 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches]. London: Published as the Act Directs, September 1st, 1787, by J. Cary, Engraver, Map & Printseller, No. 188, the corner of Arundel Street, Strand. 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. \times 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In CARY'S NEW AND CORRECT ENGLISH ATLAS ; BEING A NEW SET OF COUNTY MAPS FROM ACTUAL SURVEYS . . . PRINTED FOR JOHN CARY, ENGRAVER, MAP AND PRINTSELLER, THE CORNER OF ARUNDEL STREET, STRAND. PUBLISHED AS THE ACT DIRECTS SEPT^R. 1, 1787. 4^o.

A clearly engraved map, showing towns, villages, hamlets, camps, woods, parks, rivers, and all the roads with distances marked, and Salisbury Plain shown south as well as north of Salisbury.

Top left-hand corner, a finely engraved star-indicator of the points of the compass, crossed horizontally by an oblong shaded panel bearing the title "Wiltshire"; and, curved round the bottom of the star, "By John Cary, Engraver." Immediately below, a little to the right, the scale of 10 miles. The plate, around the map, is bare except for the names of the adjoining counties. The border is formed by a thick and a thin line, close together, and a double inner line marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

John Cary, an engraver, and map and print seller, commenced business at 188, Strand, at the corner of Arundell Street, where he remained till 1791, when he removed to 181, Strand. From 1824 he gives his address as 86, St. James's Street—Near the Palace.

Cary's maps show a marked improvement on all earlier productions, the engraving being beautifully clear and distinct. The first atlas published by him was Cary's New and Correct English Atlas, 1787. This was followed by a beautiful little road-atlas entitled Cary's Traveller's Companion, 1790. A second edition of the Companion was issued, with the title-page dated 1791 and the plates 1792, and other editions down to 1824.

Mr. George Goode, of the University Library, Cambridge, informs me that he has recently purchased copies of Cary's Traveller's Companion dated 1806 and 1814.

In 1798 Cary's New Itinerary was published ; ten subsequent editions of this work were issued between 1798 and 1828.

Cary in 1808 published the New Universal Atlas, containing sixty maps in large folio. It was first issued in twenty parts. A second edition appeared in 1811, and a third in 1819. The following year—1809—Cary brought out the New English Atlas. It contained forty-six maps in imperial folio, some of which had been separately issued as early as 1801. The work ran through several editions.

Cary also published A Survey of the Country fifteen miles round London, 1786 ; A New and Accurate Plan of London, 1787 ; A New Map of France, divided into Departments, 1790 ; A New Map of England, 1794 ; A New Map of Ireland, 1799 ; A New Map of Chinese Tartary, 1806 ; A New Map of Spain and Portugal, 1807 ; A New Map of Scotland, 1808 ; and A New Map of Sweden, Denmark, and Norway, 1821.

A Map of Wiltshire, engraved from an actual Survey, with improvements. English statute miles, 15 [= $3\frac{7}{8}$ inches]. Haywood del. Sudlow sc. Engraved for J. Harrison, No. 115, Newgate Street, as the Act directs, April 11th, 1788. 13in. \times 18 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In MAPS OF THE ENGLISH COUNTIES WITH SUBDIVISIONS OF HUNDREDS . . . TO WHICH ARE ADDED TWO FOLIO PAGES OF LETTER-PRESS TO FACE EACH MAP . . . LONDON: PRINTED BY AND FOR JOHN HARRISON, NO. 115, NEWGATE STREET, 1791. fol.

A rather bare-looking map, showing towns, villages, enclosed parks, hills, hundreds (with their names indicated by reference numbers), roads, and the principal rivers.

Bottom left-hand corner, the title, divided off with a plain line. In the middle, at the bottom, the scale of 15 miles. Top right-hand corner, a small compass-indicator occupying the centre of two squares formed by the lines of latitude and longitude. Bottom right-hand corner, the "Reference to the Hundreds."

The border is formed by a single line, with a double inner line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Outside the border, at the bottom, in left-hand corner, is "Heywood del.", in the middle, the imprint, and in right-hand corner, "Sudlow sc." The map is intersected by lines of latitude and longitude at every five minutes.

With the map is a leaf, on one page being "Description of Wiltshire" in two columns, and on the other an account of Gloucestershire.

LONDON: PRINTED FOR JOHN CARY, ENGRAVER, MAP & PRINTSELLER, STRAND, 1ST. JANY., 1790. 8vo.

A small road map on thin paper, printed on one side only. Shows the towns, most important villages, rivers, and main roads, with the distances marked every two miles.

Bottom left-hand corner, the scale. Around the boundary of the map are the names of the adjoining counties, and at the terminations of the roads, the names of the places to which they lead. Bottom of the plate, divided off by a thin line, the distances from London to the principal places in the county are given—beginning with “London to Salisbury 83.”

At the top, in the middle, the outside border line is carried up, and forms a narrow oblong panel, with vertical shading, in which the title is given, the letters being slightly ornamented. On one side of this panel: “By J. Cary,” on the other: “Engraver.” The border is formed by two plain lines one-sixteenth of an inch apart.

Above the border, at the top, a star compass indicator rises behind the border, showing only the upper half with indications W., N., and E. Below the border, at the bottom, the imprint.

In ENGLAND DELINEATED; OR, A GEOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION OF EVERY COUNTY OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . . BY JOHN AIKIN. LONDON: PRINTED BY T. BENSLEY; FOR J. JOHNSON, ST. PAUL'S CHURCH-YARD, 1790. 8vo.

This is an outline map, without a border or any ornament whatever.

It shows the chief towns, the rivers, and one line of hills between the Wiley and Nadder, named "Chicklade hills." The county boundary is shown by a finely-printed dotted line. Around the boundary the names of the adjoining counties are given.

The first edition of this work was published in 1788; but without maps. It was reprinted: 3rd ed. in 1795; 4th ed., 1800; 5th ed., 1803.

1791.

A New Map of Wiltshire by Willm. Tunnicliff, Land Surveyor, 1791. Scale of miles, 10 [=3 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches]. 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. \times 19 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

In A TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEY OF THE COUNTIES OF HANTS, WILTS, DORSET, SOMERSET, DEVON AND CORNWALL . . . BY WILLIAM TUNNICLIFF, LAND SURVEYOR, SALISBURY: PRINTED FOR THE AUTHOR BY B. C. COLLINS . . . 1791. 8vo.

A very plainly printed map, its special feature being the clear manner in which the hundreds are shown. Their names are printed in large type, and the boundaries traced by a dotted line; each hundred being coloured differently and the detached parts plainly shown.

Shows towns, villages, parks, seats, hills, main roads; but no rivers. The Roman roads are named. Market towns are indicated by the way the churches are shown. Salisbury Plain is given south of the Wiley, as well as around Stonehenge.

Top left-hand corner, explanations of the signs used on the map. Bottom left-hand corner, the title. To the left of the middle, at the bottom, the scale of 10 miles. On the right-hand side, a little below the middle, the four points of the compass are shown by transverse lines; the northern point having an ornamental arrow-head, the others being marked E., S., and W.

The border is formed by two thin lines with an intermediate thick one, and two inner thin lines, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Between the border lines, both at the top and bottom, "West Longitude."

Wiltshire by John Cary, Engraver. To accompany the Agricultural Account of Wilts. By Mr. Thomas Davis.

In A GENERAL VIEW OF THE AGRICULTURE OF THE COUNTY OF WILTS . . . BY THOMAS DAVIS, OF LONGLEAT, WILTS . . . LONDON: PRINTED IN THE YEAR 1794. 8vo.

A copy of the second edition of John Cary's map of 1793, first published in 1787.

In this issue, immediately below Cary's name, in the bottom left-hand corner, is the announcement that the maps are "To accompany the Agricultural Account of Wilts," etc., and to make room for this the original scale had to be shortened, and made 1 to 5 miles instead of 1 to 10.

Colours are used to indicate the nature of the land, etc. Outside the border, at the bottom, the original imprint has been replaced by two columns of explanations of the colours.

In THE UNIVERSAL MAGAZINE OF KNOWLEDGE AND PLEASURE FOR MARCH, 1796. LONDON : PUBLISHED . . . BY W. BENT AT THE KING'S ARMS, PATERNOSTER ROW, 1796.

A clearly engraved map, showing towns, villages, parks, rivers, and roads, with the distances from London noted on the main roads. Salisbury Plain is given as being on the southern borders of the county, as well as around Stonehenge. The number of members returned to Parliament is shown by asterisks.

Top left-hand corner, the title in a long, slightly oval-shaped plaque, shaded vertically ; immediately below, the engraver's name, and the scale of 8 miles. The names of the chief towns in the adjoining counties, near the border of Wilts, are shown with their distances from London. The border is formed by a thick and thin line, printed closely together, with an inner line marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude west from London."

1800.Another reprint of the Map of Wiltshire issued in England Delineated. 1790.In* ENGLAND DELINEATED, BY JOHN AIKIN. 4TH ED. 1800.1801.*A New Map of Wiltshire, divided into Hundreds, exhibiting its Roads, Rivers, Parks, etc. By John Cary, Engraver. 1801. Scale, 8 miles [=2 $\frac{7}{8}$ inches]. London: Published by J. Cary, Engraver and Map-seller, No. 181, Strand, Sept. 28, 1801. 19 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. \times 21 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In CARY'S NEW ENGLISH ATLAS; BEING A COMPLETE SET OF COUNTY MAPS, FROM ACTUAL SURVEY . . . ON WHICH ARE PARTICULARLY DELINEATED THOSE ROADS WHICH WERE MEASURED, BY ORDER OF THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL, BY JOHN CARY . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR J. CARY, ENGRAVER AND MAP-SELLER, NO. 181, NEAR NORFOLK STREET, STRAND, 1809. fol.

A beautifully engraved map, showing towns, villages, hamlets, parks, woods, houses with their names, and the main roads, also named; indications of their direction being given at the point of entry to the county. Along the Bath and Bristol Road, and the Burton, or Frome & Wells, Road, the distances from London are given mile by mile; but on the other roads the distances given are those from London to the first town on the roads within the county and from town to town. The names and boundaries of the hundreds are given, and the detached portions are especially marked out.

Top left-hand corner, a star compass indicator with eight points, the northern point being lengthened about an inch, with an ornamental arrow-head at the top. A little to the right of the indicator, a detached part of Wiltshire is shown. Bottom left-hand corner, a slightly oval plaque, shaded around the lower edge and bearing the title. Top right-hand corner, an inset showing the detached portions of Wiltshire in Berkshire. On the right-hand side, rather below the middle, a long band, vertically shaded, showing the scale of 8 miles.

The border is formed by two fine lines with an intermediate thick one, and two fine inner lines marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude West of Greenwich." Outside the border, at the bottom, the imprint.

This atlas was published in parts, from 1801 to 1809; and brought together in the form of an atlas in 1809. The maps were also sold separately, price 3s. 6d.

A New Map of the County of Wilts, divided into Hundreds. London: printed for C. Smith, No. 127, Strand. January 6th, 1801. Scale, 7 miles [= 2½ inches.]. Jones & Smith, sc., Pentonville. 17¾in. × 19¾in.

In SMITH'S NEW ENGLISH ATLAS; BEING A COMPLETE SET OF COUNTY MAPS, DIVIDED INTO HUNDREDS, ON WHICH ARE DELINEATED ALL THE DIRECT AND CROSS ROADS, PART OF WHICH ARE FROM ACTUAL MEASUREMENT . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR C. SMITH, MAPSELLER, NO. 172 (CORNER OF SURREY STREET), STRAND, 1804. fol.

Very similar in construction to Cary's large map of 1801, and similarly coloured.

Shows towns, villages, hamlets, hills, woods, parks, gentlemen's seats, rivers, roads, and hundreds. The last-named are shown by an engraved line as well as by colour, and their names are indicated by reference numbers. The distances, in miles, from London to the principal towns are given; and also along the main roads from town to town; and where the main roads enter and leave the county their direction is given.

Top left-hand corner, a detached part of Wiltshire; and, just below, a star indicator of the points of the compass, the northern point being extended and having an ornamental arrow head. Immediately below, "Jones & Smith, Sc., Pentonville." Bottom left-hand corner, explanations of signs used on the map, and, to the right, the scale of 7 miles. At the top, in the middle, the detached portion of Wilts runs into the border. Top right-hand corner, the title and imprint, and, a little below, enclosed by double lines up to the border, the detached portions of Wokingham and Swallowfield. In the bottom right-hand corner, a list of the hundreds, numbered 1—29.

The border is formed by two very fine lines with an intermediate thick one; and, half-an-inch within, are two fine lines divided off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

These maps were originally issued separately in 1801, and were not published as an atlas till 1804.

Sir H. G. Fordham states that editions were issued in 1808, 1818, 1821, 1827, 1843, and 1846; but the only copies known to me are those in the British Museum, 1804 and 1808.

A small circular map showing only the towns and main roads.

On the upper part of the map, within the county boundary, a small cross indicating the points of the compass. The inner circle of the plate is filled up to the border, with the names of the adjoining counties. There is a double circular border, each formed by a thick line, with a fine line on either side. Between the border lines, at the top, "Wiltshire," at the bottom, the scale; on the left, "Sends 34 Members to Parl^{mt},"; on the right, "Salisbury Co. Town, 83 miles from London." Outside the border, at the bottom, the imprint.

The map is printed on the upper half of a small octavo page, the lower half being devoted to a short description of Wiltshire.

In THE PICTURE OF ENGLAND ILLUSTRATED WITH CORRECT COLOR'D MAPS OF THE SEVERAL COUNTIES . . . BY WILLIAM GREEN . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR J. HATCHARD, BOOKSELLER TO HIS MAJESTY, PICADILLY, 1804. 8vo.

A small outline map in which the ordinary positions are reversed, the North being at the bottom.

Shows towns, parks, rivers, and main roads. In top right-hand corner, the scale. In bottom right-hand corner, a plain arrow, with a cross line in the middle, indicating the North.

The border is formed by a thick outer and a thin inner line close together. Outside the border, at the bottom, the title "Wiltshire."

The arrangement of the maps in this work is very erratic. Some are printed with the North at the bottom, and others with the North at the left or right.

This map is full of information. The hundreds are shown by colour as well as by an engraved line, and the names are indicated by reference numbers.

Shows towns, villages, castles, houses, parks, camps, hills, roads; and by asterisks the number of members returned to Parliament by the boroughs. The distances from London to the chief towns are given in Roman numerals. Salisbury Plain is not shown in the extreme south of the county, as is usual in most of the maps of the 18th century.

Top left-hand corner, a compass-indicator, the northern point having an ornamental arrow-head, and, a little below, a detached portion of Wilts. Bottom left-hand corner, the scale. Top right-hand corner, explanations of signs used; and, immediately below, "Pt. of Wilts in Berks." Just below the middle, on the right-hand side, a list of the hundreds numbered 1—29.

The border is formed by a thick line between two thin ones, and an inner double line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

The maps in the atlas were prepared and used for Beauties of England and Wales by J. Britton, & E. W. Brayley.

In WALLIS'S NEW POCKET EDITION OF THE ENGLISH COUNTIES,
OR, TRAVELLER'S COMPANION . . . LONDON : PUBLISHED BY J.
WALLIS, ENGRAVER, BERWICK ST., SOHO, AND SOLD BY DAVIES &
ELDRIDGE, EXETER, [1810]. 12mo.

A small coloured map, showing the towns, principal villages, parks, rivers, coach and turnpike roads, the distances of the chief towns from London, and, by asterisks, the number of members returned to Parliament.

Top left-hand corner, a small star-indicator of the compass, the northern point being elongated, and terminating with a spear-head. Bottom left-hand corner, the scale.

The border is formed by double lines, the inner ones being divided into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. The upper line, at the top, is slightly raised to accommodate a long panel, vertically shaded, containing the title; and the lower bottom line is carried down half-an-inch below the inner one to give space for the explanation of the signs used. Between the border-lines, at the bottom, "Long. W. of Greenwich."

1811.

Ordnance Survey of England and Wales. Scale, 1 inch = 1 mile.

Sheets 14, 15, and 34 show nearly the whole of Wiltshire; they were published in 1811, 1817, and 1828.

There is no general title to this map. On sheet 15, the imprint :
"Published 1st. Aug. 1811 by Lt. Col. Mudge, Tower," at the bottom, in the left-hand corner. In the middle the scale; and, in the right-hand corner, "Engraved at the Drawing Room in the Tower by Benjⁿ. Baker and Assistants.—The writing by E. Bourne." Size of each sheet $30\frac{1}{2}$ in.
 \times $24\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Though not a map of the county, in the true sense of the word, the sheets joined up practically form one. This is the first map prepared from a scientific survey. From 1773 down to this time the maps of the county were based upon the survey by John Andrews and Andrew Dury; but, after the publication of the Ordnance Survey, there was very little, if any, independent surveying.

The Ordnance Survey is too well known to require any description, beyond a passing remark that it is hill shaded and all the surface features are given, with the height, in feet, above mean sea level at Liverpool.

In A GENERAL VIEW OF THE AGRICULTURE OF WILTSHIRE . . .
BY THOMAS DAVIS . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR SHERWOOD, NEELY, AND JONES, PATERNOSTER ROW, 1813. 8vo.

Coloured to show the agriculture of the county, and giving the towns, villages, parks, woods, canals, rivers, and roads. Salisbury Plain is marked south of the Nadder as well as around Amesbury.

Top left-hand corner, a detached part of Wilts, shown between the letters c and e in Gloucestershire. Bottom left-hand corner, in a long panel, shaded horizontally, the title, and, below it, "To accompany the Agricultural Account of Wilts. By Mr Thomas Davis." Bottom right-hand corner, the scale. Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude West from London." Below the border, in the right-hand corner, the engraver's name; and, taking up the whole space below the border, the explanation of the colours used on the map.

The border is formed by two thin lines and an intermediate thick one, with a double inner line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

In ENGLISH TOPOGRAPHY, BY J. NIGHTINGALE. PUBLISHED BY J. GOODWIN AND T. MC LEAN. 1820.

Sir H. G. Fordham notes the obliteration of the imprint from the Hertfordshire map, so probably that is the case with the map of Wiltshire.

Map of the County of Wilts, from Actual Survey, made in the years 1819 and 1820. By C. Greenwood. Published for the Proprietors and sold at No. 70, Queen Street, Cheapside, London.

December 12th, 1820. To the Nobility, Clergy, and Gentry of Wiltshire, this map of the County is most respectfully dedicated by the Proprietors.

Scale of statute miles, 9 [=9 inches]. 42in. × 56in.

Shows towns, villages, hamlets, (with the market towns, parishes, and villages distinguished by the employment of different type,) houses, castles, churches, chapels, woods, plantations, heaths, commons, mills, rivers, brooks, canals, and roads. The boundaries of the hundreds are marked by engraved lines, and their names given in large type.

The number of members returned to Parliament by the boroughs is indicated by asterisks. The distances are given, in miles, along the main roads. Earthworks and other historical remains are shown.

Top left-hand corner, a large star compass indicator, with an arrow passing through from South to North, and projecting $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches below the southern point of the star, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches above the northern point. The figure-head of the arrow is in the form of a "fleur-de-lis." Bottom left-hand corner, a beautifully engraved "North West View of Salisbury Cathedral, Drawn by R. Creighton, Engraved by Neele & Son, Strand."

At the top, a little to the right of the middle, a detached part of Wilts. Top right-hand corner, the title; immediately below, the imprint; still lower, the dedication, and below this, the "Explanation" of signs. To the right of the middle, at the bottom, the scale. Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude West from Greenwich."

The border is formed by a fine outer and a very thick inner line, a space of three eighths of an inch horizontally shaded, or hatched, and two fine inner lines, divided into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude, the degrees being shown by Roman numerals.

Charles and John Greenwood published maps on a similar scale of all the counties except Bucks, Cambridge, Hereford, Herts, Norfolk, and Oxford.

In A COMPLETE ATLAS OF THE ENGLISH COUNTIES, DIVIDED INTO THEIR RESPECTIVE HUNDREDS . . . COMMENCED BY THE LATE THOMAS DIX, OF NORTH WALSHAM; CARRIED ON AND COMPLETED BY WILLIAM DARTON. LONDON, WILLIAM DARTON, 58, HOLBORN HILL. 1822. fol.

A very full but clear map, with hill-shading, and divided into hundreds. Shows towns, villages, parks, woods, rivers, the principal roads (with the distances, in miles, from town to town), and cross roads. Most of the roads are engraved a little beyond the county boundaries, the distance from towns in the adjoining counties being given.

Top left-hand corner, a circular panel, enclosing the title. Bottom left-hand corner, a view of "Malmesbury Abbey-Church, South Aile, &c. Wiltshire." Top right-hand corner, "References" to the hundreds, in two columns, with the "Explanation" underneath. Bottom right-hand corner, a small star-indicator of the points of the compass. At the bottom, in the centre, "Scale" of 12 miles. Also at the bottom, outside the border, the imprint; and, between the border lines, "Longitude West from Greenwich." The border is double-ruled with the degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude marked.

I am indebted to Mr. George Goode for the information relating to this and the two preceding maps.

Ebden's Map of the County of Wiltshire: divided into Hundreds laid down from Trigonometrical observation, by W. Ebden. Hoare and Reeves sc., Warwick Court, Holborn. Scale, 10 miles [=2 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches]. London. Published Novr. 12, 1825, by William Cole, 10, Newgate Street. 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. \times 16 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Shows towns, villages, hamlets, parks, woods, canals, rivers, main and cross roads. The hundreds are marked by an engraved boundary line, with reference numbers to indicate the names. The distances, in miles, from London are shown at the principal towns, and from town to town along the main roads.

Top left-hand corner, "Explanation" of the signs used; immediately below, a detached part of Wiltshire, and, near by, a star-indicator of the points of the compass, with an elongated northern point, terminating in an ornamental arrow-head. Bottom left-hand corner, the title; and, a little to the right, the scale of 10 miles. Top right-hand corner, a small inset with two detached parts of Wiltshire. Bottom right-hand corner, a list of the hundreds with reference numbers.

The border is formed by a thick line between two fine ones, a space of a quarter of an inch, and two fine inner lines divided off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

In THE POCKET TOURIST AND ENGLISH ATLAS, BEING A NEW AND COMPLETE SET OF COUNTY MAPS . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR O. HODGSON, MAIDEN LANE, WOOD ST. [1825]. 16mo.

This map bears a resemblance to the one in Miller's New Miniature Atlas, 1825. Its principal features are the parks and roads. The towns, and a few villages are also shown, and the distances from London are given at the principal towns. In a break in the ornamental border at the top, the title "Wiltshire" in plain capitals.

Top right-hand corner, an arrow, with a transverse line, indicating the north. Bottom left-hand corner, the scale. In the border, at the bottom, within plain lines, projecting slightly above and below the border, "This County contains 821,120 Acres, 304 Parishes, 1 City, 20 Market T., 293,828 Inhabitants and sends 34 mem. to Parl."

The border is formed by a line with horizontal hatching, $\frac{1}{8}$ in. wide, inside; decorated by ornaments, somewhat like spear-heads, linked together.

Corrected to the present period and Published 4 July, 1829. Engraved by J. & C. Walker, 47, Bernard St., Russel Sqe. Scale of miles, 10 [= 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ in]. 27in. \times 22 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In ATLAS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND, FROM ACTUAL SURVEYS MADE FROM THE YEARS 1817 TO 1833, BY C. & J. GREENWOOD, PUBLISHED BY THE PROPRIETORS GREENWOOD & CO., BURLEIGH STREET, STRAND, LONDON. PUBLISHED APRIL 1ST, 1834. fol.

A beautifully engraved map, very full of information, showing towns, villages, hamlets, parks, hills, woods, forests, heaths, commons, canals, rivers, mills, roads, and toll bars. The hundreds are shown by a dotted line, and the names are indicated by numbers. The number of members returned to Parliament is shown by asterisks.

Top left-hand corner, the title. Bottom left-hand corner, "Salisbury Cathedral. Creighton del'." Top right-hand corner, a large star indicator of the points of the compass, with the cardinal points elongated, the northern one having an arrow-head, and the centre decorated. The lower right-hand side of the plate is occupied by the "Explanation" and "Reference to the Hundreds."

Bottom, in the middle, the scale, and immediately beneath this "Wiltshire contains 1396 square miles," followed by "Longitude West from Greenwich."

The border is formed by two double lines enclosing a space of three eighths of an inch, horizontally hatched by thick and thin lines alternately, broken at every five minutes by panels containing Roman figures for the degrees and plain figures for the minutes. The inner and finer lines are marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

A beautifully engraved map, full of information, and coloured according to the hundreds, which are also indicated by an engraved line. Shows towns, villages, hamlets, parks, seats, woods, canals, rivers, main roads, and bye-roads. The distances from town to town are given along the main roads, and from London to the principal towns. Around the county boundary are notes of distances.

Top left-hand corner, a star indicator of the points of the compass with the northern point elongated, and terminating in an arrow-head. A little below, and near the border, a detached part of the county. Bottom left-hand corner, "Explanation" of the signs used; and slightly to the right of this, the scale. Top right-hand corner, the title "Wiltshire," without ornament. Bottom right-hand corner, the "Reference to the Hundreds." Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude West from Greenwich." Outside the border, at the bottom, the imprint.

The border is formed by a thick line between two thin ones, a space of a quarter of an inch with two fine inner lines, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

"Corrected to the year 1829" implies some earlier edition, but I have not succeeded in finding one.

Wiltshire. $3\frac{5}{8}$ in. \times $3\frac{1}{16}$ in.

In THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE BRITISH ISLES . . . BY MARY MARTHA RODWELL . . . LONDON: PRINTED FOR LONGMAN . . . PATERNOSTER ROW, 1834.

A very small outline map showing only the rivers and the positions of the towns, and Chicklade hills. The names of the towns are indicated by numbers; the plains and downs by capital letters; and the rivers by small letters. The county boundary is shown by an engraved line, and outside that is a dotted line, broken in five places at the junctures of the surrounding counties. With this exception, and the title "Wiltshire" given in the top right-hand corner, the space between the county boundary and the border is bare. The map occupies the upper half of an octavo page, the lower half being used for a map of Berkshire.

The border is formed by a double line around the page with a similar line dividing the two maps. On the page, facing the map, at the head of the chapter on Wiltshire, are the reference letters and numbers.

Wiltshire. English miles, 10 [=1½ inches]. Eng.d by Gray & Son. Pub.d by Arch.d Fullarton & Co., Glasgow. 7¾in. × 9½in.

In A NEW AND COMPREHENSIVE GAZETTEER OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . . BY JAMES BELL . . . VOL. III. PART I. GLASGOW: A. FULLARTON & CO., 34, HUTCHESON STREET, AND 31, SOUTH BRIDGE, EDINBURGH, 1836. 8vo.

Very similar to the map engraved by S. Hall in 1832, and issued in A Topographical Dictionary . . . by John Gorton, 1833.

Shows towns, villages, parks, hills, canals, rivers, roads, and the hundreds, shown by an engraved boundary and with their names indicated by figures.

Top left-hand corner, the title, and just below, the scale. Bottom left-hand corner, a compass indicator, formed by four crossed lines, the northern point having an ornamental arrow-head. Top right-hand corner, enclosed by a double line up to the border, "Part of Wiltshire locally situate in Berkshire."

Lower half of the plate, on the right: "Reference to the Hundreds," with note below: "The figures prefixed to the towns denote the distances from London." Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude West from Greenwich"; right-hand corner, below the border, the engraver's name; and, in the middle, the imprint.

The border is formed by two thin lines with an intermediate thick one, and an inner double line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

Wiltshire. Drawn and engraved for Moule's English Counties by W. Schmollinger. [Scale about 5 miles to the inch.] 8in. × 10½in.

In THE ENGLISH COUNTIES DELINEATED; OR, A TOPOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION OF ENGLAND . . . BY THOMAS MOULE . . . LONDON: GEORGE VIRTUE, 26, IVY LANE, PATERNOSTER ROW, 1836. 4to.

A clearly engraved map, of which the roads are the chief feature, showing towns, some of the villages, parks, canals, rivers, main roads and cross roads; with the boundaries of the hundreds engraved and their names indicated by numbers.

Top left-hand corner, a detached part of the county. Bottom left-hand corner, a view of the west end of "Salisbury Cathedral." Top right-hand corner, "Part of Wiltshire locally situate in Berkshire"; and, just below, a shield with an eagle holding a sceptre in its right claw and an orb in the left. A little below the middle, on the right-hand side, a shield with the arms of the Bishop of Salisbury, surmounted by a mitre; immediately below, "Reference to the Hundreds." In bottom right-hand corner, and extending over the middle of the plate, a view of "Stonehenge."

There is no border, but on the sides are fluted columns, decorated with figures of two angels holding blank shields surmounted by crowns, and supporting an elegantly carved screen engraved across the top of the map. The column on the right begins just above the view of Stonehenge, and that on the left, above the view of the Cathedral. In the middle of the screen, which is broken into in the right-hand corner, by the detached parts of the county, is a band folded at the ends, containing the title "Wiltshire."

I have not seen this edition, for which Sir H. G. Fordham is my authority; but have described it from the later edition of 1837 in the British Museum.

Wiltshire. Engraved on steel by Pigot & Son, Manchester. Scale 10 miles [= 2 inches]. Published by Pigot & Co., 50 Fleet Street, London, & 18 Fountain Street, Manchester. 8 $\frac{7}{8}$ in. \times 13 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

In PIGOT & CO.'S BRITISH ATLAS, COMPRISING THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . . PUBLISHED BY J. PIGOT & CO., 59, FLEET STREET, LONDON, AND FOUNTAIN STREET, MANCHESTER, [1838.] fol.

The map is remarkable as being the first one with railways, but it has an overcrowded appearance.

The county is divided into two parts by an engraved line, and coloured according to the Reform Bill. It shows towns, villages, parks, woods, and downs (both named), canals, rivers, the number of members returned to Parliament, polling places, hundreds (with names indicated by numbers), mail, turnpike, and bye roads, and the railway from Swindon to Bath.

Top left-hand corner, a view of "Salisbury Cathedral." Bottom left-hand corner, "Explanation" of signs used. Top right-hand corner, an inset with double-lined border, of the detached parts of Wiltshire situate in Berkshire; and, just to the left, the "Reference to the Hundreds," in three columns. A little below the inset plan, a small compass-indicator, with elongated northern point.

The border at the top is broken by a panel containing the title "Wiltshire"; and, at the bottom, in a similar panel, the scale. Below the border, at the bottom right-hand corner, the engraver's name; and, in the middle, the imprint. Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude West."

The border is formed by a thick line between two thin ones, and a double inner line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. The roads are carried across the county boundary up to the border of the plate.

Sir H. G. Fordham thinks that probably there was an earlier edition of this work.

Top left-hand corner, "Explanations" of signs used, and, just below, a detached part of the county. A little lower still, a star-indicator of the compass, with the northern point elongated and surmounted with a fleur-de-lis. Bottom left-hand corner, the title ; and, a little to the right, the scale. Top right-hand corner, an inset, enclosed by a double line, of the detached parts of Wilts in Berkshire. Lower half of the plate, on the right, "Reference to the Hundreds." In bottom right-hand corner, "County Members 4. Elections at □."

Reduced from the map in Pigot & Co.'s British Atlas, 1838.

The view of Salisbury Cathedral, which appears on the 1838 map, is here separately printed on the upper half of a page facing the map, the lower half being employed for a "Distance Table of Wiltshire."

Shows towns, villages, parks, canals, rivers, and main roads. The detail is carried to the border of the map on the East and West.

Top left-hand corner, the detached part of Wilts situate in Berkshire, enclosed by a double-line border ; and, a little to the left, an arrow, with cross line, indicating the North. Middle, at the top, the border is opened out, and encloses the title. Similarly arranged, in the bottom border, is the scale. Below the border, in the right-hand corner, the engraver's name, and, in the middle, the imprint.

The border is formed by a thick line between two thin ones and an inner double line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

A hill-shaded map with the main roads given very prominently. Shows towns, villages, parks, woods, canals, rivers, railways, election and polling places. The county is divided by an engraved line into "Northern Division & Southern Division." The main roads are carried to the border of the map. The distances from London are given at the principal towns, and also from town to town along the roads.

Top left-hand corner, the title with the scale immediately below, followed by "The County of Wiltshire returns 4 members to Parliament for the county & 14 for 9 boroughs," and the signs used on the map. Bottom left-hand corner, "Detached Parts of Wiltshire locally situate in Berkshire." Top right-hand corner, "Places of Election. Polling Places." Bottom right-hand corner, a note showing boroughs returning two members.

The geography of the county cuts through the border in two places at the bottom. Outside the border, at the bottom, on the left, the name of the draughtsman; and, on the right, that of the engraver. In the middle, the imprint.

The border is formed by two fine lines with an intermediate thick one, and a double inner line marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

A re-issue of Walker's map, probably first published about 1835, prepared for Hobson's Foxhunting Atlas. Shows towns, villages, parks, hills, canals, rivers, and roads; and, superimposed, are the hunting districts and the places of meetings. The railways have also been added. The distances of the chief towns from London are given. The roads and railways run up to, and in some cases over, the border of the map.

Top left-hand corner, in a double-lined panel, bevelled at the corners, the title; immediately below, "By J. & C. Walker," followed by the scale, and some county statistics. An addition has been made, between the author's name and the scale, of "Places of meeting of Foxhounds." Bottom left-hand corner, "Places of Election," and "Polling Places." Top right-hand corner, an inset, with border, containing "Detached parts of Wiltshire locally situated in Berkshire." Immediately below, a star compass indicator with ornamental northern point. On the right-hand side, a little below the middle, "Reference to the Divisions established at the Quarter Sessions in 1830." Bottom right-hand corner, a list of "Boroughs returning 2 members each," below the border, the imprint.

The border is formed by a thick line between two thin ones, with a double inner line, marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

A hill-shaded map, showing towns, villages, hamlets, parks, canals, rivers, hills, camps, parliamentary divisions, post-offices, and railways.

The railways from London to Bath, with a branch from Swindon to Gloucester, and the line from Salisbury to Southampton, are given as finished; but the lines from Andover to Salisbury, and Salisbury via Westbury to Chippenham, with branches to Devizes and Frome, are shown as proposed lines. The Hungerford and Reading line is given as finished as far as Marlborough; it is incorrectly shown as a straight line from Hungerford to Marlborough, instead of some three miles south of Marlborough, and in a direct line with Devizes. The roads and railways run up to the border on all sides.

Top left-hand corner, the title, date, and scale; and immediately below, some statistics of Wiltshire. Bottom left-hand corner, the "References to the Divisions." Top right-hand corner, a plain cross with a star (*) at the northern point. On the right-hand side, a little below the middle, a list giving the number of members returned to Parliament.

Below the border, in the right-hand corner, the engraver's name, and, in the middle, the imprint.

The border is formed by a thick outer and a fine inner line.

PATERNOSTER ROW, [1852.]. 8vo.

With numerous alterations.

The Gloucester branch of the Great Western Railway is placed further north, and the words "Fr. Gloucester" substituted for "Cheltenham and Great Western Union Railway." The branch line from Westbury to Frome is added. The line indicating the railway from Salisbury to Warminster is erased. Probably when drawn, in 1848, it was only intended to show a proposed railway.

The Salisbury and Southampton Railway is correctly shown as running south (instead of north) of Clarendon Park, and the words "To Southampton" added, near the line.

The whole detail of the plate is carried one-sixteenth of an inch higher, so that the point of the compass indicator just breaks into the border line at the top, instead of being one-sixteenth of an inch below, as in the 1848 edition. The imprint now reads "London : Published . . . by W. S. Orr & Co. 2, Amen Corner, Paternoster Row."

Top left-hand corner, a star indicator of the points of the compass, and, a little below, a detached part of Wiltshire. At bottom left-hand corner, the "Explanation" of signs used, and, to the right, the scale. Top right-hand corner, "Wiltshire" in a long panel, upon which rests a scroll containing "The British Gazetteer." Below the title, a note referring to the members of Parliament. Bottom right-hand corner, "Reference to the Hundreds." Between the border lines, at the bottom, "Longitude west from Greenwich"; and, below the border, the imprint.

The border is formed by a thick line between two thin ones, with an inner double line, divided off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude. The outside border lines are decorated with scroll work at the angles, sides, top, and bottom.

A very poor and faint impression. The plate has been rubbed down to remove the hill-shading, and, in so doing, the roads have been almost obliterated. In many instances they appear only as rough single lines. The Kennett Canal, too, has been almost rubbed out. The inscription "drawn and engraved under the direction of J. Britton" has been removed from the border lines at the bottom, and also all the information below the border. Railways added to the plate are: the Great Western line from London to Bath, with branches to Gloucester, Devizes, Bradford, Frome, and Salisbury; the South-Western Railway, from London to Exeter, and the Salisbury-Southampton line.

A reprint, geologically coloured, of the map engraved by J. Emslie, 1848.

In REYNOLDS' GEOLOGICAL ATLAS OF GREAT BRITAIN . . .
LONDON, 1860. 8vo.

Additional railways shown are, from near Corsham to Salisbury, via Melksham, Westbury, and Warminster, with a branch to Devizes, and a loop line from Trowbridge to Bath, also the South Western Railway, London to Exeter.

A further reprint of the map engraved by S. Hall, 1832.

In A TRAVELLING ATLAS OF THE ENGLISH COUNTIES BY SIDNEY HALL. [1860.] 8vo.

Showing the London and South Western Railway, London to Exeter via Salisbury. At the termination, near the county boundary, of the Salisbury to Southampton line, "Salisbury and South Western Railway" has been added. Top right-hand corner, between the border lines, the number "40" has also been added.

Wiltshire. Engraved by S. Hall. English miles, 10
[=2½ inches]. 12¼in. × 16in.

In THE ENGLISH COUNTIES BY SIDNEY HALL . . . LONDON :
CHAPMAN AND HALL, 193, PICCADILLY, [1860]. fol.

An enlarged reproduction of S. Hall's map of Wiltshire, 1832, first issued in A Topographical Dictionary of Great Britain . . . by John Gorton, 1833, and re-issued in A New British Atlas in 1836.

1862.

Another edition of the One-inch Ordnance Survey.

Sheets 14, 15, and 34, printed from an electrotype, were re-issued in 1862, but still bearing the original dates of 1811—17. The railways are brought up to date, including additional lines from Hungerford, via Pewsey and Devizes, to the Great Western main line at Holt Junction; the continuation of the branch from Westbury to Frome; and the South Western main line, London, via Salisbury, to Exeter.

Another edition of J. & C. Walker's Map, probably first issued about 1835, and published in Hobson's Fox-Hunting Atlas in 1848.

In BRITISH ATLAS COMPRISING SEPARATE MAPS OF EVERY COUNTY IN ENGLAND . . . BY J. & C. WALKER. PUBLISHED BY LONGMAN, REES & CO., PATERNOSTER ROW, AND J. & C. WALKER, 9, CASTLE STREET, HOLBORN. 1862. fol.

In this edition the information referring to foxhunting is omitted. Probably the copy in Hobson's atlas was specially prepared for that work. Political boundaries of the boroughs are shown by a blue line over the engraved one. The Great Western Railway from Hungerford to Devizes and the South Western from Salisbury to Exeter are added.

Wiltshire. By Edwd. Weller. English miles 8
[=2½ inches]. George Philip & Son, London and Liverpool. 13¼in. × 16½in.

Very similar to Edward Weller's map issued in Cassell's British Atlas, 1864. Shows the towns, villages, hamlets, parks, hills, woods, canals, rivers, roads, and railways. The Northern Division is coloured pink and the Southern Division green. The detail runs into the border in three places, at the top; and through, and below, the border at the bottom. The railways and roads are carried to the borders at the sides, and the chief towns, in the adjoining counties, are given.

Top left-hand corner, the title, the author's name, the scale, and the indications of the railways and roads. The imprint is below the border, at the bottom. The border is formed by two fine lines with an intermediate thick one, and a single line one-eighth of an inch inside.

In CRUCHLEY'S RAILROAD COMPANION TO ENGLAND & WALES.
 . . . G. F. CRUCHLEY . . . LONDON, [1862]. 8vo.

A lithographic reproduction of Cary's plate of 1789, with considerable alterations. The band bearing the title, and the half star indicator of the points of the compass, in the top border, are removed and the border-lines carried one-sixteenth of an inch higher; the title being above the border. The information at the bottom of the plate is also obliterated, and the border lines brought five-sixteenths of an inch nearer the county boundary. The plate is one-eighth of an inch wider; and the imprint is below the border.

Many of the names on the plate have been re-engraved. The railways from London to Bath are shown, with branches to Gloucester, Salisbury, and Devizes, with a line connecting Bath and Salisbury, and another branch from Westbury to Frome; also the South Western lines, London to Exeter and Salisbury to Southampton; and a proposed line from Hungerford to Devizes. The plate is numbered 38 in the right-hand top corner.

Railway and Station Map of Wiltshire, with the names of the Stations. Scale of miles, 5 [= $\frac{3}{4}$ inch].
 London. Published by G. F. Cruchley, Map seller & Globe maker, Fleet Street. $8\frac{3}{8}$ in. \times $10\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In CRUCHLEY'S COUNTY ATLAS OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . .
 PUBLISHED BY G. F. CRUCHLEY . . . 1863. 8vo.

A lithographic reproduction of Cary's Map of Wiltshire, 1787; but with so many alterations that it is hardly recognisable at first sight. The original title, too, is replaced by that given above.

Top right-hand corner, "Explanation" of the signs for the railways and stations has been added, and, immediately below, the scale of 5 miles. In the original map a scale of 10 miles was placed below the title in the bottom left-hand corner. The top border is lowered by three-eighths of an inch, so that the detail runs into the border; and the bottom border is brought up three-eighths of an inch, near to the county boundary. At Cranbourne Chase, trees are now shown, and the hills are shaded throughout the map.

The railways shown are: London to Bath, with branches to Gloucester and Salisbury. A branch from the Salisbury line, at Westbury, for Frome; Hungerford, via Devizes and Bradford, to Bath; and the South Western lines from London to Exeter, and Salisbury to Southampton.

In REYNOLDS' GEOLOGICAL ATLAS OF GREAT BRITAIN, [1864]. 8vo.

Another edition of the map engraved by John Emslie in 1848.

In PORTABLE ATLAS OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . . LONDON. JAMES REYNOLDS, 174, STRAND, W.C. [1864]. 8vo.

In this edition the railway from Hungerford to Devizes is added; the hills are etched on the plate, the two outside border lines are removed, leaving a single line border, the plate numbers (11 and 14) are placed inside the border line, and the engraver's name and imprint removed.

Wiltshire. By Edwd. Weller, F.R.G.S. Scale, British miles, 6 [= $1\frac{7}{8}$ miles]. London. Published by Cassell, Petter, & Galpin, La Belle Sauvage Yard, Ludgate Hill, E.C. 12in. × 17in.

In CASSELL'S BRITISH ATLAS CONSISTING OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND . . . LONDON: CASSELL, PETTER, AND GALPIN, [1864]. fol.

A copy of the map of Wiltshire published in the Weekly Dispatch, probably in 1860. Many of the maps, including that of Wiltshire, are missing from the copy of the Dispatch in the British Museum.

A very clearly engraved map, hill shaded, and showing towns, villages, hamlets, historical remains, parks, woods, canals, rivers, roads, and railways. The railways shown are: the Great Western system, London to Bath, with branches from Swindon to Gloucester, Chippenham to Calne; the Wilts and Somerset line, via Melksham, Trowbridge, Westbury, and Frome; the branch from Westbury to Salisbury, with a connecting line, via Bradford, between Bath and Trowbridge; the line from Hungerford to Devizes and thence to the Wilts and Somerset branch, a little south of Melksham, with a branch line to Marlborough; and the South Western system, from Andover to Exeter, and from Salisbury to Southampton.

Top left-hand corner, the title, author's name, scale, and an historical note. Top right-hand corner, "Parliamentary Representation," printed vertically. Bottom half of the plate, on right-hand side, two columns of statistical notes, printed vertically.

The county boundary just reaches the border at the top; at the right-hand side and at the bottom it runs into the middle of the border.

The border is formed by two thin lines with an intermediate thick one, and a double inner line marked off into degrees and minutes of latitude and longitude.

1865.

Another edition of the map engraved by J. Archer, 1858.

In A REPRINT OF THOMAS DUGDALE'S ENGLAND AND WALES DELINEATED. [1865].

With the Parliamentary divisions coloured in outline, and the railway from Andover to Salisbury added.

1867.

Another reprint, dated 1867, of the map of Wiltshire engraved by F. P. Becker & Co., 1848.

In POST OFFICE DIRECTORY OF DORSETSHIRE, WILTSHIRE . . . BY E. KELLY, ETC. 1867.

In this edition the railway is continued from Hungerford to Devizes, with a branch line to Marlborough. This latter is probably a proposed line. It runs between the main road and Savernake Forest. A branch line from Chippenham to Calne is also added, and a short branch from Broughton Gifford, near Melksham, to Bradford.

1868.

Another edition of the map published in Collins' Travelling Atlas, 1848, and re-issued in 1852 by W. S. Orr & Co.

In THE TRAVELLING ATLAS OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . . PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY JOHN HEYWOOD, 141 & 143, DEANS-GATE, MANCHESTER, [1868]. (JOHN HEYWOOD'S COUNTY ATLAS OF ENGLAND AND WALES, ETC.)

Considerable alterations are seen in this edition. A number of names, which are quite easy to distinguish, are added; and additional railways: Chippenham to Calne, Hungerford, via Devizes, to Bath, with a branch to Marlborough; Warminster to Salisbury, and the South Western line, London to Exeter, and Salisbury to Fordingbridge. Vertical shading is added around the band bearing the title, and the form of border is altered to a thick line with shading inside. The imprint is removed from the bottom of the plate.

A reprint of the map in Cruchley's County Atlas of England & Wales, 1863.

In CRUCHLEY'S COUNTY ATLAS OF ENGLAND AND WALES . . . LONDON, [1868]. 8vo.

The title is altered and now reads: "Wiltshire." The scale, in the right-hand top corner, is placed higher up and is now in latitude $51^{\circ} 36'$, instead of $51^{\circ} 34'$. The explanation of railway signs, in the top right-hand corner, is erased, and new railways shown: from the Great Western main line to Faringdon; a proposed line from Wootton Bassett to Malmesbury and beyond; a new branch from Chippenham to Calne: a projected line from the South Western main line, near Purton, north-west to Tetbury, with a junction with the Hungerford line near Pewsey; and a line from Salisbury to Fordingbridge.

Wiltshire. English miles, 8 [$=1\frac{3}{4}$ inches]. By W. Hughes. 12in. \times $9\frac{1}{4}$ in.

In THE NATIONAL GAZETTEER . . . OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. BY N. E. S. A. HAMILTON, LONDON, 1868. 8vo.

A very clearly printed map, coloured in light brown, showing the villages, hamlets, parks, woods, hills, canals, rivers, roads, and railways, the last being indicated by a broken line. The roads, railways, and principal towns are shown to the margin of the map.

Top left-hand corner, the title; and, below, the scale of 8 miles. Bottom right-hand corner, below the border, "W. Hughes."

The border is formed by a thick line with a fine inner line, a space of three-sixteenths of an inch, and a double inner line. The latitude and longitude are shown in figures, and lines cross the border, at every ten minutes.

1869.

Wiltshire. Drawn & engraved by J. Bartholomew, Edinr. Scale of miles, 8 [$=2$ inches]. (Houlston & Sons' new series of District Handy Maps from the Ordnance Survey. Wiltshire . . . 65, Paternoster Row, E.C.) 10in. \times $4\frac{1}{8}$ in.

A clearly printed map, with the detail reaching to the border lines. The county boundary is shown by a fine dotted line, and the county of Wilts is coloured a light brown. The title "Wiltshire" is in the middle of the top border. In the bottom border the scale appears in the middle, and in the right-hand corner, the draughtsman's name.

The title in parentheses is given on the cover in which the map was issued.

Reproduced from the one-inch Ordnance Survey and showing most of its details.

The border is formed by two thin lines with an intermediate thick one, a space of one-eighth of an inch, and a fine inner line.

1870.

A reprint of the Map of Wiltshire by J. & C. Walker, 1862.

In THE BRITISH ATLAS . . . BY J. & C. WALKER . . .
LONDON . . . 1870.

The changes are the addition of the new railways; Chippenham to Calne; a branch from the Hungerford line to Marlborough; a branch from the Salisbury—Southampton line to Fordingbridge; and the colouring of the Parliamentary divisions.

Some of the maps in this edition have the imprint of J. & C. Walker substituted for that of Longman, Orme, Rees & Co.

Wiltshire. English miles, 6 [= $\frac{3}{4}$ inch]. George Philip & Son, London and Southampton. (Philips' Educational Series of County Maps). 6in. × 8in.

In THE GEOGRAPHY OF WILTSHIRE . . . BY REV. J. P. FAUNTHORPE . . . LONDON: GEORGE PHILIP & SON. 1872. 8vo.

A clearly printed map, the Northern division being coloured pink and the Southern division green. Shows towns, villages, hills, canals, rivers, roads, and railways.

Top left-hand corner, the title, and, immediately below, the scale, and beneath this, the "Parliamentary Divisions. 1 North. 2 South"; and the signs for the "Railways, Roads, Canals." The railways, roads, and towns reach to the border, into which the map breaks at the top and bottom.

Outside the border line, at the top, is the sub-title; and at the bottom, the imprint.

The border is formed by a thick line with a fine inner line one-eighth of an inch distant. The latitude and longitude are indicated every ten minutes by a short line; and at every thirty minutes are expressed by figures and a line across the border.

1873.

A reprint of Philips' Map of Wiltshire, issued in The Geography of Wiltshire, by Rev. J. P. Faunthorpe, 1872.

In PHILIPS' HANDY ATLAS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND.

A reprint of the Map by W. Hughes, 1868.

In A NEW COUNTY ATLAS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND
. . . BY W. HUGHES . . . LONDON, VIRTUE & CO., [1873].
fol.

In this edition the North is coloured green and the South pink; the railways from Chippenham to Calne, Savernake to Marlborough, and Salisbury to Fordingbridge are added; and, outside the county boundary, a line is shown from Andover to Romsey.

Top left-hand corner, "Heights in feet" has been added; and, at the bottom, half an inch below the border, "London: Virtue & Co."

Another edition of the One-inch Ordnance Survey.

In 1873, a reprint of the 1853 issue of the the One-inch Ordnance Survey was issued as an Index to the Tithe Survey.

With the one addition of the boundary lines referring to the Tithe Survey.

1875.

A further reprint, dated 1875, of the map engraved by F. P. Becker & Co., for Kelly's Directory, 1848.

In THE POST OFFICE DIRECTORY OF HAMPSHIRE . . . WILTSHIRE, ETC., 1875. 8vo.

The engraver's name and address are removed, and the imprint altered to "Kelly & Co., Post Office Directory Offices, 51, Gt. Queen Street, Lincolns Inn Fields, W.C." The railway to Marlborough is corrected, and shown as running between the two roads leading to Marlborough from the South; and a new line runs from Salisbury to Fordingbridge.

A copy of the "Post Office Directory Map," 1875.

A reprint of E. Weller's Map, 1862.

In PHILIPS' ATLAS OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND BY EDWARD WELLER . . . LONDON, 1875. fol.

This edition is coloured in Parliamentary Divisions and Boroughs; and is crossed by lines of latitude and longitude at every ten minutes. At the sides, reference numbers 1—6 are added, and, at the top and bottom, between the border lines, A to G. Additional railways are shown: Chippenham to Calne, the Marlborough branch, Salisbury to Fordingbridge, and Andover to Romsey.

A further reprint of the 1868 edition of the map issued in Cruchley's County Atlas of England and Wales . . . 1863.

In CRUCHLEY'S COUNTY ATLAS OF ENGLAND & WALES, LONDON, 1875. 8vo.

A proposed railway from Marlborough to Swindon is shown in this edition, but the projected lines from Wootton Bassett to Malmesbury, and from Salisbury (via Amesbury) through the middle of the county to Tetbury, are omitted. This impression has the imprint of Cruchley, as in the 1863 edition, but in larger type.

1876.

A further reprint of Philips' Map issued in the Geography of Wiltshire . . . by Rev. J. P. Faunthorpe . . . 1872.
